OFFICERS CRITICAL

Eight Panthers Seized In Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto has called for a grand jury investigation of the Black Panthers following a gun battle in which three policemen were wounded, two critically. Eight Negroes were arrested.

The shooting yesterday erupted within 100 yards of a police station after two cruising patrolmen stopped a panel truck minutes after a service station holdup.

Police said Sgt. Robert Flynn, 51, was shot in the groin while questioning the driver of the van, which had "Black Panther—Black Community News Service" painted on the side.

DRIVER HELD

"He had the driver with his hands on the side of the truck when someone inside the front seat shot him," said John Palou, a fireman at a station directly across the street.

Lt. Dermott Creedon, 49, was shot in the chest as he stepped out of the patrol car, revolver in hand, police said.

Alioto called last night for a grand jury investigation "into any organization which advocates shooting of policemen and to which any of the defendants belong."

Creedon and Flynn remained in critical condition today.

Three officers were in a car which answered an emergency call from Creedon.

Lt. Michael O'Mahoney said: "I saw three men pour out of the van and I ordered them to halt, but they fired at me and ran into an areaway next to a church."

HIT IN HAND

O'Mahoney was wounded in the hand, but said the three came out of the church with their hands up after he fired three warning shots.

The other officers with O'Mahoney ran to the van.

"Five men in the back of the truck started to get out and I covered them with my gun and ordered them back in and locked them in," said officer John Hanifin.

The gunfire brought other officers running from the nearby Hall of Justice.

Those arrested included Ray Lewis, 28, of San Francisco, editor of the Black Panther, the militant Negro group's publication.

Others arrested were listed as Wilford M. Holiday, 35, of Oakland, a frequent contributor to the paper; William Lee Brent, 37, a Black Panther captain for Oakland; and Sam Napier, 26; John Bowman, 21; Lennox Merritt, 16; Harrill Hill, 17, and Richard E. Brown, 27, all of San Francisco.

FREE ON BAIL

Authorities said Brown is free on $12,500 bail on a charge of assault to commit murder.

Officers said Napier and Bowman had visited Huey Newton in jail before the Black Panther founder was convicted of voluntery manslaughter in the shooting of an Oakland policeman.

The "Black Panther" truck carried license plates with numbers as listed by the manager of a service station at 2890 Third Street robbed some 10 minutes before the gun battle, police said.

The vehicle carried placards on each side calling for the support of Eldridge Cleaver, whose recent series of lectures created a stir at the University of California. Cleaver is awaiting trial in connection with a East Bay shootout with police.

Officers said one pistol was recovered from one of those arrested and a search was made of the area without finding any other weapons. They said a supply of ammunition was inside the van.

Marin College Student Charged In Auto Ring

A College of Marin student and a Sebastopol man were charged in Marin Municipal Court yesterday as a result of a police investigation of an atuo theft ring specializing in Volkswagens.

Accused after a three-month California Highway Patrol investigation were the student, David George Merz, 23, of 26 Boulevard Terrace, Novato, and James Llewellyn Jardine, 23, of 7120 Fircrest, Sebastopol.

Both are charged with stealing the Volkswagen of Steven Rippon, 20, of 2065 Mill Road, Novato, Nov. 2 and with conspiracy to steal that car. Jardine alone is charged with stealing Alice Simon's Volkswagen Aug. 27 in Fairfax.

Officer L. R. Disser of the Highway Patrol said members of the car theft ring altered the identification numbers and some parts of the cars they stole, then sold them.

The accused men came under police surveillance Sept. 19, when the owner of a Santa Rosa wrecking yard reported the pair had been buying several frames of abandoned Volkswagens and Porches.

Novato police added to Disser's suspicions when they reported a lot of work on Volkswagens at the Merz home, Disser said.

The first firm break in the case came last Wednesday, when officers discovered that a Volkswagen sedan owned by Steven Cook of 225 Canal Street, San Rafael, contained a stolen engine, Disser said.

Cook reportedly said he bought the car for $700 from Jardine, a friend.

Disser asked if Cook had bought other cars from Jardine and Cook reported that, on Nov. 11, he bought a 1961 Volkswagen from Jardine for $550.

The car's engine was from a 1961 model, but the vehicle appeared to be of a later model, Disser said. A closer check revealed the identification

HAVANA (AP) — Two Venezuelan gunboats opened fire on a Cuban fishing vessel today, damaged her and ordered her into a Venezuelan port, Havana radio reported.

The broadcast declared the fishing vessel Alecrin was attacked with machine guns and cannon 100 miles off Venezuela's coast. It called this "cowardly aggression" by Venezuela.

There were no injuries abord the Alecrin.

MINE TRAGEDY—Family members of one of the miners trapped this morning in an explosion near Mannington, W. Va., walk dejectedly away from the air shaft through a wintery setting.

21 ARE RESCUED

70 Feared Trapped In W. Va. Mine

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —A chain of booming explosions ripped through a deep, rich coal mine early today, trapping most of the miners in smoke-filled shafts.

Company officials fear "as many as 70 miners" may be pinned in the mine.

Sheriff Robert Tennant of Marion County said 21 men had escaped or had been pulled from the mine. But James McCartney of the Mountaineer Coal Co., said 70 men were missing.

THROUGH PORTALS

The first blast, just before 6 a.m., blew machinery through one of the mine's portals, Tennant said, and closed it as an avenue of rescue. Teams gathered around the Farmington portal, one mile away, to concentrate rescue efforts.

McCartney said either gas or coal dust triggered the explosion and fire which still was sending towers of smoke from mine entrances early this afternoon.

All communication into the mine was lost, McCartney said.

Rescue teams, working in sub-freezing temperatures and snow flurries, faced a dilemma. McCartney said air was being pumped into the shaft to keep the trapped men from suffocating but the air stream also fed the flames deep in the shafts.

"No one knows exactly where these men were at the time of the explosion," McCartney said. "There were six crews of six men each working in the general area of the explosion. The other men were on other assignments throughout the mine."

AIR SHAFT

Rescuers located eight of the men in the Mohan air shaft and plucked them from the 600-foot level two-by-two, using a big scoop bucket on the end of a crane.

Tennant said the confusion about the number of missing men resulted from the destruction of the "lamp house" in the blast. Miners check into work at the lamp house at the beginning of their shifts, but the explosion destroyed it and its records.

One of those reported safe was Matt Menas Jr., whose father was killed in the same mine in a blast that took 15 lives on Nov. 13, 1954.

The mine is located in the rich coal country of north-central West Virginia near Mannington and just south of the Pennsylvania state line. The Mountaineer company is a division of Consolidation Coal Co.

Rescue efforts moved slowly because of the damage caused by the explosion and the smoke which filled the shafts.

Despite the sub-freezing temperatures and the snow flurries, Red Cross units and women's clubs from nearby communities provided coffee and sandwiches for the waiting wives and children.

Deserter Accused Of U.C. Bombing

OAKLAND (UPI)—Police and the FBI today announced that an AWOL soldier has been accused in formal charges of two Bay Area bombings.

They also said three other young persons are being sought in a nationwide search in connection with the series of 30 East Bay sabotage bombings since last February.

Daniel Carroll Guirkins, 23, was specifically charged with the Sept. 13 bombing of an ROTC building at the University of California in Berkeley. He also was accused of detonating bombs at the Alameda County Courthouse Oct. 3.

Guirkins, who escaped the Fort Ord stockade while awaiting trial on desertion charges, was arrested Oct. 15 at his apartment.

The apartment was found to contain a wide variety of explosives and detonators. One of the explosives was of an uncommon variety identical with that of an unexploded bomb at the courthouse.

Joseph Francis Cowan Jr., 29, who was with Guirkins in the apartment at the time, now is one of three suspects being sought. It was disclosed that a warrant was issued for Cowan

Arceo-Novotny Trial Defense Takes Turn

By ELLEN BRY

The prosecution rested its case this morning in the trial of John Arceo and Dennis C. Novotny, charged with the murder of a San Rafael man in the course of a robbery.

Defense attorneys were to begin their side of the trial this afternoon in Marin Superior Court.

Prosecution testimony has alleged Arceo helped plan the robbery Dec. 6 in which Wesley was kicked in the head five or six times. He died Jan. 6.

Novotny took part in the robbery and kicked Marshall, the district attorney Joshua W. Thomas contends.

The main prosecution witness has been Claude LeBas, 21, who confessed to taking part in the robbery and kicking Marshall. Yesterday defense attorneys cross-examined LeBas, attempting to show inconsistencies in LeBas's memories of times, dates, details of the crime and emphasizing his large part in it.

Fairfax Chief of Police James R. Orr testified for the prosecution this morning. The chief said that in questioning after arrest, Arceo at first did not mention any intimidation by LeBas. But later, the chief said, Arceo and his wife said that LeBas that threatened them and their son with guns while staying at their Fairfax home.

Orr said that Arceo at first denied knowledge of guns found at his home and later said LeBas had given them to him.

S.F. Campus Again Open; Staff Balks

Pickets Orderly; Some Plainclothes Police Seen

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO—Racially troubled San Francisco State College reopened today under police protection but officials said there were very few, if any, regular classes.

As plainslothesmen patrolled the campus and other police units were reported standing by, some 18,000 students swarmed onto the campus.

Many students sat in classrooms watching on closed circuit television a meeting held in the main auditorium by about 250 of the college's 1,300 faculty members.

One of the speakers, English professor George Price, said he is "refusing to teach so long as police threaten the campus."

There were no signs of a resumption of the violence that led Smith to suspend classes last Wednesday.

A check of two main buildings showed only one instructor was on hand for early morning classes. Police were alerted for the reopening, but no uniformed officers were seen on the campus.

Smith relayed to students and faculty yesterday orders for classroom resumption issued by state college trustees during an emergency meeting in Los Angeles Monday. Several hundred faculty members then voted to reopen the school for general meetings with students but to refuse to carry out class instruction.

White militants resumed a strike called nearly two weeks ago by the Black Students Union to protest the suspension of Black Panther George Murray as a part-time Egnlish instructor. About 25 pickets paraded peacefully at the main campus entrance.

Using a bullhorn, the pickets exhorted students to boycott classes. Other pickets did likewise from positions at entrances to most campus buildings.

A group called "The Committee for Academic Environment," handed out flyers to students urging nonviolence.

"We can't stop the police from coming on campus," the leaflet read. "We can prevent it from becoming a major crisis by not becoming part of a mob."

Murray's suspension was ordered by State College Chan-

Novato Drafts Race Opportunity Policy

By THERON A. NEWELL

At a special meeting with Novatans for Racial Equality last night, the Novato City Council asked for preparation of two resolutions, one declaring the city an equal opportunity employer, the other declaring Novato an open housing city.

Councilman Douglas M. Merrill was assigned to draft the resolutions.

Mayor Harley McAskili named himself, Merrill and planning director Brian Mattson to a committee to ascertain if the city needs a public housing program.

Wallace K. Shepherd, field representative of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, agreed to act as an adviser to the committee.

Shepherd and L. Charles Smith, representing Novatans for Racial Equality, urged the creation of a miniboard, a miniature human rights commission, for the city.

The council committee studying public housing needs was instructed also to report on whether the council should create such a miniboard.

The council's call for the resolution on open housing was preceded by unanimous agreement to back the federal civil rights laws on open housing, a statement called for by Smith.

At a previous council meeting, Smith had asked that the city try to hire people from minority groups by advertising in media that reached them alone.

Director of Finance Charles L. Foster reported last night that he had advertised for police officers in the Sun Reporter, the largest Negro weekly in Northern California, and had contacted the urban skills bank in San Francisco

Minority Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System says the proportion of minority group members serving on local draft boards has doubled in the last year.

The system said yesterday the number of Negroes, Spanish-Americans, Indians and Orientals serving on the nation's 4,000 boards from 1,001 in Ooctober last year to 2,198 this year. Six per cent of draft board members last year were drawn from the four groups, compared to 12 per cent this year.

Selective Service adopted about a year ago the goal of increasing minority representation.

Higher Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says it will have to pay $1.2 billion more than planned for the first 120 C5A cargo planes, biggest planes ever made.

The report from the Pentagon yesterday differed from a statement by A. E. Fitzgerald, an Air Force financial management official, who said last week the cost could rise to $2 billion over estimates.

The Defense Department said the Air Force estimated the cost forr the 120 airplanes—the first of which flew last March — would be $3.1 billion. The revised figure is $4.3 billion.

Arrests In Mali?

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Reports to Dakar today said that President Mobido Keita of neighboring Mali, who was overthrown by the army yesterday, has been arrested with his cabinet.

There was no indication where they were being held or whether they would be put on trial.

The government radio in Bamako, capital of the former French colony in West Africa, said today that messages of support from all parts of the country were coming in to the new military regime. A "national salvation committee" headed by Lt. Moussa Traore took power after a crisis which has been building up for months.

Leftists Rejected

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's government rejected leftist demands today and said it would not renew its request to the United States to withdraw its B52 bombers from Okinawa.

Leftists in Japan and Okinawa demanded immediate withdrawal of the giant bombers after a B52 leaded with bombs crashed Tuesday at Kadena Air Base in central Okinawa as it was taking off for Vietnam. Five civilians and seven crewmen were injured.

Recent brain surgery

Suspect Held For Blaze In Jetliner

DENVER (UPI)—A retired Air Force sergeant who recently underwent brain surgery was accused yesterday of igniting a fire that sent thick acrid smoke through a Continental Airlines jetliner over the Colorado Rockies.

None of the seven crew members or 63 passengers, including Sen. Clifford Hansen of Wyoming, was injured, but the passengers were forced to use oxygen masks.

"Without these masks, I don't believe people could have survived the smoke," Hansen said. "I don't know if I could have."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in Washington identified the suspect as Lawrence B. Havelock, 47, a rancher from near Lake George in the mountains west of Colorado Springs.

Havelock, held under $10,000 bond, said he was a 20-year Air Force veteran and a naturalized citizen born in Czechoslovakia.

The man's wife said he was released from Denver Veterans Hospital "a few weeks ago" after undergoing brain surgery. He retired from the Air Force June 1.

"I didn't even know he was on the plane," Mrs. Havelock said.

The fire broke out in a rear restroom of a Continental Airlines 707 jet as it neared Denver on a flight that began in Los Angeles.

As soon as the smoke began filling the rear of the plane, emergency oxygen masks popped out in front of the passengers. A stewardess, Helga Wood of Los Angeles, grabbed an extinguisher and quickly put out the blaze.

FBI officials said there was a concussion with the fire, but they said this did not necessarily mean an explosion. The exterior of the plane was not damaged.

Havelock was arrested after a stewardess told investigators she saw him enter the restroom wearing a pair of rubber gloves shortly before the fire broke out.

Viet Reds Step Up Shelling Of Cities

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners stepped up their rocket and mortar attacks last night, giving Da Nang its heaviest pounding in three months and hitting two American infantry units, five district towns and one provincial capital.

Casualties and damage generally were light. But one of the mortar attacks, on a night bivouac of U.S. 1st Division infantryment 24 miles north of Saigon, was followed by a ground attack by 150 enemy soldiers hurling grendades and blazing away with machine guns.

Artillery and gunships drove the attackers off at daybreak after three hours of fighting. U.S. Headquarters said the bodies of 12 of the enmy were found just outside the American lines and 14 weapons were captured.

One American was killed and 12 were wounded.

Military spokesmen said in the other attacks one American and nine South Vietnamese were killed, and nine Americans and 13 South Vietnamese were wounded.

The South Vietnamese spokesman said there now have been 74 rocket and mortar attacks on population centers since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1. He said 33 civilians have been killed and 192 wounded in the attacks.

South Vietnam repeated charges that the Communist Command was violating an agreement to stop shelling provincial capitals and district towns in return for the bombing halt. Hanoi has denied making such an agreement, claiming the bombing halt was unconditional.

The U.S. Command reported continuing ground activity south of Da Nang, where more than 600 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been reported killed in the past three days.

Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, commander of South Vietnam's five northernmost provinces, said earlier that the greatly increased enemy activity around Da Nang meant the start of the enemy's winter offensive in the northern region.

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip returned home last night from a two-week visit to Brazil and Chile.

Red China U.N. Seat Beaten Again

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Never in the past five years have Red China's chances for admission to the United Nations been so remote.

By a 58-44 vote with 23 abstentions, the U.N. General Assembly yesterday rejected the annual resolution to replace Nationalist China with Communist China in the United Nations.

It was the widest margin of rejection since 1963 and the 19th successive year the assembly has turned down Mao Tse-tung's government.

At the same time, it killed—perhaps for good—a resolution calling for both Chinas to be seated in the United Nations. The vote was 67-30, with 27 abstentions, against the "two China" plan, which both Taipei and Peking said they would not accept anyway.

The United States, breaking with Britain and France as it usually does on the China issue, was the staunchest backer of the Nationalists.

Before the final Red China vote, the U.S. delegation pushed through a resolution requiring a two-thirds majority to admit Red China in place of Chiang Kai-shek's Taiwan government.

Huddle Called In Bonn To Fight Franc Crisis

LONDON (AP) — The leading finance ministers of the Western try to halt the second major crisis in the international monetary system this year.

Most Western money markets were shut to check speculators' attacks on major Western currencies.

With the money exchanges closed, the speculators switched to gold and sent its price soaring.

Many financial experts in London considered the present emergency even more serious than the March gold crisis because three of the world's principal trading currencies—the French franc, the pound sterling and the dollar—were simultaneously under attack by the speculators.

The crisis was sparked by belief that a devaluation of the franc and a revaluation upward of the West German deutschesmark—the world's strongest currency—were imminent.

Speculators rushed to change francs for marks and the fever soon spread to include both the pound and the dollar. But the franc was hardest hit.

The French government announced that the Paris stock market, gold market and foreign exchange market would remain closed "until further notice." Officials said they would not reopen until next Monday.

In an attempt to check the flight to the mark, the West German government announced that it would not revalue the currency but instead was making tax changes to reduce the large foreign trade surplus responsible for the expectation of revaluation.

West German Economics Minister Karl Schiller called an emergency meeting in Bonn today of the "Group of 10," the finance ministers of Belgium, Britain, Canada, France, West Germany, the Netherlands, Italy, Japan, Sweden and the United States. U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler already was there, taking a roundabout route back to Washington from the NATO meeting in Brussels last week. But the United States so far appeared to be taking only a standby role in the crisis.

HUMPHREY VISITS JOHNSON

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and President Lyndon B. Johnson were all smiles this morning, as they got together in the White House for the first time since Nov. 5. Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey returned to Washington today from a post-election vacation in the Caribbean, concluded with a visit to Cape Kennedy. (UPI Telepho)

Thieu Repeats Rebuff; Pravda Blaming U.S.

COMBINED AP & UPI

South Vietnam today again rejected taking part in Paris Vietnam talks under present conditions, Vietnamese sources said. Allied diplomats at the same time said Moscow appears to be telling the Communists to make it easier for Saigon to end its boycott and come to the negotiations, although Pravda today accused the U.S. of blocking the talks.

The diplomats said the Kremlin even wants the Communists to slow down military action in South Vietnam.

In Vung Tau, Vietnam, Vietnamese sources said President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam reaffirmed the talks boycott in a closed door speech there to political followers.

South Vietnam's boycott is based mainly on a refusal to see the Viet Cong get full conference status. Thieu wants the Viet Cong seated as only a part of the Hanoi delegation.

Le Duc Tho, the powerful member of the North Vietnam delegation, was currently in the fourth day of a Moscow stopover on his way from Hanoi to Paris. Diplomats in Paris said the Kremlin was apparently using its influence on him. Tho stopped earlier for only one day in Peking where Chinese Communist leaders oppose any compromise with Saigon.

North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris confirmed they have been meeting U.S. officials the past 48 hours. Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance, deputy chief of the U.S. delegation, and his opposite number, Hanoi's Col. Hau Van Lau, have been conducting the secret sessions, diplomatic sources said. The pair was said to have made plans for getting the talks started immediately upon Saigon announcing it would attend.

In Moscow, Pravda accused the United States today of blocking the Vietnam peace talks and demanded that it get them started.

The Communist party newspaper, which reflects the official Soviet viewpoint, also called for an end to U.S. reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam, calling them "provocative overflights."

The article noted that the United States had stopped bombing North Vietnam nearly three weeks ago but since then had made no further progress toward peace.

Water Board Eyes Ideas For Merger

The North Marin County Water District should form an improvement district to handle business operations of the Novato Sanitary District, which it seeks to absorb.

This was the recommendation to the water district board last night by Dist. Mgr. Jerome B. Gilbert, according to clerk Eugene Churchill.

The proposed merger of the water and sanitary districts has been approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission and is scheduled to be reviewed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors before being submitted to Novato area voters.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

WATER USE — Heard a report that water consumption in October of this year had dropped 6.5 per cent from last year, or from 130.1 million gallons last year to 121.6 million gallons, because of increased rainfall.

MAIN — Approved an agreement with the Novato Sanitary District to install a main on Davidson Street at a cost estimated at $7,520. The main will be shared by the sanitary district, City of Novato and Western California Telephone Co.

ANNEXATION — Approved the annexation of the water district's Trumbull Avenue Sanitary District.

INSTALLATIONS — Heard that the pipeline replacement on Novao Boulevard between Diablo Avenue and Tamalpais Avenue was 75 per cent complete and that the new main on Los Alondros Court was 80 per cent complete.

Jewelry, Radio, Cash Stolen

Jewelry, a radio and cash, with a total value of $500, were stolen from Jane Heubner's home at 735 Bay Road, Mill Valley, by a thief who climbed in through a window Saturday, sheriff's deputies said today.

Other burglaries reported by the sheriff included:

Theft of $400 cash and $50 in checks from the car of Mark D. Souza of 5631 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, parked on Majorca Court in Marinwood Saturday night.

Theft of jewelry worth more than $1,000 from the home of Mary Jean McCartan on Bayview Drive, Kentfield, sometime Monday night.

Theft of a television, an oriental chest and stereophonic equipment from the home of Robert Peterson on Oak Grove Avenue, Woodacre, Saturday night.

The other suspects were Richard Tankersley, 28, and his wife, Susan, 26, of Richmond. Police said today that an arsenal of bombs and explosives was found in their home a month ago.

Police investigated the Tankersley's name. At the time of Guirkins' arrest, they were believed to have been in Boulder, Colo., attending the national convention of Students for Democratic Society.

Sausalito Gun Policy Is Repealed

Sausalito's gun ordinance, due to go into effect Dec. 5, was reluctantly repealed last night by the Sausalito City Council.

Several antigun registration speakers, including James Marsico of the Citizens Against Gun Registration, told the council the ordinance would be inconsequential, possibly dangerous and illegal in the light of the overturning of a San Francisco ordinance, and would cost the city heavily in administration costs. (Other Sausalito Council stories, page 34.)

The registration would serve criminals, one critic said. The lists of gun owners would be on sale in the underworld within two weeks, he said.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk moved to repeal the ordinance in light of the county-wide rejection of gun registration Nov. 5. He said he made the motion despite the arguments presented.

"A lot of people think you must have a gun in your home or you're not a man," he commented.

Alexander R. Imlay seconded the motion and echoed Dyk's sentiment. "I disagree with 90 per cent of the comments I've heard tonight," he said.

The repeal, passed as an emergency ordinance, took effect immediately. The city gun ordinance was passed July 16 and the council later postponed its effective date until after the Nov. 5 vote.

cellor Glenn Dumke after the tence for his part in an attack cently given a suspended sen- a year ago, urged minorities to n the campus newspaper staff bring guns to school as protection against "racist administrators."

Smith and the deans of San Francisco State's seven departments announced yesterday they had decided to resume a full class schedule.

"The faculty is asked to report to their scheduled classes," Smith said in a "state of the campus" address over the school's closed television system.

However, the faculty's refusal to teach came on a voice vote at a meeting attended by more than half of the 1,000 full- Black Panther, who was re- time faculty members. They voted to resume general meetings and to hold consultations with students.

"We are resuming classes," said Leo McClathy, chairman of the Academic Senate, "but we have decided there will be only one class, which will be held in the auditorium and piped out to the students and faculty in the other rooms."

NOVATO

for police recruits. The city did not receive any applicants from either source, he said.

Smith had also asked that radio stations KSOL and KDIA be used for advertising. Foster was directed to get the cost of advertising on these stations.

Smith asked how many applications from minority groups the city had when it recruited.

Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva replied that the city had 51 applicants for two positions in the public works department, but could not say how many were from minority groups becasuse because that question is not on the application. Only when it had been narrowed down to 10 men for interviews did the council know their race, Silva said.

Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said that in the course of Novato's eight-year history of police recruiting five members of minority groups, three Negroes and two Japanese, had reached the interview stage. One Negro, Ronald Bostick, rated the highest and was hired, Di Grazia said. Bostick has since left the city for higher wages, the chief noted.

Smith agreed that the city should not ask the race of a person in an application.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack said he felt that the city owed its own residents something and should give them preferential treatment for city jobs.

To which Smith said that Novato should reach out beyond its borders to the minority groups.

McAskill said that would be discriminating against white people.

"The Negro has had 350 years of discrimination against him and I do not think a year or two of the reverse discrimination would hurt," Smith said.

Councilman Joseph Gargiulo said that Smith acted as though the present people were responsible for conditions that existed 350 years ago.

"I grew up a member of a minority group —my father came from Italy and my mother was Mexican, so I know that one can grow up in a minority group and not allow it to interfere with his life," Gargiulo said.

The council adjourned until 7 p.m. today to review applications for the position of city manager, vacant since the resignation of John Julien Baget on Sept. 15.

numbers, placed on the car's frame at the factory, had been cut out and replaced with the numbers from a frame purchased in a wrecking yard, he said.

Jardine was arrested that night and charged with possession of stolen property. That charge was replaced by the joint criminal complaint filed in court yesterday.

Disser said he traced the car to Rippon, who said he recognized the car as one stolen from him at the Roger Wilco Store in Novato Nov. 2.

Rippon later found floor mats from his car in the garage of Merz's home in Novato, Disser said.

"There were a multitude of Volkswagen parts in the garage," he added.

Disser also charged that Jardine stole a Volkswagen in Fairfax from Alice Simon Aug. 27 and drove it to Hicks Valley, where he removed the engine, placed it on a truck and took it to Merz's home.

He put it into the shell of a volkswagen he had purchsed and sold it to Cook for $700, Disser said. This was the first stolen auto police found at the Cook home.

In October, Jardine also stole a 1959 Porsche in San Francisco, drove it to his home, changed the license plates and identification numbers and drove it as his own, Disser said. Jardine was driving that car when arrested Nov. 13.

South Vietnam's boycott is based mainly on a refusal to see the Viet Cong get full conference status. Thieu wants the Viet Cong seated as only a part of the Hanoi delegation.

Le Duc Tho, the powerful member of the North Vietnam delegation, was currently in the fourth day of a Moscow stopover on his way from Hanoi to Paris. Diplomats in Paris said the Kremlin was apparently using its influence on him. Tho stopped earlier for only one day in Peking where Chinese Communist leaders oppose any compromise with Saigon.

North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris confirmed they have been meeting U.S. officials the past 48 hours. Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance, deputy chief of the U.S. delegation, and his opposite number, Hanoi's Col. Hau Vàn Lau, have been conducting the secret sessions, diplomatic sources said. The pair was said to have made plans for getting the talks started immediately upon Saigon announcing it would attend.

In Moscow, Pravda accused the United States today of blocking the Vietnam peace talks and demanded that it get them started.

The Communist party newspaper, which reflects the official Soviet viewpoint, also called for an end to U.S. reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam, calling them "provocative overflights."

The article noted that the United States had stopped bombing North Vietnam nearly three weeks ago but since then had made no further progress toward peace.

Water Board Eyes Ideas For Merger

The North Marin County Water District should form an improvement district to handle business operations of the Novato Sanitary District, which it seeks to absorb.

This was the recommendation to the water district board last night by Dist. Mgr. Jerome B. Gilbert, according to clerk Eugene Churchill.

The proposed merger of the water and sanitary districts has been approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission and is scheduled to be reviewed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors before being submitted to Novato area voters.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

WATER USE — Heard a report that water consumption in October of this year had dropped 6.5 per cent from last year, or from 130.1 million gallons last year to 121.6 million gallons, because of increased rainfall.

MAIN — Approved an agreement with the Novato Sanitary District to install a main on Davidson Street at a cost estimated at $7,520. The main will be shared by the sanitary district, City of Novato and Western California Telephone Co.

ANNEXATION — Approved the annexation of the water district's Trumbull Avenue Sanitary District.

INSTALLATIONS — Heard that the pipeline replacement on Novao Boulevard between Diablo Avenue and Tamalpais Avenue was 75 per cent complete and that the new main on Los Alondros Court was 80 per cent complete.

Jewelry, Radio, Cash Stolen

Jewelry, a radio and cash, with a total value of $500, were stolen from Jane Heubner's home at 735 Bay Road, Mill Valley, by a thief who climbed in through a window Saturday, sheriff's deputies said today.

Other burglaries reported by the sheriff included:

Theft of $400 cash and $50 in checks from the car of Mark D. Souza of 5631 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, parked on Majorca Court in Marinwood Saturday night.

Theft of jewelry worth more than $1,000 from the home of Mary Jean McCartan on Bayview Drive, Kentfield, sometime Monday night.

Theft of a television, an oriental chest and stereophonic equipment from the home of Robert Peterson on Oak Grove Avenue, Woodacre, Saturday night.

The other suspects were Richard Tankersley, 28, and his wife, Susan, 26, of Richmond. Police said today that an arsenal of bombs and explosives was found in their home a month ago.

Police investigated the Tankersley's name. At the time of Guirkins' arrest, they were believed to have been in Boulder, Colo., attending the national convention of Students for Democratic Society.

Sausalito Gun Policy Is Repealed

Sausalito's gun ordinance, due to go into effect Dec. 5, was reluctantly repealed last night by the Sausalito City Council.

Several antigun registration speakers, including James Marsico of the Citizens Against Gun Registration, told the council the ordinance would be inconsequential, possibly dangerous and illegal in the light of the overturning of a San Francisco ordinance, and would cost the city heavily in administration costs. (Other Sausalito Council stories, page 34.)

The registration would serve criminals, one critic said. The lists of gun owners would be on sale in the underworld within two weeks, he said.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk moved to repeal the ordinance in light of the county-wide rejection of gun registration Nov. 5. He said he made the motion despite the arguments presented.

"A lot of people think you must have a gun in your home or you're not a man," he commented.

Alexander R. Imlay seconded the motion and echoed Dyk's sentiment. "I disagree with 90 per cent of the comments I've heard tonight," he said.

The repeal, passed as an emergency ordinance, took effect immediately. The city gun ordinance was passed July 16 and the council later postponed its effective date until after the Nov. 5 vote.

cellor Glenn Dumke after the tence for his part in an attack cently given a suspended sen- a year ago, urged minorities to n the campus newspaper staff bring guns to school as protection against "racist administrators."

Smith and the deans of San Francisco State's seven departments announced yesterday they had decided to resume a full class schedule.

"The faculty is asked to report to their scheduled classes," Smith said in a "state of the campus" address over the school's closed television system.

However, the faculty's refusal to teach came on a voice vote at a meeting attended by more than half of the 1,000 full- Black Panther, who was retime faculty members. They voted to resume general meetings and to hold consultations with students.

"We are resuming classes," said Leo McClathy, chairman of the Academic Senate, "but we have decided there will be only one class, which will be held in the auditorium and piped out to the students and faculty in the other rooms."

for police recruits. The city did not receive any appiicants from either source, he said.

Smith had also asked that radio stations KSOL and KDIA be used for advertising. Foster was directed to get the cost of advertising on these stations.

Smith asked how many applications from minority groups the city had when it recruited.

Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva replied that the city had 51 applicants for two positions in the public works department, but could not say how many were from minority groups becasuse because that question is not on the application. Only when it had been narrowed down to 10 men for interviews did the council know their race, Silva said.

Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said that in the course of Novato's eight-year history of police recruiting five members of minority groups, three Negroes and two Japanese, had reached the interview stage. One Negro, Ronald Bostick, rated the highest and was hired, Di Grazia said. Bostick has since left the city for higher wages, the chief noted.

Smith agreed that the city should not ask the race of a person in an application.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack said he felt that the city owed its own residents something and should give them preferential treatment for city jobs.

To which Smith said that Novato should reach out beyond its borders to the minority groups.

McAskill said that would be discriminating against white people.

"The Negro has had 350 years of discrimination against him and I do not think a year or two of the reverse discrimination would hurt," Smith said.

Councilman Joseph Gargiulo said that Smith acted as though the present people were responsible for conditions that existed 350 years ago.

"I grew up a member of a minority group —my father came from Italy and my mother was Mexican, so I know that one can grow up in a minority group and not allow it to interfere with his life," Gargiulo said.

The council adjourned until 7 p.m. today to review applications for the position of city manager, vacant since the resignation of John Julien Baget on Sept. 15.

numbers, placed on the car's frame at the factory, had been cut out and replaced with the numbers from a frame purchased in a wrecking yard, he said.

Jardine was arrested that night and charged with possession of stolen property. That charge was replaced by the joint criminal complaint filed in court yesterday.

Disser said he traced the car to Rippon, who said he recognized the car as one stolen from him at the Roger Wilco Store in Novato Nov. 2.

Rippon later found floor mats from his car in the garage of Merz's home in Novato, Disser said.

"There were a multitude of Volkswagen parts in the garage," he added.

Disser also charged that Jardine stole a Volkswagen in Fairfax from Alice Simon Aug. 27 and drove it to Hicks Valley, where he removed the engine, placed it on a truck and took it to Merz's home.

He put it into the shell of a volkswagen he had purchsed and sold it to Cook for $700, Disser said. This was the first stolen auto police found at the Cook home.

In October, Jardine also stole a 1959 Porsche in San Francisco, drove it to his home, changed the license plates and identification numbers and drove it as his own, Disser said. Jardine was driving that car when arrested Nov. 13.

WET, COOL WEATHER FORECAST

Weather maps prepared from 30-day forecasts by the U.S. Weather Bureau indicate that Marin County may continue to have above average rainfall through Dec. 15, together with lower than normal temperatures. Average rainfall for the period is 5.23 inches; last year it was 8:14 inches. The season's rainfall as of Nov. 15 for San Rafael was already more than three inches above average. Low temperatures for the period normally are in the low 40s, with highs in the low to mid 60s. (AP Wirephoto map)

BART, Reagan Agree Sales Tax Hike Is Best Solution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — If legislators approve Gov. Ronald Reagan's plans, residents of three San Francisco area counties will pay a higher sales tax in the next four and one-half years to complete the Bay Area Rapid Transit District system.

Reagan and BART directors announced at the Capitol yesterday they have agreed on the course they will ask the Legislature to take to pull the district out of a $146 million financial hole.

If the Legislature approves, the current sales tax of five cents on the dollar will go to five and one-half cents for what Reagan estimated would be four and one-half years in the limited area.

He called it "an emergency, short-term ... tax increase" and noted it would affect only the three BART counties — San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa, with about 2.3 million residents.

The governor likened it to the statewide, seven-months boost in the gasoline tax during 1965 to pay for roads damaged in the 1964 Northern California flood.

Legislation carrying an "urgency" clause to make it effective immediately upon the governor's signature without the usual waiting period will be introduced when the Legislature meets Jan. 6. To be carried by Sen. Lewis Sherman, R-Berkeley, it will permit the BART board of directors to raise the tax.

Because of the urgency clause the bill will require a two-thirds vote of approval in both houses.

Reagan told reporters "this is clearly a matter of extreme urgency . . . In my mind, the sales tax approach is the only fiscally sound one with which to effect a solution."

He said he is "confident that we will be able to count on broad community support for the sales tax approach."

That was backed up by the president of the BART board, James P. Doherty of El Cerrito.

Voters in the three counties aproved a $792 million bond issue for the 75-mile system of rapid rail transit in 1962, but well above $1 billion. Facing the deficit, the district has halted issuing most new contracts and said that if it didn't get some money, there would be a lot of expensive holes in the ground.

McNamara Faces Indian Hostility

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Several persons were injured in clashes between students and police today when World Bank President Robert S. McNamara arrived.

A large crowd of demonstrators, mostly students, gathered at Calcutta's airport in defiance of orders banning the assembly of more than four persons.

Police lobbed tear gas shells and swung night-sticks to disperse the demonstrators.

Self-Inflicted Deaths Rising

GENEVA (AP) — Hungary, Iceland and West Berlin still lead the world in the number of suicides within their borders, a World Health Organization survey revealed today.

It also showed that suicides are becoming a growing problem in developing countries and that suicides had moved up to the No. 3 position as a cause of death in eight industrial countries.

In Hungary, suicide accounted for 3 per cent of all deaths in 1966, the year of the study. In Iceland it was 2.7 per cent and 2.3 per cent in West Berlin.

Among the industrialized nations Japan led with 2.1 per cent, followed by West Germany with 1.7 per cent, France 1.5 per cent and the United States 1.1 per cent.

Innocent Plea

Marshall Ewin Craig, 19, of Marin City, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to a charge that he possessed marijuana Aug. 23 in Sausalito. Jury trial on the charge was scheduled for the week of Jan. 13.

Man Is Treated For Cut On Scalp

Angelo Romero, 51, of Sacramento, was treated at Marin General Hospital last night for a cut scalp suffered when Betty Jean Dermody, 40, also of Sacramento, allegedly hit him on the head with a frying pan, police said.

The two were visiting at the home of Mario Leo Cortesi, 1 Laurel Place, San Rafael, when they had a disagreement, police said.

WET, COOL WEATHER FORECAST

Weather maps prepared from 30-day forecasts by the U.S. Weather Bureau indicate that Marin County may continue to have above average rainfall through Dec. 15, together with lower than normal temperatures. Average rainfall for the period is 5.23 inches; last year it was 8:14 inches. The season's rainfall as of Nov. 15 for San Rafael was already more than three inches above average. Low temperatures for the period normally are in the low 40s, with highs in the low to mid 60s. (AP Wirephoto map)

BART, Reagan Agree Sales Tax Hike Is Best Solution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — If legislators approve Gov. Ronald Reagan's plans, residents of three San Francisco area counties will pay a higher sales tax in the next four and one-half years to complete the Bay Area Rapid Transit District system.

Reagan and BART directors announced at the Capitol yesterday they have agreed on the course they will ask the Legislature to take to pull the district out of a $146 million financial hole.

If the Legislature approves, the current sales tax of five cents on the dollar will go to five and one-half cents for what Reagan estimated would be four and one-half years in the limited area.

He called it "an emergency, short-term ... tax increase" and noted it would affect only the three BART counties — San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa, with about 2.3 million residents.

The governor likened it to the statewide, seven-months boost in the gasoline tax during 1965 to pay for roads damaged in the 1964 Northern California flood.

Legislation carrying an "urgency" clause to make it effective immediately upon the governor's signature without the usual waiting period will be introduced when the Legislature meets Jan. 6. To be carried by Sen. Lewis Sherman, R-Berkeley, it will permit the BART board of directors to raise the tax.

Because of the urgency clause the bill will require a two-thirds vote of approval in both houses.

Reagan told reporters "this is clearly a matter of extreme urgency . . . In my mind, the sales tax approach is the only fiscally sound one with which to effect a solution."

He said he is "confident that we will be able to count on broad community support for the sales tax approach."

That was backed up by the president of the BART board, James P. Doherty of El Cerrito.

Voters in the three counties aproved a $792 million bond issue for the 75-mile system of rapid rail transit in 1962, but well above $1 billion. Facing the deficit, the district has halted issuing most new contracts and said that if it didn't get some money, there would be a lot of expensive holes in the ground.

Sausalito's Rail Future Hearing Ends

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on Northwestern Pacific Railroad's application to abandon service on its Sausalito branch concluded yesterday after five days of testimony.

The ICC examiner who heard the testimony, Samuel C. Shoup, set Jan. 3 as the deadline for the railroad and Sausalito firms opposing the application to file written briefs, and said he probably would issue his recommendation to the ICC 60 to 90 days later.

NEXT STEP

Then, after both sides have had a chance to file exceptions to his recommendations, the matter will go before either the Commission or a division of the commission, which either can adopt his recommendations or issue its own order.

Shoup could not estimate how long the whole process may take.

The railroad's application contends that traffic on the branch is too light to warrant necessary repairs to the branch, but several business firms served by the branch are opposing the application to abandon service.

In earlier testimony, C. E. Neil, vice president and general manager of the railroad, pictured the branch as a rusted and decaying stretch that would require about $1.4 million to renovate.

However, James Hawke, a San Francisco structural engineer hired by the firms opposing the application, estimated it would cost about $36,000 to make repairs adequate for the next 10 years.

COSTS ISSUE

In closing testimony yesterday, Neil conceded Hawke's figures for labor and material costs were correct, but Neil argued that Hawke did not propose enough work to make the line safe.

Also in testimony yesterday, a trucker told the examiner that the Sausalito industries could get along without rail service by shifting to use of trucks. However, he did not have available figures to compare the cost of rail and truck service, reported Robert N. Lowry, attorney for the Sausalito firms.

A. G. Schoonmaker testified Monday that it would cost his diesel generating and gas turbine manufacturing firm about $65,000 a year more to move his products by trucks.

Lowry also reported that Neil testified that he had been trying to have the railroad renovate the branch since 1954.

In 1960, an ICC examiner ruled in favor of abandonment but was overturned by an ICC subcommittee.

Mexico Students To Press Boycott

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Leaders of Mexico's striking students vowed last night to continue the boycott of classes until the government meets their demands.

Members of the national strike committee announced to some 10,000 cheering students at the Santo Tomas campus of the Polytechnic Institute that they have no intention of complying with the repeated requests of Education Minister Agustin Yanez that they resume their studies.

The students announced plans to hold a "monster meeting" Saturday with representatives of dissatisfied federal teachers who have threatened a national strike for higher pay.

Nothern Irish Clash Hurts 10

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — At least 18 persons were injured last night when Roman Catholic demonstrators and Protestants clashed in the street outside a Londonderry factory.

It was the worst outbreak of violence in Londonderry since Oct. 5, when 80 persons were injured in a similar Catholic-Protestant street battle.

Yesterday about 200 youths marched to a factory to protect Catholic working girls who the youths said had been stoned by Protestants when they left the factory after the evening shift Monday.

Reports Bike Theft

Mary Reis of 119 Center Street, San Rafael, reported yesterday that an almost new bike had been taken from her porch sometime during the night, police said. Mrs. Reis told officers the bike was locked.

City Ownership Of Gas, Electric Systems Viewed

The suggestion that the City of Rohnert Park operate its own gas and electric systems has been presented to the city council with the recommendation that a feasibility study be made.

Developers Paul Golis and Hugh Codding in letters read at the Monday council meeting said it was their opinion the city could progress faster if it operated its own gas and electric supply systems. Golis said the slow actions of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. have held up development of certain areas on several occasions.

Acknowledging a feasibility study might be appropriate, the council asked the men if they might agree to share costs of the study. City Mgr. Peter M. Callahan suggested that each, as large undeveloped land owners, might put up $2,500. Golis said he would investigate costs for a study.

In prior years the council has studied the matter and at one time had retained the firm of R. W. Beck Associates of Seattle, Wash., for a study, but no action toward taking over the utilities was ever made.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

STOP SIGNS — Approved installation of stop signs on Transport Avenue at Commerce Boulevard; Industrial Court at Commerce Boulevard; Golf Course Drive at the Wilfred Avenue off-ramp of Highway 101, and on Rohnert Park Expressway at Snyder Lane.

ADVERTISING — Approved planned advertising sign of Golis on Highway 101 near his office on Commerce Boulevard.

HOSPITAL — Received letter from Golis suggesting that land set aside for the civic center buildings on Rohnert Park Expressway be relocated to city-owned property near the proposed Cofega Lake Drive and use the civic center property for a hospital site. The council agreed to study the suggestion.

UNDERGROUNDING — Was informed by the state Public Utilities Commission that districts for the undergrounding of utility lines need not be established as far in advance as had been required under old rulings. Proposed districts, therefore, were not discussed.

PAYMENT — Approved second progress payment of $27,088 to the James Construction Co. for work on the community and recreation center.

COMMENDED — Adopted resolutions commending the Rohnert Park Junior High School and Pop Warner football teams on their undefeated seasons.

WORK INCENTIVE — Approved participation in the federal work incentive program where persons on the welfare will be given job assignments with the city and receive an additional $30 a month from the state Department of Employment. Callinan said the city is responsible only for the supervision of employees and no financial outlay.

Berkeley Council Backs Farm Union

BERKELEY (UPI) — The City Council of Berkeley by a 5-to-1 vote yesterday adopted a resolution endorsing the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee boycott of table grapes.

The resolution, adopted even though the city doesn't buy table grapes, urged "all persons" to support the boycott.

Gunman Holds Up Grocer For $100

A man who stopped in at the Tamalpais Market, Second and D streets, San Rafael, ostensibly to buy a bottle of soda just before it closed last night, pulled a gun on co-owner Lloyd Mason and demanded the money from the cash register, police said.

Mason told officers the 55-to 60-year-old man came in at 8:55 p.m., five minutes before closing. He selected a soft drink and as Mason rang up the sale he pulled a .45-caliber gun and demanded the money, Mason reported.

Police said the amount of cash taken has not been definitely determined, but said it was about $100.

Marin Woman Denies Charge

Sandra Lee Price, 30, of Mill Valley, yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of embezzlement in a San Francisco Municipal Court hearing.

Her case was bound over to Superior Court with no hearing date yet set.

Mrs. Price is charged with embezzling more than $200 between June, 1966, and Feb. 21, 1968, from General Sales Corp. where she worked as a bookkeeper and accountant.

The railroad's application contends that traffic on the branch is too light to warrant necessary repairs to the branch, but several business firms served by the branch are opposing the application to abandon service.

In earlier testimony, C. E. Neil, vice president and general manager of the railroad, pictured the branch as a rusted and decaying stretch that would require about $1.4 million to renovate.

However, James Hawke, a San Francisco structural engineer hired by the firms opposing the application, estimated it would cost about $36,000 to make repairs adequate for the next 10 years.

COSTS ISSUE

In closing testimony yesterday, Neil conceded Hawke's figures for labor and material costs were correct, but Neil argued that Hawke did not propose enough work to make the line safe.

Also in testimony yesterday, a trucker told the examiner that the Sausalito industries could get along without rail service by shifting to use of trucks. However, he did not have available figures to compare the cost of rail and truck service, reported Robert N. Lowry, attorney for the Sausalito firms.

A. G. Schoonmaker testified Monday that it would cost his diesel generating and gas turbine manufacturing firm about $65,000 a year more to move his products by trucks.

Lowry also reported that Neil testified that he had been trying to have the railroad renovate the branch since 1954.

In 1960, an ICC examiner ruled in favor of abandonment but was overturned by an ICC subcommittee.

Mexico Students To Press Boycott

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Leaders of Mexico's striking students vowed last night to continue the boycott of classes until the government meets their demands.

Members of the national strike committee announced to some 10,000 cheering students at the Santo Tomas campus of the Polytechnic Institute that they have no intention of complying with the repeated requests of Education Minister Agustin Yanez that they resume their studies.

The students announced plans to hold a "monster meeting" Saturday with representatives of dissatisfied federal teachers who have threatened a national strike for higher pay.

Nothern Irish Clash Hurts 10

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — At least 18 persons were injured last night when Roman Catholic demonstrators and Protestants clashed in the street outside a Londonderry factory.

It was the worst outbreak of violence in Londonderry since Oct. 5, when 80 persons were injured in a similar Catholic-Protestant street battle.

Yesterday about 200 youths marched to a factory to protect Catholic working girls who the youths said had been stoned by Protestants when they left the factory after the evening shift Monday.

Reports Bike Theft

Mary Reis of 119 Center Street, San Rafael, reported yesterday that an almost new bike had been taken from her porch sometime during the night, police said. Mrs. Reis told officers the bike was locked.

City Ownership Of Gas, Electric Systems Viewed

The suggestion that the City of Rohnert Park operate its own gas and electric systems has been presented to the city council with the recommendation that a feasibility study be made.

Developers Paul Golis and Hugh Codding in letters read at the Monday council meeting said it was their opinion the city could progress faster if it operated its own gas and electric supply systems. Golis said the slow actions of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. have held up development of certain areas on several occasions.

Acknowledging a feasibility study might be appropriate, the council asked the men if they might agree to share costs of the study. City Mgr. Peter M. Callahan suggested that each, as large undeveloped land owners, might put up $2.500. Golis said he would investigate costs for a study.

In prior years the council has studied the matter and at one time had retained the firm of R. W. Beck Associates of Seattle, Wash., for a study, but no action toward taking over the utilities was ever made.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

STOP SIGNS — Approved installation of stop signs on Transport Avenue at Commerce Boulevard; Industrial Court at Commerce Boulevard; Golf Course Drive at the Wilfred Avenue off-ramp of Highway 101, and on Rohnert Park Expressway at Snyder Lane.

ADVERTISING — Approved planned advertising sign of Golis on Highway 101 near his office on Commerce Boulevard.

HOSPITAL — Received letter from Golis suggesting that land set aside for the civic center buildings on Rohnert Park Expressway be relocated to city-owned property near the proposed Cofega Lake Drive and use the civic center property for a hospital site. The council agreed to study the suggestion.

UNDERGROUNDING — Was informed by the state Public Utilities Commission that districts for the undergrounding of utility lines need not be established as far in advance as had been required under old rulings. Proposed districts, therefore, were not discussed.

PAYMENT — Approved second progress payment of $27,088 to the James Construction Co. for work on the community and recreation center.

COMMENDED — Adopted resolutions commending the Rohnert Park Junior High School and Pop Warner football teams on their undefeated seasons.

WORK INCENTIVE — Approved participation in the federal work incentive program where persons on the welfare will be given job assignments with the city and receive an additional $30 a month from the state Department of Employment. Callinan said the city is responsible only for the supervision of employees and no financial outlay.

Berkeley Council Backs Farm Union

BERKELEY (UPI) — The City Council of Berkeley by a 5-to-1 vote yesterday adopted a resolution endorsing the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee boycott of table grapes.

The resolution, adopted even though the city doesn't buy table grapes, urged "all persons" to support the boycott.

Gunman Holds Up Grocer For $100

A man who stopped in at the Tamalpais Market, Second and D streets, San Rafael, ostensibly to buy a bottle of soda just before it closed last night, pulled a gun on co-owner Lloyd Mason and demanded the money from the cash register, police said.

Mason told officers the 55-to 60-year-old man came in at 8:55 p.m., five minutes before closing. He selected a soft drink and as Mason rang up the sale he pulled a .45-caliber gun and demanded the money, Mason reported.

Police said the amount of cash taken has not been definitely determined, but said it was about $100.

Marin Woman Denies Charge

Sandra Lee Price, 30, of Mill Valley, yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of embezzlement in a San Francisco Municipal Court hearing.

Her case was bound over to Superior Court with no hearing date yet set.

Mrs. Price is charged with embezzling more than $200 between June, 1966, and Feb. 21, 1968, from General Sales Corp. where she worked as a bookkeeper and accountant.

Human Rights Official Reports Car Rifled

While he was attending the Novato City Council special meeting with the Novatans for Racial Equality last night at the community house, Wallace K. Shepherd, field representative of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, said his car was rifled, according to police.

A brief case containing papers belonging to Shepherd and a hunting-style knife were found at 11:30 p.m. at South Novato Boulevard and Arthur Street by Robert Abercrombie of 2350 Dominic Drive, Novato, who returned the articles to police. Shepherd told police he would recover the items today.

Lack Of Quorum

Yesterday's scheduled meeting of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce was canceled for lack of a quorum. Secretary Sandra Healey said the meeting will be rescheduled, but the date is not set yet.

Oakland's Tech High Reopens For Classes

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland Technical High School reopened today after being closed two days following a rampage in which 110 windows were broken.

Faculty members at Tech met throughout yesterday, drafting proposals to thwart any violence in the future.

The Negotiating Council of the Oakland Education Association, representing a majority of the city's teachers, proposed automatic suspension of any student identified as a participant in a school disruption.

In separate disturbance Tuesday at McClymonds High School in West Oakland, temporary evacuation was ordered when fires broke out in a music room.

In moves against vandalism, the board of education last night appropriated $50,000 to hire additional guards.

The board also approved requiring students to carry identification cards and expelled two more students. Twelve have been expelled this year.

Sleepy Lagunitas Motorist Injured

Donald Ray Pate, 30, of 60 Mountain View Avenue, Lagunitas, was treated today at Marin General Hospital for broken ribs and face cuts received when his car went over a bank west of Fairfax, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The highway patrol said Pate told them he fell asleep driving home at 1:55 a.m. on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard just outside the Fairfax city limits.

President of Corte Madera Volunteer Fire Department is Larry P. Salarpi.

Novato Postal Bids Too High

The two bids received to operate a post office substation on Grant Avenue in Novato were rejected today as too high, according to Novato Postmaster Harry Overly.

Bids were submitted for a substation in the main business district by Baxter Hovis, owner of Pini Hardware at 1107 Grant Avenue, and Jack J. Friddle, owner of Ben Franklin Store at 871 Grant Avenue, Overly said.

The post office will call for new bids after Christmas, Overly said.

Peking Trade Off

ALIOTO GETS NOISY RECEPTION

Petaluma Planners Favor Convalescent Hospital

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night unanimously gave permission for construction of a convalescent hospital on Douglas Street at the Petaluma Trade Center.

The application, filed by California Health Care, Inc., was recommended by William C. McGivern, city planner, who said the location is convenient, plans attractive, zoning correct and that the hospital will meet a growing need. He reported the city now has 254 convalescent beds and will need a minimum of 347 by 1972.

At the public hearing, several neighbors complained the hospital would bring additional traffic into the area, while others argued another convalescent hospital is not needed.

The Petaluma Planning Commission Also:

VARIANCE —Approved variance requested by Dr. Hamza Munib to construct a triplex apartment building on a substandard lot at 340 Kentucky Street. Planner McGivern had opposed the variance, saying the 4,800 square foot lot is too small for the proposed building.

RESOLUTION — Approved resolution to amend the zoning ordinance to add mobile homes parks to the list of conditional uses in the limited industrial zone.

AMEND — Approved resolution asking the city council to amend the zoning ordinance to allow the planning commission to add conditional uses to the ordinance.

MOBILE HOMES — Directed planing staff to study and prepare an ordinance to establish a separate mobile home district and to schedule a public hearing.

REHABILITATION — Approved request of Signal Oil and Gas Co. to allow rehabilitation of existing station at 296 Wilson Street. Site designs were also approved.

REZONING — Approved recommendation to city council that 19 acres of unincorporated land owned by Aubrey W. Sanderson on Old Redwood Highway at Highway 101 be rezoned from light industrial to highway commercial. The city council will study the rezoning at a meeting today at 4:30 p.m. at city hall and will make a recommendation to the Sonoma County Planning Commission.

USE PERMIT — Approved recommendation to the county planning commission that a use permit be granted for construction of an education building at the Church of God the Prophecy, 2100 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Petaluma Teen-Ager Hurt In Car Accident

Paul B. Luchessa, 16, of 23 Laurel Drive, Petaluma, was injured yesterday at 2:25 p.m. when his car ran down an embankment on Highway 101 near the School Street exit at Cotati.

Luchessa was treated at Petaluma General Hospital for face cuts. He was thrown from the car.

The California grizzly bear appearing on the state flag and seal was extinct before it formally became the state's animal in 1953.

Except for a small strip six miles wide, the present boundaries of Colusa County have nothing in common with the original boundaries of the county.

Teacher Is Fired Over Marijuana

DANVILLE (AP) — The superintendent of schools says a substitute teacher has been fired and six Monte Vista High School students suspended for smoking marijuana in class.

Dr. Richard Foster, San Ramon Valley Unified School District superintendent, said yesterday a further investigation is under way.

Principal Larry Church discovered the incident Friday and said the teacher "was incapable of a coherent response to questions."

Neither the teacher nor the students were named.

Danville is in Contra Costa County.

Foster, a resident of Greenbrae, has resigned as superintendent effective June 30, 1969. His resignation came after residents in the district split over what some called "permissive education" and a proposal to bus pupils from Oakland and Richmond poverty areas to San Ramon Valley schools. Foster is a former assistant superintendent of Marin County schools.

Two Sisters Perish As Blaze Hits Home

LA HABRA (AP) — A 10-year-old girl died trying to save her little sister as fire swept through the second floor of their home last night.

The youngsters were killed by flames and smoke as three brothers, a sister and their grandmother fled and screamed to neighbors for help.

Dead are Marta Markel and her sister, Megan, 2. Their parents, Melvin, 45, an engineer, and Marjorie, 41, were at a dinner party.

A neighbor, Clara Meister, 45, heard the screams and tried to climb a stairway but was turned back by heat and smoke.

Her husband, Willard, 49, and daughter, Paulette, 19, also tried to scale the stairs, but failed.

A fireman broke through a window, scooped up Marta from the bedroom floor and took her unconscious onto the roof of the garage.

Drake Freshmen Set Election

Sir Francis Drake High School freshmen will elect officers to serve for the rest of the school year during world history classes Friday.

Freshmen started the year with a temporary council to give students a chance to get to know one another and the school. Previously fall and spring officers were elected.

Candidates for president are Jeanne Furrier, Dennis Gallagher, Robert Morgen and Tom Thompson; vice president, Mike Barbera, Danielle Dever, Kathy Olson, Cindy DeMars, and Cyndi Miller; secretary, Leslie Caulfield, Sue Harrison, Vicki McVey, Karin Moffat, Debbie Mueller and Lori Tourte; and treasurer, Gael Adair, Tricia Behre, Pat Grubbs, Nori Hendricks and Kris Niemann.

Henry Torget is president of Black Point Improvement Club.

Hub City Youth Taken To Napa

A 19-year-old San Anselmo youth who, police say, apparently was under the influence of drugs was taken to Napa State Hospital yesterday on an emergency committment.

Officers said they arrived at the home of William Michael Wauters, 130 Melville Avenue, about 11 p.m. yesterday and found him removing his jacket and shirt in the middle of the street.

He declared he owned the universe, they said, and ordered officers to leave the area. No drugs were in his possession, police added.

The dogwood tree is believed to have gotten its name from Europeans who boiled its bark to produce a potion for treating mange in dogs.

ALIOTO GETS NOISY RECEPTION

Petaluma Planners Favor Convalescent Hospital

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night unanimously gave permission for construction of a convalescent hospital on Douglas Street at the Petaluma Trade Center.

The application, filed by California Health Care, Inc., was recommended by William C. McGivern, city planner, who said the location is convenient, plans attractive, zoning correct and that the hospital will meet a growing need. He reported the city now has 254 convalescent beds and will need a minimum of 347 by 1972.

At the public hearing, several neighbors complained the hospital would bring additional traffic into the area, while others argued another convalescent hospital is not needed.

The Petaluma Planning Commission Also:

VARIANCE —Approved variance requested by Dr. Hamza Munib to construct a triplex apartment building on a substandard lot at 340 Kentucky Street. Planner McGivern had opposed the variance, saying the 4,800 square foot lot is too small for the proposed building.

RESOLUTION — Approved resolution to amend the zoning ordinance to add mobile homes parks to the list of conditional uses in the limited industrial zone.

AMEND — Approved resolution asking the city council to amend the zoning ordinance to allow the planning commission to add conditional uses to the ordinance.

MOBILE HOMES — Directed planing staff to study and prepare an ordinance to establish a separate mobile home district and to schedule a public hearing.

REHABILITATION — Approved request of Signal Oil and Gas Co. to allow rehabilitation of existing station at 296 Wilson Street. Site designs were also approved.

REZONING — Approved recommendation to city council that 19 acres of unincorporated land owned by Aubrey W. Sanderson on Old Redwood Highway at Highway 101 be rezoned from light industrial to highway commercial. The city council will study the rezoning at a meeting today at 4:30 p.m. at city hall and will make a recommendation to the Sonoma County Planning Commission.

TO DISLODGE BULLET

Centrifuge Used As Surgical Tool

MOUNTAN VIEW (UPI) — A huge centrifuge, normally used to train and test astronauts, has become a surgical tool for doctors trying to shift a bullet lodged in a man's brain to a less critical area.

The bullet is in the brain of Joseph Barrios, 63, a Morgan Hill, cook shot during an Oct. 7 holdup at the restaurant where he worked.

Doctors and scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center made the first attempt Monday to move the bullet by subjecting Barrios to the pressures of centrifugal force.

The first attempt failed but doctors were encouraged enough to begin plans for a second try during the next two weeks.

In the first try, Barrios wore a tight-fitting helmet and was strapped and clamped into place at the end of the huge centrifuge arm.

He was given a 30-second spin at four Gs — four times the force of gravity. He showed no ill effects and agreed to another run of 20 seconds at five Gs and five seconds at 6 Gs. He was talkative and smiling as the machine stopped twirling.

The bullet is in the left lateral ventricle of the soft tissue of Barrios' brain. His doctors want to shift it a fraction of an inch to a position where it would be harmless or could be removed surgically with much less risk.

Other NASA equipment was used earlier when the bullet shifted into the third ventricle, an even more critical spot. Barrios was somersaulted in a special rotating chair and the bullet moved back into the lateral ventricle.

The bullet has not affected Barrios' physical actions, but doctors have ordered him kept immobile to prevent movement of the bullet into a more dangerous spot.

3-Year-Old Probe Begins Pass At Sun

MOUNTAIN VIEW (UPI) — Pioneer VI, launched nearly three years ago to study the solar atmosphere, began its pass around the sun yesterday — 167,591,700 miles from earth.

A spokesman for the Ames Research Center, which is conducting the Pioneer Project, said monitoring devices were turned off due to normal violent activity near the solar surface.

Scientists said the craft will disappear behind the solar disc tomorrow morning and emerge again Saturday afternoon.

Coronal turbulence weakened the radio signal emitted from Pioneer VI, 432 miles from the solar surface. Radio noise transmitted by the sun itself was so powerful that the spacecraft's signal was blotted out.

Scientists conducting experiments with the spacecraft are stationed at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena. They are measuring effects of a radio signal passing from the spacecraft through the little-known corona of the sun on its way to earth.

It is hoped such measurements will give man its best information yet on the structure of the corona, which is the part of the sun's turbulent atmosphere closest to the solar surface.

Another experiment linked with Pioneer VI seeks to check the theory of relativity.

Novato Trustees To Trim Budget For Salary Increases

Novato Unified School District trustees Monday night approved trimming the budget and taking money from undistributed reserve to meet the $350,000 pay increase granted the teachers and other employees last month, Supt. James G. Bunker reported yesterday.

Various budget items were trimmed by a total $71,610. Added to this was $135,120 of additional income from the federal money to districts in which a military base is located and $143,270 from the reserves.

This left only $46,577 in the undistributed reserve fund, Bunker said.

Novato Unified School District Trustees Also:

GROWTH — Heard a report that there were 306 new houses under construction in the city which will necessitate one new elementary school and additions to San Marin High School by the fall of 1971.

CORPORATION YARD — Asked staff to find out the cost of five acres in the vicinity of Gnoss Field for a district corporation yard.

HILL ROAD — Reviewed proposals by the Novato City Public Works Department on the realignment of Hill Road by Rancho School, and opposed one plan which would put the road 40 feet from the door of the school.

SAN MARIN HIGH — Approved a change order on San Marin High for a pressure reduction valve on the water main costing $4,162.

Rock Group, Film Star In Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — The Jefferson Airplane, a rock music group, bombed out yesterday as far as the police were concerned and their rooftop renditions resulted in a bumpy landing for actor Rip Torn.

The group had plugged in its amplifiers atop a nine-story midtown Manhattan hotel during the filming of "One American Movie" for a Public Broadcasting Laboratory TV program.

The guitar noise got the better of guests and tied up traffic on the streets below.

During a police investigation, Torn got into an argument and pushed a patrolman, officers said. He was issued a summons for harassment. The film company, Leacock Pennebaker Inc., also received a summons for creating a public disturbance and filming without a permit.

San Rafael Sets Firemen's Class

Firemen throughout Marin County will come to San Rafael Friday and Saturday to participate in a county-wide fire fighting school, San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett said yesterday.

Live fire demonstrations will be used to teach the firemen to combat gas, oil and butane fires with water and other extinguishing agents, such as dry powder. The school sessions will take place on the flatlands near the San Rafael Fire Department Number Four, off Francisco Blvd.

There will be class sessions beginning at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. on both days.

Guilty Plea Made In Property Case

Kelly Sanford Walter, 19, of Marin City, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court Monday to a charge that he concealed property stolen in a burglary of a Sausalito home June 15.

His plea was offered after the district attorney withdrew a charge that he burgled the home. His case was continued until Dec. 16 for sentencing.

Arraigned In Theft

Fred Michael Ball of Garfield Road, Petaluma, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on felony of car theft and burglary in Novato April 2 and another burglary in that city April 7. His case was continued until today for plea.

Educators Given Warning On Laws

Repressive school legislation, largely as a result of widespread dissatisfaction with conduct of colleges and high schools, may be expected from the 1969 California Legislature, the Marin Elementary School Administrators' Association was warned yesterday.

Bryce W. Anderson, executive city editor of the Independent-Journal, outlined some of the measures expected to be introduced in the Legislature during a talk to the monthly breakfast meeting of the association at Dominican College.

He forecast a new and perhaps successful attempt to repeal the portion of the Unruh Education Act which removes all school tax rate ceilings as of 1971, curtailment of a teacher tenure rights, and possibly setting of teacher salaries by the state. He suggested that how the school districts go about curriculum control which was granted them by the George Miller Jr. Act may have considerable effect on whether repressive legislation is passed.

Tomales Bay Changes Under Way

Many of the programs, requested by parents last March at a special meeting, have been started, Supt. Ralph E. Nixon reported Monday night to Tomales Bay School District trustees.

Nixon told the trustees that the district now has started a middle school and has added home economics, shop, music and art to its curriculum. These were most of the things desired by the parents, he said.

The Tomales Elementary School District board also:

ART — Heard a report and saw examples of art being taught to the 6th, 7th and 8th grade students twice a week by Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, a voluntary teacher aid.

X-RAY — Heard a report from Nixon that he had requested the mobile chest X-ray unit from the Marin County Tuberculosis Association, but the date has not been set.

Lobbyist Issue Again Confronts Gate Span Board

The recurring issue of whether to hire a Sacramento lobbyist will come before the legislation committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Former Assembly Speaker Gordon Garland, 68, has represented the district in the capitol since 1961 at an annual fee of $16,000. A minority of the board's 14 directors has opposed his hiring each year.

Board criticism of Garland this year, however, is expected to be strengthened because the district failed to block legislation it opposed in the 1968 session.

District auditor Gordon E. Dahlgren has reported that Garland has been paid a total of $84,000, including expenses, in his seven years as lobbyist.

Garland served in the Assembly from 1936 to 1943, and lobbies for several other clients.

The committee's recommendation will be presented to the full board at 10 a.m. Friday in the district offices.

He will hand out candy canes, according to chamber officials.

TO DISLODGE BULLET

Centrifuge Used As Surgical Tool

MOUNTAN VIEW (UPI) — A huge centrifuge, normally used to train and test astronauts, has become a surgical tool for doctors trying to shift a bullet lodged in a man's brain to a less critical area.

The bullet is in the brain of Joseph Barrios, 63, a Morgan Hill, cook shot during an Oct. 7 holdup at the restaurant where he worked.

Doctors and scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center made the first attempt Monday to move the bullet by subjecting Barrios to the pressures of centrifugal force.

The first attempt failed but doctors were encouraged enough to begin plans for a second try during the next two weeks.

In the first try, Barrios wore a tight-fitting helmet and was strapped and clamped into place at the end of the huge centrifuge arm.

He was given a 30-second spin at four Gs — four times the force of gravity. He showed no ill effects and agreed to another run of 20 seconds at five Gs and five seconds at 6 Gs. He was talkative and smiling as the machine stopped twirling.

The bullet is in the left lateral ventricle of the soft tissue of Barrios' brain. His doctors want to shift it a fraction of an inch to a position where it would be harmless or could be removed surgically with much less risk.

Other NASA equipment was used earlier when the bullet shifted into the third ventricle, an even more critical spot. Barrios was somersaulted in a special rotating chair and the bullet moved back into the lateral ventricle.

The bullet has not affected Barrios' physical actions, but doctors have ordered him kept immobile to prevent movement of the bullet into a more dangerous spot.

3-Year-Old Probe Begins Pass At Sun

MOUNTAIN VIEW (UPI) — Pioneer VI, launched nearly three years ago to study the solar atmosphere, began its pass around the sun yesterday — 167,591,700 miles from earth.

A spokesman for the Ames Research Center, which is conducting the Pioneer Project, said monitoring devices were turned off due to normal violent activity near the solar surface.

Scientists said the craft will disappear behind the solar disc tomorrow morning and emerge again Saturday afternoon.

Coronal turbulence weakened the radio signal emitted from Pioneer VI, 432 miles from the solar surface. Radio noise transmitted by the sun itself was so powerful that the spacecraft's signal was blotted out.

Scientists conducting experiments with the spacecraft are stationed at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena. They are measuring effects of a radio signal passing from the spacecraft through the little-known corona of the sun on its way to earth.

It is hoped such measurements will give man its best information yet on the structure of the corona, which is the part of the sun's turbulent atmosphere closest to the solar surface.

Another experiment linked with Pioneer VI seeks to check the theory of relativity.

Novato Trustees To Trim Budget For Salary Increases

Novato Unified School District trustees Monday night approved trimming the budget and taking money from undistributed reserve to meet the $350,000 pay increase granted the teachers and other employees last month, Supt. James G. Bunker reported yesterday.

Various budget items were trimmed by a total $71,610. Added to this was $135,120 of additional income from the federal money to districts in which a military base is located and $143,270 from the reserves.

This left only $46,577 in the undistributed reserve fund, Bunker said.

Novato Unified School District Trustees Also:

GROWTH — Heard a report that there were 306 new houses under construction in the city which will necessitate one new elementary school and additions to San Marin High School by the fall of 1971.

CORPORATION YARD — Asked staff to find out the cost of five acres in the vicinity of Gnoss Field for a district corporation yard.

HILL ROAD — Reviewed proposals by the Novato City Public Works Department on the realignment of Hill Road by Rancho School, and opposed one plan which would put the road 40 feet from the door of the school.

SAN MARIN HIGH — Approved a change order on San Marin High for a pressure reduction valve on the water main costing $4,162.

Rock Group, Film Star In Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — The Jefferson Airplane, a rock music group, bombed out yesterday as far as the police were concerned and their rooftop renditions resulted in a bumpy landing for actor Rip Torn.

The group had plugged in its amplifiers atop a nine-story midtown Manhattan hotel during the filming of "One American Movie" for a Public Broadcasting Laboratory TV program.

The guitar noise got the better of guests and tied up traffic on the streets below.

During a police investigation, Torn got into an argument and pushed a patrolman, officers said. He was issued a summons for harassment. The film company, Leacock Pennebaker Inc., also received a summons for creating a public disturbance and filming without a permit.

San Rafael Sets Firemen's Class

Firemen throughout Marin County will come to San Rafael Friday and Saturday to participate in a county-wide fire fighting school, San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett said yesterday.

Live fire demonstrations will be used to teach the firemen to combat gas, oil and butane fires with water and other extinguishing agents, such as dry powder. The school sessions will take place on the flatlands near the San Rafael Fire Department Number Four, off Francisco Blvd.

There will be class sessions beginning at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. on both days.

Guilty Plea Made In Property Case

Kelly Sanford Walter, 19, of Marin City, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court Monday to a charge that he concealed property stolen in a burglary of a Sausalito home June 15.

His plea was offered after the district attorney withdrew a charge that he burgled the home. His case was continued until Dec. 16 for sentencing.

Arraigned In Theft

Fred Michael Ball of Garfield Road, Petaluma, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on felony of car theft and burglary in Novato April 2 and another burglary in that city April 7. His case was continued until today for plea.

Book Says Cardinal Lost Post Over War

TURIN, Italy (AP) - A priest historian says sharp criticism of American bombing in North Vietnam cost Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro his post as archbishop of Bologna last January.

In a book issued today, the Rev. Lorenzo Bedeschi, a university professor in modern history, argues that conservatives in the Vatican Curia took advantage of the poor health of Pope Paul VI last winter to get from him an order of resignation for Cardinal Lercaro. Father Bedeschi says Pope Paul later bitterly repented what he had done.

The book, entitled "The Dismissed Cardinal," reports the papal order to resign reached the the cardinal in a few days after he called bombing in Vietnam an evil and said the Church was bound in conscience to denounce it.

The historian says conservatice prelates in the Vatican charged the cardinal with being prone to Communist influence and that his sermon provided evidence.

Father Bedeschi says Pope Paul, recovering from the prostate surgery of November 1967, was an easy prey to conservative maneuvering.

Cardinal Lercaro, considered a top figure among Italian Catholic progressives, has long been the target of attacks by conservatives. Last year a pamphlet with an approving preface by Italy's Antonio Cardinal Bacci described Cardinal Lercaro as the most dangerous man in the church since Luther.

Shortly after Cardinal Lercaro's dismissal the Vatican announced the resignation of Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, who was widely regarded as a key figure in church conservatism. From his post as head of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.

According to Father Bedeschi's book, in a private audience last March the Pope kindly reproached Cardinal Lercaro for "having accepted the order to resign too readily" and told him he should have consulted personally with the pontiff before obeying.

Since then, Pope Paul has often praised Cardinal Lercaro and his activity before audiences of pilgrims. The Pope also sent the cardinal as his representative to open the World Eucharistic Congress in Bogota, Colombia, last August.

Brocco Case: No Charges Planned Yet

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said today that he has no immediate plans to seek charges against Lorraine Brocco, who wounded her sleeping husband with a hatchet in their Greenbrae home on Oct. 27.

Mrs. Brocco, who took an overdose of pills after striking the former Larkspur City Councilman Henry Brocco on the head, is now a patient at the new Community Mental Health Center, where she was transferred from Marin General Hospital.

Because of Mrs. Brocco's illness, Chief Clark has been unable to interview her about the incident, he said.

He has conferred with the district attorney's office, he said, and no plans have been made to file charges in view of Mrs. Brocco's illness.

Brocco, 43-year-old owner of the Bon Air Pharmacy, told officers he awakened in their home at 349 Via La Paz to find his wife chopping at his head with a hatchet. He was treated at Marin General Hospital but the wound was not considered serious.

He told police he knew of no reason for the assault.

Mrs. Brocco was found unconscious in their bedroom shortly after and taken to Marin General Hospital, where she was treated in the intensive care unit.

Kimmel Faces Charges On Marijuana

James David Kimmel, the Novato High School teacher arrested on campus Friday with suspected marijuana, will be charged with possession of the weed and resisting a police officer, Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas said today.

Thomas also confirmed that his office is considering additional charges against the biology and earth science teacher, on the basis of new reports from the Novato police department.

Thomas said he will ask Carl Shapiro, attorney for Kimmel, to have his client in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow for arraignment.

On Friday, he and a 16-year-old boy were arrested by Novato police after a tip that the student was selling marijuana to the teacher.

Police recovered a cigarette butt, which they said Kimmel was smoking, and a tin containing green vegetable matter. Kimmel was booked on suspicion of possessing marijuana, destroying evidence and resisting arrest.

TERRA LINDA COEDS MAY WEAR SLACKS

Terra Linda High School coeds may wear slacks to school beginning Tuesday, a committee of parents, staff and students decided yesterday.

The committee acted on a newly revised district policy which gave each school the option of permitting girls to wear slacks. San Rafael High School granted the permission Nov. 12.

Terra Linda Principal Frank Stocking said the one-week delay was to give time to send letters to parents informing them of the changed rule.

Six Drown

MANILA (AP) — At least six persons drowned when the inter-island ferry Iruna and the British freighter Eastern Moon collided Monday night in Cebu harbor, navy headquarters said today. The Iruna sank, and the first report of the collision said 200 persons were missing.

Marin Democrats Set Sights On 1970 Drive

After learning last night that its finances are in good shape, the Marin County Democratic Central Committee began making plans for the 1970 election.

Chairman S. Robert Politzer said that the financial drive begun in June had raised enough money to pay off a two-year debt of $1,800 with money left over. "Considering this was not a Democratic year, we are very pleased with our financial picture," Politzer said.

The Marin Democrats have embarked on a three-prong program called "Project '70," Politzer said. The first part of the program will be a search for a candidate for the Fourth State Senatorial District, the seat now held by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Politzer said the committee also plans to start building a war chest toward this election.

The third part of the program is to build a new club movement in the county, probably not associated with the California Democratic Council, which has become ineffective, Politzer said.

"We also plan to bring the central committee closer to county Democrats by holding monthly meetings in various communities with speakers on political issues," Politzer explained.

Key Democrats in the county who do not belong to the central committee will be invited to a seminar within the next few weeks, he said, to discuss and organize the Democratic structure in Marin.

Teen-Ager Cited On Theft Of Car

A 15-year-old San Rafael youth was cited on three counts of car theft and released to his father yesterday after police found him with a car taken Sunday in San Rafael.

The youth admitted taking two other cars recently. Police said all of the cars had been recovered.

First Plans For Luchessi Park Studied

The Petaluma Parks and Recreation Commission last night studied preliminary plans for the development of Luchessi Park on Maria Drive at East Washington Street.

Landscaping plans were submitted by architect Sidney Lewin of San Rafael. Commission members said they would study them for comments at the Dec. 4 meeting in city hall when a public hearing will be held.

Lewin suggested that federal funds for the project might come from the open space land program or the land and water conservation program. Commission members asked Lewin to study the fund plans and to make a recommendation.

The Petaluma Parks and Recreation Commission also:

BASEBALL — Reviewed the baseball complex at Stockton which is in the final stages of development and discussed how it might be adopted to Petaluma.

JUDO—Announced a six-week judo class for 6-to-14-year-olds will start Jan. 6 at 7 p.m. in the Kenilworth Recreation Center and will be held each Thursday night through Feb. 13.

REPORT — Received for study the annual report submitted by director Richard W. Shollenberger.

MEMORIAL—Reported local artist Rosa Estebanez is working on a plaque for the memorial honoring Petalumans killed in Vietnam.

Human Rights Parley Will Meet Tomorrow

The Marin County Intergroup Conference on Human Rights will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Civic Center.

The group, which includes representatives of all human rights organizations in Marin, will discuss current projects and goals of each organization.

Malvino Named Chamber Head

Louis N. Malvino, co-owner of the Lewis George Fine Men's Apparel at Corte Madera Shopping Center, today was elected president of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce board.

He replaces Robert D. Satterthwaite, effective Jan. 11.

New first vice president is Donald Beacock. Donald Gillis is second vice president. Donald Andresen will be treasurer and Roland Frazier, secretary.

The board appointed a committee to study the changes needed to return the Town of Corte Madera from a Class 7 fire rating to Class 6.

Educators Given Warning On Laws

Repressive school legislation, largely as a result of widespread dissatisfaction with conduct of colleges and high schools, may be expected from the 1969 California Legislature, the Marin Elementary School Administrators' Association was warned yesterday.

Bryce W. Anderson, executive city editor of the Independent-Journal, outlined some of the measures expected to be introduced in the Legislature during a talk to the monthly breakfast meeting of the association at Dominican College.

He forecast a new and perhaps successful attempt to repeal the portion of the Unruh Education Act which removes all school tax rate ceilings as of 1971, curtailment of a teacher tenure rights, and possibly setting of teacher salaries by the state. He suggested that how the school districts go about curriculum control which was granted them by the George Miller Jr. Act may have considerable effect on whether repressive legislation is passed.

NAMED AIRMAN—A/1C Ronald C. Richards, 26, who is assigned to the 78th Communications and Electronic Maintenance Squadron and lives in the barracks, has been chosen Airman of the Month at Hamilton Air Force Base. He was selected for his self-improvement, job performance and knowledge of current events.

Tomales Bay Changes Under Way

Many of the programs, requested by parents last March at a special meeting, have been started, Supt. Ralph E. Nixon reported Monday night to Tomales Bay School District trustees.

Nixon told the trustees that the district now has started a middle school and has added home economics, shop, music and art to its curriculum. These were most of the things desired by the parents, he said.

The Tomales Elementary School District board also:

ART — Heard a report and saw examples of art being taught to the 6th, 7th and 8th grade students twice a week by Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, a voluntary teacher aid.

X-RAY — Heard a report from Nixon that he had requested the mobile chest X-ray unit from the Marin County Tuberculosis Association, but the date has not been set.

Lobbyist Issue Again Confronts Gate Span Board

The recurring issue of whether to hire a Sacramento lobbyist will come before the legislation committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Former Assembly Speaker Gordon Garland, 68, has represented the district in the capitol since 1961 at an annual fee of $16,000. A minority of the board's 14 directors has opposed his hiring each year.

Board criticism of Garland this year, however, is expected to be strengthened because the district failed to block legislation it opposed in the 1968 session.

District auditor Gordon E. Dahlgren has reported that Garland has been paid a total of $84,000, including expenses, in his seven years as lobbyist.

Garland served in the Assembly from 1936 to 1943, and lobbies for several other clients.

The committee's recommendation will be presented to the full board at 10 a.m. Friday in the district offices.

U.S., Japan Ironing Out Fishing Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Japan and the United States "are at the halfway mark" in their review of existing fishing agreements, a State Department official said yesterday.

The official said the review is extensive, and that both Japan and the United States are making serious efforts to solve any problems regarding fishing rights.

King crab rights are one of the major topics being discussed, the official said.

The talks are expected to conclude next Wednesday, at which time an announcement will be issued, the official said.

The United States recognizes a three-mile offshore territorial limit, but extends its fishing rights to a 12-mile limit. The Japanese have never agreed to the extended fishing limits. The U.S. has granted the Japanese fishing rights in certain areas for specified types of fish at particular seasons.

The Japanese, who were listed by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations as the second biggest fishing nation in the world in 1967, are seeking to expand their fishing rights, particularly off the West Coast of the United States.

At the beginning of the current talks, the State Department said that "depending upon their findings, the delegations may recommend modifications of the agreements."

It said both sides would "examine the operation of the agreements in the light of current problems and new developments in the fisheries."

The first of the fishing agreements under review between the two counties, signed in 1964, regulates king crab fishing in the eastern Bering Sea.

The other agreement, signed May 9, 1967, concerns fishery problems off the U.S. coast.

Ambassador Donald L. McKernan, special assistant to the secretary of state, heads the U.S. delegation in the current talks, which also included representatives from the states of Alaska, Washington, Oregon and California. The Japanese delegation is headed by Bonroku Yoshino, minister of the Japanese Embassy.

Reagan To Name Fifth Superior Judge Next Week

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointment of a fifth Marin County Superior Court judge will be announced next week, his appointments secretary said today.

Paul R. Haerle, formerly of Santa Venetia, noted that the appointment had been expected Nov. 1, but was delayed because the board of governors of the State Bar of California had not screened possible appointees as expected at the October meeting.

The board's November meeting will be held tomorrow in San Francisco, and its 15 members are to screen a slate of appointees proposed by the governor, said Haerle. No Marinites are on the board of governors.

Candidates already have been screened under tight security by a secret committee of Marinites whose meeting dates and recommendations were kept under wraps by the governor's office.

The judgeship pays $30,572 a year.

Police-Community Panel Slated

A three-man panel will discuss police-community relations at the home of Gloria Jones of 519 Northern Avenue, Mill Valley, at 8 p.m. today.

Speakers will be Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, William J. Dews, police-community relations officer for the sheriff's department, and Richard Wertheimer, an American Civil Liberties Union attorney.

The meeting is sponsored by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Book Says Cardinal Lost Post Over War

TURIN, Italy (AP) - A priest historian says sharp criticism of American bombing in North Vietnam cost Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro his post as archbishop of Bologna last January.

In a book issued today, the Rev. Lorenzo Bedeschi, a university professor in modern history, argues that conservatives in the Vatican Curia took advantage of the poor health of Pope Paul VI last winter to get from him an order of resignation for Cardinal Lercaro. Father Bedeschi says Pope Paul later bitterly repented what he had done.

The book, entitled "The Dismissed Cardinal," reports the papal order to resign reached the the cardinal in a few days after he called bombing in Vietnam an evil and said the Church was bound in conscience to denounce it.

The historian says conservatice prelates in the Vatican charged the cardinal with being prone to Communist influence and that his sermon provided evidence.

Father Bedeschi says Pope Paul, recovering from the prostate surgery of November 1967, was an easy prey to conservative maneuvering.

Cardinal Lercaro, considered a top figure among Italian Catholic progressives, has long been the target of attacks by conservatives. Last year a pamphlet with an approving preface by Italy's Antonio Cardinal Bacci described Cardinal Lercaro as the most dangerous man in the church since Luther.

Shortly after Cardinal Lercaro's dismissal the Vatican announced the resignation of Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, who was widely regarded as a key figure in church conservatism. From his post as head of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.

According to Father Bedeschi's book, in a private audience last March the Pope kindly reproached Cardinal Lercaro for "having accepted the order to resign too readily" and told him he should have consulted personally with the pontiff before obeying.

Since then, Pope Paul has often praised Cardinal Lercaro and his activity before audiences of pilgrims. The Pope also sent the cardinal as his representative to open the World Eucharistic Congress in Bogota, Colombia, last August.

Brocco Case: No Charges Planned Yet

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said today that he has no immediate plans to seek charges against Lorraine Brocco, who wounded her sleeping husband with a hatchet in their Greenbrae home on Oct. 27.

Mrs. Brocco, who took an overdose of pills after striking the former Larkspur City Councilman Henry Brocco on the head, is now a patient at the new Community Mental Health Center, where she was transferred from Marin General Hospital.

Because of Mrs. Brocco's illness, Chief Clark has been unable to interview her about the incident, he said.

He has conferred with the district attorney's office, he said, and no plans have been made to file charges in view of Mrs. Brocco's illness.

Brocco, 43-year-old owner of the Bon Air Pharmacy, told officers he awakened in their home at 349 Via La Paz to find his wife chopping at his head with a hatchet. He was treated at Marin General Hospital but the wound was not considered serious.

He told police he knew of no reason for the assault.

Mrs. Brocco was found unconscious in their bedroom shortly after and taken to Marin General Hospital, where she was treated in the intensive care unit.

Kimmel Faces Charges On Marijuana

James David Kimmel, the Novato High School teacher arrested on campus Friday with suspected marijuana, will be charged with possession of the weed and resisting a police officer, Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas said today.

Thomas also confirmed that his office is considering additional charges against the biology and earth science teacher, on the basis of new reports from the Novato police department.

Thomas said he will ask Carl Shapiro, attorney for Kimmel, to have his client in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow for arraignment.

On Friday, he and a 16-year-old boy were arrested by Novato police after a tip that the student was selling marijuana to the teacher.

Police recovered a cigarette butt, which they said Kimmel was smoking, and a tin containing green vegetable matter. Kimmel was booked on suspicion of possessing marijuana, destroying evidence and resisting arrest.

TERRA LINDA COEDS MAY WEAR SLACKS

Terra Linda High School coeds may wear slacks to school beginning Tuesday, a committee of parents, staff and students decided yesterday.

The committee acted on a newly revised district policy which gave each school the option of permitting girls to wear slacks. San Rafael High School granted the permission Nov. 12.

Terra Linda Principal Frank Stocking said the one-week delay was to give time to send letters to parents informing them of the changed rule.

Six Drown

MANILA (AP) — At least six persons drowned when the inter-island ferry Iruna and the British freighter Eastern Moon collided Monday night in Cebu harbor, navy headquarters said today. The Iruna sank, and the first report of the collision said 200 persons were missing.

Marin Democrats Set Sights On 1970 Drive

After learning last night that its finances are in good shape, the Marin County Democratic Central Committee began making plans for the 1970 election.

Chairman S. Robert Politzer said that the financial drive begun in June had raised enough money to pay off a two-year debt of $1,800 with money left over. "Considering this was not a Democratic year, we are very pleased with our financial picture," Politzer said.

The Marin Democrats have embarked on a three-prong program called "Project '70," Politzer said. The first part of the program will be a search for a candidate for the Fourth State Senatorial District, the seat now held by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Politzer said the committee also plans to start building a war chest toward this election.

The third part of the program is to build a new club movement in the county, probably not associated with the California Democratic Council, which has become ineffective, Politzer said.

"We also plan to bring the central committee closer to county Democrats by holding monthly meetings in various communities with speakers on political issues," Politzer explained.

Key Democrats in the county who do not belong to the central committee will be invited to a seminar within the next few weeks, he said, to discuss and organize the Democratic structure in Marin.

Teen-Ager Cited On Theft Of Car

A 15-year-old San Rafael youth was cited on three counts of car theft and released to his father yesterday after police found him with a car taken Sunday in San Rafael.

The youth admitted taking two other cars recently. Police said all of the cars had been recovered.

First Plans For Luchessi Park Studied

The Petaluma Parks and Recreation Commission last night studied preliminary plans for the development of Luchessi Park on Maria Drive at East Washington Street.

Landscaping plans were submitted by architect Sidney Lewin of San Rafael. Commission members said they would study them for comments at the Dec. 4 meeting in city hall when a public hearing will be held.

Lewin suggested that federal funds for the project might come from the open space land program or the land and water conservation program. Commission members asked Lewin to study the fund plans and to make a recommendation.

The Petaluma Parks and Recreation Commission also:

BASEBALL — Reviewed the baseball complex at Stockton which is in the final stages of development and discussed how it might be adopted to Petaluma.

JUDO—Announced a six-week judo class for 6-to-14-year-olds will start Jan. 6 at 7 p.m. in the Kenilworth Recreation Center and will be held each Thursday night through Feb. 13.

REPORT — Received for study the annual report submitted by director Richard W. Shollenberger.

MEMORIAL—Reported local artist Rosa Estebanez is working on a plaque for the memorial honoring Petalumans killed in Vietnam.

Human Rights Parley Will Meet Tomorrow

HALF-HOUR FROM DEATH

Mired In Mudflats, His Yells Save Life

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Jim Turley stood chest deep in sea water, immobilized in mud up to his knees, with the incoming tide slowly rising toward his head.

He ran his car into a ditch four hours earlier in the darkness and fog and struck out across the tidal flats of Huntington Harbor for help, the mud sucking at his ankles.

Turley said yesterday he couldn't remember how long he walked before he became exhausted and stopped to rest. Slowly, he began sinking. Soon the mud was up to his knees and he was stuck.

Lifeguards said today had rescuers arrived half an hour later Turley would have drowned.

Recalling his ordeal, the 28-year-old welfare worker from Orange County told an interviewer, "I think for a moment I just gave up."

Then he started calling for help, at first in a normal voice. "But, then I decided I had better get a little more volume. I began to take deep breaths and yell as loud as I could," Turley said.

He yelled himself hoarse as the water continued to rise. "I was cold and numb," he said. "My teeth were chattering like a machine gun."

Suddenly, he sighted several small lights moving across the water in the distance.

They were the running lights on a boat owned by J.G. Armand, 37, a commercial pilot. He had been sleeping aboard the boat when he heard Turley's screams for help. Armand assumed a plane had crashed, and he and a friend had been searching for the wreckage in the swirling fog for two hours.

"Point your lights in the direction you think I am and I will tell you whether you are pointing at me," Turley yelled.

They found him at 5:30 a.m., five hours after Turley set out from his car.

Armand, thinking of the plane crash, asked Turley where the other passengers were.

"I'm alone," Turley replied.

"How did you get here?"

"I don't know," Turley said.

"Can you come aboard?"

"No, I'm up to my knees in mud."

Pedestrian's Leg Injuries Healing

A Novato man was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with injuries to his left hip and leg suffered in an accident at 3 p.m. Friday on a Highway 101 frontage road.

Heinz Eiberger, 48, of 84 Montego Key, said he had been standing by the Highway 101 fence watching an accident scene on Puerto Suello Hill, police reported.

He turned away, stepped into the street and was hit by a car driven by Gary Charles Graham 28, of San Diego, police said.

No Decision Reached On Excused Students

The disciplinary study committee for Tamalpais High School District last night mulled over the wisdom of permitting parents to excuse students from classes for such activities as peace rallies, but took no stand.

Ann Bell West, dean of girls at Sir Francis Drake High School, said even with parental permission to attend such rallies, the administration should have the right of punishment of students if it felt the reason was inadequate.

That school has been under some parental fire since it disciplined students for skipping classes to attend an antidraft rally in April.

Last Friday, the question of absences was raised at Tamalpais High School when 160 black students, many with parental approval, cut classes for the day to attend a rally in Marin City to hear San Francisco State College students explain the significance of the strife at the college.

Gloria Melbostad, district board president, said last night a school would be "on thin ice" in making "moral second guesses" on whether parents should grant permission to their children to be absent.

Donald Kreps, principal at Redwood High School, declared that often a student with parental permission and "Pre-araigned absences" may learn more outside a school than within. He said such practices could include peace rallies and demonstrations.

The 23-member committee, asked to make recommendations of revised disciplinary policies to the board, will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 3 in the Redwood High faculty lounge.

Woman Beaten And Robbed In Marin City Underpass

A 23-year-old woman was beaten and robbed last night as she walked from a Marin City church to her home on a houseboat at Gate 6, just north of Sausalito.

Sharon E. Haney was treated at the Marin General Hospital emergency room for a broken nose, blackened eye and cut lip she suffered while scuffling with her assailant, deputies said.

She told officers she was nearing the Marin City underpass at 7:15 p.m. when a youth, described as black and aged 17-22, tapped her on the shoulder. When she turned to see who it was, he struck her in the eye, she said.

The assailant then told her to come into some nearby bushes with him. Miss Haney refused, but offered him the change she carried in her purse, deputies said.

He threw her against the fence and hit her in the mouth, cutting her lip, then struck her in the nose with his fist and tossed her to the ground, Miss Haney told officers.

She emptied her purse onto the ground, giving him some small change and showed him the empty purse to prove he had all her money. The youth glanced at the purse, then turned and walked into the darkness, toward Marin City, she said.

Miss Haney said her assailant was wearing a black and grey plaid shirt, black pants and black work boots. He was about five feet nine inches tall and slim, she said.

Tam Students Vote To Lobby For New Bonds

The 25-member Student Executive board of Tamalpais High School voted today to attend as a group the Dec. 2 meeting of the Tamalpais Union High School District board to lobby for another district bond election in April.

A $10.9 million school bond issue failed Nov. 5 to win the needed two-thirds majority.

The district board, which will discuss the bond defeat, indocated Monday it may order a stop to all architectural work for proposed new schools in the district.

The student board said today it felt the present school situation is intolerable and another bond issue should be scheduled as soon as possible.

The board is composed of class presidents, student body officers and committee chairmen.

Lunar Landing To Be Discussed

Billingham is acting biotechnology division chief at the NASA Ames Research Center, Moffet Field. He has recently completed a seminar with other scientists on establishing a semipermanent base on the moon.

U.S., Japan Ironing Out Fishing Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Japan and the United States "are at the halfway mark" in their review of existing fishing agreements, a State Department official said yesterday.

The official said the review is extensive, and that both Japan and the United States are making serious efforts to solve any problems regarding fishing rights.

King crab rights are one of the major topics being discussed, the official said.

The talks are expected to conclude next Wednesday, at which time an announcement will be issued, the official said.

The United States recognizes a three-mile offshore territorial limit, but extends its fishing rights to a 12-mile limit. The Japanese have never agreed to the extended fishing limits. The U.S. has granted the Japanese fishing rights in certain areas for specified types of fish at particular seasons.

The Japanese, who were listed by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations as the second biggest fishing nation in the world in 1967, are seeking to expand their fishing rights, particularly off the West Coast of the United States.

At the beginning of the current talks, the State Department said that "depending upon their findings, the delegations may recommend modifications of the agreements."

It said both sides would "examine the operation of the agreements in the light of current problems and new developments in the fisheries."

The first of the fishing agreements under review between the two counties, signed in 1964, regulates king crab fishing in the eastern Bering Sea.

The other agreement, signed May 9, 1967, concerns fishery problems off the U.S. coast.

Ambassador Donald L. McKernan, special assistant to the secretary of state, heads the U.S. delegation in the current talks, which also included representatives from the states of Alaska, Washington, Oregon and California. The Japanese delegation is headed by Bonroku Yoshino, minister of the Japanese Embassy.

Reagan To Name Fifth Superior Judge Next Week

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointment of a fifth Marin County Superior Court judge will be announced next week, his appointments secretary said today.

Paul R. Haerle, formerly of Santa Venetia, noted that the appointment had been expected Nov. 1, but was delayed because the board of governors of the State Bar of California had not screened possible appointees as expected at the October meeting.

The board's November meeting will be held tomorrow in San Francisco, and its 15 members are to screen a slate of appointees proposed by the governor, said Haerle. No Marinites are on the board of governors.

Candidates already have been screened under tight security by a secret committee of Marinites whose meeting dates and recommendations were kept under wraps by the governor's office.

The judgeship pays $30,572 a year.

Police-Community Panel Slated

A three-man panel will discuss police-community relations" at the home of Gloria Jones of 519 Northern Avenue, Mill Valley, at 8 p.m. today.

Speakers will be Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, William J. Dews, police-community relations officer for the sheriff's department, and Richard Wertheimer, an American Civil Liberties Union attorney.

The meeting is sponsored by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

'68 EDITION

Ice Capades Colorful, But Uneven

By GARY TISCHLER

SAN FRANCISCO — The 1968 edition of the Ice Capades, which opened at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium last night, is an uneven mixture of stylish individual performances, good to fair production numbers, and a dash of mixed media.

It's really a story of two shows, with the first half getting off to a slow start and the second half picking up on a general travelogue theme of Americana.

Two lavish production numbers, the professional debut of Austman Olympic Gold Medalist Wolfgang Schwartz and a show-stopping performance by Sashi Kuchiki highlighted the first half.

The "Sugar 'N Spice" production number was a beautiful treat for the kiddies visually, using a filmed story of a candy genie along with huge gingerbread and candy costumes. You might say it was delicious.

"Ritual of the Waters" seemed to be the case of a good idea that went nowhere. The muted green costumes and settings were beautiful to look at, but whatever theme there may have been got lost in all that expensive scenery.

But Kuchiki stopped the show and the number with a dazzling individual performance of sheer whirling energy and speed.

The debut of Schwartz was a cool, technically perfect performance in terms of execution, but it lacked verve and showmanship, something one assumes he will pick up with time.

The second half was highlighted by a smashing wild west production number featuring some smooth skating by Janet Runn and Donald Knight and a helter-skelter use of comedy and film set to a silent movie pace.

Best of the comedians was Hans Leiter, who showed that ice comedy is something more than a matter of a few falls here and there.

Roy and Sandi Wagelein gave an elegant and rousing demonstration of what pairs skating should be.

The orchestration was unsuitably brassy and herky-jerky.

Dominican Opera Workshop Sets Two One-Act Operas

Two contemporary one-act operas will be presented by the Dominican College Opera Workshop at 8 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday in Angelico Hall on the San Rafael campus.

This will mark the second public performance by the Opera Workshop under the direction of Arthur Conrad, who began the program last year to train singers in the theatre arts.

In a foreword to "Lord Byron's Love Letter," Tennessee Williams explains his libretto is based on such a letter. Leading roles will be sung by soprano Lorie Kutski of Sausalito and soprano Darlene Brock of Larkspur. They will be supported by San Rafael contralto Marjorie Broughton, tenor Melvyn Poll of San Francisco and Dominican undergraduate students Suanne O'Hare of Monterey and Sherry Silva of Walnut Grove.

Soprano Joan Smith of Kentfield will sing the leading role of Parasha in Stravinsky's comic opera "Mavra." Singing with her will be soprano Lynn Mitchell of Inverness and contralto Jan Vaccaro of San Francisco and Melvyn Poll.

The flowering lilac shrub orginated in Persia, was brought to Europe by crusaders, then found its way to America.

Photographs By Fulton On Display

Virginia Keating, county librarian, announced that the exhibit will continue through Dec. 15.

Fulton graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin. He has been a professional photographer in San Rafael since 1963.

His photographs range from black and white to infra-red color prints.

HALF-HOUR FROM DEATH

Mired In Mudflats, His Yells Save Life

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Jim Turley stood chest deep in sea water, immobilized in mud up to his knees, with the incoming tide slowly rising toward his head.

He ran his car into a ditch four hours earlier in the darkness and fog and struck out across the tidal flats of Huntington Harbor for help, the mud sucking at his ankles.

Turley said yesterday he couldn't remember how long he walked before he became exhausted and stopped to rest. Slowly, he began sinking. Soon the mud was up to his knees and he was stuck.

Lifeguards said today had rescuers arrived half an hour later Turley would have drowned.

Recalling his ordeal, the 28-year-old welfare worker from Orange County told an interviewer, "I think for a moment I just gave up."

Then he started calling for help, at first in a normal voice.

"But, then I decided I had better get a little more volume. I began to take deep breaths and yell as loud as I could," Turley said.

He yelled himself hoarse as the water continued to rise. "I was cold and numb," he said. "My teeth were chattering like a machine gun."

Suddenly, he sighted several small lights moving across the water in the distance.

They were the running lights on a boat owned by J.G. Armand, 37, a commercial pilot. He had been sleeping aboard the boat when he heard Turley's screams for help. Armand assumed a plane had crashed, and he and a friend had been searching for the wreckage in the swirling fog for two hours.

"Point your lights in the direction you think I am and I will tell you whether you are pointing at me," Turley yelled.

They found him at 5:30 a.m., five hours after Turley set out from his car.

Armand, thinking of the plane crash, asked Turley where the other passengers were.

"I'm alone," Turley replied.

"How did you get here?"

"I don't know," Turley said.

"Can you come aboard?"

"No, I'm up to my knees in mud."

Pedestrian's Leg Injuries Healing

A Novato man was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with injuries to his left hip and leg suffered in an accident at 3 p.m. Friday on a Highway 101 frontage road.

Heinz Eiberger, 48, of 84 Montego Key, said he had been standing by the Highway 101 fence watching an accident scene on Puerto Suello Hill, police reported.

He turned away, stepped into the street and was hit by a car driven by Gary Charles Graham 28, of San Diego, police said.

Hub's Drive-In Restaurants Facing Tighter Restrictions

San Anselmo City Council, faced with an increasing number of drive-in restaurants and take-out food dispensers, last night whipped into shape proposed tighter restrictions.

As proposed, drive-in and take-out establishments would be permitted only in the general commercial area, and then only by use permit.

The proposed change to the city's zoning ordinance was one of several reviewed at a joint workshop meeting of the council and city planning commission at city hall.

"The town is being overrun by take-out food joints," said Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson.

Under review were uses permitted by the ordinance in the neighborhood commercial, central commercial and general commercial districts, and the uses to be allowed by use permit only.

The commission and council agreed that gasoline service stations should not be permitted in the central business district, but allowed in the neighborhood commercial district by use permit and in the general commercial district.

Planning Commissioner Joseph Gue felt that gasoline stations weren't compatible with neighborhood commercial uses, but others felt they should be included because they would require a use permit and could be controlled.

Both groups agreed that there could be off-sale liquor stores in the neighborhood district by use permit only, but no on-sale liquor business.

Living quarters would be permitted in a neighborhood commercial district if they were secondary to the commerical uses, and then only by use permit.

The "living quarters" provisions would apply to such places as a room in the back of a store or an apartment above a store, as opposed to dwellings.

The council agreed that wholesale distribution uses and warehouses should be allowed in the general commercial area, by use permit only.

John F. West, commission chairman, suggested that the council consider a temporary use permit system to cover outdoor sales such as Christmas trees.

Councilman James F. Reed suggested that the council place a time limit for nonconforming outdoor uses to continue without a use permit.

The proposed zoning ordinance amendments will be presented at the council's next meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at city hall, and a public hearing is scheduled to be set for the following meeting.

Commissioners Philip S. Heinecke and Dennis T. Moore were absent.

Probation Given In Driving Case

Michael John Ryan, 20, a Treasure Island sailor, was placed on two years probation in Marin Superior Court Monday and ordered to abstain from use of alcohol after a charge of drunken driving Oct. 10 in the Sausalito lateral tunnel under Highway 101.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales argued unsuccessfully that the sailor should at least be fined for the misdemeanor offense, since he was originally charged with felony drunken driving.

Such misdemeanor charges bring an almost automatic fine in Municipal Court, he said.

Youth Suspected Of Marijuana

A Kentfield juvenile was booked into juvenile hall Friday night on suspicion of marijuana possession after he tried to hide two suspected marijuana cigarettes from a deputy sheriff on Nave Drive near Novato, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

The youth and two companions told deputies they were out of gas and during the conversation the 17-year-old driver slipped something under the car, deputies said. Deputies checked and found the two suspected marijuana cigarettes, they reported.

No other evidence was found and the companions were not held.

Tiburon Grants Setback Variance For Six Lots

Variances for front and side yard setbacks have been approved by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments for six lots in the Reedland Woods Subdivision, Unit 1, Development Administrator Phil V. Scott reported yesterday.

Reduced were side yard setbacks from 15 to 10 feet and front yard setbacks from 30 to 25 feet.

The board, however, postponed consideration Monday night of similar variance requests for 21 other lots in the subdivision pending presentation of precise plans to show need.

The Tiburon Board of Adjustments also granted minor setback variances for Ron M. Nunn at 76 East View Avenue; F. H. Norris Jr. at 85 Seafirth Road and Ralph T. Welsh at 270 Round Hill Road.

Sounding Board To Discuss Fair-Marin

Fair-Marin president Harold Stockstad, vice president Harry Moore, Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce and Marin County Director of Parks and Recreation Pierre W. Joske will discuss the responsibilities of Fair-Marin tomorrow at 9 a.m. over the KTIM Sounding Board as guests of moderator Kitty Oppenheimer.

Questions may be phoned in during tomorrow's live broadcast. The program will be repeated by tape-recording Sunday at 10:05 a.m.

No Decision Reached On Excused Students

The disciplinary study committee for Tamalpais High School District last night mulled over the wisdom of permitting parents to excuse students from classes for such activities as peace rallies, but took no stand.

Ann Bell West, dean of girls at Sir Francis Drake High School, said even with parental permission to attend such rallies, the administration should have the right of punishment of students if it felt the reason was inadequate.

That school has been under some parental fire since it disciplined students for skipping classes to attend an antidraft rally in April.

Last Friday, the question of absences was raised at Tamalpais High School when 160 black students, many with parental approval, cut classes for the day to attend a rally in Marin City to hear San Francisco State College students explain the significance of the strife at the college.

Gloria Melbostad, district board president, said last night a school would be "on thin ice" in making "moral second guesses" on whether parents should grant permission to their children to be absent.

Donald Kreps, principal at Redwood High School, declared that often a student with parental permission and "Pre-arrainged absences" may learn more outside a school than within. He said such practices could include peace rallies and demonstrations.

The 23-member committee, asked to make recommendations of revised disciplinary policies to the board, will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 3 in the Redwood High faculty lounge.

Woman Beaten And Robbed In Marin City Underpass

A 23-year-old woman was beaten and robbed last night as she walked from a Marin City church to her home on a houseboat at Gate 6, just north of Sausalito.

Sharon E. Haney was treated at the Marin General Hospital emergency room for a broken nose, blackened eye and cut lip she suffered while scuffling with her assailant, deputies said.

She told officers she was nearing the Marin City underpass at 7:15 p.m. when a youth, described as black and aged 17-22, tapped her on the shoulder. When she turned to see who it was, he struck her in the eye, she said.

The assailant then told her to come into some nearby bushes with him. Miss Haney refused, but offered him the change she carried in her purse, deputies said.

He threw her against the fence and hit her in the mouth, cutting her lip, then struck her in the nose with his fist and tossed her to the ground, Miss Haney told officers.

She emptied her purse onto the ground, giving him some small change and showed him the empty purse to prove he had all her money. The youth glanced at the purse, then turned and walked into the darkness, toward Marin City, she said.

Miss Haney said her assailant was wearing a black and grey plaid shirt, black pants and black work boots. He was about five feet nine inches tall and slim, she said.

Tam Students Vote To Lobby For New Bonds

The 25-member Student Executive board of Tamalpais High School voted today to attend as a group the Dec. 2 meeting of the Tamalpais Union High School District board to lobby for another district bond election in April.

A $10.9 million school bond issue failed Nov. 5 to win the needed two-thirds majority.

The district board, which will discuss the bond defeat, indocated Monday it may order a stop to all architectural work for proposed new schools in the district.

The student board said today it felt the present school situation is intolerable and another bond issue should be scheduled as soon as possible.

The board is composed of class presidents, student body officers and committee chairmen.

Lunar Landing To Be Discussed

Dr. John Billingham, National Aeronautics and Space Administration official, will discuss the hazards and possible scientific gains of landing men on the moon in the annual Morrison lecture Friday at 8 p.m. in the Supervisors' Room, Marin County Civic Center.

Billingham is acting biotechnology division chief at the NASA Ames Research Center, Moffet Field. He has recently completed a seminar with other scientists on establishing a semipermanent base on the moon.

'68 EDITION

Ice Capades Colorful, But Uneven

By GARY TISCHLER

SAN FRANCISCO — The 1968 edition of the Ice Capades, which opened at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium last night, is an uneven mixture of stylish individual performances, good to fair production numbers, and a dash of mixed media.

It's really a story of two shows, with the first half getting off to a slow start and the second half picking up on a general travelogue theme of Americana.

Two lavish production numbers, the professional debut of Austman Olympic Gold Medalist Wolfgang Schwartz and a show-stopping performance by Sashi Kuchiki highlighted the first half.

The "Sugar 'N Spice" production number was a beautiful treat for the kiddies visually, using a filmed story of a candy genie along with huge gingerbread and candy costumes. You might say it was delicious.

"Ritual of the Waters" seemed to be the case of a good idea that went nowhere. The muted green costumes and settings were beautiful to look at, but whatever theme there may have been got lost in all that expensive scenery.

But Kuchiki stopped the show and the number with a dazzling individual performance of sheer whirling energy and speed.

The debut of Schwartz was a cool, technically perfect performance in terms of execution, but it lacked verve and showmanship, something one assumes he will pick up with time.

The second half was highlighted by a smashing wild west production number featuring some smooth skating by Janet Runn and Donald Knight and a helter-skelter use of comedy and film set to a silent movie pace.

Best of the comedians was Hans Leiter, who showed that ice comedy is something more than a matter of a few falls here and there.

Roy and Sandi Wagelein gave an elegant and rousing demonstration of what pairs skating should be.

The orchestration was unsuitably brassy and herky-jerky.

The Ice Capades remain at the Civic Auditorium through Sunday, starting at 8 p.m.

JOAN SMITH
In opera workshop lead

Photographs By Fulton On Display

Photographs by Jack Fulton, a San Rafael photographer, are on display in the young adult section of the Marin County Library on the fourth floor of the Civic Center.

Virginia Keating, county librarian, announced that the exhibit will continue through Dec. 15.

Fulton graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin. He has been a professional photographer in San Rafael since 1963.

His photographs range from black and white to infra-red color prints.

Dominican Opera Workshop Sets Two One-Act Operas

Two contemporary one-act operas will be presented by the Dominican College Opera Workshop at 8 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday in Angelico Hall on the San Rafael campus.

This will mark the second public performance by the Opera Workshop under the direction of Arthur Conrad, who began the program last year to train singers in the theatre arts.

In a foreword to "Lord Byron's Love Letter," Tennessee Williams explains his libretto is based on such a letter. Leading roles will be sung by soprano Lorie Kutski of Sausalito and soprano Darlene Brock of Larkspur. They will be supported by San Rafael contralto Marjorie Broughton, tenor Melvyn Poll of San Francisco and Dominican undergraduate students Suanne O'Hare of Monterey and Sherry Silva of Walnut Grove.

Soprano Joan Smith of Kentfield will sing the leading role of Parasha in Stravinsky's comic opera "Mavra." Singing with her will be soprano Lynn Mitchell of Inverness and contralto Jan Vaccaro of San Francisco and Melvyn Poll.

The flowering lilac shrub orginated in Persia, was brought to Europe by crusaders, then found its way to America.

Hub's Drive-In Restaurants Facing Tighter Restrictions

San Anselmo City Council, faced with an increasing number of drive-in restaurants and take-out food dispensers, last night whipped into shape proposed tighter restrictions.

As proposed, drive-in and take-out establishments would be permitted only in the general commercial area, and then only by use permit.

The proposed change to the city's zoning ordinance was one of several reviewed at a joint workshop meeting of the council and city planning commission at city hall.

"The town is being overrun by take-out food joints," said Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson.

Under review were uses permitted by the ordinance in the neighborhood commercial, central commercial and general commercial districts, and the uses to be allowed by use permit only.

The commission and council agreed that gasoline service stations should not be permitted in the central business district, but allowed in the neighborhood commercial district by use permit and in the general commercial district.

Planning Commissioner Joseph Gue felt that gasoline stations weren't compatible with neighborhood commercial uses, but others felt they should be included because they would require a use permit and could be controlled.

Both groups agreed that there could be off-sale liquor stores in the neighborhood district by use permit only, but no on-sale liquor business.

Living quarters would be permitted in a neighborhood commercial district if they were secondary to the commerical uses, and then only by use permit.

The "living quarters" provisions would apply to such places as a room in the back of a store or an apartment above a store, as opposed to dwellings.

The council agreed that wholesale distribution uses and warehouses should be allowed in the general commercial area, by use permit only.

John F. West, commission chairman, suggested that the council consider a temporary use permit system to cover outdoor sales such as Christmas trees.

Councilman James F. Reed suggested that the council place a time limit for nonconforming outdoor uses to continue without a use permit.

The proposed zoning ordinance amendments will be presented at the council's next meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at city hall, and a public hearing is scheduled to be set for the following meeting.

Commissioners Philip S. Heinecke and Dennis T. Moore were absent.

Probation Given In Driving Case

Michael John Ryan, 20, a Treasure Island sailor, was placed on two years probation in Marin Superior Court Monday and ordered to abstain from use of alcohol after a charge of drunken driving Oct. 10 in the Sausalito lateral tunnel under Highway 101.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales argued unsuccessfully that the sailor should at least be fined for the misdemeanor offense, since he was originally charged with felony drunken driving.

Such misdemeanor charges bring an almost automatic fine in Municipal Court, he said.

Youth Suspected Of Marijuana

A Kentfield juvenile was booked into juvenile hall Friday night on suspicion of marijuana possession after he tried to hide two suspected marijuana cigarettes from a deputy sheriff on Nave Drive near Novato, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

The youth and two companions told deputies they were out of gas and during the conversation the 17-year-old driver slipped something under the car, deputies said. Deputies checked and found the two suspected marijuana cigarettes, they reported.

No other evidence was found and the companions were not held.

Tiburon Grants Setback Variance For Six Lots

Variances for front and side yard setbacks have been approved by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments for six lots in the Reedland Woods Subdivision, Unit 1, Development Administrator Phil V. Scott reported yesterday.

Reduced were side yard setbacks from 15 to 10 feet and front yard setbacks from 30 to 25 feet.

The board, however, postponed consideration Monday night of similar variance requests for 21 other lots in the subdivision pending presentation of precise plans to show need.

The Tiburon Board of Adjustments also granted minor setback variances for Ron M. Nunn at 76 East View Avenue; F. H. Norris Jr. at 85 Seafirth Road and Ralph T. Welsh at 270 Round Hill Road.

Rate Hikes Sliced At Boarding Homes

The Marin County Board of Supervisors approved a trimmed rate increase yesterday for the monthly care of welfare recipients in boarding homes.

The increase — from $200 to $220 in per patient costs — was far short of the $250 rate sought by representatives of a newly formed group of boarding house owners and operators called the Marin Resident Care for the Aged.

County Administrator Alan Bruce, on the other hand, asked supervisors to grant no increase, since the state was responsible for a major share of boarding home care of old age, disabled and blind persons and that a rate increase was expected to be approved early next year in Sacramento.

Although the state says that boarding homes may charge up to $200 per month to care for welfare patients, it contributes only up to $189.50 to the county toward support of recipients. The county supplies the difference through a special supplement and also provides $15 a month extra for a recipient's personal needs.

The cost of the $20 monthly increase, through next June, was estimated by the supervisors at $11,200. A rise to $250 would have cost $24,000.

Supervisors, drawing funds from reserves to cover the increase, doubted the emergency treasury was solvent enough to surrender the larger sum.

Bette C. Porter, president of Marin Resident Care for the Aged, said that an "immediate emergency supplement" was needed to "preserve our businesses and give these people the kind of care they deserve."

In a letter to supervisors, she reported the monthly cost of caring for welfare recipients exceeded $225 a month, but that the state ceiling had not been increased in eight years.

Betty L. Presley, county director of public social services, said emergency legislation to raise the ceiling was expected to be introduced in January with the Reagan Administration's support. Another rate increase bill was vetoed by Reagan after the last session.

Miss Presley said state increases in support would reduce the county's supplement payment for boarding home care.

Cluster Of Wreaths Mark RFK's Grave On Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cluster of wreaths marked the grave of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy today, the 43rd anniversary of his birth.

Kennedy, who was assassinated in Los Angeles last June, is buried in Arlington National Cemetery next to the eternal flame over the grave of his brother, President John F. Kennedy. Friday is the fifth anniversary of the president's assassination.

Nine wreaths were placed yesterday at the small white cross that marks Robert Kennedy's grave until a permanent memorial being planned by the family can be installed.

The flowers on one wreath spelled out:

"We dream, Bobby, and ask why not?" The words echoed Kennedy's remark, "Some people see things as they are and say, 'Why?' I dream things that never were and say, 'Why not?'"

Kennedy's widow, Ethel, who is expecting her 11th child, was under doctor's orders to rest at her McLean, Va., home. She wasn't expected to visit the grave.

Girl, 16, Arrested In Blouses Theft

A 16-year-old Larkspur girl was turned over to her parents after being arrested on suspicion of shoplifting Monday at 4:10 p.m. at Macy's, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The girl was apprehended by a store employee, after she was seen taking two blouses worth $30, according to the police report.

NECK AND NECK — Little Linda Kay Pope holds her neck as she tries to compare hers with the neck of a giant toy giraffe in a Columbus, Ohio, toyland. She isn't sure, however, the $300 toy will fit into her Christmas stocking. (AP Wirephoto)

Drug Suspect's Job Is Denied

Contrary to a report by state narcotics agents, published in Saturday's Independent-Journal, Andrew Samuel Perri, 19, of San Francisco, who was arrested in conjunction with a narcotics raid in San Anselmo Friday, is not a janitor and musician for the Family Dog, Inc., a member of the firm said yesterday.

The Family Dog books musical groups for the Avalon Ballroom in San Francisco.

Australia is divided into six states.

16 Lighting Districts Consolidated

Sixteen lighting districts in Marin County, where tax rates vary from almost nothing to about 24 cents, were consolidated into one by a resolution of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Administrative Analyst Michael A. Chrystal and Public Works Director Donald R. Frost recommended consolidation for efficiency and economy.

The 16 districts range in size from three lights to 249 lights. If consolidated, the new district would have a tax rate of about 9 cents, Chrystal estimated.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr wondered whether consolidation would work since tax rates vary. Chrystal and Frost said they foresee no problems. Behr's motion to consolidate won unanimous approval.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SIDEWALKS — Approved a three-way sharing of the $3,189.90 cost of installing a sidewalk on the east side of Los Ranchitos Road between Las Gallinas Avenue and Constance Avenue. The county will pay $1,624.53; San Rafael School District $875; and six property owners along Los Ranchitos, $690.36.

AIRPORT — Applied for federal aid to get the following improvements at Gnoss Field for 1970: Acquire about five acres of land, and fill and pave for airplane parking apron.

QUARANTINE STATIONS — Took no action on the state's proposal to close down plant quarantine stations on the California border, because the County Supervisors Association of California is still investigating.

MARIN CITY LIBRARY — Created a new full time library assistant position for the Marin City library at Manzanita Center, increasing the hours of service. The total cost of increased service is $4,062 per year.

PADDED CELLS—Asked the sheriff and the director of Community Mental Health Services to determine how many padded cells are needed in the new Hall of Justice jail to care for alcoholics and psychotics. The architect had recommended four padded cells for $18,750, but several supervisors said four may not be needed.

Thanksgiving Dance

The Guitar Slims and the Jackson trio will play for a Thanksgiving dance for muscular dystrophy sponsored by the Junior Improvement Association of Gallinas from 8 p.m. to midnight Nov. 30 at Blessed Sacrament Hall, San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

NUGENT WILL WEAR MEDAL TO REUNION

SAIGON (AP) — Airman 1/C Patrick J. Nugent is taking a new medal he's won to Honolulu to show his wife, Luci, President Johnson's daughter.

The Air Force announced today that the 25-year-old Nugent had been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" in flying more than 400 combat sorties in a cargo plane over South Vietnam.

He was scheduled to leave Vietnam today for a week's leave with his wife, who is waiting for him in Honolulu.

The Air Force said Nugent, a loadmaster in the 309th Special Operations Squadron, has logged 536 combat hours in the C123 transports carrying ammuntion, troops and supplies, often under enemy ground fire.

Angry Lecturer Brooks No Nudes

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A lecture on art criticism at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee got sidetracked for a moment yesterday with the appearance of a nude young lady wearing a paper bag on her head.

John Colt, chairman of the art department course, intercepted the woman as she started to walk on-stage.

Colt also ejected three photographers, dressed in men's clothing and also wearing bags on their heads, who moments before had begun taking pictures of the lecture.

Colt, who is 5 feet 6 and weighs 147 pounds, said he had no trouble removing all four, explaining, "I was mad."

Interim Houseboat Ordinance Ordered

County supervisors yesterday ordered an emergency interim ordinance drawn up to stop the indiscriminate influx of new houseboats in Richardson Bat.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who had been trying for such an ordinance for several months, moved to ask the county counsel to draw up the emergency measure by next Tuesday. The ordinance would be a "holding action" until permanent ordinances regulating houseboats and marinas are completed.

Kettenhofen's motion passed unanimously.

The emergency ordinance would prohibit the importation or occupancy of additional houseboats without a permit from the Department of Public Works. The permits would be issued only if:

1. The proposed use would not be detrimental to public health, safety and welfare.

2. The proposed use would not substantially contravene the provisions of the ordinances which are being drawn up to regulate houseboats and marinas.

3. Occupancy under the permit would not be deemed to establish nonconforming use.

The supervisors approved plans and specifications for the job of removing all land-based structures from portions of Yuba, Himboldt and Sonoma streets along Richardson Bay. Bids on the project will be opened on Dec. 9 at 2 p.m.

The Waldo Point Committee of the Marin Houseboat Association recommended members of a committee to work for improvement of the houseboat community in Richardson Bay.

Among members recommended were Supervisor Peter H. Behr and Supervisor-elect Peter R. Arrigoni.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis said they see nothing wrong in Behr's serving on the committee because he is the Southern Marin supervisor, but objected to any other supervisor being named to the committee. The supervisors recognized a committee composed of Behr and four representing houseboat dwellers — T. J. Nelson, Michael Healey, Charles Whitlock, and Helen Wolfe.

Richard Thomas Govednik, 22, of San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on charges of possessing methamphetamine, concealing stolen property, petty theft and being drunk in public.

His case was continued until today for plea.

Sausalito police arrested him Sunday when they found him wandering the streets with equipment stolen from a nearby sports car and two tablets.

Four Tabbed For Mental Health Panel

Marin supervisors filled four of the seven new slots on the Mental Health Advisory board yesterday.

The board is being expanded from six to 13 members under a new state law.

Selected yesterday were David Sokoloff, to one of three positions to be occupied by the general public; Jack D. Williams, as psychologist on the board; Miss Martha Valliant, to the opening reserved for a registered nurse, and Donald Barksdale of Center Medical Hospital, Kentfield, to the hospital administrator's position.

The board decided to wait until next week to finish appointing representatives from the general public and to select one social worker for the board from among four candidates.

Marinite Exhibits

Ada Garfinkel of Kentfield is represented in "Fifty Paintings," a national competition which is on exhibit to Friday, Dec. 6, in the Civic Arts Gallery, Walnut Creek.

Back From Tennessee Would Come Favorite Pumpkin Loaf

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press

Here's a recipe for Pumpkin Bread that we think you'll enjoy down to the last crumb. It has a delicate flavor, an airy texture and slices beautifully.

The recipe comes from Mrs. Blaylock of Chatanooga, Tennessee. Daughter Sandra used to do art work for the women's pages of the New York Herald Tribune. When Sandy would go home for vacation, Mrs. Blaylock would always have her special Pumpkin Bread on hand. Then when Sandy returned to New York, her suitcase would bulge with treats from her mother for Sandra's co-workers on the newspaper.

The late Clementine Paddleford, famous food editor in the good old days of the New York Herald Tribune, loved Mrs. Blaylock's Pumpkin Bread and would look forward to receiving a loaf. Clem would demolish several slices while writing a column, then wrap the remainig loaf to carry home.

Clem used to share goodies with her staff, but the Tennessee Pumpkin Bread was an exception that always went home for future munching. She liked to spread it with cream cheese and serve it with weekend brunch.

Mrs. Blaylock is a great cook and Sandra, recently married, wants to follow suit. Right now she's in Pakistan where her husband will be working for a couple of years. If she can find canned pumpkin there, she'll be treating her new neighbors to the Tennessee bread.

We baked the Pumpkin Bread in a non-stick coated pan (no need for greasing) and it slid out in a wink. With canned pumpkin on our market shelves, this delicious loaf is an easy-to-make treat.

TENNESSEE PUMPKIN BREAD

1⅔ cups sifted regular flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅓ cup shortening
1⅓ cups suger
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup canned mashed pumpkin
½ cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Grease a regular loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) or use a non-stick coated one and do not grease.

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—45to 55 minutes.

Turn out on a wire rack; turn right side up; cool. Stored in a tightly covered tin box loaf will keep nicely for several days. Or wrap tightly and store in refrigerator; bring to room temperature before serving. For special guests serve the loaf, cooled, after it is freshly baked.

Here's An Entire Menu For Your Thanksgiving Dinner

Pilgrim-like we grace our table each Thanksgiving season with a tender delicate fowl . . . the traditional turkey.

And of course, there's giblet gravy to spoon over uniquely seasoned corn bread dressing . . . especially convenient prepared a day ahead. Your Horn of Plenty? Cranberry Salad Mold topped with a mixture of raspberry flavored gelatin, cottage cheese, chopped nuts and orange rind. To complete this bountiful dinner, there's candied sweet potatoes, peas and water chestnuts. And sweetest of all, Sour Cream Pumpkin Pie.

PREPARING TURKEY

10-12 pound turkey
1 teaspoon salt
Celery leaves
Few sprigs of parsley
Salt

If turkey is frfozen, thaw day before roasting sufficiently to remove giblets. Simmer turkey neck and giblets in water to cover with salt, celery leaves and parsley until tender. Strain liquid; refrigerate for gravy. Chop giblets into small pieces. Refrigerate for gravy. Rinse body and neck cavities with cold water. Drain. Salt cavities lightly.

To stuff turkey: Pack dressing lightly into body and neck cavities. Fasten neck skin down with poultry pin. Fasten legs of turkey according to packer's directions.

The timetable for this tent-roasting method for the turkey: 6 to 8 pounds, 3 to 3½ hours; 8 to 12 pounds, 3½ to 4½ hours; 12 to 16 pounds, 4½ to 5½ hours; 16 to 20 pounds, 5½ to 6½ hours; and 20 to 24 pound bird, 6½ to 7 hours. All times are given for 325 degree oven, and internal temperature 185 degrees on meat thermometer.

CORN BREAD DRESSING

1 box (10 oz.) corn bread mix
8 ounces pork sausage
¾ sup (1½ sticks) butter
1 cup chopped onions
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
3 cups herb seasoned croutons
¼ cup chopped parsley
¼ cup liquid from cooking giblets OR milk

Bake corn bread according to package directions; cool. In skillet cook sausage until lightly browned; transfer to large bowl. Melt butter in skillet; saute onion, celery and mushrooms until tender. Stir in poultry seasoning. Mix in with sausage. Break corn bread into pieces. Toss with sausage mixture along with croutons, parsley and giblet liquid. (Add ¼ cup more liquid if baking dressing separately.) Yield: 9½ cups.

CANDIED YAMS

2 pounds yams (4 mdium)
½ cup (1 stick) butter
¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup water

Cool potatoes in skins until tender but still firm (20-30 minutes). Pare and cut diagonally in half or thirds. In skillet melt butter; add sugar and salt. Stir until smooth; add water. Add potatoes; turn to coat all sides. Cover. Cook over low heat for 20 minutess. 8-10 servings.

SOUR CREAM PUMPKIN PIE

Pie Shell:

1 cup sifted regular all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lard
½ cup finely chopped pecans
3 tablespoons milk

Filling:

1½ cups dairy sour cream
3 egg yolks
1 can (1 lb.) solid pack pumpkin
¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
Sweetened whipped cream

To Prepare Pie Shell: Sift together flour and salt. Cut in butter and lard until mixture resembles small peas. Add pecans. Sprinkle on milk one tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly with fork. Gather up dough with fingers; shape into a ball. On lightly floured surface roll 1/8th-inch thick into 10-inch circle. Ease dough into 9-inch pie plate. Build up edge on rim of pie plate and flute.

To Prepare Filling: In a 2-quart saucepan stir together sour cream, egg yolks, pumpkin, brown sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, 15 minutes or until mixture thickens. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Gradually fold pumpkin mixture into beaten egg whites. Mound into pie shell. Bake in a pre-heated 375° oven 20-30 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack. Garnish with whipped cream.

CRANBERRY SALAD

Cranberry Layer:

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
3⅓ cups fresh cranberries
½ cup water
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped unpared apple (1 medium)
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cottage Cheese Layer:

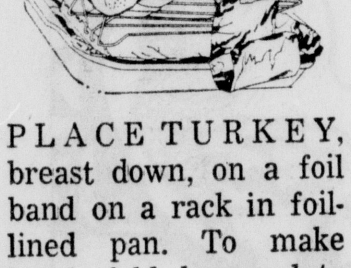
1 package (3 oz.) raspberry flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup orange juice
1¼ cups cottage cheese
1 teaspoon orange rind
½ cup orange sections, cut-up (1 medium)
¼ cup chopped nuts

To prepare Cranberry Layer: Soften gelatin in ½ cup water. Cook cranberries in ½ cup water until skins are popped, crushing berries against sides of pan with wooden spoon. Add sugar and return to boil. Add gelatin, stir to dissolve. Chill until partially set. Toss apple with lemon juice; add to cranberry mixture. Turn into 6½ to 7-cup mold; chill until set but not firm. To prepare Cottage Cheese Layer: Pour boiling water over gelatin; stir to dissolve. Add orange juice. Chill until partially set. Add cottage cheese, orange rind and sections and nuts. Spoon onto first layer. Chill until firm. 10-12 servings.

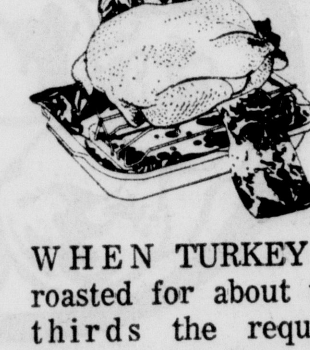
PEAS AND WATER CHESTNUTS

2 packages (10-oz. each) frozen green peas
6 tablespoons (¾ stick) butter
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and sliced

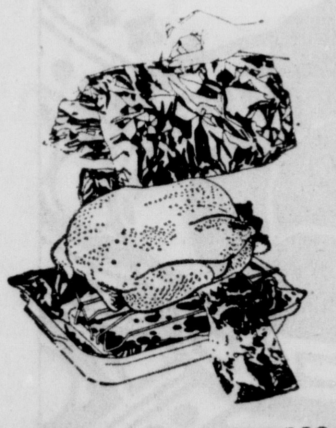
Cook peas according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile in saucepan melt butter, add celery salt and water chestnuts; heat. Pour over peas. 8-10 servings.



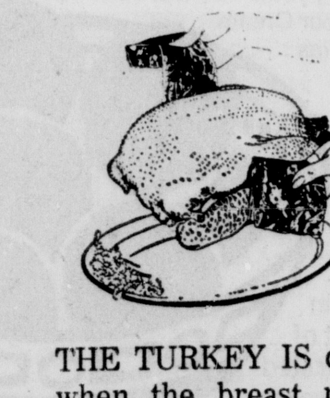
PLACE TURKEY, breast down, on a foil band on a rack in foil-lined pan. To make band, fold heavy duty foil lengthwise, over and over to make 2 to 3 inch wide band. Brush turkey with softened butter. Place in 325°F oven and roast according to the timetable.



WHEN TURKEY has roasted for about two-thirds the required time, remove from oven and turn breast up. Use the foil band to flip it first on the side then breast up. Brush breast with softened butter.



A MEAT THERMOMETER may be inserted in the thickest part of thigh during last third of roasting time. Crease foil lengthwise to make a tent and arrange over bird loosely. Return to oven and continue roasting. The tent keeps the turkey moist and prevents overbrowning.



THE TURKEY IS done when the breast meat feels soft when pressed with finger and drumstick and thigh joint moves easily or meat thermometer registers 185°. To transfer turkey to platter, lift with foil band. Let turkey stand, covered with foil tent, for about 30 minutes so juices stop running and carving will be easier.

Westerners Counter-Attack With Long Pants

By LINDA DEUTSCH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the year of the minidress and bikini, California sportswear designers have launched a counterattack of long pants, long tunics, and long beach pajamas.

The pants, which opened the spring showings of the California fashion creators are flared and feminine, flopping around the ankles.

But the vests, another borrowed bonanza from men's wear, are as tailored as can be.

In a daylong show of sportswear, nary a skirt was seen, Alex Colman was the only designer to touch the basic shift at all. His were bright bold floral prints native to California.

The sportswear designers—Colman, Internationale Set, Koret of California, Whitestag and Malia of Hawaii—all emphasized pants. Internationale Set designers said the new flowing flares harked back to the styles of the 1940s.

Koret called its feminine trend for 1969 "Clothes Livin' Dolls." They proceeded to display little-girl look clothes on models who skipped and sucked lollipops.

The fabrics this year are active, washable arnells and polyesters. The colors are the American combo of red white and blue, and splashing prints in brown, black and white. Pastels are still a perennial favorite.

Whitestag has added to its classic line the new fashion concept of wide legs and tunic tops. Tunics often zip closed and have belts. And vests make a plain pair of pants into a suit.

Though pants are total, the fitted skin peeks out in the returning midriff blouse. Whitestag shows it in knit and Charm of Hollywood puts it over sheer voile bell-bottom pants called "See Legs" which are almost transparent.

Malia puts dresses back into the act, but most of them are mini and worn over matching long pants. One standout is a white sharkskin dress with bright striped borders on hem and matching pants cuffs. The borders are purple, pink, orange and green. If a few places Malia duplicated Hawaian culotte prints in matching mens' jackets.

Hostess culottes also showed off Malia's splashy print fabrics. And there were even full length beach pajamas to cover up those little bikinis.

Golf dresses, tennis dresses, wrapped front pants, disguised as skirts all point to the fact that California sports wear is more casual than ever.

"Our customers are having more time to play," said Alex Colman, "so we're giving them something to play in."

Wrinkles

Wrinkle resistance has been defined as the property of a fabric that causes it to recover from folding and creasing either in wearing or washing. If a fabric has high wrinkle recovery, it will recapture its original smoothness without heavy ironing after being washed; a fabric with low wrinkle recovery must be ironed to remove wrinkles.

New Measurers

Now you can take the guesswork out of measuring half a spoonful of medicine with a stainless steel spoon that has a graduated bowl marked to show exact ½ and 1 teaspoon measurements. The design includes a safety lock grip to keep it steady in your hand while pouring, and a self-leveling handle.

FOUR SOUR CREAM RECIPES FOR WOMEN WHO KNOW NO FEAR.

FOREMOST
MADE FROM FRESH CREAM
FOREMOST Sour Cream

These sour cream recipes are for the adventurous, for women who think they're pretty daring or something. So you may be happier with a nice, plain old-fashioned sour cream dip for the holidays. Whether you're adventurous or not, use a good fresh sour cream if you want everything to turn out all right. And since Foremost Sour Cream is always fastidiously fresh, why not get it?

1. Hommos Bi Tahini

1 egg / ¼ cup salad oil
½ cup lemon juice
2 cloves garlic, peeled
½ tsp. salt
1 can (15½ ozs.) garbanzo beans (called Hommos in Arabic)
1 cup Foremost Sour Cream
chopped parsley

Spread sesame seeds in shallow pan and toast till golden (about 15 minutes), stirring several times. Cool. In electric blender combine egg, oil, toasted sesame seeds, lemon, garlic, and salt. Blend well. Drain garbanzo beans, reserving liquid (see below). Add drained garbanzo beans and puree till very smooth. Stir in sour cream. Chill several hours or overnight. Top with parsley. Serve with flat bread or crackers for hors d'oeuvres. Makes 3 cups.

*Tahini is a sesame seed paste often available in the gourmet food section. When using Tahini substitute ½ cup Tahini for sesame seeds, egg, and salad oil. Add a little reserved liquid from garbanzo beans if mixture seems too thick.

2. African Genesis

1 disjointed oxtail (2½ lbs.) or use beef stew meat
Salad oil
1 cup (2 medium) onions, chopped
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes, coarsely chopped
1 can (12 oz.) carbonated cola beverage (not diet type)
1 tsp. salt / 1 bay leaf
1 tbsp. cornstarch / 1 tbsp. water
1 pint Foremost Sour Cream
½ cup chunk-style peanut butter

Brown meat in 11-inch skillet in a small amount of oil. When nearly brown add onions and cook till transparent. Stir in tomatoes, cola, salt, and bay leaf. Cover and simmer 2 hours or till meat is tender. Skim fat from top. Thicken gravy with cornstarch mixed with water. Blend sour cream with peanut butter. Stir half of cream mixture into meat and serve the rest separately for topping. Delicious over rice. 5-6 servings.

3. West Indian Avocado Soup

1 cup (2 medium) ripe avocados
¼ cup lemon juice
½ tsp. salt
6 drops tabasco sauce
1 cup Foremost Sour Cream
1 can (13 ozs.) consomme Madrilene
1 can (10½ ozs.) condensed beef consomme
3 drops green food coloring
Wedges of papaya, tomato or avocado for garnish
Sour Cream for topping

Peel and seed avocado. Mash or beat with lemon, salt and tabasco till smooth. Blend in sour cream. Beat in Madrilene, beef consomme and coloring. Chill several hours or overnight. At serving time, stir with fork then spoon into chilled cups or glasses. Garnish with wedges of fruit and dollop of sour cream. Makes 5 cups (6 to 8 servings).

4. Chocolate Tartufo Tre Scalini

3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar / 3 egg yolks / ¼ tsp. salt
1 pint Foremost Sour Cream
1 tsp. vanilla / 30 candied cherries
6-ounce milk chocolate bar, chilled and grated

Melt chocolate. Cool. Beat egg yolks with salt and sugar till light colored and thick. Beat in chocolate, sour cream and vanilla. Pour into a 9" loaf pan. Freeze till firm. Scoop into 1½" balls with a cherry in center, a few at a time, keeping rest of mixture in freezer. Roll balls in grated milk chocolate and store in freezer. Allow 2 or 3 balls per serving, topped with additional sour cream, if you dare. Makes about 30 balls.

Rate Hikes Sliced At Boarding Homes

The Marin County Board of Supervisors approved a trimmed rate increase yesterday for the monthly care of welfare recipients in boarding homes.

The increase — from $200 to $220 in per patient costs — was far short of the $250 rate sought by representatives of a newly formed group of boarding house owners and operators called the Marin Resident Care for the Aged.

County Administrator Alan Bruce, on the other hand, asked supervisors to grant no increase, since the state was responsible for a major share of boarding home care of old age, disabled and blind persons and that a rate increase was expected to be approved early next year in Sacramento.

Although the state says that boarding homes may charge up to $200 per month to care for welfare patients, it contributes only up to $189.50 to the county toward support of recipients. The county supplies the difference through a special supplement and also provides $15 a month extra for a recipient's personal needs.

The cost of the $20 monthly increase, through next June, was estimated by the supervisors at $11,200. A rise to $250 would have cost $24,000.

Supervisors, drawing funds from reserves to cover the increase, doubted the emergency treasury was solvent enough to surrender the larger sum.

Bette C. Porter, president of Marin Resident Care for the Aged, said that an "immediate emergency supplement" was needed to "preserve our businesses and give these people the kind of care they deserve."

In a letter to supervisors, she reported the monthly cost of caring for welfare recipients exceeded $225 a month, but that the state ceiling had not been increased in eight years.

Betty L. Presley, county director of public social services, said emergency legislation to raise the ceiling was expected to be introduced in January with the Reagan Administration's support. Another rate increase bill was vetoed by Reagan after the last session.

Miss Presley said state increases in support would reduce the county's supplement payment for boarding home care.

Cluster Of Wreaths Mark RFK's Grave On Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cluster of wreaths marked the grave of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy today, the 43rd anniversary of his birth.

Kennedy, who was assassinated in Los Angeles last June, is buried in Arlington National Cemetery next to the eternal flame over the grave of his brother, President John F. Kennedy. Friday is the fifth anniversary of the president's assassination.

Nine wreaths were placed yesterday at the small white cross that marks Robert Kennedy's grave until a permanent memorial being planned by the family can be installed.

The flowers on one wreath spelled out:

"We dream, Bobby, and ask why not?" The words echoed Kennedy's remark, "Some people see things as they are and say, 'Why?' I dream things that never were and say, 'Why not?'."

Kennedy's widow, Ethel, who is expecting her 11th child, was under doctor's orders to rest at her McLean, Va., home. She wasn't expected to visit the grave.

Girl, 16, Arrested In Blouses Theft

A 16-year-old Larkspur girl was turned over to her parents after being arrested on suspicion of shoplifting Monday at 4:10 p.m. at Macy's, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The girl was apprehended by a store employee, after she was seen taking two blouses worth $30, according to the police report.

NECK AND NECK — Little Linda Kay Pope holds her neck as she tries to compare hers with the neck of a giant toy giraffe in a Columbus, Ohio, toyland. She isn't sure, however, the $300 toy will fit into her Christmas stocking. (AP Wirephoto)

Drug Suspect's Job Is Denied

Contrary to a report by state narcotics agents, published in Saturday's Independent-Journal, Andrew Samuel Perri, 19, of San Francisco, who was arrested in conjunction with a narcotics raid in San Anselmo Friday, is not a janitor and musician for the Family Dog, Inc., a member of the firm said yesterday.

The Family Dog books musical groups for the Avalon Ballroom in San Francisco.

Australia is divided into six states.

16 Lighting Districts Consolidated

Sixteen lighting districts in Marin County, where tax rates vary from almost nothing to about 24 cents, were consolidated into one by a resolution of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Administrative Analyst Michael A. Chrystal and Public Works Director Donald R. Frost recommended consolidation for efficiency and economy.

The 16 districts range in size from three lights to 249 lights. If consolidated, the new district would have a tax rate of about 9 cents, Chrystal estimated.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr wondered whether consolidation would work since tax rates vary. Chrystal and Frost said they foresee no problems. Behr's motion to consolidate won unanimous approval.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SIDEWALKS — Approved a three-way sharing of the $3,189.90 cost of installing a sidewalk on the east side of Los Ranchitos Road between Las Gallinas Avenue and Constance Avenue. The county will pay $1,624.53; San Rafael School District $875; and six property owners along Los Ranchitos, $690.36.

AIRPORT — Applied for federal aid to get the following improvements at Gnoss Field for 1970: Acquire about five acres of land, and fill and pave for airplane parking apron.

QUARANTINE STATIONS — Took no action on the state's proposal to close down plant quarantine stations on the California border, because the County Supervisors Association of California is still investigating.

MARIN CITY LIBRARY — Created a new full time library assistant position for the Marin City library at Manzanita Center, increasing the hours of service. The total cost of increased service is $4,062 per year.

PADDED CELLS—Asked the sheriff and the director of Community Mental Health Services to determine how many padded cells are needed in the new Hall of Justice jail to care for alcoholics and psychotics. The architect had recommended four padded cells for $18,750, but several supervisors said four may not be needed.

Thanksgiving Dance

The Guitar Slims and the Jackson trio will play for a Thanksgiving dance for muscular dystrophy sponsored by the Junior Improvement Association of Gallinas from 8 p.m. to midnight Nov. 30 at Blessed Sacrament Hall, San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

NUGENT WILL WEAR MEDAL TO REUNION

SAIGON (AP) — Airman 1/C Patrick J. Nugent is taking a new medal he's won to Honolulu to show his wife, Luci, President Johnson's daughter.

The Air Force announced today that the 25-year-old Nugent had been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" in flying more than 400 combat sorties in a cargo plane over South Vietnam.

He was scheduled to leave Vietnam today for a week's leave with his wife, who is waiting for him in Honolulu.

The Air Force said Nugent, a loadmaster in the 309th Special Operations Squadron, has logged 536 combat hours in the C123 transports carrying ammuntion, troops and supplies, often under enemy ground fire.

Angry Lecturer Brooks No Nudes

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A lecture on art criticism at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee got sidetracked for a moment yesterday with the appearance of a nude young lady wearing a paper bag on her head.

John Colt, chairman of the art department course, intercepted the woman as she started to walk on-stage.

Colt also ejected three photographers, dressed in men's clothing and also wearing bags on their heads, who moments before had begun taking pictures of the lecture.

Colt, who is 5 feet 6 and weighs 147 pounds, said he had no trouble removing all four, explaining, "I was mad."

Interim Houseboat Ordinance Ordered

County supervisors yesterday ordered an emergency interim ordinance drawn up to stop the indiscriminate influx of new houseboats in Richardson Bat.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who had been trying for such an ordinance for several months, moved to ask the county counsel to draw up the emergency measure by next Tuesday. The ordinance would be a "holding action" until permanent ordinances regulating houseboats and marinas are completed.

Kettenhofen's motion passed unanimously.

The emergency ordinance would prohibit the importation or occupancy of additional houseboats without a permit from the Department of Public Works. The permits would be issued only if:

1. The proposed use would not be detrimental to public health, safety and welfare.
2. The proposed use would not substantially contravene the provisions of the ordinances which are being drawn up to regulate houseboats and marinas.
3. Occupancy under the permit would not be deemed to establish nonconforming use.

The supervisors approved plans and specifications for the job of removing all land-based structures from portions of Yuba, Himboldt and Sonoma streets along Richardson Bay. Bids on the project will be opened on Dec. 9 at 2 p.m.

The Waldo Point Committee of the Marin Houseboat Association recommended members of a committee to work for improvement of the houseboat community in Richardson Bay.

Among members recommended were Supervisor Peter H. Behr and Supervisor-elect Peter R. Arrigoni.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis said they see nothing wrong in Behr's serving on the committee because he is the Southern Marin supervisor, but objected to any other supervisor being named to the committee. The supervisors recognized a committee composed of Behr and four representing houseboat dwellers — T. J. Nelson, Michael Healey, Charles Whitlock, and Helen Wolfe.

Richard Thomas Govednik, 22, of San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on charges of possessing methamphetamine, concealing stolen property, petty theft and being drunk in public.

His case was continued until today for plea.

Sausalito police arrested him Sunday when they found him wandering the streets with equipment stolen from a nearby sports car and two tablets.

Four Tabbed For Mental Health Panel

Marin supervisors filled four of the seven new slots on the Mental Health Advisory board yesterday.

The board is being expanded from six to 13 members under a new state law.

Selected yesterday were David Sokoloff, to one of three positions to be occupied by the general public; Jack D. Williams, as psychologist on the board; Miss Martha Valliant, to the opening reserved for a registered nurse, and Donald Barksdale of Center Medical Hospital, Kentfield, to the hospital administrator's position.

The board decided to wait until next week to finish appointing representatives from the general public and to select one social worker for the board from among four candidates.

Marinite Exhibits

Ada Garfinkel of Kentfield is represented in "Fifty Paintings," a national competition which is on exhibit to Friday, Dec. 6, in the Civic Arts Gallery, Walnut Creek.

College Students Teach Minorities

By JAMES BOW

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — "You gave up. You must never give up," a Negro teacher told a fifth grade Negro girl, defeated by an arithmetic problem.

At the same time, another teacher, a black girl from Newark, N.J., was pointing: "Head, shoulders, knees and toes." Two Mexican-American girls, second and fourth graders, listened and copied. They were learning English.

THESE ARE THE sights and sounds produced by 27 college students — including 11 Negroes, 13 of Mexican ancestry and one Filipina. Most of them are going back to the other side of the tracks to teach in neighborhoods such as the ones they came from.

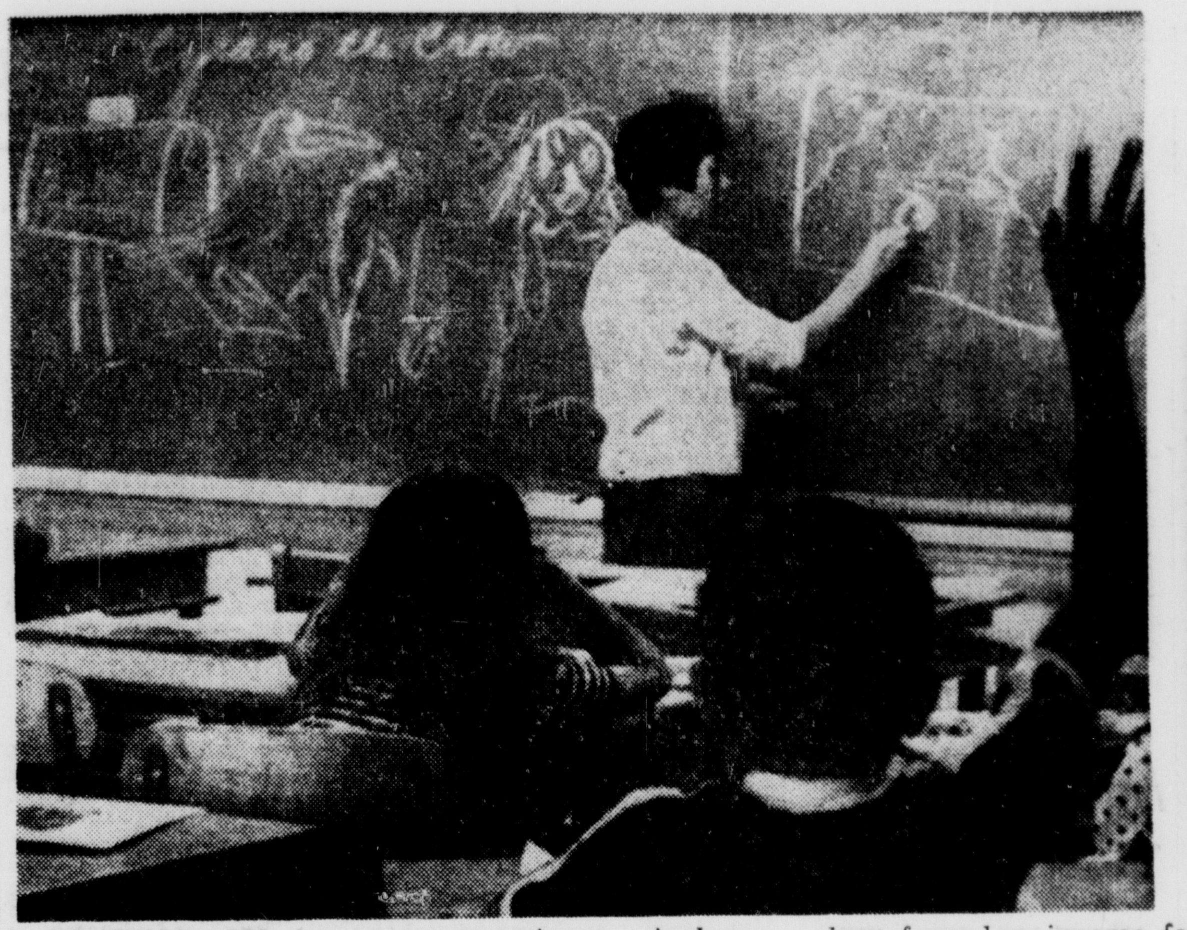
The National Teachers Corps chose Stockton as the test city for an experiment with two new features for the federal program—the teachers, working as classroom aides, don't yet have their college degrees and most of them come from poor families.

Ennis Ramos, 30, comes from a family of farm workers. In his application for the corps he wrote: "I remember that on several occasions we registered at a school in the morning and checked out of school in the afternoon of the same day, because while we were in school my father had learned that the crops weren't too good."

"I WASN'T ABLE to understand English until I was about nine years old," he said.

Mary Trejo, 21, came from Mexico to Stockton in 1957. She believes middle-class teachers don't always understand the problems of poor children.

"You see little boys who don't comb their hair or brush their teeth," Miss Trejo explained. "Maybe they don't have water at home."



DRAWNG ON her own experience, Andrea Nicolas illustrates a story during a class for children from low income families in Stockton. Andrea, whose background is similar to many of her pupils, is one of the college students employed as classroom aides by the National Teachers Corps. Her father is a Filipino farm worker and her mother is a Japanese. (AP Wirephoto)

Still, a child's school appearance goes on his formal record, blocking his progress later on, she said.

THE $275,000 south Stockton project is run by the University of the Pacific in Stockton. The federal government pays 90 per cent and the Stockton School District pays 10 per cent.

Students from the university and from other campuses across the country are volunteering to work in poor neighborhoods. But Stockton, an agricultural center in the San Joaquin Valley, needs more than student volunteers.

A year ago, Stockton's unemployment rate was 8.8 per cent, compared to 3.8 per cent nationally. More than 40 per cent of Stockton's 100,000 residents are Negroes and Mexican-Americans, working or looking for work in the town's canneries and nearby fields.

The Stockton corpsmen, who began this summer, will have two years to turn their enthusiasms and novel ideas into lasting results.

"I'M CONVINCED these teachers have a closer relationship with the children because of their similar backgrounds," said Prof. John Schippers, the university's director for the project.

"They have a depth of understanding that just won't stop."

The National Teachers Corps was created by the federal government in 1966 to train college graduates to teach in poor areas, where they're needed. But a corps officials in Washington said that up to now, corpsmen were mostly from middle or upper income groups.

Booker Guyton, 23, is from Stockton and a corpsman at Taft School. He spent two years on a scholarship at the University of California in Berkeley. "I had the best instructors around but to me it wasn't as meaningful as this," he said.

Guyton, a Negro, is leading an after-hours math class with some of Taft's toughest discipline problems in attendance. Pupils are quiet. Teachers speak calmly.

GUYTON SAID parents voluntarily sent their children to the special classes.

Sharon Haradawy, 19, a Negro girl from Newark, attends Pacific's Spanish-language Covell College and teaches English to Spanish-speaking pupils at McKinley.

Her school is an old building, across a busy street from a cannery.

Andrea Nicolas, 30, is the mother of four children, the youngest six months. Her father was a Filipino farm worker, her mother Japanese. Her specialty is children's stories, intricately and humorously illustrated on the blackboard.

LARCENE DIXON, a Negro, has a child attending junior college.

Stockton corpsmen have worked their way through two years of college, mostly at junior colleges. They attend the University of the Pacific and are paid $75 a week—with $15 extra for each dependent.

Schippers said more than 175 applied. But the standard for acceptance was experience, not grades.

Has this experience paid off? A regularly employed McKinley teacher said that last year only four parents came to the first Parent-Teachers Association meeting of the year. This fall, he said, more than 75 came to hear the program arranged by the corpsmen.

Blonde Kathie Ostrum, 22, says, "Among teachers there is a natural aversion to teaching in certain areas. . . .

"Children are just children, capable of achieving anything," she said. "We're not trying to change children. We're trying to change the educational system."

'Good Girl Guide' For Man On Loose In London

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

LONDON (AP) -- If you want to pick up an American girl in London get an umbrella and a derby hat. American girls are so eager to date an Englishman you'll need the umbrella to fight them off.

To pick up an English girl, go to the greensward of Hyde Park, a stalking ground so popular with American servicemen in World War II that an estimated 38 per cent of all GI brides met their Yanks there.

THAT'S THE ADVICE in London's latest guide book. London has guide books for museums, for ancient architecture and restaurants, even for public washrooms. Now it has one giving the best places to meet girls.

It's called the "Good Girl Guide" and for six shillings—72 cents — the footloose male gets 64 pages of advice on where to find young ladies and what approach to use.

Author Stephen Lestre claims London has more than half a million women between the ages of 17 and 25, most of them in miniskirts, so "sheer numbers are on your side."

THE BEST HUNTING spots for American girls, says Lestre, who claims to have tried out many of his own suggestions and hints he got arrested only once in the process, are the American Express and the Hilton Hotel.

American Express, he says, is filled with "chirpy little things from Iowa ... languid pools of beauty from Georgia ... and bright-eyed jumping beans from New York." The best time for pickups is Monday morning when they come to collect their mail, or Friday when they come to get money.

Marin Women

FIVE AGES OF WOMAN

Physical Changes Are Regulators Of The Female's Cycle Of Life

(Introduction and first of a five part series from the Women's Medical News Service, "The Five Ages of Woman.")

A man's life is related to his career — school years, working years, retirement years — rather than his body. After adolescence, he simply gets gently older.

By comparison, a woman is in pawn to her glands and hormones, stirred by monthly cycles that occur within a life cycle that is often ill-understood . . . a life cycle that proceeds by fits and starts and that consists of five clearly defined "ages:"

Childhood, the most unself-conscious of times for a girl, when boys are primarily companions.

Adolescence, when the little girl slowly, nervously turns into a young woman capable of bearing children.

Maturity, when the young woman faces the challenges of independence, love, marriage, motherhood.

Menopause, the reverse of adolescence, when slowly, nervously, the mature woman returns to an independent life without growing children and the capacity to bear babies.

Postmenopause, when a woman looks forward to a 30-year "age" of glandular stability, when she is free to choose for herself what her activities and responsibilities will be.

Many of these stages used to be wrapped in superstition and frightening myths. Old wives' tales persist but the foolishness of these stories has become obvious, and a woman's life can be a wondrous affair.

CHILDHOOD

From the moment of conception, girls are built to last. At conception, boys outnumber girls 130 to 100. From then on, those male embryos and fetuses give up the ghost in disproportionate numbers. So many more boys spontaneously abort that, at birth, there are only 106 boys left for every 100 newborn girls. In the first few months of life, the boys continue to succumb. When that first birthday cake comes around, the number of boys and girls is even.

During infancy and early childhood, girls and boys share more common experiences than they ever will again. Physical changes are very much the same for both sexes. They're even look-alikes, as anyone knows who has ever looked into a strange baby carriage. Now that boys wear pink with impunity, little girls blue, and both sexes revel in reds and yellows, figuring out the correct sex is largely a matter of chance.

IN THE BEGINNING of his baby book, Dr. Benjamin Spock apologizes for using "he" throughout and thus ignoring half the infant population. That single correction is sufficient because, in the early years, little boys and little girls develop so similarly. Boys tend to be somewhat slower about such items as toilet-training, but the difference is quite insignificant — and a fast boy has no trouble outpacing a slow girl.

Infants of both sexes make their greatest spurts in growth in that first year — stretching by half, from an average of 20 inches to 30 inches and tripling their birth weights. Then they both slow down, so it takes five years just to double their first-year weight. By the age of four, sexual differences start manifesting themselves.

At about that age, enough adrenal estrogen is released to give a little girl a subtle feminine look. At around eight, her knees and shoulders are visibly plumper than a boy's. By 10, most boys are clearly stronger than girls of the same age, showing 35 per cent more muscle strength on specific tests. Small wonder that girls learn early to prudently limit their expressions of anger to tears and screams, rather than attempting hand-to-hand combat.

The really crucial determinant of childhood sex differences, of course, may well be the social norm decreeing that girls should be agreeable and ingratiating, while boys should be independent and aggressive. Little girls tend to pattern themselves after their mothers, as boys do after their fathers.

STUDIES SHOW that teachers often unfairly favor girls over schoolboys because the girls are so much quieter and more obedient. Treated more gently, they tend to be gentler.

Curiosity about the world and people consumes both boys and girls. "What makes a cloud?" "Where do I come from?" These are everyday, interchangeable questions from children. Pediatricians believe both should be answered, not necessarily in great detail. If a child wants to know more, she will ask further questions. Honest answers are always the best policy. What pediatricians caution against are over-answers, answers going far beyond the girl's request for information.

There is a growing recognition of the need for down-to-earth factual information on sexual matters for youngsters. Many schools have begun sex education courses. In the lower grades, appropriate subjects are: how the sexes differ, how a baby is conceived and how it is born.

False modesty instilled in a girl's early years can become an adult hang-up. Nakedness is essentially normal. So is masturbation and "playing doctor." Physicians agree that a girl should never be scolded for such behavior. However, says pediatrician Herbert Birch of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, a decent regard for social convention is not necessarily prudery; even a three- or four-year-old, he feels, is old enough to be told that she should not handle herself in public. Generally, genital play is usually dropped at around seven or eight years of age.

Dr. Elizabeth Parker, a Los Angeles gynecologist, points out that parents lay the groundwork for sex education "by loving the child and expressing that love in a meaningful way" and by the way they treat one another. As in more routine matters, "Don't do what I do but do what I say" does not work here either.

The beloved daughter of loving parents is guaranteed to be made of "sugar and spice and all that's nice."

Back From Tennessee Would Come Favorite Pumpkin Loaf

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press

Here's a recipe for Pumpkin Bread that we think you'll enjoy down to the last crumb. It has a delicate flavor, an airy texture and slices beautifully.

The recipe comes from Mrs. Blaylock of Chatanooga, Tennessee. Daughter Sandra used to do art work for the women's pages of the New York Herald Tribune. When Sandy would go home for vacation, Mrs. Blaylock would always have her special Pumpkin Bread on hand. Then when Sandy returned to New York, her suitcase would bulge with treats from her mother for Sandra's co-workers on the newspaper.

The late Clementine Paddleford, famous food editor in the good old days of the New York Herald Tribune, loved Mrs. Blaylock's Pumpkin Bread and would look forward to receiving a loaf. Clem would demolish several slices while writing a column, then wrap the remainig loaf to carry home.

Clem used to share goodies with her staff, but the Tennessee Pumpkin Bread was an exception that always went home for future munching. She liked to spread it with cream cheese and serve it with weekend brunch.

Mrs. Blaylock is a great cook and Sandra, recently married, wants to follow suit. Right now she's in Pakistan where her husband will be working for a couple of years. If she can find canned pumpkin there, she'll be treating her new neighbors to the Tennessee bread.

We baked the Pumpkin Bread in a non-stick coated pan (no need for greasing) and it slid out in a wink. With canned pumpkin on our market shelves, this delicious loaf is an easy-to-make treat.

TENNESSEE PUMPKIN BREAD

1⅔ cups sifted regular flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅓ cup shortening
1⅓ cups suger
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup canned mashed pumpkin
½ cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Grease a regular loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) or use a non-stick coated one and do not grease.

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—45to 55 minutes.

Turn out on a wire rack; turn right side up; cool. Stored in a tightly covered tin box loaf will keep nicely for several days. Or wrap tightly and store in refrigerator; bring to room temperature before serving. For special guests serve the loaf, cooled, after it is freshly baked.

Here's An Entire Menu For Your Thanksgiving Dinner

Pilgrim-like we grace our table each Thanksgiving season with a tender delicate fowl . . . the traditional turkey.

And of course, there's giblet gravy to spoon over uniquely seasoned corn bread dressing . . . especially convenient prepared a day ahead. Your Horn of Plenty? Cranberry Salad Mold topped with a mixture of raspberry flavored gelatin, cottage cheese, chopped nuts and orange rind. To complete this bountiful dinner, there's candied sweet potatoes, peas and water chestnuts. And sweetest of all, Sour Cream Pumpkin Pie.

PREPARING TURKEY

10-12 pound turkey
1 teaspoon salt
Celery leaves
Few sprigs of parsley
Salt

If turkey is frfozen, thaw day before roasting sufficiently to remove giblets. Simmer turkey neck and giblets in water to cover with salt, celery leaves and parsley until tender. Strain liquid; refrigerate for gravy. Chop giblets into small pieces. Refrigerate for gravy. Rinse body and neck cavities with cold water. Drain. Salt cavities lightly.

To stuff turkey: Pack dressing lightly into body and neck cavities. Fasten neck skin down with poultry pin. Fasten legs of turkey according to packer's directions.

The timetable for this tent-roasting method for the turkey: 6 to 8 pounds, 3 to 3½ hours; 8 to 12 pounds, 3½ to 4½ hours; 12 to 16 pounds, 4½ to 5½ hours; 16 to 20 pounds, 5½ to 6½ hours; and 20 to 24 pound bird, 6½ to 7 hours. All times are given for 325 degree oven, and internal temperature 185 degrees on meat thermometer.

CORN BREAD DRESSING

1 box (10 oz.) corn bread mix
8 ounces pork sausage
¾ sup (1½ sticks) butter
1 cup chopped onions
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
3 cups herb seasoned croutons
¼ cup chopped parsley
¼ cup liquid from cooking giblets OR milk

Bake corn bread according to package directions; cool. In skillet cook sausage until lightly browned; transfer to large bowl. Melt butter in skillet; saute onion, celery and mushrooms until tender. Stir in poultry seasoning. Mix in with sausage. Break corn bread into pieces. Toss with sausage mixture along with croutons, parsley and giblet liquid. (Add ¼ cup more liquid if baking dressing separately.) Yield: 9½ cups.

CANDIED YAMS

2 pounds yams (4 mdium)
½ cup (1 stick) butter
¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup water

Cool potatoes in skins until tender but still firm (20-30 minutes). Pare and cut diagonally in half or thirds. In skillet melt butter; add sugar and salt. Stir until smooth; add water. Add potatoes; turn to coat all sides. Cover. Cook over low heat for 20 minutess. 8-10 servings.

SOUR CREAM PUMPKIN PIE

Pie Shell:

1 cup sifted regular all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lard
½ cup finely chopped pecans
3 tablespoons milk

Filling:

1½ cups dairy sour cream
3 egg yolks
1 can (1 lb.) solid pack pumpkin
¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
Sweetened whipped cream

To Prepare Pie Shell: Sift together flour and salt. Cut in butter and lard until mixture resembles small peas. Add pecans. Sprinkle on milk one tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly with fork. Gather up dough with fingers; shape into a ball. On lightly floured surface roll 1/8th-inch thick into 10-inch circle. Ease dough into 9-inch pie plate. Build up edge on rim of pie plate and flute.

To Prepare Filling: In a 2-quart saucepan stir together sour cream, egg yolks, pumpkin, brown sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, 15 minutes or until mixture thickens. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Gradually fold pumpkin mixture into beaten egg whites. Mound into pie shell. Bake in a pre-heated 375° oven 20-30 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack. Garnish with whipped cream.

CRANBERRY SALAD

Cranberry Layer:

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
3⅓ cups fresh cranberries
½ cup water
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped unpared apple (1 medium)
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cottage Cheese Layer:

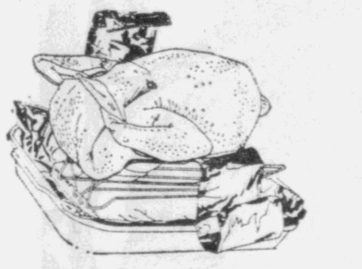
1 package (3 oz.) raspberry flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup orange juice
1¼ cups cottage cheese
1 teaspoon orange rind
½ cup orange sections, cut-up (1 medium)
¼ cup chopped nuts

To prepare Cranberry Layer: Soften gelatin in ½ cup water. Cook cranberries in ½ cup water until skins are popped, crushing berries against sides of pan with wooden spoon. Add sugar and return to boil. Add gelatin, stir to dissolve. Chill until partially set. Toss apple with lemon juice: add to cranberry mixture. Turn into 6½ to 7-cup mold; chill until set but not firm. To prepare Cottage Cheese Layer: Pour boiling water over gelatin; stir to dissolve. Add orange juice. Chill until partially set. Add cottage cheese, orange rind and sections and nuts. Spoon onto first layer. Chill until firm. 10-12 servings.

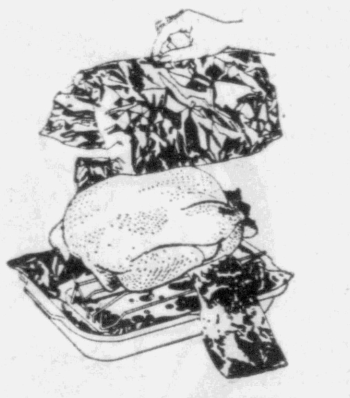
PEAS AND WATER CHESTNUTS

2 packages (10-oz. each) frozen green peas
6 tablespoons (¾ stick) butter
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and sliced

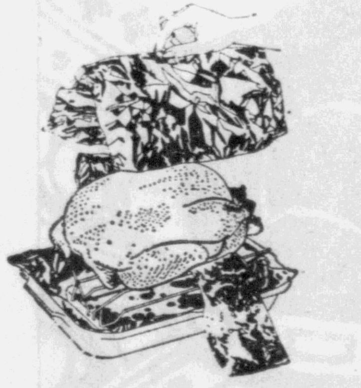
Cook peas according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile in saucepan melt butter, add celery salt and water chestnuts; heat. Pour over peas. 8-10 servings.



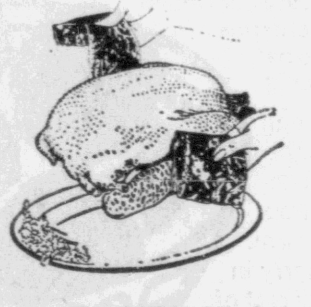
PLACE TURKEY, breast down, on a foil band on a rack in foil-lined pan. To make band, fold heavy duty foil lengthwise, over and over to make 2 to 3 inch wide band. Brush turkey with softened butter. Place in 325°F oven and roast according to the timetable.



WHEN TURKEY has roasted for about two-thirds the required time, remove from oven and turn breast up. Use the foil band to flip it first on the side then breast up. Brush breast with softened butter.



A MEAT THERMOMETER may be inserted in the thickest part of thigh during last third of roasting time. Crease foil lengthwise to make a tent and arrange over bird loosely. Return to oven and continue roasting. The tent keeps the turkey moist and prevents overbrowning.



THE TURKEY IS done when the breast meat feels soft when pressed with finger and drumstick and thigh joint moves easily or meat thermometer registers 185°. To transfer turkey to platter, lift with foil band. Let turkey stand, covered with foil tent, for about 30 minutes so juices stop running and carving will be easier.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Suicide Leaves Woman Shaky And Needing Psychiatric Counseling

DEAR HELEN:

My father committed suicide three years ago. A short time afterward I met a man who somewhat resembled him, and who had just separated from his wife. He had a big drinking problem and threatened to take his life.

Though I am married to a fine man I tried to console this fellow, who, I later discovered, was an alcoholic and in need of psychiatry.

He had financial troubles, so I loaned him a good deal of money which I probably won't get back. But I'd be willing to forget it if I could just be rid of the worry. Each time I tell him I'm through, he says he can't live without me and he'll kill himself. I'm trying to get him into an alcohol treatment center, which will cost around $200 for five days. Where do I go from there? He's had treatment before, without success.

I suppose I feel that I could have saved my father's life had I tried harder, and now, if I turn this derelict loose, history will repeat itself. At age 50, I can't face another tragedy.

The man has a good job (which he hates), but his bills seem to keep him broke.

How can I get free without feeling guilty? — CONSCIENCE BOUND

DEAR C. B.:

I think you need psychiatry counseling more than does this parasite who has found an easy mark and is playing her for all she's worth.

Weak and disturbed is he, but so long as he has you to lean on, he may never help himself. You've expiated for your father's death far too long. Now it's time for psychological insight — and freedom from unearned guilt.

Turn your alcoholic over to an expert, and get back to the man who really needs you: Your husband.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter is 23. She has met a man of 26. They never mention marriage, but she goes off on weekends with him, and they visit each other's apartments as if they belonged there.

About all I can get out of her is, "We like each other very much." He appears to be a nice person, but . . .

Should I insist that she come home to live so she won't completely ruin her good reputation? She was raised in a fine, moral home. —UNBELIEVING

DEAR UN:

If you've raised your daughter with the right attitudes you can trust her to make the right decisions for her time and place. Perhaps they won't follow your strict limitations, but — she's free and 23 . . . and times have changed.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

In our neighborhood there's a 13-year-old boy who gets away with murder — and I'm afraid it might be just that unless he is stopped. He has a wild temper. Recently, if he hadn't been pulled off a younger boy, the child might have been permanently injured. He was banging his head on the sidewalk, and choking him.

The parents think he is wonderful, never reprimand him, always say he was picked on. Even when the school complains, they threaten to "get the principal's job."

The kid sasses back, and dares us to tell his father. He's got a gang now, and we're afraid a bad situation will get worse. What can be done? — THE NEIGHBORS

DEAR NEIGHBORS:

If talking to the boy's parents doesn't help, tell them you'll call the police at the next sign of trouble. When a wild teen organizes a gang, the next stop is juvenile hall — and this usually jars a doting father out of his lethargy. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Butternut

The butternut is a long, thin, hard skinned squash. There are nine to 12 inches of solid meat on the stem end and the bulbous end contains the seed cavity. The color is light brown or dark yellow.

Westerners Counter-Attack With Long Pants

By LINDA DEUTSCH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the year of the minidress and bikini, California sportswear designers have launched a counterattack of long pants, long tunics, and long beach pajamas.

The pants, which opened the spring showings of the California fashion creators are flared and feminine, flopping around the ankles.

But the vests, another borrowed bonanza from men's wear, are as tailored as can be.

In a daylong show of sportswear, nary a skirt was seen, Alex Colman was the only designer to touch the basic shift at all. His were bright bold floral prints native to California.

The sportswear designers—Colman, Internationale Set, Koret of California, Whitestag and Malia of Hawaii—all emphasized pants. Internationale Set designers said the new flowing flares harked back to the styles of the 1940s.

Koret called its feminine trend for 1969 "Clothes Livin' Dolls." They proceeded to display little-girl look clothes on models who skipped and sucked lollipops.

The fabrics this year are active, washable arnells and polyesters. The colors are the American combo of red white and blue, and splashing prints in brown, black and white. Pastels are still a perennial favorite.

Whitestag has added to its classic line the new fashion concept of wide legs and tunic tops. Tunics often zip closed and have belts. And vests make a plain pair of pants into a suit.

Though pants are total, the fitted skin peeks out in the returning midriff blouse. Whitestag shows it in knit and Charm of Hollywood puts it over sheer voile bell-bottom pants called "See Legs" which are almost transparent.

Malia puts dresses back into the act, but most of them are mini and worn over matching long pants. One standout is a white sharkskin dress with bright striped borders on hem and matching pants cuffs. The borders are purple, pink, orange and green. If a few places Malia duplicated Hawaiian culotte prints in matching mens' jackets.

Hostess culottes also showed off Malia's splashy print fabrics. And there were even full length beach pajamas to cover up those little bikinis.

Golf dresses, tennis dresses, wrapped front pants, disguised as skirts all point to the fact that California sports wear is more casual than ever.

"Our customers are having more time to play," said Alex Colman, "so we're giving them something to play in."

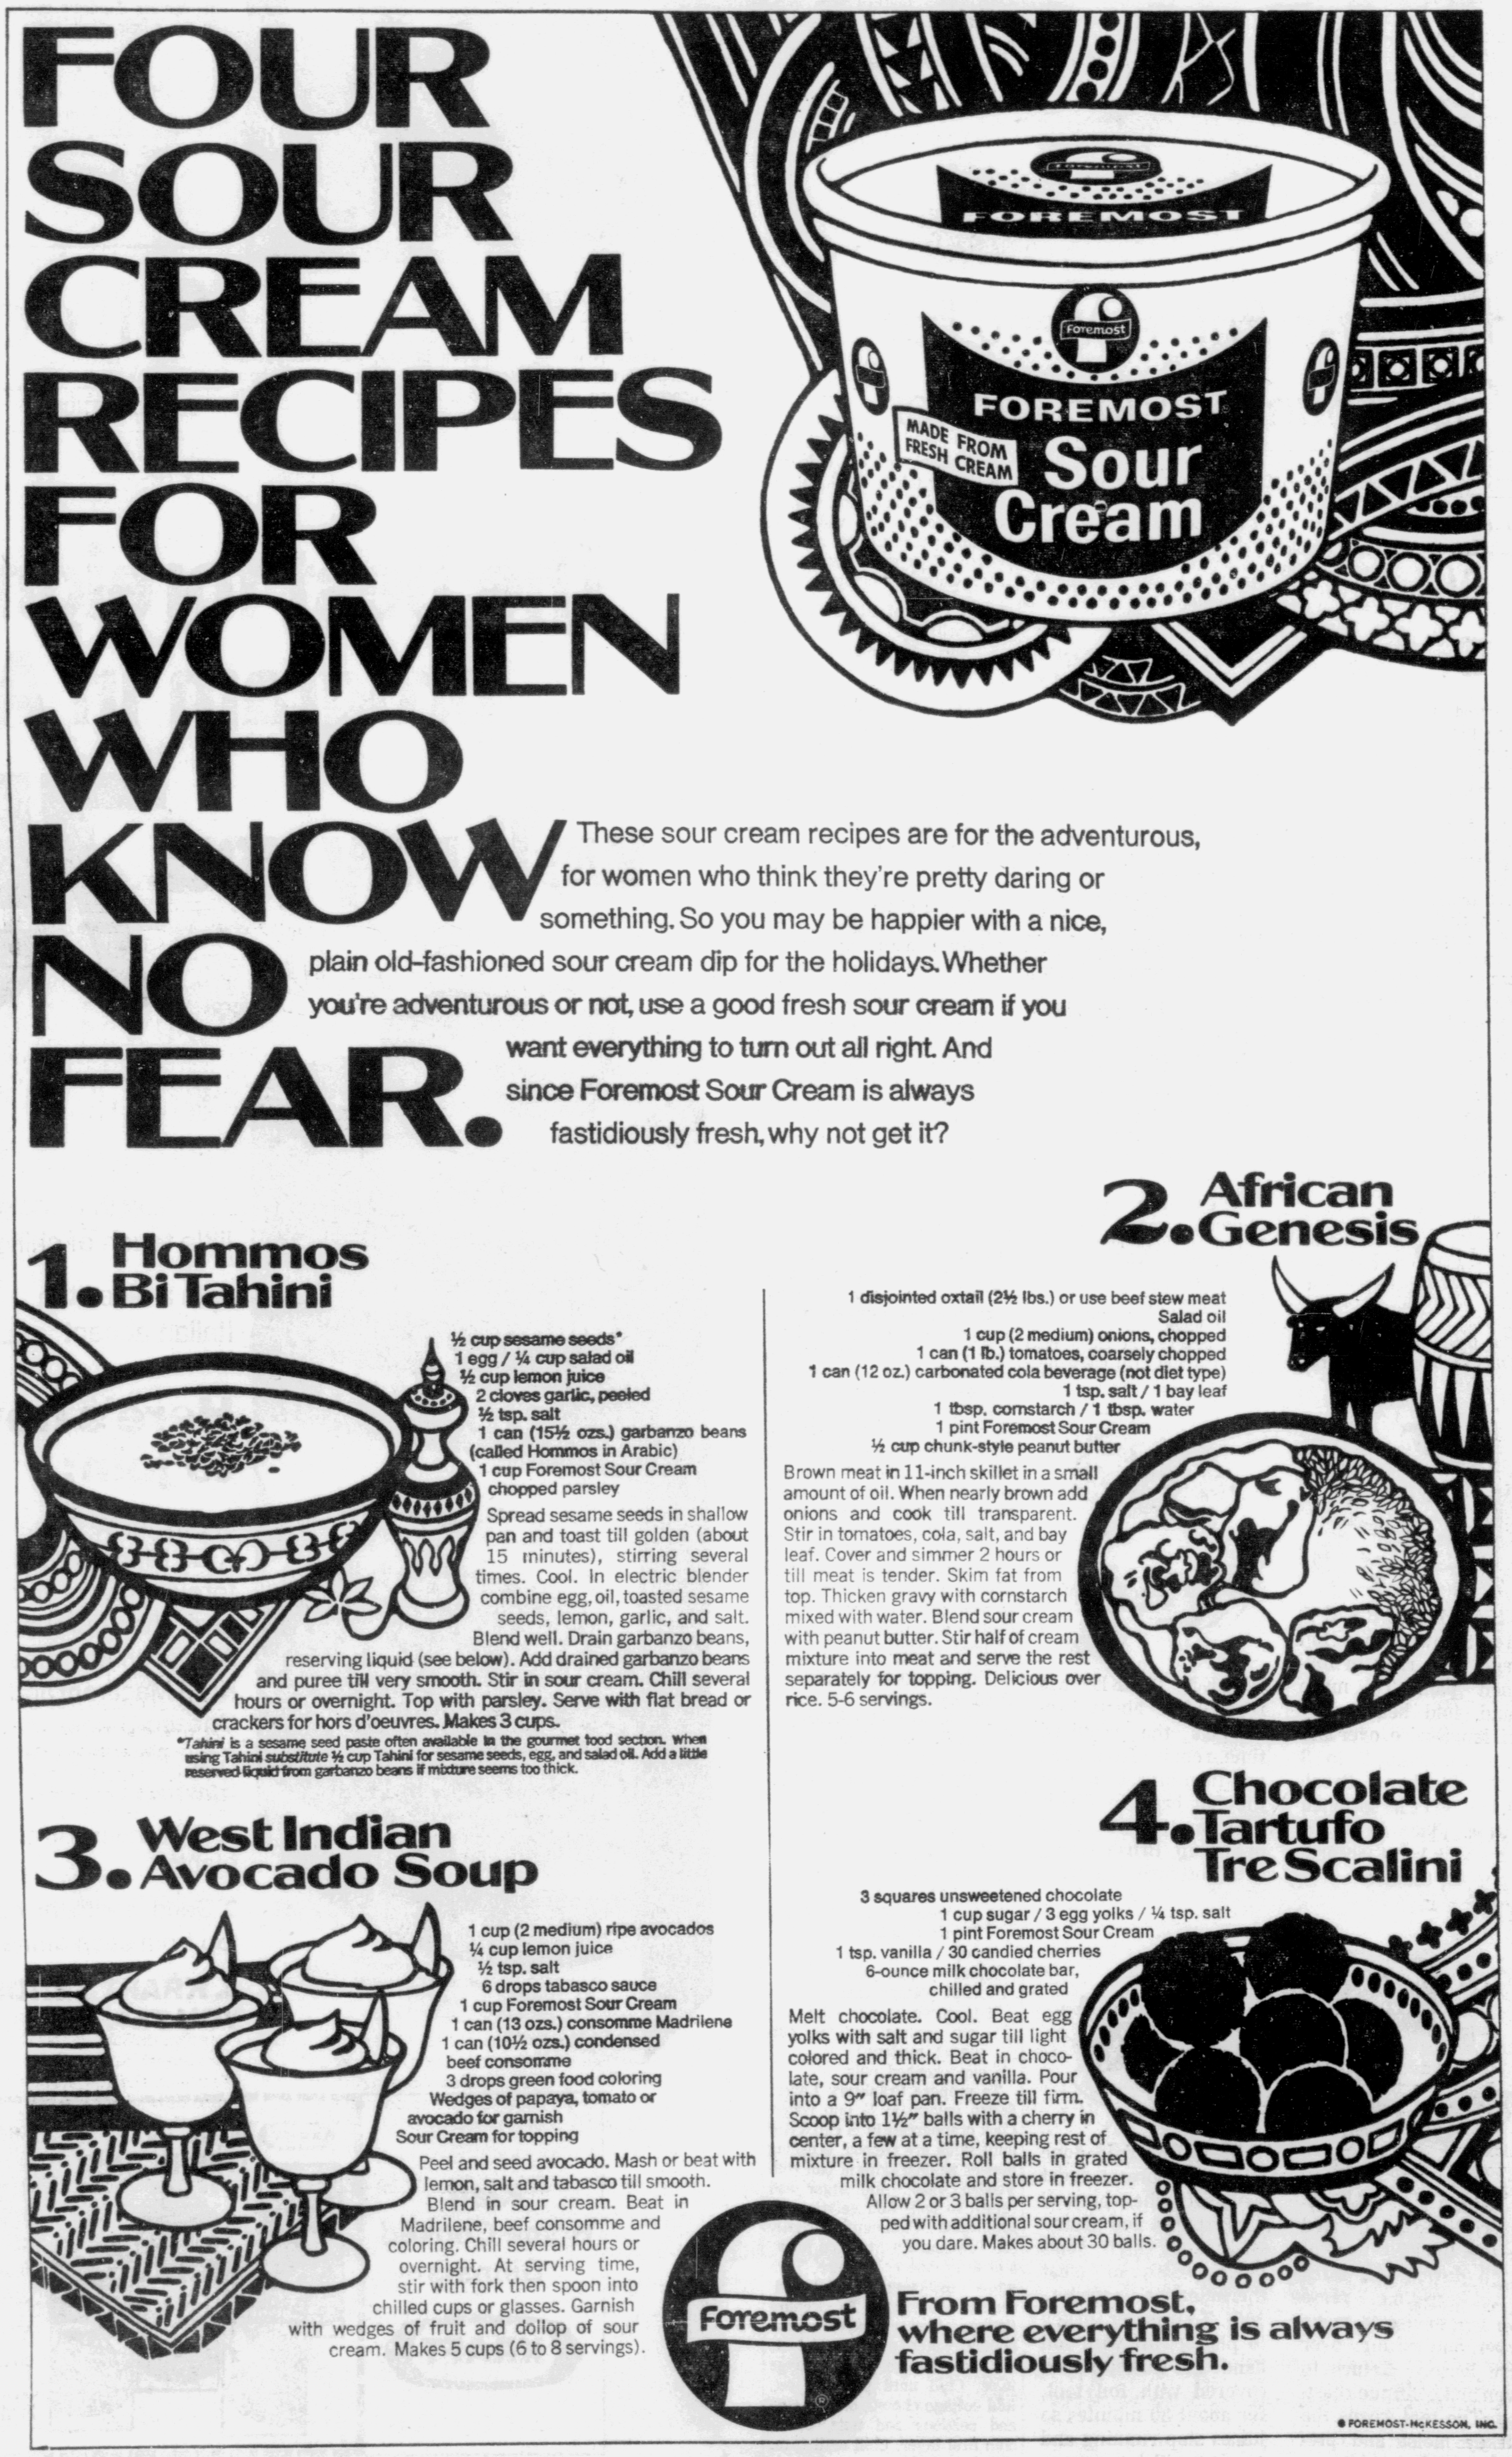
Wrinkles

Wrinkle resistance has been defined as the property of a fabric that causes it to recover from folding and creasing either in wearing or washing. If a fabric has high wrinkle recovery, it will recapture its original smoothness without heavy ironing after being washed; a fabric with low wrinkle recovery must be ironed to remove wrinkles.

New Measurers

Now you can take the guesswork out of measuring half a spoonful of medicine with a stainless steel spoon that has a graduated bowl marked to show exact ½ and 1 teaspoon measurements. The design includes a safety lock grip to keep it steady in your hand while pouring, and a self-leveling handle.



FOUR SOUR CREAM RECIPES FOR WOMEN WHO KNOW NO FEAR.

These sour cream recipes are for the adventurous, for women who think they're pretty daring or something. So you may be happier with a nice, plain old-fashioned sour cream dip for the holidays. Whether you're adventurous or not, use a good fresh sour cream if you want everything to turn out all right. And since Foremost Sour Cream is always fastidiously fresh, why not get it?

1. Hommos Bi Tahini

½ cup sesame seeds*
1 egg / ¼ cup salad oil
½ cup lemon juice
2 cloves garlic, peeled
½ tsp. salt
1 can (15½ ozs.) garbanzo beans (called Hommos in Arabic)
1 cup Foremost Sour Cream
chopped parsley

Spread sesame seeds in shallow pan and toast till golden (about 15 minutes), stirring several times. Cool. In electric blender combine egg, oil, toasted sesame seeds, lemon, garlic, and salt. Blend well. Drain garbanzo beans, reserving liquid (see below). Add drained garbanzo beans and puree till very smooth. Stir in sour cream. Chill several hours or overnight. Top with parsley. Serve with flat bread or crackers for hors d'oeuvres. Makes 3 cups.

*Tahini is a sesame seed paste often available in the gourmet food section. When using Tahini substitute ½ cup Tahini for sesame seeds, egg, and salad oil. Add a little reserved liquid from garbanzo beans if mixture seems too thick.

2. African Genesis

1 disjointed oxtail (2½ lbs.) or use beef stew meat
Salad oil
1 cup (2 medium) onions, chopped
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes, coarsely chopped
1 can (12 oz.) carbonated cola beverage (not diet type)
1 tsp. salt / 1 bay leaf
1 tbsp. cornstarch / 1 tbsp. water
1 pint Foremost Sour Cream
½ cup chunk-style peanut butter

Brown meat in 11-inch skillet in a small amount of oil. When nearly brown add onions and cook till transparent. Stir in tomatoes, cola, salt, and bay leaf. Cover and simmer 2 hours or till meat is tender. Skim fat from top. Thicken gravy with cornstarch mixed with water. Blend sour cream with peanut butter. Stir half of cream mixture into meat and serve the rest separately for topping. Delicious over rice. 5-6 servings.

3. West Indian Avocado Soup

1 cup (2 medium) ripe avocados
¼ cup lemon juice
½ tsp. salt
6 drops tabasco sauce
1 cup Foremost Sour Cream
1 can (13 ozs.) consomme Madrilene
1 can (10½ ozs.) condensed beef consomme
3 drops green food coloring
Wedges of papaya, tomato or avocado for garnish
Sour Cream for topping

Peel and seed avocado. Mash or beat with lemon, salt and tabasco till smooth. Blend in sour cream. Beat in Madrilene, beef consomme and coloring. Chill several hours or overnight. At serving time, stir with fork then spoon into chilled cups or glasses. Garnish with wedges of fruit and dollop of sour cream. Makes 5 cups (6 to 8 servings).

4. Chocolate Tartufo Tre Scalini

3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar / 3 egg yolks / ¼ tsp. salt
1 pint Foremost Sour Cream
1 tsp. vanilla / 30 candied cherries
6-ounce milk chocolate bar, chilled and grated

Melt chocolate. Cool. Beat egg yolks with salt and sugar till light colored and thick. Beat in chocolate, sour cream and vanilla. Pour into a 9" loaf pan. Freeze till firm. Scoop into 1½" balls with a cherry in center, a few at a time, keeping rest of mixture in freezer. Roll balls in grated milk chocolate and store in freezer. Allow 2 or 3 balls per serving, topped with additional sour cream, if you dare. Makes about 30 balls.

From Foremost, where everything is always fastidiously fresh.

College Students Teach Minorities

By JAMES BOW

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — "You gave up. You must never give up," a Negro teacher told a fifth grade Negro girl, defeated by an arithmetic problem.

At the same time, another teacher, a black girl from Newark, N.J., was pointing: "Head, shoulders, knees and toes." Two Mexican-American girls, second and fourth graders, listened and copied. They were learning English.

THESE ARE THE sights and sounds produced by 27 college students — including 11 Negroes, 13 of Mexican ancestry and one Filipina. Most of them are going back to the other side of the tracks to teach in neighborhoods such as the ones they came from.

The National Teachers Corps chose Stockton as the test city for an experiment with two new features for the federal program—the teachers, working as classroom aides, don't yet have their college degrees and most of them come from poor families.

Ennis Ramos, 30, comes from a family of farm workers. In his application for the corps he wrote: "I remember that on several occasions we registered at a school in the morning and checked out of school in the afternoon of the same day, because while we were in school my father had learned that the crops weren't too good."

"I WASN'T ABLE to understand English until I was about nine years old," he said.

Mary Trejo, 21, came from Mexico to Stockton in 1957. She believes middle-class teachers don't always understand the problems of poor children.

"You see little boys who don't comb their hair or brush their teeth," Miss Trejo explained. "Maybe they don't have water at home."

Still, a child's school appearance goes on his formal record, blocking his progress later on, she said.

THE $275,000 south Stockton project is run by the University of the Pacific in Stockton. The federal government pays 90 per cent and the Stockton School District pays 10 per cent.

Students from the university and from other campuses across the country are volunteering to work in poor neighborhoods. But Stockton, an agricultural center in the San Joaquin Valley, needs more than student volunteers.

A year ago, Stockton's unemployment rate was 8.8 per cent, compared to 3.8 per cent nationally. More than 40 per cent of Stockton's 100,000 residents are Negroes and Mexican-Americans, working or looking for work in the town's canneries and nearby fields.

The Stockton corpsmen, who began this summer, will have two years to turn their enthusiasms and novel ideas into lasting results.

"I'M CONVINCED these teachers have a closer relationship with the children because of their similar backgrounds," said Prof. John Schippers, the university's director for the project.

"They have a depth of understanding that just won't stop."

The National Teachers Corps was created by the federal government in 1966 to train college graduates to teach in poor areas, where they're needed. But a corps officials in Washington said that up to now, corpsmen were mostly from middle or upper income groups.

Booker Guyton, 23, is from Stockton and a corpsman at Taft School. He spent two years on a scholarship at the University of California in Berkeley. "I had the best instructors around but to me it wasn't as meaningful as this," he said.

Guyton, a Negro, is leading an after-hours math class with some of Taft's toughest discipline problems in attendance. Pupils are quiet. Teachers speak calmly.

GUYTON SAID parents voluntarily sent their children to the special classes.

Sharon Haradawy, 19, a Negro girl from Newark, attends Pacific's Spanish-language Covell College and teaches English to Spanish-speaking pupils at McKinley.

Her school is an old building, across a busy street from a cannery.

Andrea Nicolas, 30, is the mother of four children, the youngest six months. Her father was a Filipino farm worker, her mother Japanese. Her specialty is children's stories, intricately and humorously illustrated on the blackboard.

LARCENE DIXON, a Negro, has a child attending junior college.

Stockton corpsmen have worked their way through two years of college, mostly at junior colleges. They attend the University of the Pacific and are paid $75 a week—with $15 extra for each dependent.

Schippers said more than 175 applied. But the standard for acceptance was experience, not grades.

Has this experience paid off? A regularly employed McKinley teacher said that last year only four parents came to the first Parent-Teachers Association meeting of the year. This fall, he said, more than 75 came to hear the program arranged by the corpsmen.

Blonde Kathie Ostrum, 22, says, "Among teachers there is a natural aversion to teaching in certain areas. . . .

"Children are just children, capable of achieving anything," she said. "We're not trying to change children. We're trying to change the educational system."

'Good Girl Guide' For Man On Loose In London

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

LONDON (AP) -- If you want to pick up an American girl in London get an umbrella and a derby hat. American girls are so eager to date an Englishman you'll need the umbrella to fight them off.

To pick up an English girl, go to the greensward of Hyde Park, a stalking ground so popular with American servicemen in World War II that an estimated 38 per cent of all GI brides met their Yanks there.

THAT'S THE ADVICE in London's latest guide book. London has guide books for museums, for ancient architecture and restaurants, even for public washrooms. Now it has one giving the best places to meet girls.

It's called the "Good Girl Guide" and for six shillings—72 cents — the footloose male gets 64 pages of advice on where to find young ladies and what approach to use.

Author Stephen Lestre claims London has more than half a million women between the ages of 17 and 25, most of them in miniskirts, so "sheer numbers are on your side."

THE BEST HUNTING spots for American girls, says Lestre, who claims to have tried out many of his own suggestions and hints he got arrested only once in the process, are the American Express and the Hilton Hotel.

American Express, he says, is filled with "chirpy little things from Iowa ... languid pools of beauty from Georgia ... and bright-eyed jumping beans from New York." The best time for pickups is Monday morning when they come to collect their mail, or Friday when they come to get money.

Marin Women

FIVE AGES OF WOMAN

Physical Changes Are Regulators Of The Female's Cycle Of Life

(Introduction and first of a five part series from the Women's Medical News Service, "The Five Ages of Woman.")

A man's life is related to his career — school years, working years, retirement years — rather than his body. After adolescence, he simply gets gently older.

By comparison, a woman is in pawn to her glands and hormones, stirred by monthly cycles that occur within a life cycle that is often ill-understood . . . a life cycle that proceeds by fits and starts and that consists of five clearly defined "ages:"

Childhood, the most unselfconscious of times for a girl, when boys are primarily companions.

Adolescence, when the little girl slowly, nervously turns into a young woman capable of bearing children.

Maturity, when the young woman faces the challenges of independence, love, marriage, motherhood.

Menopause, the reverse of adolescence, when slowly, nervously, the mature woman returns to an independent life without growing children and the capacity to bear babies.

Postmenopause, when a woman looks forward to a 30-year "age" of glandular stability, when she is free to choose for herself what her activities and responsibilities will be.

Many of these stages used to be wrapped in superstition and frightening myths. Old wives' tales persist but the foolishness of these stories has become obvious, and a woman's life can be a wondrous affair.

CHILDHOOD

From the moment of conception, girls are built to last. At conception, boys outnumber girls 130 to 100. From then on, those male embryos and fetuses give up the ghost in disproportionate numbers. So many more boys spontaneously abort that, at birth, there are only 106 boys left for every 100 newborn girls. In the first few months of life, the boys continue to succumb. When that first birthday cake comes around, the number of boys and girls is even.

During infancy and early childhood, girls and boys share more common experiences than they ever will again. Physical changes are very much the same for both sexes. They're even look-alikes, as anyone knows who has ever looked into a strange baby carriage. Now that boys wear pink with impunity, little girls blue, and both sexes revel in reds and yellows, figuring out the correct sex is largely a matter of chance.

IN THE BEGINNING of his baby book, Dr. Benjamin Spock apologizes for using "he" throughout and thus ignoring half the infant population. That single correction is sufficient because, in the early years, little boys and little girls develop so similarly. Boys tend to be somewhat slower about such items as toilet-training, but the difference is quite insignificant — and a fast boy has no trouble outpacing a slow girl.

Infants of both sexes make their greatest spurts in growth in that first year — stretching by half, from an average of 20 inches to 30 inches and tripling their birth weights. Then they both slow down, so it takes five years just to double their first-year weight. By the age of four, sexual differences start manifesting themselves.

At about that age, enough adrenal estrogen is released to give a little girl a subtle feminine look. At around eight, her knees and shoulders are visibly plumper than a boy's. By 10, most boys are clearly stronger than girls of the same age, showing 35 per cent more muscle strength on specific tests. Small wonder that girls learn early to prudently limit their expressions of anger to tears and screams, rather than attempting hand-to-hand combat.

The really crucial determinant of childhood sex differences, of course, may well be the social norm decreeing that girls should be agreeable and ingratiating, while boys should be independent and aggressive. Little girls tend to pattern themselves after their mothers, as boys do after their fathers.

STUDIES SHOW that teachers often unfairly favor girls over schoolboys because the girls are so much quieter and more obedient. Treated more gently, they tend to be gentler.

Curiosity about the world and people consumes both boys and girls. "What makes a cloud?" "Where do I come from?" These are everyday, interchangeable questions from children. Pediatricians believe both should be answered, not necessarily in great detail. If a child wants to know more, she will ask further questions. Honest answers are always the best policy. What pediatricians caution against are over-answers, answers going far beyond the girl's request for information.

There is a growing recognition of the need for down-to-earth factual information on sexual matters for youngsters. Many schools have begun sex education courses. In the lower grades, appropriate subjects are: how the sexes differ, how a baby is conceived and how it is born.

False modesty instilled in a girl's early years can become an adult hang-up. Nakedness is essentially normal. So is masturbation and "playing doctor." Physicians agree that a girl should never be scolded for such behavior. However, says pediatrician Herbert Birch of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, a decent regard for social convention is not necessarily prudery; even a three- or four-year-old, he feels, is old enough to be told that she should not handle herself in public. Generally, genital play is usually dropped at around seven or eight years of age.

Dr. Elizabeth Parker, a Los Angeles gynecologist, points out that parents lay the groundwork for sex education "by loving the child and expressing that love in a meaningful way" and by the way they treat one another. As in more routine matters, "Don't do what I do but do what I say" does not work here either.

The beloved daughter of loving parents is guaranteed to be made of "sugar and spice and all that's nice."

Better Handicapped Classrooms Sought

The special education committee of the Marin County schools office has recommended that a committee be formed to create a master plan for improved housing of classes for handicapped children.

Edward Brennan, director of special services, said yesterday the plan would be designed to replace temporary buildings, rented space, and other makeshift accommodations for classes for all special education facilitiees in the county.

He said various organizations interested in handicapped children programs would be asked to recommend a representative to the committee. The county schools office would then consider approval of those recommendations, Brennan said.

The special education committee also recommended Monday night that the county schools office co-sponsor an application for $1,035 in funds from the William Babcock Memorial Foundation in San Francisco for equipment and training of nurses in Marin County hospitals to detect hard-of-hearing cases among newborn infants.

It also recommended that a $16,000 application for federal funds be revised to be used for training hard-of-hearing children from six months old to 18 months rather than for an age range from 18 to 36 months.

The educational services committee took under study a request by the Audubon Society of Marin County for cooperation with the society in establishing an outdoor science education program for students if the society purchases a 235-acre site adjacent to the Audubon canyon Ranch in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area.

Stanley Friese, deputy superintendent, said at present the county schools office transports students to the Redwood Glen camp in San Mateo County for such studies.

Dairy Meeting To Hear Official

Gordon B. Reuhl, state manager of the American Dairy Association of California, will discuss dairy food promotion at the annual District 3 meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Veterans Memorial Building, Santa Rosa.

District directors for 1969 will be elected and the nine-man board of directors will select officers for the coming year.

Current directors include Leo Lavio of Petaluma, district president; William Lawrence of Petaluma, James Grossi of Novato and Manuel Gonsalves of San Rafael.

District 3 covers the counties of Lake, Marin, Mendocino, Napa, Solano and Sonoma. Ken Baird of Petaluma is area representative for the association.

Petaluma Chamber Worries Over Scattering Hospitals

Petaluma Chamber of Commerce directors have received a committee report suggesting additional hosital facilities be built on the west side of the city.

The committee, headed by Clyde A. Nelson Jr., reported Monday that construction of a new hospital on the east side would spread medical facilities and personnel too far. They recommended the new hospital be built as close as posible to the present Hillcrest hospital to give maximum usage of ambulance and medical facilites. They claimed that physicians would not have time to staff two widely separated hospitals, under their present heavy workload. The report also asserted the city is short eight or 10 doctors at present, as are most cities of Petaluma's size.

The committee said all persons in the Petaluma area now live within 15 minutes of a hospital and said this compared favorably with statistics of larger cities such as San Francisco.

Petaluma Chamber Directors Also:

REZONING — Forwarded without comment a report of its industrial committee to the city planning commission offering recommendations on rezoning of 30 acres of industrial land on McDowell Boulevard to residential to allow construction of a mobile home park, requested by Novato Develper Dane Young.

SIGNS — Received report from sign committee that new welcoming signs on highway 101 might cost $2,232. The directors agreed to ask the city council to share the costs since it will be of general city benefit.

DAIRY WOMEN — Received contribution of $200 from the North Bay Dairy Women in appreciation of chamber work for the dairy industry.

LIBRARY — Announced that the directors will meet with the Petaluma library trustees to discuss the proposed merger of the city library with the Sonoma County library system, tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the meeting room of the Argus-Courier.

Insurance Dividend Is Declared 'Untrue'

The Veterans Administration has labeled "totally false" a widely circulated report that certain veterans may get up to $200 on an unpaid 1948 GI insurance.

Gordon R. Elliott, Northern California VA regional office manager, said, "Dozens of California newspapers, radio and television stations are still carrying untrue reports of this dividend."

Mounted 4-H Club Prepares For Show

The Marin Mounted 4-H Club will hold a fall training show at the Circle V Stables, west of Fairfax, Sunday.

English classes will start at 8:30 a.m. and Western classes at about 1 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Collegiate Council Backs Black Requests

The College of Marin student executive council has endorsed several proposals made recently by Black Students for Action.

David Long, student president, said the proposals, approved Monday, will be forwarded to the Marin Junior College District board of trustees for possible action.

The proposals, originally made by Michael Pradia, a member of the black student group, at a college rally Thursday in Olney Hall, ask that Afro-American studies be taught by Negro teachers, that black students participate in hiring these teachers, that financial assistance be given to black students, and that a full-time liaison official be hired for better understanding between the college administration and black students.

They also seek the hiring of more black counselors, and ask that a drive be launched to enroll more black students at the college.

The council also endorsed recommendations by student Michael Conroy that law enforcement officers not be permitted on campus unless specifically invited by students, and that ultimate control of the student newspaper, College of Marin Times, be in the hands of the student body rather than the trustee board.

PROTEST DELAYED

Sausalito Sends LBJ Antimissile Missive

The City of Sausalito has appealed to President Lyndon B. Johnson to block possible Army use of Wolfback Ridge or Angel Island for an antiballistic missile base.

A copy of the city's letter to President Johnson, dated Oct. 29 — almost three months after the letter was ordered sent by the planning commission — was sent to the Independent-Journal by former planning director Charles W. Whitehead. His resignation was effective Friday.

A city employee, asked why the letter had not been sent sooner after the commission's Aug. 7 action opposing the two possible sites, said, "It was one of those things that just wasn't gotten to."

The letter, written by Whitehead, declared the planning commission was "unalterably opposed" to the two possible sites "due to possible impact upon the immediate areas involved and upon the surrounding urban and natural environment."

Whitehead noted in his letter that Johnson has "expressed considerable interest, concern and a great degree of sensitivity regarding our American environment and various factors which affect it."

The letter suggested that the site go on the third Bay Area location being considered by the Army, the San Pablo Reservoir in Contra Costa County.

Since the Bay Area base is to be the only one between Los Angeles and Seattle, wrote Whitehead, "it would appear that some latitude or degree of flexibility exists in siting the missile installation." The East Bay site is only 15 miles from Wolfback Ridge, he noted.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Suicide Leaves Woman Shaky And Needing Psychiatric Counseling

DEAR HELEN:

My father committed suicide three years ago. A short time afterward I met a man who somewhat resembled him, and who had just separated from his wife. He had a big drinking problem and threatened to take his life.

Though I am married to a fine man I tried to console this fellow, who, I later discovered, was an alcoholic and in need of psychiatry.

He had financial troubles, so I loaned him a good deal of money which I probably won't get back. But I'd be willing to forget it if I could just be rid of the worry. Each time I tell him I'm through, he says he can't live without me and he'll kill himself. I'm trying to get him into an alcohol treatment center, which will cost around $200 for five days. Where do I go from there? He's had treatment before, without success.

I suppose I feel that I could have saved my father's life had I tried harder, and now, if I turn this derelict loose, history will repeat itself. At age 50, I can't face another tragedy.

The man has a good job (which he hates), but his bills seem to keep him broke.

How can I get free without feeling guilty? — CONSCIENCE BOUND

DEAR C. B.:

I think you need psychiatry counseling more than does this parasite who has found an easy mark and is playing her for all she's worth.

Weak and disturbed is he, but so long as he has you to lean on, he may never help himself. You've expiated for your father's death far too long. Now it's time for psychological insight — and freedom from unearned guilt.

Turn your alcoholic over to an expert, and get back to the man who really needs you: Your husband.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter is 23. She has met a man of 26. They never mention marriage, but she goes off on weekends with him, and they visit each other's apartments as if they belonged there.

About all I can get out of her is, "We like each other very much." He appears to be a nice person, but . . .

Should I insist that she come home to live so she won't completely ruin her good reputation? She was raised in a fine, moral home. — UNBELIEVING

DEAR UN:

If you've raised your daughter with the right attitudes you can trust her to make the right decisions for her time and place. Perhaps they won't follow your strict limitations, but — she's free and 23 . . . and times have changed.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

In our neighborhood there's a 13-year-old boy who gets away with murder — and I'm afraid it might be just that unless he is stopped. He has a wild temper. Recently, if he hadn't been pulled off a younger boy, the child might have been permanently injured. He was banging his head on the sidewalk, and choking him.

The parents think he is wonderful, never reprimand him, always say he was picked on. Even when the school complains, they threaten to "get the principal's job."

The kid sasses back, and dares us to tell his father. He's got a gang now, and we're afraid a bad situation will get worse. What can be done? — THE NEIGHBORS

DEAR NEIGHBORS:

If talking to the boy's parents doesn't help, tell them you'll call the police at the next sign of trouble. When a wild teen organizes a gang, the next stop is juvenile hall — and this usually jars a doting father out of his lethargy. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Trouble Between Kuharich, Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ends Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman of the winless Philadelphia Eagles have been suspended and placed on waivers for granting interviews critical of Coach Joe Kuharich.

Ballman and Ditka, over the past seven years two of the top pass catchers in the National Football League, both confirmed they were set down indefinitely by Kuharich, also general manager of the Eagles.

"He called me in and told me in his little way that I was a troublemaker and was suspended indefinitely," Ditka said.

"I'm on suspension and believe he asked waivers on me," Ballman asserted.

The Eagles made no announcement. Kuharich said, "When we have something to announce we will. These rumors you get from people you have to take with a grain of salt."

Ditka, played six years for Chicago before being dealt to the Eagles in 1967.

Ballman was drafted by Pittsburgh in 1962, and was acquired by the Eagles a year ago.

Kuharich sought the two pass catchers in an effort to add prime targets for quarterback Norm Snead.

Ditka said the article Kuharich complained about was in yesterday's New York Post.

In the story, the 230-pounder was quoted as saying he didn't want to leave the Eagles, but would not play again for Kuharich.

Ditka has been sidelined with various injuries and hasn't played much this season as the Eagles lost their first 10 games.

He said he was asked in New York if he would play again for Kuharich.

"What I replied was: 'No I wouldn't. I don't think he wants me to play for him. And I don't want to play for anyone who doesn't want me," Ditka said.

Ditka was quoted as saying at a luncheon in New York Monday: "There is a need for a change somewhere. We're not that bad a ball club, not bad enough for an 0-10 record.

"The whole problem is discipline. We had it in Chicago and won a championship with what actually wasn't the best team in football that season."

Ditka aid he didn't feel his remarks were unfair and that he was the victim of a bad rap as a troublemaker.

Ditka said he plans to appeal the suspension if Kuharich tries to make it stick. He said he already was in touch with the Players Association for advice.

Ballman's apparently was suspended because he was being openly critical of the Eagles' offense and Snead. His relations with Kuharich, however, have been strained.

ALABAMA ACCEPTS BID TO GATOR BOWL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Alabama's Crimson Tide was invited and immediately accepted today an invitation to meet Missouri in the Gator Bowl football game, the 10th straight bowl game for a "Bear" Bryant Alabama team.

Selection of Alabama for the Dec. 28 nationally-televised game was announced here by Nelson Harris Jr., chairman of the Gator Bowl Selection Committee. Acceptance came from Dr. Frank Rose, president of the University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa.

Golfer Ron Cerrudo's Thing: Aggressiveness

TEE TIPS—Ron Cerrudo, San Rafael's young golf professional who earned more than $30,000 in his first year on the PGA tour, is featured in the December issue of Golf Digest.

The 23-year-old Cerrudo writes a brief article on aggressiveness, which he considered the most important scoring aid he learned during his first year.

Take it away, Ronald:

"As an amateur I always figured that if I could make par I would beat most of my opponents. When I first came out on the tour this year I retained this thinking, even though I knew that the winning scores were often below par. I must have thought that the birdies would come by osmosis or something.

"They didn't, of course, and after a few months I had to re-shape my thinking to be bold and aggressive all the time.

"This may sound simple, but it isn't. For instance, a player may be inclined to take it a little easy on the first few holes of any round. It takes quite a bit of mental conditioning to convince yourself that a birdie on the first hole can mean as much as one on the last.

'Protection Doesn't Work'

"Also, when a golfer does run off a birdie streak and gets under par, it's natural to try to protect his score. That doesn't work, either. Once you lose the drive to birdie every hole and try to play safe, you'll wind up sweating out 5-foot par putts.

"All of this doesn't mean that I am constantly gambling, trying to shave doglegs and pop shots just barely over big sand bunkers. I like to think that I can play percentage golf to a degree. But when I tee up the ball on every hole, I'm thinking birdie—not par."

IN THE same issue of the pasture pool bible is a yarn on how golf is pacing the Bahamas boom with considerable ink devoted to Harry "Jacke" Obitz, formerly of San Rafael, who is director of golf at the King's Inn, Grand Bahama Island.

A Grand Bahama Tour

Which reminds me that some local friends of Obitz—San Rafael businessmen Al Tognoli and Irving Chapman, to name just two—are planning a tour to Grand Bahama in January. GTS Travel of San Rafael is shaping up a package that would include a stopover in Miami to catch the pro football Super Bowl game, thence to King's Inn to watch the Grand Bahama Open tournament, play golf, visit with Obitz and just relax.

Mike Dolan of GTS is handling all details.

LAKERS TRIP CELTICS

West Steals The Show

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was the Los Angeles Lakers against the Boston Celtics, Wilt Chamberlain against Bill Russell—and Jerry West stole the show.

West stole the ball nine times and scored 29 points last night as the Lakers, first in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, won their ninth straight by rallying for a 116-106 victory over the Celtics, who dropped to second behind idle Baltimore in the East.

Elgin Baylor threw in 30 points and snared 19 rebounds as he joined West in leading the Lakers from a 56-50 halftime deficit to an 84-77 lead after three quarters.

The Lakers then built their lead to 90-77 and the Celtics were on their way to their first defeat in six games. John Havlicek led Boston with 32 points.

In other NBA action, Philadelphia trounced Phoenix 126-110 and San Diego outlasted New York 113-107 in a doubleheader at New York, Detroit topped Cincinnati 121-107, Milwaukee whipped Atlanta 119-98 and San Francisco took Chicago 121-109.

Dallas edged Indiana 110-107, New Orleans beat Kentucky 114-108 and Denver nipped Minnesota 126-121 in the American Basketball Association.

Hal Greer's shooting and playmaking in the fourth quarter enabled Philadelphia to break open a close game with Phoenix. The veteran guard scored 12 points and set up several other baskets in the final period.

Greer finished with 21 points, all but two in the second half, but the top Philadelphia scorer was Billy Cunningham with 27.

Chet Walker added 18 for Philadelphia. Two of them, which came with 54 seconds left in the first half, were the first foul shots the 76ers made in the game.

Dick Van Arsdale led Phoenix with 29.

San Diego led most of the way until New York outscored the Rockets 19-3 to move ahead 89-87 early in the fourth quarter. But the Rockets came back to break a 103-103 tie with six straight points to win.

Elvin Hayes scored 39 and Don Kojis 33 for San Diego. Dick Barnett got 22 and Willis Reed 20 for New York.

Detroit picked up its sixth straight home victory by exploding for 40 points in the final period. Happy Hairston scored 12 points in the fourth-period spurt and finished with 30. Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas each scored 23 for Cincinnati.

The new Milwaukee club notched its fourth victory in 14 starts as Guy Rodgers scored 26 points and handed out 10 assists. Walt Hazzard topped Atlanta with 25 points.

Warriors Win, Move On To Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors arrived today for an evening clash with Cincinnati after a 121-109 triumph over the Chicago Bulls last night.

Nate Thurmond performed commandingly on the backboards and scored 41 points to spark the triumph.

The Warriors surged into a commanding lead in the third quarter. Thurmond and San Francisco's other front man, Rudy LaRusso, scored 21 points between them and gave the Warriors an 18 point bulge in the third stanza.

LaRusso's game total was 24.

Rivalry May Hit Professional Track Athletes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The world's top amateur track and field athletes may soon find themselves trapped in the middle of a rivalry for their skills in the world of professional sports.

Two new organizations, both headed by Southern Californians have arisen, both with the idea of signing track and field stars to professional contracts and conducting meets.

On Monday night, Jerry Sherman and Mike Heaman, two 29-year-old California Western University law school graduates from Sherman Oaks, announced the creation of the National Track and Field Association.

They said their plans include a 10-team league in the United States with 30 meets to be held starting next June. The athletes, they said, would be competing for $4 million in prize money.

Last night, Al Schallau, a University of Southern California law school graduate from Los Angeles, disclosed his plans to contract athletes under his International Track and Field Association.

He said the organization would be patterned after professional open golf with individual athletes competing in 15 meets in the United States and abroad next year.

Prize money of $5,000, $3,000 and $1,000 would go to the top three finishers in each event with a $5,000 bonus going to any athlete breaking a world record.

Both groups say they have received commitments from United States and foreign track and field stars to compete for their organizations.

Chemist Backs Up Testimony

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —An outside chemist took the stand today in the Dancer's Image case and supported some of the testimony heard during an appeal of the colt's disqualification in the Kentucky Derby.

Lous Harris, a state witness, said five tests performed by chemist Kenneth Smith were sufficient to detect the presense of phenylbutazone.

Dancer's Image was deprived of the first prize of $122,600 in the 1968 Derby after a chemical report said traces of the medication showed up in a post-race urinalysis.

Peter Fuller, the colt's owner, appealed to the Kentucky State Racing Commission to set aside the decision by Churchill Downs stewards.

Attorneys for Fuller had argued that Smith failed to carry out all the tests recommended by the Association of Official Racing Chemists.

Santa Barbara Sailor Leads

J. R. Noble of Santa Barbara in his 53-foot yawl Simoon is leading the Los Angeles-to-Mazatlan, Mexico, ocean race at the two-thirds mark.

Also entered in the race is San Rafael's Rolfe Croker, an ocean-sailing veteran, who is racing his Cal-30 sloop Ana Nuevo. There has been no report on his standing.

Mir, a Canadian entry from the Royal Vancouver, B.C., Yacht Club, led the field, but trailed because of the handicap system of scoring.

The boats are expected in Mazatlan by Friday, if good weather holds.

Yank Pitcher Named A. L. Rookie Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Bahnsen always wanted to travel. When he was a kid in Council Bluffs, Iowa, he used to dream about being a big league ball player.

The dream came true for Bahnsen last season when he turned in a 17-12 season that was a major factor in the New York Yankees' rise to fifth place. As a result, he has been named the American League's Rookie of the Year by a landslide 17-3 vote.

The only other votes from the 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, two from each league city, went to Del Unser, Washington's center fielder, son of Al Unser, former big league catcher with Detroit and Cincinnati and currently a scout with Atlanta.

"New York scares you at first," said Bahnsen, a 23-year-old bachelor who is spending the winter in Fort Lee, N.J.

Bahnsen is well used to city life now, spending the winter making talks at baseball dinners under arrangements with the Yankees.

Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, said he had half expected Bahnsen to make the grade in 1967 and has planned on him being a starter that year.

"I stuck with him until we played an exhibition game at Houston and he couldn't get the ball over," said Houk who farmed out the pitcher to Syracuse of the International League. "I told him last year he had a spot on the club if he could get the ball over. A game in Anaheim last spring really put him on the right track."

Bahnsen didn't get to camp until March 17 last spring because he was in the Army. He spent two weeks in the Army in the summer and several weekends.

"He richly deserves it," said Houk. "I am looking forward to him being one of the mainstays of the staff."

Cardinals Win Final Game Of Japan Tour

SHIZUOKA, Japan (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals slammed seven homers—two each by Orlando Cepeda and Ed Spiezio—to rout the Yomiuri Giants 16-9 today in the final baseball game of their 18-game goodwill tour of Japan.

The National League champions finished their tour with a record of 13 victories and five losses.

The Cardinals trailed 5-4 going into the sixth, but a bases-loaded homer by Joe Hague and a solo homer by Cepeda enabled them to go ahead 9-5.

The Cards scored seven more runs in the seventh including Cepeda's and Spiezio's second homers and one by Mike Shannon. Spiezio had collected his first homer in the second inning.

Lakers Baylor, West Perfect Pro Partners

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West are the perfect pro basketball partners. Baylor, now 33 and in his 10th national Basketball Association campaign for the Los Angeles Lakers, attacks the inner defense of the opposition. West, now 30 and in his eighth pro campaign, exploits the outer defense perimeter.

It's an unusual evening when both Baylor and West are contained. During the weekend when the Lakers and Warriors met for the first time in the still young 1968-69 season, the Warriors contained one at a time but not both simultaneously.

BAYLOR CARRIED the attack in the first half when West was reasonably restrained. Baylor scored 12 of 16 field goal attempts in the first half. That's a rather remarkable .750 shooting percentage. He also scored three of five free throws for a total of 27 points before the halftime intermission.

West wasn't impotent in the first half. He scored 16 points, 7 of 14 field goal attempts and 2 out of 2 free throws. But that is mediocre scoring for the onetime West Virginia University star. In the second half West led the attack as the Warriors concentrated their primary defense on Baylor.

WEST LOBBED 20 footers over the defenders and was near perfect from the free throw line, making 12 of 13 free throws. West's second half total was 21, giving him an overall game high of 37. Baylor, guarded closely after the intermission, scored only three field goals in the second half but it was Baylor to whom the Lakers fed the ball when the score was tied 109-109 with two minutes to play.

BAYLOR PROMPTLY broke the tie, driving through the key for a twisting layup against which the only defense was a foul. And at that stage of the game, with the Warriors in a penalty situation, Baylor almost certainly would have made good two free throws in three tries.

Basketball, of course is a game of putting a ball through a net. But working the ball into position calls for floor work, a kind of choreography of the court. And at this Baylor is a superb performer.

Baylor advances on a basket with footwork so graceful that he always is perfectly balanced for a seemingly impossible body twist at the moment of shooting. He makes moves that leaves defenders bewildered.

MARSHALL LEAHY never misses a Warrior-Lakers game because he marvels at Baylor's moves. Leahy is a real basketball old timer. Four decades ago, in the 20s, he played on a championship team at St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco and later a championship outfit at Santa Clara University. So Leahy in 40 years has seen some good ones ,amateurs and pros.

"But Baylor," says Leahy, "makes moves that never were in the book and never will be. He seems to improvise new ones with each game."

USC Picked By 14; Cal Six Over Injuns

NEW YORK (UPI)—Top-ranked Southern California is a 14 point choice to down cross-city rival UCLA on Saturday and second ranked Ohio State is a four point favorite to beat Michigan and earn a spot opposite the Trojans in the Rose Bowl.

University of California is favored by six points over Stanford in the Big Game in Berkeley.

The oddsmakers figure seventh-ranked Kansas will have the toughest battle among the top-ranking teams with the Jayhawks quoted a slim one-point pick over Missouri.

In other games involving ranked teams, third-rated Penn State and eighth-ranked Tennessee are such overwhelming choices over their Saturday opponents that no point spreads have been listed. Penn State plays Pittsburgh and Tennessee tangles with entucky.

Ninth-ranked Arkansas, battling for the Southwest Conference title, is a six point favorite over Texas Tech.

YALE OVER HARVARD

In the game for the Ivy League championship, Yale is a seven-point choice over Harvard. In other Ivy games, Columbia is picked by 13 over Brown, Dartmouth by 5 over Pennsylvania and Princeton dy 7 over Cornell.

Duke is a six point pick over North Carolina. In other games in the south, Clemson is favored by six over South Carolina, Virginia 15 over Maryland, Syracuse 13 over West Virginia, Florida State 13 over Wake Forest and Louisiana State 13 over Tulane.

In other Big Ten games, Purdue is picked by 18 over Indiana, Iowa 10 over Illinois, Michigan State 14 over Northwestern and Minnesota 16 over winless Wisconsin.

In games involving Big Eight teams, Oklahoma is favored by nine over Nebraska and Colorado is a six point choice over the Air Force Academy.

SMU FAVORED

Southern Methodist is picked by 12 over Baylor. In other Pacific Coast games, Aregon State is favored by 15 over Oregon and Washington by nine over Washington State.

49er Coach Nolan Still Optimistic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Dick Nolan still thinks his San Francisco 49ers have winning capabilities, despite two straight losses and tie.

His attention was turned by newsmen yesterday to the feeling of certain discouraged fans that the 49ers are born losers.

Nolan said he thinks this "snake-bit" theory is ridiculous.

"Winning is a matter of good personnel and precise execution," he said. "I' moptimistic about the future."

Nolan said rookie defensive end Kevin Hardy, who suffered a knee sprain in Sunday's 20-20 tie with the Los Angeles Rams, will miss the game this Sunday against the Steelers in Pittsburgh but should be ready for the Green Bay game Dec. 1 at Kezar Stadium.

USF Grid Coach Calls It Quits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ron Pierceall, head football coach at University of San Francisco since it resumed the sport in 1964, resigned yesterday.

The Dons have had an 0-8-1 season marked by a rash of injuries. Only 18 players were in uniform last Saturday as Sacramento State bounced USF 76-0.

Pierceall's five-year record was 18-24-1. He said he would continue to teach in the Physical Education Department until June, but then might get another coaching job.

May Be Out Of Game

SAN JOSE (AP) — An eye injury may keep Dwight Tucker out of Saturday's game against Arizona State in Tempe, San Jose State trainer Jim Welsh says. Tucker suffered the injury last weekend against Washington State, apparently when

EARL MORRALL

From Bench Riding To Baltimore Hero

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three months ago, Earl Morrall was resigned to another frustrating season as a bench riding, reserve quarterback.

The pre-season trade which sent him from the New York Giants to the Baltimore Colts didn't change the outlook. The Colts wanted the much-traveled veteran as a backup man for John Unitas.

Today, Morrall is the No. 1 signal caller of the Colts—a team with a 9-1 record and a chance to become the National Football League's representative in the Super Bowl.

"The trade was a tremendous break for me," the 34-year-old Morrall said today. "One of the best that ever happened to me."

"I didn't figure to start for the Giants in place of Fran Tarkenton," Morrall said.

"I talked with Giant officials about a possible trade, but they indicated they were happy with the quarterbacks and would stay with them. Two weeks after I moved my family to New York for the season, I was traded."

Two weeks later, In Baltimore's final preseason exhibition, Unitas suffered a torn muscle in his right elbow—already pained by chronic tendonitis—and Morrall opened the season for the Colts.

The Colts won their first five games, and each week Morrall retained his composure while answering the same questions from a different set of writers:

"When will Unitas be back?"

"Do you think you'll start next week? How much does John help you on the sidelines?"

Only now is Morrall perfecting his timing with Colt pass receivers, and he still has to concentrate to call the right plays in the huddle, since Baltimore's numbering system is the opposite of those he used for four other NFL teams.

"We placed more emphasis on running this year," Coach Don Shula said, "because we couldn't rely on Earl throwing while not being familiar with our system. One thing led to another, and now our attack is more balanced."

With 20 touchdown passes in 10 games, Morrall has emerged from the shadows on the sidelines. If the Colts go all the way, he could well wind up as the NFL's Most Valuable Player—an award won last season by Unitas.

O.J., Mates Expect Tough Game From UCLA Bruins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — O. J. Simpson knows he's being compared with football's great rushers from Red Grange to Gale Sayers and he tries to ignore it.

"You might get to thinking I'm so-and-so and I can't be tackled." reasoned the All-American halfback from Southern California. "And that's when you get it."

He looks at Saturday's nationally televised game against UCLA in somewhat the same vein.

DEFENSE

"We don't look at UCLA as an inferior opponent," Simpson asserts despite the 3-6 record of the cross-town foe. "I look over their defense and see about everybody we played last season and I've said before that was the toughest defense we faced."

A year ago with both USC and UCLA in contention for the mythical national championship, Simpson smashed through on a 65-yard touchdown run with 10:38 left to bring the Trojans a 21-20 victory, the Rose Bowl bid and the collegiate title.

In 1967 it was UCLA quarterback Gary Beban who won the Heisman Trophy, awarded the player voted the best in the nation. Simpson placed second and this year stands as the prime candidate.

While the USC runner already has set a Pacific-8 rushing record for a single season with 1,449 yards, the Bruins haven't found a quarterback replacement for Beban.

INJURY

Bill Bolden, slated as the successor, injured a shoulder in the opener and hasn't rounded into winning form. Jim Nader, who passes better than Bolden, lacks the running ability so necessary in the UCLA offense.

The Coliseum kickoff is set for 3 p.m. PST to accomodate television viewers across the nation with USC rated a two-touchdown favorite

Rated No. 1 again this time, the Trojans boast an 8-0 record with UCLA and Notre Dame remaining. Already they have clinched the Pacific-8 Rose Bowl bid.

Coach Tommy Prothro of UCLA says you can't key on Simpson because the Trojans have other weapons such as quarterback Steve Sogge, who can pass and also run on the option play.

WEAPON

Still O.J. remains the big weapon and the 200-pounder from San Francisco pronounces himself in good physical shape.

"Early in the year, I was favoring a leg and not driving," Simpson explains.

"You should drive at the defensive halfback because usually he's smaller than I am and I'm moving ahead while he's standing still. Now the leg is fine and I feel that I'm driving like I should."

While the Trojans and Bruins battle the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative will have been decided in Michigan-Ohio State clash.

"We just want to play the best team in the Big Ten." is the way O.J. looks at that Midwestern battle.

Extra 20 Minutes Work For Bears

BERKELEY (AP) — California Bear Coach Ray Willsey says he is afraid rain later in the week will hold down practice for Saturday's "Big Game" against Stanford.

So Willsey drilled his football team an extra 20 minutes yesterday.

The coach said he foresaw no need for changing strategy against the Indians. "Everyone says they are a great passing team," he said. "But don't forget they've made more yards than we have rushing—they have the most versatile offense we have seen this year."

Better Handicapped Classrooms Sought

The special education committee of the Marin County schools office has recommended that a committee be formed to create a master plan for improved housing of classes for handicapped children.

Edward Brennan, director of special services, said yesterday the plan would be designed to replace temporary buildings, rented space, and other makeshift accommodations for classes for all special education facilitiees in the county.

He said various organizations interested in handicapped children programs would be asked to recommend a representative to the committee. The county schools office would then consider approval of those recommendations, Brennan said.

The special education committee also recommended Monday night that the county schools office co-sponsor an application for $1,035 in funds from the William Babcock Memorial Foundation in San Francisco for equipment and training of nurses in Marin County hospitals to detect hard-of-hearing cases among newborn infants.

It also recommended that a $16,000 application for federal funds be revised to be used for training hard-of-hearing children from six months old to 18 months rather than for an age range from 18 to 36 months.

The educational services committee took under study a request by the Audubon Society of Marin County for cooperation with the society in establishing an outdoor science education program for students if the society purchases a 235-acre site adjacent to the Audubon canyon Ranch in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area.

Stanley Friese, deputy superintendent, said at present the county schools office transports students to the Redwood Glen camp in San Mateo County for such studies.

Petaluma Chamber Worries Over Scattering Hospitals

Petaluma Chamber of Commerce directors have received a committee report suggesting additional hosital facilities be built on the west side of the city.

The committee, headed by Clyde A. Nelson Jr., reported Monday that construction of a new hospital on the east side would spread medical facilities and personnel too far. They recommended the new hospital be built as close as posible to the present Hillcrest hospital to give maximum usage of ambulance and medical facilites. They claimed that physicians would not have time to staff two widely separated hospitals, under their present heavy workload. The report also asserted the city is short eight or 10 doctors at present, as are most cities of Petaluma's size.

The committee said all persons in the Petaluma area now live within 15 minutes of a hospital and said this compared favorably with statistics of larger cities such as San Francisco.

Petaluma Chamber Directors Also:

REZONING — Forwarded without comment a report of its industrial committee to the city planning commission offering recommendations on rezoning of 30 acres of industrial land on McDowell Boulevard to residential to allow construction of a mobile home park, requested by Novato Develper Dane Young.

LIBRARY — Announced that the directors will meet with the Petaluma library trustees to discuss the proposed merger of the city library with the Sonoma County library system, tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the meeting room of the Argus-Courier.

Insurance Dividend Is Declared 'Untrue'

The Veterans Administration has labeled "totally false" a widely circulated report that certain veterans may get up to $200 on an unpaid 1948 GI insurance.

Gordon R. Elliott, Northern California VA regional office manager, said, "Dozens of California newspapers, radio and television stations are still carrying untrue reports of this dividend."

Collegiate Council Backs Black Requests

The College of Marin student executive council has endorsed several proposals made recently by Black Students for Action.

David Long, student president, said the proposals, approved Monday, will be forwarded to the Marin Junior College District board of trustees for possible action.

The proposals, originally made by Michael Pradia, a member of the black student group, at a college rally Thursday in Olney Hall, ask that Afro-American studies be taught by Negro teachers, that black students participate in hiring these teachers, that financial assistance be given to black students, and that a full-time liaison official be hired for better understanding between the college administration and black students.

They also seek the hiring of more black counselors, and ask that a drive be launched to enroll more black students at the college.

The council also endorsed recommendations by student Michael Conroy that law enforcement officers not be permitted on campus unless specifically invited by students, and that ultimate control of the student newspaper, College of Marin Times, be in the hands of the student body rather than the trustee board.

PROTEST DELAYED

Sausalito Sends LBJ Antimissile Missive

The City of Sausalito has appealed to President Lyndon B. Johnson to block possible Army use of Wolfback Ridge or Angel Island for an antiballistic missile base.

A copy of the city's letter to President Johnson, dated Oct. 29 — almost three months after the letter was ordered sent by the planning commission — was sent to the Independent-Journal by former planning director Charles W. Whitehead. His resignation was effective Friday.

A city employee, asked why the letter had not been sent sooner after the commission's Aug. 7 action opposing the two possible sites, said, "It was one of those things that just wasn't gotten to."

The letter, written by Whitehead, declared the planning commission was "unalterably opposed" to the two possible sites "due to possible impact upon the immediate areas involved and upon the surrounding urban and natural environment."

Whitehead noted in his letter that Johnson has "expressed considerable interest, concern and a great degree of sensitivity regarding our American environment and various factors which affect it."

The letter suggested that the site go on the third Bay Area location being considered by the Army, the San Pablo Reservoir in Contra Costa County.

Since the Bay Area base is to be the only one between Los Angeles and Seattle, wrote Whitehead, "it would appear that some latitude or degree of flexibility exists in siting the missile installation." The East Bay site is only 15 miles from Wolfback Ridge, he noted.

Cowboys Rate High In NFL Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Clark of Dallas has taken over the scoring lead in the National Football League and Don Meredith of the same club has moved out front as the leading passer.

Clark moved out front of two running backs, Bill Brown of Minnesota and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, each of whom has scored 12 touchdowns for 72 points. Clark, the Cowboys' place kicker, has booted 13 of 19 field goals and 39 straight extra points for a total of 78 points.

Meredith, injured in last Sunday's game at Washington and considered doubtful for this week, displaced New York's Fran Tarkenton as the top passer. Meredith's high rating is a combination of his 57.6 percentage completion, 18 touchdown passes, 3.9 percentage of interceptions and 8.30 average gain.

Kelly continues to move toward the 1,000-yard mark with a total of 909 on 184 carries although he was held in check last week by Pittsburgh. Gale Sayers, the Chicago Bears' ace who is out for the season after knee surgery, still is second with 856 yards rushing.

Clifton McNeil of the San Francisco 49ers remains way out front in pass receiving with 53 for 786 yards and six scores.

Alioto Says 49ers To Stay In S.F.

Mayor Joseph Alioto says the San Francisco 49ers won't leave the city for any new home on the Peninsula or in Marin County.

Team president Lou Spadia said Monday that the team was looking for a new Bay Area home, but Alioto noted that "those who thought they could move legitimate theater to the Peninsula know better now, and I believe Lou will come to the same conclusion."

Reeves Censures Coach, Players

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dan Reeves, owner of the Los Angeles Rams, yesterday censured his coach, George Allen, and some of the players for criticizing playing conditions at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

Reeves said he didn't think "Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen or Allen have the right to say that Kezar should be junked."

The Rams rallied to tie the San Francisco 49ers 20-20 last Sunday, and Allen said later the field was "the worst I've seen in 20 years of coaching," and a "disgrace to the National Football League.

"I though we were more sophisticated and sedate than to do something like this," Reeves said later. He said people in San Francisco are trying to improve field conditions.

The field was a quagmire of mud for the Ram-49er game Sunday.

The Southwest Conference football record for most net yards passing was set by Don Trull of Baylor in 1963 with 2,157 yards.

Ersatz A plenty—or, Phonies I Have Known

It's a sad commentary that what was once rare and unpleasant is now common place and still unpleasant. Sometimes in times past an entire day would pass without confrontation with a monumental bore. Now, you might luckily enjoy an hour now and then without running into or being run over by one.

There was a time when a "college man" connoted clean ducks, neck, and even mind. Books, exams, grade, and dates monopolized coke sessions, and a degree-motivated student apologized to no one for his dream. Today, the cause is the thing, and what cause is of little import. Now, it's placards, speeches, press conferences, and love-ins, and coke backs off for pot.

The real sadness is that the big switch is wielded by the little group in charge of the Big Put-On, and the large group is in danger of being hollered—or, bored to death. In either case, the large group loses another battle, and the little core of phonies gets bigger and brassier.

At one time, the phonies concentrated in highly specialized pursuits like aluminum sidings, television repairing, and food freezer peddling. Concentrated to the point where the honest operators in these fields needed much championing to survive. A little jailing and a lot of publicity eventually cleaned up this mess of roaches, but some must have escaped to breed again.

The phonies are a prolific lot, and too many of their varmints have infested my particular sphere of interest — the automobile selling and servicing bag. You beat one of them to death, and the poison pollen escapes to live and breath and defile somewhere else. Every last man and woman in our industry bears the awesome burden of having to defend too many of our absolutely legitimate business activities because the maneuvers of this poisonous segment cannot be defended.

I remember a harrowing experience once many years ago when a small brush fire in Australia quickly became a roaring inferno beyond all possible control. Originally, a spurt of flame here and there was extinguished with little effort and no alarm. I, for one, learned a lesson not easily forgotten. It would be tragic if we all had to face a brush fire to become sufficiently alarmed over the spread of the phonies among us.

For one so acutely aware, and so violently repelled by all things phony, my thankfully brief exposure in the very special hell of automobile peddling that thrives especially well in Southern California, provided new insights of the black arts practiced by these charlatans. The "bait and switch" was honed to a razor's edge, and the moochers responded to the bait and switched right on cue. It was a repetitious and thoroughly degrading performance.

The ersatz parade makes the proper scene in the Hollywood area. Nothing is absolutely certain to be for real there, so why should the people be? The group who buss cheeks on casual contact and extend limply left hands for shaking coming and going add to the eerie air of fantasy and fraud.

Mix this not so well in automobile merchandising, and you reach for Alka-Seltzer and plane schedules — quickly.

Then, you seek solace at home, before blazing hearth and flickering boob-tube (these built-in antenna systems are pretty phoney, too). And, what do you find? The boobs are coming at you from the boob-tube, and from Southern California, yet. The Big Deal has come to the Bay Area, and aren't you all so lucky? The lucky ones will be those who can still spot fiction and stay away. Those who find strange comfort in words phoney will flock to the Great Promiser and burn like the helpless but bewitched moth.

Like the weather, everyone moans about the phonies in the car business, but little is done about and to them. At my dealership, Marin Dodge, I'll keep pitching 'em straight, even though those curves thrown by the phonies seem to attract an awful lot of moths.

Trouble Between Kuharich, Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ends Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman of the winless Philadelphia Eagles have been suspended and placed on waivers for granting interviews critical of Coach Joe Kuharich.

Ballman and Ditka, over the past seven years two of the top pass catchers in the National Football League, both confirmed they were set down indefinitely by Kuharich, also general manager of the Eagles.

"He called me in and told me in his little way that I was a troublemaker and was suspended indefinitely," Ditka said.

"I'm on suspension and believe he asked waivers on me," Ballman asserted.

The Eagles made no announcement. Kuharich said, "When we have something to announce we will. These rumors you get from people you have to take with a grain of salt."

Ditka, played six years for Chicago before being dealt to the Eagles in 1967.

Ballman was drafted by Pittsburgh in 1962, and was acquired by the Eagles a year ago.

Kuharich sought the two pass catchers in an effort to add prime targets for quarterback Norm Snead.

Ditka said the article Kuharich complained about was in yesterday's New York Post.

In the story, the 230-pounder was quoted as saying he didn't want to leave the Eagles, but would not play again for Kuharich.

Ditka has been sidelined with various injuries and hasn't played much this season as the Eagles lost their first 10 games.

He said he was asked in New York if he would play again for Kuharich.

"What I replied was: 'No I wouldn't. I don't think he wants me to play for him. And I don't want to play for anyone who doesn't want me," Ditka said.

Ditka was quoted as saying at a luncheon in New York Monday: "There is a need for a change somewhere. We're not that bad a ball club, not bad enough for an 0-10 record.

"The whole problem is discipline. We had it in Chicago and won a championship with what actually wasn't the best team in football that season."

Ditka aid he didn't feel his remarks were unfair and that he was the victim of a bad rap as a troublemaker.

Ditka said he plans to appeal the suspension if Kuharich tries to make it stick. He said he already was in touch with the Players Association for advice.

Ballman's apparently was suspended because he was being openly critical of the Eagles' offense and Snead. His relations with Kuharich, however, have been strained.

ALABAMA ACCEPTS BID TO GATOR BOWL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Alabama's Crimson Tide was invited and immediately accepted today an invitation to meet Missouri in the Gator Bowl football game, the 10th straight bowl game for a "Bear" Bryant Alabama team.

Selection of Alabama for the Dec. 28 nationally-televised game was announced here by Nelson Harris Jr., chairman of the Gator Bowl Selection Committee. Acceptance came from Dr. Frank Rose, president of the University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa.

Golfer Ron Cerrudo's Thing: Aggressiveness

TEE TIPS—Ron Cerrudo, San Rafael's young golf professional who earned more than $30,000 in his first year on the PGA tour, is featured in the December issue of Golf Digest.

The 23-year-old Cerrudo writes a brief article on aggressiveness, which he considered the most important scoring aid he learned during his first year.

Take it away, Ronald:

"As an amateur I always figured that if I could make par I would beat most of my opponents. When I first came out on the tour this year I retained this thinking, even though I knew that the winning scores were often below par. I must have thought that the birdies would come by osmosis or something.

"They didn't, of course, and after a few months I had to re-shape my thinking to be bold and aggressive all the time.

"This may sound simple, but it isn't. For instance, a player may be inclined to take it a little easy on the first few holes of any round. It takes quite a bit of mental conditioning to convince yourself that a birdie on the first hole can mean as much as one on the last.

'Protection Doesn't Work'

"Also, when a golfer does run off a birdie streak and gets under par, it's natural to try to protect his score. That doesn't work, either. Once you lose the drive to birdie every hole and try to play safe, you'll wind up sweating out 5-foot par putts.

"All of this doesn't mean that I am constantly gambling, trying to shave doglegs and pop shots just barely over big sand bunkers. I like to think that I can play percentage golf to a degree. But when I tee up the ball on every hole, I'm thinking birdie—not par."

IN THE same issue of the pasture pool bible is a yarn on how golf is pacing the Bahamas boom with considerable ink devoted to Harry "Jacke" Obitz, formerly of San Rafael, who is director of golf at the King's Inn, Grand Bahama Island.

A Grand Bahama Tour

Which reminds me that some local friends of Obitz—San Rafael businessmen Al Tognoli and Irving Chapman, to name just two—are planning a tour to Grand Bahama in January. GTS Travel of San Rafael is shaping up a package that would include a stopover in Miami to catch the pro football Super Bowl game, thence to King's Inn to watch the Grand Bahama Open tournament, play golf, visit with Obitz and just relax.

Mike Dolan of GTS is handling all details.

LAKERS TRIP CELTICS

West Steals The Show

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was the Los Angeles Lakers against the Boston Celtics, Wilt Chamberlain against Bill Russell—and Jerry West stole the show.

West stole the ball nine times and scored 29 points last night as the Lakers, first in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, won their ninth straight by rallying for a 116-106 victory over the Celtics, who dropped to second behind idle Baltimore in the East.

Elgin Baylor threw in 30 points and snared 19 rebounds as he joined West in leading the Lakers from a 56-50 halftime deficit to an 84-77 lead after three quarters.

The Lakers then built their lead to 90-77 and the Celtics were on their way to their first defeat in six games. John Havlicek led Boston with 32 points.

In other NBA action, Philadelphia trounced Phoenix 126-110 and San Diego outlasted New York 113-107 in a doubleheader at New York, Detroit topped Cincinnati 121-107, Milwaukee whipped Atlanta 119-98 and San Francisco took Chicago 121-109.

Dallas edged Indiana 110-107, New Orleans beat Kentucky 114-108 and Denver nipped Minnesota 126-121 in the American Basketball Association.

Hal Greer's shooting and playmaking in the fourth quarter enabled Philadelphia to break open a close game with Phoenix. The veteran guard scored 12 points and set up several other baskets in the final period.

Greer finished with 21 points, all but two in the second half, but the top Philadelphia scorer was Billy Cunningham with 27.

Chet Walker added 18 for Philadelphia. Two of them, which came with 54 seconds left in the first half, were the first foul shots the 76ers made in the game.

Dick Van Arsdale led Phoenix with 29.

San Diego led most of the way until New York outscored the Rockets 19-3 to move ahead 89-87 early in the fourth quarter. But the Rockets came back to break a 103-103 tie with six straight points to win.

Elvin Hayes scored 39 and Don Kojis 33 for San Diego. Dick Barnett got 22 and Willis Reed 20 for New York.

Detroit picked up its sixth straight home victory by exploding for 40 points in the final period. Happy Hairston scored 12 points in the fourth-period spurt and finished with 30. Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas each scored 23 for Cincinnati.

The new Milwaukee club notched its fourth victory in 14 starts as Guy Rodgers scored 26 points and handed out 10 assists. Walt Hazzard topped Atlanta with 25 points.

Warriors Win, Move On To Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors arrived today for an evening clash with Cincinnati after a 121-109 triumph over the Chicago Bulls last night.

Nate Thurmond performed commandingly on the backboards and scored 41 points to spark the triumph.

The Warriors surged into a commanding lead in the third quarter. Thurmond and San Francisco's other front man, Rudy LaRusso, scored 21 points between them and gave the Warriors an 18 point bulge in the third stanza.

LaRusso's game total was 24.

Rivalry May Hit Professional Track Athletes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The world's top amateur track and field athletes may soon find themselves trapped in the middle of a rivalry for their skills in the world of professional sports.

Two new organizations, both headed by Southern Californians have arisen, both with the idea of signing track and field stars to professional contracts and conducting meets.

On Monday night, Jerry Sherman and Mike Heaman, two 29-year-old California Western University law school graduates from Sherman Oaks, announced the creation of the National Track and Field Association.

They said their plans include a 10-team league in the United States with 30 meets to be held starting next June. The athletes, they said, would be competing for $4 million in prize money.

Last night, Al Schallau, a University of Southern California law school graduate from Los Angeles, disclosed his plans to contract athletes under his International Track and Field Association.

He said the organization would be patterned after professional open golf with individual athletes competing in 15 meets in the United States and abroad next year.

Prize money of $5,000, $3,000 and $1,000 would go to the top three finishers in each event with a $5,000 bonus going to any athlete breaking a world record.

Both groups say they have received commitments from United States and foreign track and field stars to compete for their organizations.

Chemist Backs Up Testimony

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —An outside chemist took the stand today in the Dancer's Image case and supported some of the testimony heard during an appeal of the colt's disqualification in the Kentucky Derby.

Lous Harris, a state witness, said five tests performed by chemist Kenneth Smith were sufficient to detect the presense of phenylbutazone.

Dancer's Image was deprived of the first prize of $122,600 in the 1968 Derby after a chemical report said traces of the medication showed up in a post-race urinalysis.

Peter Fuller, the colt's owner, appealed to the Kentucky State Racing Commission to set aside the decision by Churchill Downs stewards.

Attorneys for Fuller had argued that Smith failed to carry out all the tests recommended by the Association of Official Racing Chemists.

Santa Barbara Sailor Leads

J. R. Noble of Santa Barbara in his 53-foot yawl Simoon is leading the Los Angeles-to-Mazatlan, Mexico, ocean race at the two-thirds mark.

Also entered in the race is San Rafael's Rolfe Croker, an ocean-sailing veteran, who is racing his Cal-30 sloop Ana Nuevo. There has been no report on his standing.

Mir, a Canadian entry from the Royal Vancouver, B.C., Yacht Club, led the field, but trailed because of the handicap system of scoring.

The boats are expected in Mazatlan by Friday, if good weather holds.

Yank Pitcher Named A. L. Rookie Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Bahnsen always wanted to travel. When he was a kid in Council Bluffs, Iowa, he used to dream about being a big league ball player.

The dream came true for Bahnsen last season when he turned in a 17-12 season that was a major factor in the New York Yankees' rise to fifth place. As a result, he has been named the American League's Rookie of the Year by a landslide 17-3 vote.

The only other votes from the 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, two from each league city, went to Del Unser, Washington's center fielder, son of Al Unser, former big league catcher with Detroit and Cincinnati and currently a scout with Atlanta.

"New York scares you at first," said Bahnsen, a 23-year-old bachelor who is spending the winter in Fort Lee, N.J.

Bahnsen is well used to city life now, spending the winter making talks at baseball dinners under arrangements with the Yankees.

Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, said he had half expected Bahnsen to make the grade in 1967 and has planned on him being a starter that year.

"I stuck with him until we played an exhibition game at Houston and he couldn't get the ball over," said Houk who farmed out the pitcher to Syracuse of the International League. "I told him last year he had a spot on the club if he could get the ball over. A game in Anaheim last spring really put him on the right track."

Bahnsen didn't get to camp until March 17 last spring because he was in the Army. He spent two weeks in the Army in the summer and several weekends.

"He richly deserves it," said Houk. "I am looking forward to him being one of the mainstays of the staff."

Cardinals Win Final Game Of Japan Tour

SHIZUOKA, Japan (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals slammed seven homers—two each by Orlando Cepeda and Ed Spiezio—to rout the Yomiuri Giants 16-9 today in the final baseball game of their 18-game goodwill tour of Japan.

The National League champions finished their tour with a record of 13 victories and five losses.

The Cardinals trailed 5-4 going into the sixth, but a bases-loaded homer by Joe Hague and a solo homer by Cepeda enabled them to go ahead 9-5.

The Cards scored seven more runs in the seventh including Cepeda's and Spiezio's second homers and one by Mike Shannon. Spiezio had collected his first homer in the second inning.

Exposure Suits Keep Water Skiers Warm

A thing that struck me as I watched quite a number of water ski contests and shows in the northern part of the country late this summer was the number of girl skiers who wore neatly tailored rubber suits.

The suits were mostly in gaudy colors, had short sleeves and legs, and zippered up the front. They are called exposure suits, and I find a growing trend toward wearing them in boating and aquatic sports where one may be dunked into chilly water.

AN "EXPOSURE" SUIT MAKES FOR SAFER FUN WHEN WATER IS CHILLY.

Water skiers wear them so that they do not lose body heat and, consequently, do not tire as quickly under strenuous practice or competition. It's strange, but most discussions of safety practices seldom touch on water temperature and its effect on survival. Yet it is a very significant factor for some period of the winter in the greater part of the country.

ONE OFTEN hears parents admonish children about taking out boats without life-jackets, but I don't ever recall hearing anybody caution another person about the deadly effects of cold.

The answer, of course, is the exposure suit, and it should be considered mandatory equipment for anyone venturing out in a small boat on water that is below 50 degrees.

What is an exposure suit? It's simply a snug-fitting, foam-rubber garment. Skin and scuba divers have been wearing such suits for years. They call them "wet" suits. They got his name because the suit is made with no attempt to keep out the water. But it is made to fit snugly so that there is only a very thin film of water between the suit and the skin. This is quickly warmed by body heat and is easily kept warm by the insulating qualities of the foam rubber.

THEY WERE called wet suits after earlier "dry" suits, which tried to keep out the water, failed. The foam in a wet suit is usually a quarter of an inch thick, but in an exposure suit it is often only a eighth.

The wet suit material needs to be thicker because, in a dive, water pressure squeezes the quarter-inch foam down to an eighth of an inch very quickly, even at relatively shallow depths.

Exposure suits are easy to repair and are even easy to make. The foam rubber and cement are available — as are complete suits — at scuba diver shops.

IF YOU don't think an exposure suit is a good idea, here is a medical table compiled by one of our leading medical schools for the navy. It shows the length of time an average person can survive immersed up to the neck in water:

Water Temperature	Time to Unconsciousness	Expected Length of Survival
Freezing	—15 min.	15-45 min.
32°-40°	15-30 mins.	30-90 min.
40°-50°	30-60 mins.	1-3 hrs.
50°-60°	1-2 hrs.	1-6 hrs.
60°-70°	2-7 hrs.	2-40 hrs.
70°-80°	3-12 hrs.	3-indef.

BIG 10 SHOWDOWN

Daugherty Gives Nod To Ohio State's Depth

EAST LANSING, Mich., (AP) — How does Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, whose Spartans have lost to both, figure the Big Ten championship game between Michigan and Ohio State Saturday at Columbus, Ohio?

Duffy declines to name a favorite, but made a few comparisons yesterday.

"Ohio State doesn't have anyone near the threat of Ron Johnson," said Daugherty, whose team lost 28-14 to Michigan and 25-20 to the Buckeyes.

"And the Ohio State quarterbacks don't have near the poise and confidence of Dennie Brown.

"But I think Ohio State has more over-all team speed. Michigan has no one to match the speed of Jan White (sophomore flanker).

"And most of the Ohio State backs . . . guys like John Brockington, Hondo Brungard and Jim Otis . . . are faster than the Michigan backs.

"Michigan has a big advantage in blocking. Jim Mandich and that fullback, Garvie Craw, are as good as anyone at clearing a hole."

Daugherty gave the nod to Ohio State on depth, especially at vital spots, and described both teams as strong defensively, although they use different formations: Michigan the 4-3-3 umbrella and Ohio State the 6-2-2-1 monster.

Raiders Most Explosive '11'

NEW YORK (AP) — It may come as a surprise to watchers of Heidi that the Oakland Raiders have the most explosive offense in the American Football League.

The Raiders, who scored two late touchdowns to beat the New York Jets while most of the nation complained about the movie that knocked the game off the air, have averaged 409 yards a game, best in the latest AFL team statistics.

Kansas City, idle this Sunday, has the best running game and the San Diego Chargers lead the pack in pass offense.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL NOTES

Hollywood Script For Marin League

By GARY TISCHLER

Well, how about that for a windup!

A Hollywood script writer couldn't have dreamed up a better one for the Marin County Athletic League football race.

The sequence of events that resulted in another tie for a title were pretty long-shot ones. Terra Linda needed a win or a tie for its first-ever unbeaten season and sole possession of the crown. Only Redwood stood in the way. And Novato and Drake of San Anselmo needed a win by Redwood to make their clash four hours later a championship one.

And that is pretty much what happened. The Giants of Redwood upset the Trojans, Novato beat Drake, 14-13, and voila, Terra Linda and Novato tie for the title.

The Trojans of Terra Linda probably don't appreciate it, but it was a fairy-tale windup for fans, something of an early Christmas present.

WELL, WHOEVER got all-league honors, one thing is for certain, the MCAL had a wealth of good fullbacks, receivers and quarterbacks.

This is more or less for those who didn't make it — it's tough to pick from the likes of fullbacks like Redwood's Pete Richter, Drake's Bob Sutherland, Dave Hector of Tamalpais and Tom Zechlin of Novato. And throw in Derek Clark of San Rafael, a standout on a losing team.

It was also tough to pick among such fine receivers as Mike Davlin and Dave Alvarado of Drake, Jack Straw and Pete Weekly of Novato, Jack Dennis of Terra Linda, Bruce D'Ambra of San Rafael, Ron Small of Tamalpais and Jeff Konopisos and Pete Carroll of Redwood. Not to speak of quarterbacks Mike Dillon of Novato, Don Mackin of Tamalpais and Ed Harrington of Drake.

With the momentous goings-on Saturday, San Rafael's brave effort against St. Ignatius of San Francisco may have been overlooked but it shouldn't have. The Bulldogs doggedly fought the Wildcats to a standstill for three quarters and were actually on the attack for most of the third quarter until the roof caved in on St. Ignatius' three-touchdown spree in the final period.

SOME FINAL number notes: Redwood wound up the top-scoring team in league play with 105 points to 104 by Drake. But neither finished in the money, showing that a little defense helps also.

MARIN COUNTY Athletic League teams wound up on the plus side of the ledger in competition against non-league opponents, winning 14 games losing seven and tying two with a 532-366 point-scoring advantage.

THE RETURN of Pat Green, who practiced only two days last week, was a helpful one for Novato. The fine-running halfback and kicker booted both extra points in the Hornets' one-point, 14-13 win. Those were his first points since the third game of the season. The last extra point he kicked also proved to be a winner in a 14-12 win over Redwood.

THOSE WERE Novato players, incidentally, that were rooting for Redwood Saturday afternoon. Quarterback Russ Dillon was out on the field congratulating the Giants after the game. He must have known something.

Raider Boss Is Lauded By Lassiter

is, the man who runs the Oakland Raiders, has been called a lot of things, but Ike Lassiter is the only one who has called him a Billy Graham.

Lassiter is one of Davis' employes, and that's the reason for the comparison.

"Al Davis is my Billy Graham," Lassiter says, "because he saved my soul."

While enjoying his salvation, though, the 6-foot-5, 280-pound veteran also has been returning the favor by waging weekly crusades for the Raiders.

His latest was against the New York Jets, and he emerged from it as The Associated Press' selection as the defensive player of the week in the American Football League yesterday.

Lassiter has gone through a lot of crusades since Davis made him a Raider three years ago. Prior to that his pro football life hadn't been very enjoyable.

Signed by the Los Angeles Rams out of little St. Augustine College in North Carolina, he lasted only three weeks. From there he went to the Denver Broncos.

"I was like a piece of furniture there," Lassiter recalled. "The coach (Jack Faulkner) was always on me. He hardly knew who I was, but he still blamed me for everything that went wrong."

The Broncos released him in 1964, and that's where Davis came in.

'I WAS BITTER'

"I thought I was through with football, and I was bitter about it," he related. "Early the next year I began to ache to play again. I wrote to Davis because other players had told me he treated everyone with respect.

"Davis called and told me to come to camp in shape. I was over 300 pounds then, but I got down to 280. When I first got to Oakland I had a chip on my shoulder. I was mad at everybody. After a while, though, everything was fine."

The only anger Lassiter displays now, though, is when he's ripping through the offensive line toward the quarterback.

Only Joe Namath's quick release of the ball on his passes kept the Jet quarterback from being hit more often by Ike and the other Raiders. As it was, Lassiter dumped Namath three times behind the line

The first professional football player deal was made in 1920 when Bob Nash was purchased from Akron by Buffalo for $300.

MARIN RUNNING GROUPS

Got A Middle-Age Bulge? Join The Jogging Craze

By RALPH CHATOIAN

More and more people today are getting out of those easy chairs and taking to the hills for a little running.

Some call it jogging and some call it running, but the purpose is usually the same — to get rid of that middle-aged bulge around the midsection, to get in physical condition and stay there.

Runners are banding together to form small groups.

One such Marin County group is made up of five men who run primarily for exercise. There is another group of Marin County men which does it for competition.

Organizer of the group for exercise is Bill Taylor, who was an 880-yard runner at University of Southern California in 1954-55. In addition to Taylor, there are other San Anselmans, Bill Kaul and Bill Biggs, Bill Frederickson of San Geronimo Valley and Gordon Pusser of Corte Madera.

According to Taylor, "Anyone who wants to run too fast or too far is out. The minimum age is 30, unless you're less than 30 and look 40."

Aims of the other group go a little further than this, as most of the members have run in competition, including the Mill Valley to Stinson Beach Dipsea Race.

In this group are Jim Grant, Robert Lee, Larry Hoyt, Ed Wasp and Lud Lozier of San Rafael and Bob Biancalana of Mill Valley. Hoyt, 42 years old, ran the more than six miles of the Dipsea Race over Mount Tamalpais last August in 57 minutes, placing 14th out of a field of more than 800 runners.

Competition is the aim of this group of men, all over 40. They do a lot of running on their own, and meet once a week for a group run.

"We meet at 6 o'clock in the morning on Saturdays and then go over to Mount Tam to do some running, from about 500 feet elevation to 2,000 feet, then back down," said Grant, an insurance agent.

Most of the members of this group are members of the Marin Athletic Club, affiliated with the AAU. The runs up and down Mount Tam are done full bore. They like racing as a sport. This kind of running is not for the timid and the weak, and is not jogging, but very fast running.

Taylor and the other four runners are not running for competition, but just for exercise, with plans for runs of varied distances through different parts of Marin County.

"It's a kind of therapy for me," said Taylor. "I run from a mile to three miles a day on my own, and then run a little further when we meet as a group."

Taylor said if anyone was interested in jogging with his group he would be happy to talk to them. He lives at 185 The Alameda, San Anselmo.

Lakers Baylor, West Perfect Pro Partners

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West are the perfect pro basketball partners. Baylor, now 33 and in his 10th national Basketball Association campaign for the Los Angeles Lakers, attacks the inner defense of the opposition. West, now 30 and in his eighth pro campaign, exploits the outer defense perimeter.

It's an unusual evening when both Baylor and West are contained. During the weekend when the Lakers and Warriors met for the first time in the still young 1968-69 season, the Warriors contained one at a time but not both simultaneously.

BAYLOR CARRIED the attack in the first half when West was reasonably restrained. Baylor scored 12 of 16 field goal attempts in the first half. That's a rather remarkable .750 shooting percentage. He also scored three of five free throws for a total of 27 points before the halftime intermission.

West wasn't impotent in the first half. He scored 16 points, 7 of 14 field goal attempts and 2 out of 2 free throws. But that is mediocre scoring for the onetime West Virginia University star. In the second half West led the attack as the Warriors concentrated their primary defense on Baylor.

WEST LOBBED 20 footers over the defenders and was near perfect from the free throw line, making 12 of 13 free throws. West's second half total was 21, giving him an overall game high of 37. Baylor, guarded closely after the intermission, scored only three field goals in the second half but it was Baylor to whom the Lakers fed the ball when the score was tied 109-109 with two minutes to play.

BAYLOR PROMPTLY broke the tie, driving through the key for a twisting layup against which the only defense was a foul. And at that stage of the game, with the Warriors in a penalty situation, Baylor almost certainly would have made good two free throws in three tries.

Basketball, of course is a game of putting a ball through a net. But working the ball into position calls for floor work, a kind of choreography of the court. And at this Baylor is a superb performer.

Baylor advances on a basket with footwork so graceful that he always is perfectly balanced for a seemingly impossible body twist at the moment of shooting. He makes moves that leaves defenders bewildered.

MARSHALL LEAHY never misses a Warrior-Lakers game because he marvels at Baylor's moves. Leahy is a real basketball old timer. Four decades ago, in the 20s, he played on a championship team at St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco and later a championship outfit at Santa Clara University. So Leahy in 40 years has seen some good ones ,amateurs and pros.

"But Baylor," says Leahy, "makes moves that never were in the book and never will be. He seems to improvise new ones with each game."

USC Picked By 14; Cal Six Over Injuns

NEW YORK (UPI)—Top-ranked Southern California is a 14 point choice to down cross-city rival UCLA on Saturday and second ranked Ohio State is a four point favorite to beat Michigan and earn a spot opposite the Trojans in the Rose Bowl.

University of California is favored by six points over Stanford in the Big Game in Berkeley.

The oddsmakers figure seventh-ranked Kansas will have the toughest battle among the top-ranking teams with the Jayhawks quoted a slim one-point pick over Missouri.

In other games involving ranked teams, third-rated Penn State and eighth-ranked Tennessee are such overwhelming choices over their Saturday opponents that no point spreads have been listed. Penn State plays Pittsburgh and Tennessee tangles with entucky.

Ninth-ranked Arkansas, battling for the Southwest Conference title, is a six point favorite over Texas Tech.

YALE OVER HARVARD

In the game for the Ivy League championship, Yale is a seven-point choice over Harvard. In other Ivy games, Columbia is picked by 13 over Brown, Dartmouth by 5 over Pennsylvania and Princeton dy 7 over Cornell.

Duke is a six point pick over North Carolina. In other games in the south, Clemson is favored by six over South Carolina, Virginia 15 over Maryland, Syracuse 13 over West Virginia, Florida State 13 over Wake Forest and Louisiana State 13 over Tulane.

In other Big Ten games, Purdue is picked by 18 over Indiana, Iowa 10 over Illinois, Michigan State 14 over Northwestern and Minnesota 16 over winless Wisconsin.

O.J., Mates Expect Tough Game From UCLA Bruins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — O. J. Simpson knows he's being compared with football's great rushers from Red Grange to Gale Sayers and he tries to ignore it.

"You might get to thinking I'm so-and-so and I can't be tackled." reasoned the All-American halfback from Southern California. "And that's when you get it."

He looks at Saturday's nationally televised game against UCLA in somewhat the same vein.

DEFENSE

"We don't look at UCLA as an inferior opponent," Simpson asserts despite the 3-6 record of the cross-town foe. "I look over their defense and see about everybody we played last season and I've said before that was the toughest defense we faced."

A year ago with both USC and UCLA in contention for the mythical national championship, Simpson smashed through on a 65-yard touchdown run with 10:38 left to bring the Trojans a 21-20 victory, the Rose Bowl bid and the collegiate title.

In 1967 it was UCLA quarterback Gary Beban who won the Heisman Trophy, awarded the player voted the best in the nation. Simpson placed second and this year stands as the prime candidate.

While the USC runner already has set a Pacific-8 rushing record for a single season with 1,449 yards, the Bruins haven't found a quarterback replacement for Beban.

INJURY

Bill Bolden, slated as the successor, injured a shoulder in the opener and hasn't rounded into winning form. Jim Nader, who passes better than Bolden, lacks the running ability so necessary in the UCLA offense.

The Coliseum kickoff is set for 3 p.m. PST to accomodate television viewers across the nation with USC rated a two-touchdown favorite

Rated No. 1 again this time, the Trojans boast an 8-0 record with UCLA and Notre Dame remaining. Already they have clinched the Pacific-8 Rose Bowl bid.

Coach Tommy Prothro of UCLA says you can't key on Simpson because the Trojans have other weapons such as quarterback Steve Sogge, who can pass and also run on the option play.

WEAPON

Still O.J. remains the big weapon and the 200-pounder from San Francisco pronounces himself in good physical shape.

"Early in the year, I was favoring a leg and not driving," Simpson explains.

"You should drive at the defensive halfback because usually he's smaller than I am and I'm moving ahead while he's standing still. Now the leg is fine and I feel that I'm driving like I should."

While the Trojans and Bruins battle the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative will have been decided in Michigan-Ohio State clash.

"We just want to play the best team in the Big Ten." is the way O.J. looks at that Midwestern battle.

Extra 20 Minutes Work For Bears

BERKELEY (AP) — California Bear Coach Ray Willsey says he is afraid rain later in the week will hold down practice for Saturday's "Big Game" against Stanford.

So Willsey drilled his football team an extra 20 minutes yesterday.

The coach said he foresaw no need for changing strategy against the Indians. "Everyone says they are a great passing team," he said. "But don't forget they've made more yards than we have rushing—they have the most versatile offense we have seen this year."

49er Coach Nolan Still Optimistic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Dick Nolan still thinks his San Francisco 49ers have winning capabilities, despite two straight losses and tie.

His attention was turned by newsmen yesterday to the feeling of certain discouraged fans that the 49ers are born losers.

Nolan said he thinks this "snake-bit" theory is ridiculous.

"Winning is a matter of good personnel and precise execution," he said. "I' moptimistic about the future."

Nolan said rookie defensive end Kevin Hardy, who suffered a knee sprain in Sunday's 20-20 tie with the Los Angeles Rams, will miss the game this Sunday against the Steelers in Pittsburgh but should be ready for the Green Bay game Dec. 1 at Kezar Stadium.

EARL MORRALL

From Bench Riding To Baltimore Hero

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three months ago, Earl Morrall was resigned to another frustrating season as a bench riding, reserve quarterback.

The pre-season trade which sent him from the New York Giants to the Baltimore Colts didn't change the outlook. The Colts wanted the much-traveled veteran as a backup man for John Unitas.

Today, Morrall is the No. 1 signal caller of the Colts—a team with a 9-1 record and a chance to become the National Football League's representative in the Super Bowl.

"The trade was a tremendous break for me," the 34-year-old Morrall said today. "One of the best that ever happened to me."

"I didn't figure to start for the Giants in place of Fran Tarkenton," Morrall said.

"I talked with Giant officials about a possible trade, but they indicated they were happy with the quarterbacks and would stay with them. Two weeks after I moved my family to New York for the season, I was traded."

Two weeks later, in Baltimore's final preseason exhibition, Unitas suffered a torn muscle in his right elbow—already pained by chronic tendonitis—and Morrall opened the season for the Colts.

The Colts won their first five games, and each week Morrall retained his composure while answering the same questions from a different set of writers:

"When will Unitas be back?"

"Do you think you'll start next week? How much does John help you on the sidelines?"

Only now is Morrall perfecting his timing with Colt pass receivers, and he still has to concentrate to call the right plays in the huddle, since Baltimore's numbering system is the opposite of those he used for four other NFL teams.

"We placed more emphasis on running this year," Coach Don Shula said, "because we couldn't rely on Earl throwing while not being familiar with our system. One thing led to another, and now our attack is more balanced."

With 20 touchdown passes in 10 games, Morrall has emerged from the shadows on the sidelines. If the Colts go all the way, he could well wind up as the NFL's Most Valuable Player—an award won last season by Unitas.

USF Grid Coach Calls It Quits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ron Pierceall, head football coach at University of San Francisco since it resumed the sport in 1964, resigned yesterday.

The Dons have had an 0-8-1 season marked by a rash of injuries. Only 18 players were in uniform last Saturday as Sacramento State bounced USF 76-0.

Pierceall's five-year record was 18-24-1. He said he would continue to teach in the Physical Education Department until June, but then might get another coaching job.

May Be Out Of Game

SAN JOSE (AP) — An eye injury may keep Dwight Tucker out of Saturday's game against Arizona State in Tempe, San Jose State trainer Jim Welsh says. Tucker suffered the injury last weekend against Washington State, apparently when

Warrants A Tricky Offering

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Could you clarify for me what a warrant is? — B.L.

A. Warrants, which were used commonly in the 1920s, have again become important and therefore should be understood by the investor.

Warrants frequently are used by an acquiring company in conjunction with other securities to sweeten a merger offer. They also figure in some refinancing arrangements and occasionally warrants are attached to a common stock offering. At times an underwriting firm receives warrants as part of its fee for arranging the financing. Although a warrant gives the holder the right to buy stock for a stated price, usually within a specified period of time, it does not represent ownership in the corporation, not does it apy dividends.

The main value is in the leverage a warrant affords a trader. For example, since January, GAC Corp. warrants — trading at about half the price of the common — moved up 106 per cent while the common gained only 73 per cent. Leverage works in reverse as in the case of Trans World Airlines' warrants which from a peak in 1967 to the present dropped 56 per cent while the common dropped 49 per cent.

When is a warrant attractive? When it has a long time to run, the company outlook is good, the leverage ratio high and warrant price low.

Q. My husband passed away a year ago, leaving me with the following holdings; Anaconda Co., Armco Steel, Burlington Industries, Cities Service, Gillette, Kresge, Manufacturers Hanover Trust, Morgan Guaranty Trust, Olin Mathieson, Squibb Beech-Nut, Texaco and Warner-Lambert. My income is limited and I wonder if it is wise to retain these as an investment. — W. N.

A. Your husband left you with a very fine list. There are only two issue which I question: Anaconda, with risk inherent in its foreign operations, an Olin Bathieson, with possible problems from its firearms and fertilizer division. Washington Water Power, yielding about 5 per cent would be a suitable replacement.

Q. Can you advise me as to the amount of Atlantic Richfield stock owned by Cities Service? — J.M.

A. Cities Service owns 2,915,000 shares of Atlantic Richfield $3 Cumulative Convertible Preference stock, which is carried on the books by Citgo at a cost of about $30 million. These shares have a current market value of about $522 million, worth $17.87 for each share of Cities Service common stock. The Atlantic preferred, which must be disposed of by 1973, will probably be offered by Cities Service to its shareholders in exchange for Cities' common stock. The indirect participation in Atlantic's Alaska strike plus offshore Louisiana and California crude production just coming on-stream make Cities Service an attractive long-term buy.

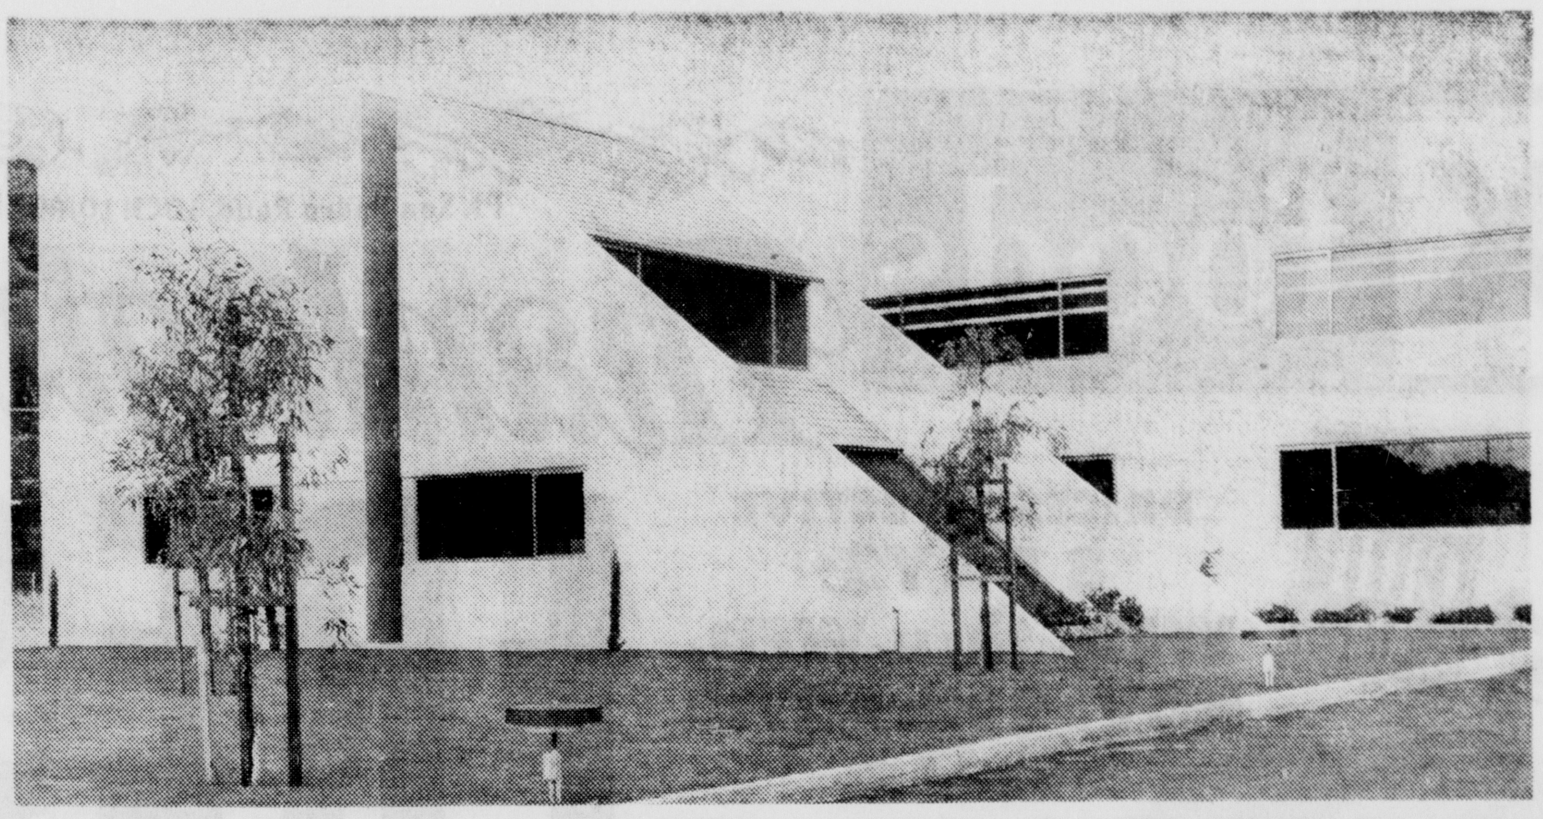
Bank Of Marin Gets Larkspur Branch Approval

Bank of Marin has received approval from the California State Superintendent of Banks to open a branch office in Larkspur.

In making the announcement, bank president William P. Murray, Jr. said it is planned to locate the office on Magnolia Avenue near the Larkspur-Kentfield city limits.

Murray also said that, under a previously approved application to open a branch in East San Rafael, the bank is having plans drawn for a modern bank building with offstreet parking at 65 Medway Road, near Francisco Boulevard.

A application for the bank to open an office at 25 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, also awaits approval.



UNIQUE ENTRANCE FOR NORTHGATE BUILDING

A diagonal slice in construction makes an unusual entrance for the new home of Automatic Tube Co., Inc., on Paul Drive, Northgate Industrial Park. Automatic Tube, one of three major pneumatic tube system manufacturers in the United States, recently moved its headquarters to Marin County from San Francisco. The company's products are supplied mainly to hospitals, stores and other commercial establishments.

DAIRYMAN—Jack W. Dei of Sebastopol, president of the Petaluma Cooperative Creamery, has been named chairman of the board of the Dairy Council of California. Dei is president of Sun Valley Dairy in San Francisco.

Sears Has Income Hike

PHIDADELPHIA (BW) — Sear, Roebuck & Co. has reported record net income for the third quarter and nine months ended Oct. 31.

Gordon M. Metcalf, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said net income for the third quarter was $99,711,000, or 65 cents per share. This was 6.4 per cent higher than net income of $93,675,000, or 61 cents per share, in the third quarter of last year.

For the nine months ended Oct. 31 net income was $268,591,000, or $1.75 per share, an increase of 8.9 per cent over net income of $246,702,000, or $1.61 per share, in the same period of 1967.

Also the company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share and an extra yearend dividend of 15 cents per share on the outstanding common stock of the company.

Building Rates Up In Petaluma

The City of Petaluma issued nearly twice as many building permits in October as it did during September, and exactly the same number as in October of 1967.

There were 59 permits issued this October and last, but only 34 issued in September. Total valuation this October was $1,054,927.

Building permits for the first four months of the 1968 fiscal year have totaled 188, down from the 240 issued in the first four months of 1967.

Northrup Reports Sharp Quarterly Hike

BEVERLY HILLS (BW) — Northrop Corp. net income for the first quarter was 27 per cent higher than in the first quarter of last year, Thomas V. Jones, president has reported.

Net income for the three months ended Oct. 31 was $3,942,000, equivalent to 81 cents per share compared with $3,082,000 equvalent to 63 cents per share a year ago.

A SAFETY HAZARD?

The Hidden Windshield Wiper Causing Concern

DETROIT (UPI) — Hidden windshield wipers, a new styling trend in the auto industry, have been indicted as a serious safety hazard, and an item that could add millions of dollars to the annual repair bills on American cars.

The man who makes the charge is Edward Daniels, claims manager of the inter-insurance exchange of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Daniels laid it on the line before the American Society of Body Engineers at their annual convention in Detroit recently.

Though he pulled his punches in his words, Daniels left no doubt that the new hood design hiding windshield wipers could become a horizontal guillotine for car passengers involved in a serious head-on collision.

"The hidden windshield wiper design is such that in moderate front end accidents, the sharp hood corner or fender corner is driven back, breaking the windshield and adding an unnecessary $100 to the repair," he said. "In severe accidents, the side mounted hinges give way, throwing the hood into the passenger compartment."

The prospect of a knife-edged front hood hurtling through a windshield and into the passenger compartment of a car is certain to occupy the attention of federal highway safety officials in Washington.

The hidden windshield wiper design was first developed and used on the 1967 Pontiac. It spread to other General Motors products on 1968 models and has been adopted on many 1969 models by other car makers.

Purpose of the Daniels speech to the body engineers was not essentially to point out any safety failures in design on new cars, but the failure of design engineers to stem the mounting cost of repairs to cars involved in accidents. Daniels, in fact, suggested that designers were increasing repair costs.

Daniels said that car bumpers now are little more than ornamental and easily damaged in impacts of less than 10 miles an hour. He said there is so much inaccessibility for repair designed into cars that it sometimes costs 10 times as much for labor as for the part being replaced. In some cases, he said, a bumper has to be removed to replace a tail light bulb.

There is so little room between a radiator and the engine fan that even a minor front end accident can damage the radiator core, he added.

Women Still Filling Posts

DETROIT (UPI)—The answer to an anticipated shortage of office workers is women, report researchers of Kelly Services, national supplier of temporary help services.

Kelly points out that in 1967 nearly seven million women worked in temporary jobs and one out of four women works less than 35 hours a week at any one time. The company says that despite expanding use of computers and other business machines, clerical workers of all types will be needed.

Banking Debits Climb In October

Marin County bank debits and deposits during the month of October were higher than during the same month in 1967.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $201,227,000, compared with $183,657,000 in October of last year. Unadjusted deposits of $100,199,000 were up from $89,734,000.

No seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are yet reported for Marin County, as figures have not been compiled long enough for seasonal fluctuations to be recorded.

Consumer Index Still Climbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board reports consumer goods output has powered another increase in monthly industrial production.

The board said Monday the October index climbed to 165 per cent of the 1957-59 average —up from the September level of 164.4.

Consumer goods production showed an increase of 1.1 percentage points, indicating the consumer-spending slowdown for which the administration hopes hasn't occured so far.

The board had said earlier the overall index dipped in September, but the revised figures released yesterday showed an increase.

Cowboys Rate High In NFL Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Clark of Dallas has taken over the scoring lead in the National Football League and Don Meredith of the same club has moved out front as the leading passer.

Clark moved out front of two running backs, Bill Brown of Minnesota and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, each of whom has scored 12 touchdowns for 72 points. Clark, the Cowboys' place kicker, has booted 13 of 19 field goals and 39 straight extra points for a total of 78 points.

Meredith, injured in last Sunday's game at Washington and considered doubtful for this week, displaced New York's Fran Tarkenton as the top passer. Meredith's high rating is a combination of his 57.6 percentage completion, 18 touchdown passes, 3.9 percentage of interceptions and 8.30 average gain.

Kelly continues to move toward the 1,000-yard mark with a total of 909 on 184 carries although he was held in check last week by Pittsburgh. Gale Sayers, the Chicago Bears' ace who is out for the season after knee surgery, still is second with 856 yards rushing.

Clifton McNeil of the San Francisco 49ers remains way out front in pass receiving with 53 for 786 yards and six scores.

Alioto Says 49ers To Stay In S.F.

Mayor Joseph Alioto says the San Francisco 49ers won't leave the city for any new home on the Peninsula or in Marin County.

"The team management has a good right to complain about conditions at Kezar Stadium," he concede yesterday, "but we are moving as quickly as possible to determine if Candiestick Park will be improved or a new downtown stadium built."

Team president Lou Spadia said Monday that the team was looking for a new Bay Area home, but Alioto noted that "those who thought they could move legitimate theater to the Peninsula know better now, and I believe Lou will come to the same conclusion."

Ersatz A plenty—or, Phonies I Have Known

It's a sad commentary that what was once rare and unpleasant is now common place and still unpleasant. Sometimes in times past an entire day would pass without confrontation with a monumental bore. Now, you might luckily enjoy an hour now and then without running into or being run over by one.

There was a time when a "college man" connoted clean ducks, neck, and even mind. Books, exams, grade, and dates monopolized coke sessions, and a degree-motivated student apologized to no one for his dream. Today, the cause is the thing, and what cause is of little import. Now, it's placards, speeches, press conferences, and love-ins, and coke backs off for pot.

The real sadness is that the big switch is wielded by the little group in charge of the Big Put-On, and the large group is in danger of being hollered—or, bored to death. In either case, the large group loses another battle, and the little core of phonies gets bigger and brassier.

At one time, the phonies concentrated in highly specialized pursuits like aluminum sidings, television repairing, and food freezer peddling. Concentrated to the point where the honest operators in these fields needed much championing to survive. A little jailing and a lot of publicity eventually cleaned up this mess of roaches, but some must have escaped to breed again.

The phonies are a prolific lot, and too many of their varmints have infested my particular sphere of interest — the automobile selling and servicing bag. You beat one of them to death, and the poison pollen escapes to live and breath and defile somewhere else. Every last man and woman in our industry bears the awesome burden of having to defend too many of our absolutely legitimate business activities because the maneuvers of this poisonous segment cannot be defended.

I remember a harrowing experience once many years ago when a small brush fire in Australia quickly became a roaring inferno beyond all possible control. Originally, a spurt of flame here and there was extinguished with little effort and no alarm. I, for one, learned a lesson not easily forgotten. It would be tragic if we all had to face a brush fire to become sufficiently alarmed over the spread of the phonies among us.

For one so acutely aware, and so violently repelled by all things phony, my thankfully brief exposure in the very special hell of automobile peddling that thrives especially well in Southern California, provided new insights of the black arts practiced by these charlatans. The "bait and switch" was honed to a razor's edge, and the moochers responded to the bait and switched right on cue. It was a repetitious and thoroughly degrading performance.

The ersatz parade makes the proper scene in the Hollywood area. Nothing is absolutely certain to be for real there, so why should the people be? The group who buss cheeks on casual contact and extend limply left hands for shaking coming and going add to the eerie air of fantasy and fraud.

Mix this not so well in automobile merchandising, and you reach for Alka-Seltzer and plane schedules — quickly.

Then, you seek solace at home, before blazing hearth and flickering boob-tube (these built-in antenna systems are pretty phoney, too). And, what do you find? The boobs are coming at you from the boob-tube, and from Southern California, yet. The Big Deal has come to the Bay Area, and aren't you all so lucky? The lucky ones will be those who can still spot fiction and stay away. Those who find strange comfort in words phoney will flock to the Great Promiser and burn like the helpless but bewitched moth.

Like the weather, everyone moans about the phonies in the car business, but little is done about and to them. At my dealership, Marin Dodge, I'll keep pitching 'em straight, even though those curves thrown by the phonies seem to attract an awful lot of moths.

Reeves Censures Coach, Players

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dan Reeves, owner of the Los Angeles Rams, yesterday censured his coach, George Allen, and some of the players for criticizing playing conditions at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

Reeves said he didn't think "Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen or Allen have the right to say that Kezar should be junked."

The Rams rallied to tie the San Francisco 49ers 20-20 last Sunday, and Allen said later the field was "the worst I've seen in 20 years of coaching," and a "disgrace to the National Football League.

"I though we were more sophisticated and sedate than to do something like this," Reeves said later. He said people in San Francisco are trying to improve field conditions.

The field was a quagmire of mud for the Ram-49er game Sunday.

The Southwest Conference football record for most net yards passing was set by Don Trull of Baylor in 1963 with 2,157 yards.

LONG WAY UP—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey strains his neck to look at the 363-feet tall Saturn 5 rocket being groomed to carry three astronauts around the moon at Christmastime. Humphrey paid the Cape Kennedy space complex a five hour visit yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

Humphrey Raps Space Cuts, Inspects Apollo

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Declaring America's space program a wise investment, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey predicts the nation "will pay the price" for not investing more funds for future space research.

"The space program has contributed greatly to the structure of our nation," Humphrey told National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials meeting here yesterday to review preparations for an around-the-moon flight by the three Apollo 8 astronauts at Christmastime.

"I have felt it has been underfunded at times and we will pay the price," the vice president said while explaining that Congress and the Johnson administration cut space spending because of other priorities.

Humphrey, who as vice president is chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council which advises President Johnson on space policy, visited Cape Kennedy for five hours yesterday en route to Washington from Miami, where he and his wife Muriel were vacationing.

He received a first-hand report from the three Apollo 8 pilots who plan to fly around the moon at Christmastime—Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders—then made like an astronaut himself by performing a make-believe rendezvous inside a mock spaceship.

The Vice President said he may return to Cape Kennedy to view the crew blast off Dec. 21 atop their 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 moon rocket.

Lying on the command pilot's couch inside the spacecraft simulator, Humphrey operated controls while two other astronauts involved with the Apollo 9 mission scheduled for launching in February, Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott and Navy Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon, told him how to perform a rendezvous.

"I think you better stop that, Mr. Vice President," Gordon quipped one time when sightings on a spaceship television screen indicated Humphrey was approaching the target too rapidly. "You're going to run right through it."

"I want to thank you for what you've done, which is to give the American people a lift. Without this program, this nation would feel very much behind in the international picture," Humphrey told Apollo program officials.

Election of board officers will be held at noon Dec. 2, Mrs. Healy said.

Exposure Suits Keep Water Skiers Warm

A thing that struck me as I watched quite a number of water ski contests and shows in the northern part of the country late this summer was the number of girl skiers who wore neatly tailored rubber suits.

The suits were mostly in gaudy colors, had short sleeves and legs, and zippered up the front. They are called exposure suits, and I find a growing trend toward wearing them in boating and aquatic sports where one may be dunked into chilly water.

Water skiers wear them so that they do not lose body heat and, consequently, do not tire as quickly under strenuous practice or competition. It's strange, but most discussions of safety practices seldom touch on water temperature and its effect on survival. Yet it is a very significant factor for some period of the winter in the greater part of the country.

ONE OFTEN hears parents admonish children about taking out boats without life-jackets, but I don't ever recall hearing anybody caution another person about the deadly effects of cold.

The answer, of course, is the exposure suit, and it should be considered mandatory equipment for anyone venturing out in a small boat on water that is below 50 degrees.

What is an exposure suit? It's simply a snug-fitting, foam-rubber garment. Skin and scuba divers have been wearing such suits for years. They call them "wet" suits. They got his name because the suit is made with no attempt to keep out the water. But it is made to fit snugly so that there is only a very thin film of water between the suit and the skin. This is quickly warmed by body heat and is easily kept warm by the insulating qualities of the foam rubber.

THEY WERE called wet suits after earlier "dry" suits, which tried to keep out the water, failed. The foam in a wet suit is usually a quarter of an inch thick, but in an exposure suit it is often only a eighth.

The wet suit material needs to be thicker because, in a dive, water pressure squeezes the quarter-inch foam down to an eighth of an inch very quickly, even at relatively shallow depths.

AN "EXPOSURE" SUIT MAKES FOR SAFER FUN WHEN WATER IS CHILLY.

Exposure suits are easy to repair and are even easy to make. The foam rubber and cement are available — as are complete suits — at scuba diver shops.

IF YOU don't think an exposure suit is a good idea, here is a medical table compiled by one of our leading medical schools for the navy. It shows the length of time an average person can survive immersed up to the neck in water:

Water Temperature	Time to Unconsciousness	Expected Length of Survival
Freezing	—15 min.	15-45 min.
32°-40°	15-30 mins.	30-90 min.
40°-50°	30-60 mins.	1-3 hrs.
50°-60°	1-2 hrs.	1-6 hrs.
60°-70°	2-7 hrs.	2-40 hrs.
70°-80°	3-12 hrs.	3-indef.

BIG 10 SHOWDOWN

Daugherty Gives Nod To Ohio State's Depth

EAST LANSING, Mich., (AP) — How does Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, whose Spartans have lost to both, figure the Big Ten championship game between Michigan and Ohio State Saturday at Columbus, Ohio?

Duffy declines to name a favorite, but made a few comparisons yesterday.

"Ohio State doesn't have anyone near the threat of Ron Johnson," said Daugherty, whose team lost 28-14 to Michigan and 25-20 to the Buckeyes.

"And the Ohio State quarterbacks don't have near the poise and confidence of Dennie Brown.

"But I think Ohio State has more over-all team speed. Michigan has no one to match the speed of Jan White (sophomore flanker).

"And most of the Ohio State backs . . . guys like John Brockington, Hondo Brungard and Jim Otis . . . are faster than the Michigan backs.

"Michigan has a big advantage in blocking. Jim Mandich and that fullback, Garvie Craw, are as good as anyone at clearing a hole."

Daugherty gave the nod to Ohio State on depth, especially at vital spots, and described both teams as strong defensively, although they use different formations: Michigan the 4-3-3 umbrella and Ohio State the 6-2-2-1 monster.

Raiders Most Explosive '11'

NEW YORK (AP) — It may come as a surprise to watchers of Heidi that the Oakland Raiders have the most explosive offense in the American Football League.

The Raiders, who scored two late touchdowns to beat the New York Jets while most of the nation complained about the movie that knocked the game off the air, have averaged 409 yards a game, best in the latest AFL team statistics.

Kansas City, idle this Sunday, has the best running game and the San Diego Chargers lead the pack in pass offense.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL NOTES

Hollywood Script For Marin League

By GARY TISCHLER

Well, how about that for a windup!

A Hollywood script writer couldn't have dreamed up a better one for the Marin County Athletic League football race.

The sequence of events that resulted in another tie for a title were pretty long-shot ones. Terra Linda needed a win or a tie for its first-ever unbeaten season and sole possession of the crown. Only Redwood stood in the way. And Novato and Drake of San Anselmo needed a win by Redwood to make their clash four hours later a championship one.

And that is pretty much what happened. The Giants of Redwood upset the Trojans, Novato beat Drake, 14-13, and voila, Terra Linda and Novato tie for the title.

The Trojans of Terra Linda probably don't appreciate it, but it was a fairy-tale windup for fans, something of an early Christmas present.

WELL, WHOEVER got all-league honors, one thing is for certain, the MCAL had a wealth of good fullbacks, receivers and quarterbacks.

This is more or less for those who didn't make it — it's tough to pick from the likes of fullbacks like Redwood's Pete Richter, Drake's Bob Sutherland, Dave Hector of Tamalpais and Tom Zechlin of Novato. And throw in Derek Clark of San Rafael, a standout on a losing team.

It was also tough to pick among such fine receivers as Mike Davlin and Dave Alvarado of Drake, Jack Straw and Pete Weekly of Novato, Jack Dennis of Terra Linda, Bruce D'Ambra of San Rafael, Ron Small of Tamalpais and Jeff Konopisos and Pete Carroll of Redwood. Not to speak of quarterbacks Mike Dillon of Novato, Don Mackin of Tamalpais and Ed Harrington of Drake.

With the momentous goings-on Saturday, San Rafael's brave effort against St. Ignatius of San Francisco may have been overlooked but it shouldn't have. The Bulldogs doggedly fought the Wildcats to a standstill for three quarters and were actually on the attack for most of the third quarter until the roof caved in on St. Ignatius' three-touchdown spree in the final period.

SOME FINAL number notes: Redwood wound up the top-scoring team in league play with 105 points to 104 by Drake. But neither finished in the money, showing that a little defense helps also.

MARIN COUNTY Athletic League teams wound up on the plus side of the ledger in competition against non-league opponents, winning 14 games losing seven and tying two with a 532-366 point-scoring advantage.

THE RETURN of Pat Green, who practiced only two days last week, was a helpful one for Novato. The fine-running halfback and kicker booted both extra points in the Hornets' one-point, 14-13 win. Those were his first points since the third game of the season. The last extra point he kicked also proved to be a winner in a 14-12 win over Redwood.

THOSE WERE Novato players, incidentally, that were rooting for Redwood Saturday afternoon. Quarterback Russ Dillon was out on the field congratulating the Giants after the game. He must have known something.

Raider Boss Is Lauded By Lassiter

is, the man who runs the Oakland Raiders, has been called a lot of things, but Ike Lassiter is the only one who has called him a Billy Graham.

Lassiter is one of Davis' employes, and that's the reason for the comparison.

"Al Davis is my Billy Graham," Lassiter says, "because he saved my soul."

While enjoying his salvation, though, the 6-foot-5, 280-pound veteran also has been returning the favor by waging weekly crusades for the Raiders.

His latest was against the New York Jets, and he emerged from it as The Associated Press' selection as the defensive player of the week in the American Football League yesterday.

Lassiter has gone through a lot of crusades since Davis made him a Raider three years ago. Prior to that his pro football life hadn't been very enjoyable.

Signed by the Los Angeles Rams out of little St. Augustine College in North Carolina, he lasted only three weeks. From there he went to the Denver Broncos.

"I was like a piece of furniture there," Lassiter recalled. "The coach (Jack Faulkner) was always on me. He hardly knew who I was, but he still blamed me for everything that went wrong."

The Broncos released him in 1964, and that's where Davis came in.

'I WAS BITTER'

"I thought I was through with football, and I was bitter about it," he related. "Early the next year I began to ache to play again. I wrote to Davis because other players had told me he treated everyone with respect.

"Davis called and told me to come to camp in shape. I was over 300 pounds then, but I got down to 280. When I first got to Oakland I had a chip on my shoulder. I was mad at everybody. After a while, though, everything was fine."

The only anger Lassiter displays now, though, is when he's ripping through the offensive line toward the quarterback.

Only Joe Namath's quick release of the ball on his passes kept the Jet quarterback from being hit more often by Ike and the other Raiders. As it was, Lassiter dumped Namath three times behind the line

The first professional football player deal was made in 1920 when Bob Nash was purchased from Akron by Buffalo for $300.

MARIN RUNNING GROUPS

Got A Middle-Age Bulge? Join The Jogging Craze

By RALPH CHATOIAN

More and more people today are getting out of those easy chairs and taking to the hills for a little running.

Some call it jogging and some call it running, but the purpose is usually the same — to get rid of that middle-aged bulge around the midsection, to get in physical condition and stay there.

Runners are banding together to form small groups.

One such Marin County group is made up of five men who run primarily for exercise. There is another group of Marin County men which does it for competition.

Organizer of the group for exercise is Bill Taylor, who was an 880-yard runner at University of Southern California in 1954-55. In addition to Taylor, there are other San Anselmans, Bill Kaul and Bill Biggs, Bill Frederickson of San Geronimo Valley and Gordon Pusser of Corte Madera.

According to Taylor, "Anyone who wants to run too fast or too far is out. The minimum age is 30, unless you're less than 30 and look 40."

Aims of the other group go a little further than this, as most of the members have run in competition, including the Mill Valley to Stinson Beach Dipsea Race.

In this group are Jim Grant, Robert Lee, Larry Hoyt, Ed Wasp and Lud Lozier of San Rafael and Bob Biancalana of Mill Valley. Hoyt, 42 years old, ran the more than six miles of the Dipsea Race over Mount Tamalpais last August in 57 minutes, placing 14th out of a field of more than 800 runners.

Competition is the aim of this group of men, all over 40. They do a lot of running on their own, and meet once a week for a group run.

"We meet at 6 o'clock in the morning on Saturdays and then go over to Mount Tam to do some running, from about 500 feet elevation to 2,000 feet, then back down," said Grant, an insurance agent.

Most of the members of this group are members of the Marin Athletic Club, affiliated with the AAU. The runs up and down Mount Tam are done full bore. They like racing as a sport. This kind of running is not for the timid and the weak, and is not jogging, but very fast running.

Taylor and the other four runners are not running for competition, but just for exercise, with plans for runs of varied distances through different parts of Marin County.

"It's a kind of therapy for me," said Taylor. "I run from a mile to three miles a day on my own, and then run a little further when we meet as a group."

Taylor said if anyone was interested in jogging with his group he would be happy to talk to them. He lives at 185 The Alameda, San Anselmo.

BLACK ADVANCE CLOSES OFFICE

Marin City's Self-Help Organization Runs Out Of Funds; Leader In Oakland

By ALAN JONES

Black Advance, a black self-help organization in Marin City that started last May with high hopes of initiating black businesses and placing Marin City residents in jobs, has apparently folded with the end of its grant from Catholic Social Services.

Gregory L. Baines, director of Black Advance, has left Marin City and is believed living in Oakland.

The Black Advance office in Building C-64 near Hayden's Market in Marin City has been closed for two weeks.

Donald O. Stutsman, director of the Marin City Housing Authority which rented the space to Baines, said he had written Baines in Oakland, asking if he plans to renew the month-to-month rental, but has received no reply. Baines leased the space Dec. 1 and started Black Advance May 1 with an $18,000 grant from Catholic Social Service.

The organization was reasonably successful in early months. A report in July said it had taken 115 job applications, placed 15 persons in jobs and helped start Marin Music City, a record shop adjoining the Black Advance office.

It also sponsored a Marin City Afro-Arts Festival in July with black-oriented goods for sale, a Negro heritage library, two Black Panther booths, a karate exhibition by Baines and five pupils, jazz and rock bands and soul food sold to fairgoers.

The $18,000 grant ran out at the end of September.

Baines presented a proposal to the Marin City Target Area board for a one-year program of job development and placement costing an estimated $185,428, which he said would create 22 jobs and bring $138,000 into the community.

But the target board, an adjunct of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, never approved the program.

Controversy was stirred by a militant newsletter titled Black Arms, which was printed in the Black Advance office and called for "black arms for the black army" and revolution against capitalism and white society.

The newsletter was edited by two other young men, Russell Williams and James Bullock, but community feeling was that Baines was behind it. The sentiment may have been a factor in the failure of Black Advance to get EOC funds.

On Aug. 22, Black Advance co-sponsored a successful rally on black political groups at which a Marin City chapter of Black Panthers was announced and Panther leaders Stokley Carmichael and Eldredge Cleaver spoke in their usual revolutionary vein.

The rally drew more than 500 persons, but may have further alienated possible sources of funds.

Baines presented a proposal for a Marin City skills center to the target board in September, priced at $99,000, but the board again turned him down. Vice Chairman Rogers Jones said he was "against having any program run by Black Advance."

Black Arms ran out of money after an August issue and suspended publication.

Baines, who lived in a co-operative apartment and then a one-family house in Marin City, is now reportedly in Oakland. Stutsman said Catholic Social Service gave him an address of 1737 Broadway Street, which a street directory indicates is the address of a business named Shirts by D. Andre.

A spokesman for Oak Knolls of Marin, which handles sales of the single family homes like that Baines stayed in, conceded Baines had lived in a Buckelew Avenue house briefly but would not say what arrangement was made. The homes normally are for sale but not for rent, and the house is now unoccupied.

The Black Advance staff consisted of Baines, assistant director George Gaines, field workers Ephorn Freeman Jr. and Edward (Boone) Green and secretary Barbara Douglas, of Marin City.

Parents Stage A Sit-In, Protesting Teacher Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Union teachers returned today to three schools in Ocean Hill-Brownsville after angry groups of parents ended overnight sit-ins protesting part of the agreement that ended the citywide teachers' strike.

The teachers and students entered the schools after a state trustee running the experimental, decentralized Brooklyn district gave the three principals at the schools letters removing them from authority.

The letters also required that unauthorized persons be out of the school buildings before students would be allowed to enter. The protesters left the buildings without incident.

The sit-in protest followed the generally peaceful reopening of the city's 900 school yesterday after a citywide strike that kept most of the 1.1 million public school pupils out of class for 35 days.

A key point in settlement with the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers was the reassignment of the three Ocean Hill principals pending a court hearing on the legality of their appointment.

The union said that the principals were among those who had harassed union teachers in the district. An eleventh hour legal move by the New York Civil Liberties Union failed to prevent the reassignment of the three men at this time.

The principals are Luis Fuentes, PS 155, the city's only Puerto Rican principal; William H. Harris of JHS 271 and Ralph Rogers of PS 144. Harris and Rogers are Negroes. All three principals left their schools before students and teachers entered.

Rhody A. McCoy, administrator of the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican district, had earlier warned there could be a "confrontation" over the issue of the principals.

There were extra police assigned to the district overnight but a police spokesman said there were no plans to remove the sit-ins.

Ocean Hill - Brownsville has been the focal point of the months long racially tense city school controversy. It was the ouster of 79 white teachers from the district that precipitated the strike by the UFT.

Permit Is Sought For Flea Market

A proposed weekend flea market in Marinship will be considered when the Sausalito Planning Commission meets at 8 p.m. today in the city council chamber.

William McQuistion is proposing the arts and crafts flea market for Saturdays and Sundays on property east of the Big G supermarket on Harbor Drive.

The commission will also consider pre-zoning for the American Distilling Co. property north of the city, and possible commercial zoning on the inboard side of Bridgeway south of the Ondine restaurant.

Cities, Counties Get Sales Tax Savings

The State Board of Equalization yesterday announced Marin and Sonoma counties' shares in the statewide $110,000 refund made to cities and counties through a saving in administrative costs of collecting the 1 per cent local sales and use tax.

The county of Marin received $310 and Sonoma, $625.

Marin and southern Sonoma cities sharing in the refund were Belvedere, $3; Corte Madera, $16; Fairfax, $27; Larkspur, $32; Mill Valley, $27; Ross, $2; San Anselmo, $34; San Rafael, $231; Sausalito, $100; Novato, $71; Tiburon, $23; Petaluma, $77; Rohnert Park, $8; and Cotati, $14.

Plans On Review

Norris M. Rawles, district administrator, will review plans of the city of San Rafael and the San Rafael Sanitation District on sewage facilities before the district board at 5 p.m. tomorrow at San Rafael City Hall.

INVESTING

Warrants A Tricky Offering

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Could you clarify for me what a warrant is? — B.L.

A. Warrants, which were used commonly in the 1920s, have again become important and therefore should be understood by the investor.

Warrants frequently are used by an acquiring company in conjunction with other securities to sweeten a merger offer. They also figure in some refinancing arrangements and occasionally warrants are attached to a common stock offering. At times an underwriting firm receives warrants as part of its fee for arranging the financing. Although a warrant gives the holder the right to buy stock for a stated price, usually within a specified period of time, it does not represent ownership in the corporation, not does it apy dividends.

The main value is in the leverage a warrant affords a trader. For example, since January, GAC Corp. warrants — trading at about half the price of the common — moved up 106 per cent while the common gained only 73 per cent. Leverage works in reverse as in the case of Trans World Airlines' warrants which from a peak in 1967 to the present dropped 56 per cent while the common dropped 49 per cent.

When is a warrant attractive? When it has a long time to run, the company outlook is good, the leverage ratio high and warrant price low.

Q. My husband passed away a year ago, leaving me with the following holdings; Anaconda Co., Armco Steel, Burlington Industries, Cities Service, Gillette, Kresge, Manufacturers Hanover Trust, Morgan Guaranty Trust, Olin Mathieson, Squibb Beech-Nut, Texaco and Warner-Lambert. My income is limited and I wonder if it is wise to retain these as an investment. — W. N.

A. Your husband left you with a very fine list. There are only two issue which I question: Anaconda, with risk inherent in its foreign operations, an Olin Bathieson, with possible problems from its firearms and fertilizer division. Washington Water Power, yielding about 5 per cent would be a suitable replacement.

Q. Can you advise me as to the amount of Atlantic Richfield stock owned by Cities Service? — J.M.

A. Cities Service owns 2,915,000 shares of Atlantic Richfield $3 Cumulative Convertible Preference stock, which is carried on the books by Citgo at a cost of about $30 million. These shares have a current market value of about $522 million, worth $17.87 for each share of Cities Service common stock. The Atlantic preferred, which must be disposed of by 1973, will probably be offered by Cities Service to its shareholders in exchange for Cities' common stock. The indirect participation in Atlantic's Alaska strike plus offshore Louisiana and California crude production just coming on-stream make Cities Service an attractive long-term buy.

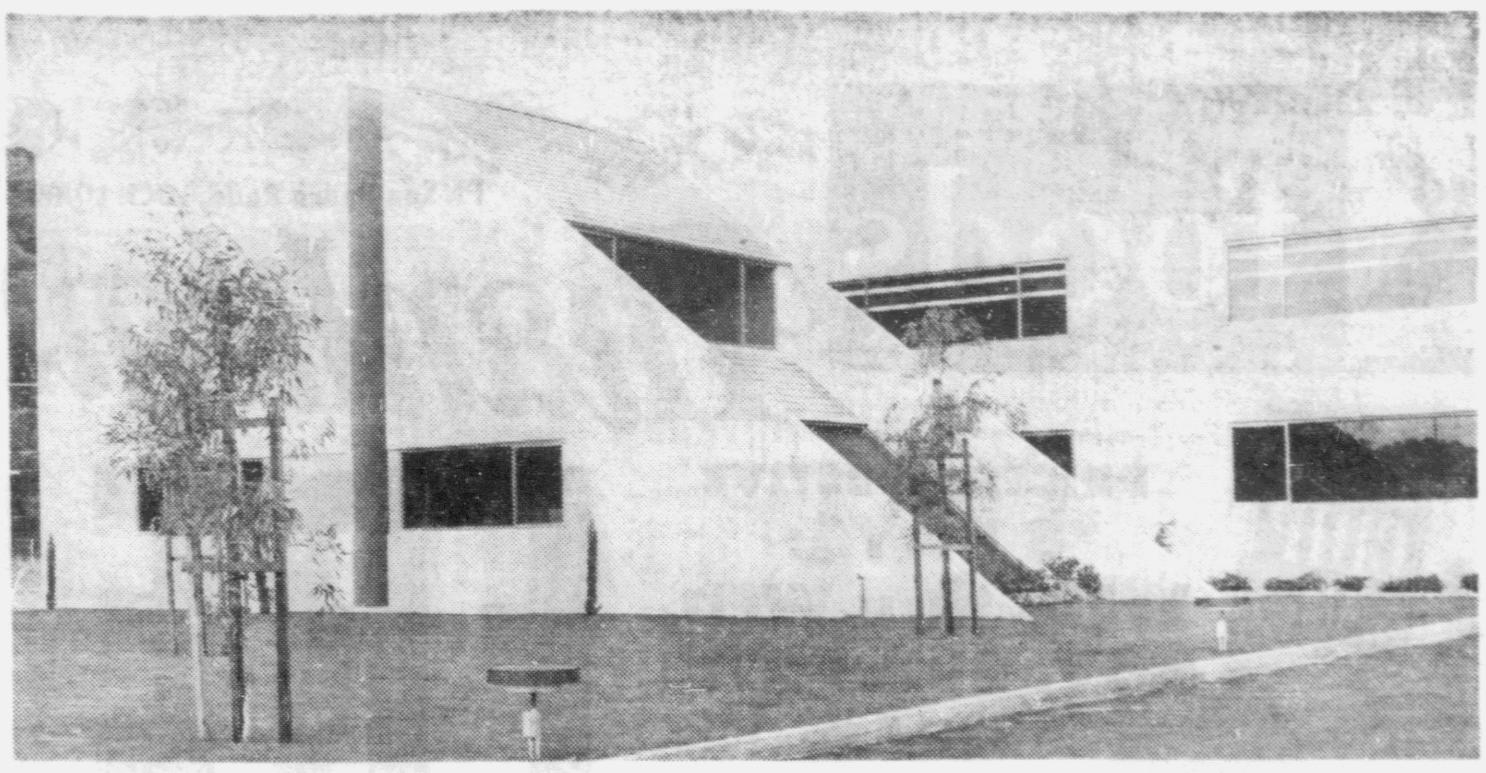
Bank Of Marin Gets Larkspur Branch Approval

Bank of Marin has received approval from the California State Superintendent of Banks to open a branch office in Larkspur.

In making the announcement, bank president William P. Murray, Jr. said it is planned to locate the office on Magnolia Avenue near the Larkspur-Kentfield city limits.

Murray also said that, under a previously approved application to open a branch in East San Rafael, the bank is having plans drawn for a modern bank building with offstreet parking at 65 Medway Road, near Francisco Boulevard.

A application for the bank to open an office at 25 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, also awaits approval.



UNIQUE ENTRANCE FOR NORTHGATE BUILDING

A diagonal slice in construction makes an unusual entrance for the new home of Automatic Tube Co., Inc., on Paul Drive, Northgate Industrial Park. Automatic Tube, one of three major pneumatic tube system manufacturers in the United States, recently moved its headquarters to Marin County from San Francisco. The company's products are supplied mainly to hospitals, stores and other commercial establishments.

DAIRYMAN—Jack W. Dei of Sebastopol, president of the Petaluma Cooperative Creamery, has been named chairman of the board of the Dairy Council of California. Dei is president of Sun Valley Dairy in San Francisco.

Sears Has Income Hike

PHILADELPHIA (BW) — Sear, Roebuck & Co. has reported record net income for the third quarter and nine months ended Oct. 31.

Gordon M. Metcalf, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said net income for the third quarter was $99,711,000, or 65 cents per share. This was 6.4 per cent higher than net income of $93,675,000, or 61 cents per share, in the third quarter of last year.

For the nine months ended Oct. 31 net income was $268,591,000, or $1.75 per share, an increase of 8.9 per cent over net income of $246,702,000, or $1.61 per share, in the same period of 1967.

Also the company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share and an extra yearend dividend of 15 cents per share on the outstanding common stock of the company.

Building Rates Up In Petaluma

The City of Petaluma issued nearly twice as many building permits in October as it did during September, and exactly the same number as in October of 1967.

There were 59 permits issued this October and last, but only 34 issued in September. Total valuation this October was $1,054,927.

Building permits for the first four months of the 1968 fiscal year have totaled 188, down from the 240 issued in the first four months of 1967.

Northrup Reports Sharp Quarterly Hike

BEVERLY HILLS (BW) — Northrop Corp. net income for the first quarter was 27 per cent higher than in the first quarter of last year, Thomas V. Jones, president has reported.

Net income for the three months ended Oct. 31 was $3,942,000, equivalent to 81 cents per share compared with $3,082,000 equvalent to 63 cents per share a year ago.

A SAFETY HAZARD?

The Hidden Windshield Wiper Causing Concern

DETROIT (UPI) — Hidden windshield wipers, a new styling trend in the auto industry, have been indicted as a serious safety hazard, and an item that could add millions of dollars to the annual repair bills on American cars.

The man who makes the charge is Edward Daniels, claims manager of the inter-insurance exchange of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Daniels laid it on the line before the American Society of Body Engineers at their annual convention in Detroit recently.

Though he pulled his punches in his words, Daniels left no doubt that the new hood design hiding windshield wipers could become a horizontal guillotine for car passengers involved in a serious head-on collision.

"The hidden windshield wiper design is such that in moderate front end accidents, the sharp hood corner or fender corner is driven back, breaking the windshield and adding an unnecessary $100 to the repair," he said. "In severe accidents, the side mounted hinges give way, throwing the hood into the passenger compartment."

The prospect of a knife-edged front hood hurtling through a windshield and into the passenger compartment of a car is certain to occupy the attention of federal highway safety officials in Washington.

The hidden windshield wiper design was first developed and used on the 1967 Pontiac. It spread to other General Motors products on 1968 models and has been adopted on many 1969 models by other car makers.

Purpose of the Daniels speech to the body engineers was not essentially to point out any safety failures in design on new cars, but the failure of design engineers to stem the mounting cost of repairs to cars involved in accidents. Daniels, in fact, suggested that designers were increasing repair costs.

Daniels said that car bumpers now are little more than ornamental and easily damaged in impacts of less than 10 miles an hour. He said there is so much inaccessibility for repair designed into cars that it sometimes costs 10 times as much for labor as for the part being replaced. In some cases, he said, a bumper has to be removed to replace a tail light bulb.

There is so little room between a radiator and the engine fan that even a minor front end accident can damage the radiator core, he added.

Women Still Filling Posts

DETROIT (UPI)—The answer to an anticipated shortage of office workers is women, report researchers of Kelly Services, national supplier of temporary help services.

Kelly points out that in 1967 nearly seven million women worked in temporary jobs and one out of four women works less than 35 hours a week at any one time. The company says that despite expanding use of computers and other business machines, clerical workers of all types will be needed.

Banking Debits Climb In October

Marin County bank debits and deposits during the month of October were higher than during the same month in 1967.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $201,227,000, compared with $183,657,000 in October of last year. Unadjusted deposits of $100,199,000 were up from $89,734,000.

No seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are yet reported for Marin County, as figures have not been compiled long enough for seasonal fluctuations to be recorded.

Consumer Index Still Climbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board reports consumer goods output has powered another increase in monthly industrial production.

The board said Monday the October index climbed to 165 per cent of the 1957-59 average —up from the September level of 164.4.

Consumer goods production showed an increase of 1.1 percentage points, indicating the consumer-spending slowdown for which the administration hopes hasn't occured so far.

The board had said earlier the overall index dipped in September, but the revised figures released yesterday showed an increase.

Nation's Biggest

EDWARDS, Miss. (UPI)—The Adams Egg Farms, Inc., here turns out about 225 million eggs annually to lay claim to being the world's largest egg farm. Fred Adams, Jr., young president of the comapny, began the enterprise in 1957.

Marin's Fish, Chips Tycoon Expands By Leaps And Bounds

A new progress report in the amazing career of Marin County fish and chips tycoon Haddon Salt has been received from Martha Hannon of Mill Valley, who had a success story on the British-born fishmonger published in the Oct. 18 issue of Christian Science Monitor.

Salt, now operating under the business name of H. Salt, Esq., Authentic English Fish and Chips, first made his appearance in San Rafael four years ago when he and his wife purchased the Griddle restaurant. They had emigrated from Skegness, England, where Salt and his family had been in the restaurant and hotel business. He has since sold the Griddle.

Salt's first official fish and chips shop opened in Sausalito in 1965 and his empire has grown by leaps and bounds. Mrs. Hannon reports that since her article for the Monitor was written last July his shops have increased from 40 to 45, with 44 of them franchised. Thirty more are being built and by the middle of next year he expects to have a full 100.

In addition to his Northgate Industrial Park headquarters and distribution center he also has offices in Los Angeles and Chicago.

NEW CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER for Synergistic Industries, San Rafael, is Eugene Burkhardt of San Francisco. Before joining the cosmetics manufacturer he was with Lybrand Co. for a number of years.

MRS. LOUIS GEORGE of Petaluma has been promoted to clinic director and educational director of the newly expanded medical clinic of the Planned Parenthood Association of Marin at 603 D Street, San Rafael. A registered nurse, she has worked for the Marin association since 1966. Previously she was supervising nurse with the San Francisco association.

MRS. ROSEMARY DERROUGH SEAL of Sausalito has joined the staff of St. Mary's Hospital and Medical Center, San Franciso, to handle publications and public relations. Previously she was with the San Francisco Chronicle, the San Francisco Examiner and the Modesto Bee.

LANDSCAPE contractors Cagwin and Dorward of San Rafael have placed first in the public works classification of the 1968-1969 landscaping competition sponsored by the California Landscape Contractors Association. They took honors for their landscaping of Old Courthouse Square in the City of Sonoma for the Urban Renewal Agency.

San Rafael landscape architect William L. Kapranos was one of three judges who traveled 3,000 miles by plane and by car to inspect all the entries. Cities from San Diego to Santa Rosa were represented in the contest.

Sausalito's Lion's Share Wins A Permit

The Lion's Share, folk and rock entertainment center in Sausalito, won a conditional use permit to stay in business last night from the Sausalito City Council before a partisan crowd that overflowed city hall.

But the permit is good only until operator Michael Considine's lease expires July 15, and only if the noise of rock bands, folk singers and electrified instruments is kept inside the building at 100 Caledonia Street. (Another Sausalito Council story, page 1.)

14 PARKING SPACES

The council also granted a variance to let the Lion's Share get along with 14 parking spaces and a parking attendant instead of the 15 required by ordinance. Both actions were unanimous on the motion of Councilman George C. Hoffman.

A petition by 15 neighbors opposed the use permit, but nearly all the audience, which included 30 standees, praised the Lion's Share and pleaded for its life.

Pop singer Gail Garnett of Tiburon, a frequent performer there, said the restaurant is a favorite of performers and a place where old, young, rich, poor, black and white meet and get along.

"Do not negate . . . Considine's work over some excess hair," she asked, answering a complaint in the petition that Lion's Share patrons were "a generally undesirable group of patrons'' and "motley characters."

NO PERMIT

The restaurant has had entertainment for several years, but has never had the use permit needed for entertainment in a neighborhood residential zone. Entertainment was started by the operator who preceded Considine, who took over in 1966.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who represented Considine, said soundproofing in recent weeks should keep noise inside the building and end complaints.

The permit and variance were granted with the condition the city can cancel them by giving five days notice and holding a revocation hearing. Councilmen said the outcome depends on whether there are future complaints.

Storer said Considine should be able by July to show the noise is contained or will be ready to move.

Strongest complaint against the Lion's Share came from neighbor Charlotte Alvarez, who has complained several times to police about the noise. Until two weeks ago the noise was "almost unbearable," Mrs. Alvarez said.

BLASTS OWNER

She said police had frequently asked Considine to lower the volume, but she accused him of turning it back up as soon as the police left.

Considine denied that. "We aren't going to jeopardize our business" by defying police, he said.

Considine presented a petition in support of the Lion's Share signed by 180 persons, including over 100 Sausalito residents.

The restaurant drew praise from parents, Tamalpais High School student body president Chris Harris, an official of the San Francisco Folk Music Club and 10 or 12 other persons.

Mrs. Alvarez and one other Sausalito woman were the only persons speaking against the permit.

Canada Taking Look At Share of NORAD Plan

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government is considering whether to increase its forces assigned to the North American Defense Command, decrease them or pull out of NORAD, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau told the House of Commons yesterday.

Trudeau said Canada's part in the command, in which it the junior partner to the United States, is "indirectly" included in a government review of foreign and defense policy now being made.

If Canada decides to contribute nothing to the joint U.S.-Canada command, established in 1958 with headquarters in Colorado, the agreement would become defunct, he said.

If Canada decreases its commitment but does not eliminate it, Trudeau continued, the NORAD agreement can exist with "very little arms from one side or the other."

Visitors to the Virgin Islands National Park "hike" one of its paths in swimming trunks, mask and flippers.

Teen Center Boosted With Council Funds

The Sausalito City Council last night boosted a Sausalito teen center by approving $220 a month for a part-time recreation director and $500 for any needed building repairs at a teen center, despite complaints by Councilman Robin Sweeney that the church property now used is "an abomination" and unsafe for teen-agers to be in.

Mrs. Sweeney said the former Star of the Sea Catholic Church building has a leaky roof and holes in the floor "you can stick your leg through," and said another building should be found.

Attorney Douglas P. Ferguson, who has worked with the teen group, said he had sought another building with no success. He warned that tying approval to another building would kill the momentum and enthusiasm the teen group has built up.

The council voted 4-1, Mrs. Sweeney dissenting, for the recreation director, following the recommendation of the recreation commission read at a meeting Saturday with members of the Sausalito Teen Club.

The director would work up to 25 hours a week for $220 a month for the rest of the fiscal year.

Constitution Talk

The work of the California Constitution Revision Commission will be discussed by the commission's counsel, Allen Jensen, at a public luncheon to be held by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin at noon Tuesday at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, San Rafael. Baby sitting will be provided.

Bridgeway Project Changes Approved For Cost Lowering

The Sausalito City Council last night approved changes in Phase II of the Bridgeway widening project which it hopes will bring costs into line with estimates, an authorized city engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger to seek new bids for the project.

Bids opened Nov. 7 were double to triple the $150,000 estimate.

Changes Wohlschlaeger proposed last night would eliminate the seawall and substitute a wider sidewalk on the bayward side of the project. Former bids on the seawall were $160,000 and up.

The new plan proposes a sidewalk between the city pier and Richardson Street of concrete or gravel, and a median street strip of patterned concrete or washed concrete. The alternatives of gravel and washed concrete may produce lower bids, Wohlschlaeger said. The sidewalk north of the city pier will be concrete as planned before.

The seawall was a concrete wave splash barrier. Rock riprap already in place is the actual seawall.

The Sausalito City Council also:

TRIDENT — Set a Dec. 3 hearing for a proposal by Peter Wells of the Trident to cover 35 per cent of the restaurant's deck.

VARIANCE — Approved a variance sought by MOD development for an extension of a roof line at 42 Bulkley Avenue which is six feet higher than allowed in the district.

HEARINGS — Set Dec. 3 hearings for use permits sought by Ralph P. Gomez for property in Marina Vista subdivision and Loyal Davis for property on Lincoln Drive.

CURFEW — Told city staff to prepare an amendment of the city's juvenile curfew from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. to conform with curfew in the rest of the county.

CAAB — Accepted resignation of Theodore T. Bountmy from the Community Appearance Advisory Board effective when a replacement is named.

REAPPOINTMENT — Reappointed John C. Campbell and Mrs. Sanford Autumn to new one-year terms on the CAAB.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Dec. 3 in memory of Mrs. Charlotte Gallagher Mork, Sausalito resident since 1902 and former employee of Sausalito Savings and Loan, who died Friday.

Church Is Looted

A wooden gavel and church seal were stolen from the Christian Science Church, 290 Corte Madera Avenue, between Sunday and yesterday, Mill Valley police reported.

In 1815 Napoleon was exiled to St. Helena. To forestall any rescue attempt, the British based a naval garrison on Ascension Island, 800 miles away, and regularly patrolled the neighboring waters.

LONG WAY UP—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey strains his neck to look at the 363-feet tall Saturn 5 rocket being groomed to carry three astronauts around the moon at Christmastime. Humphrey paid the Cape Kennedy space complex a five hour visit yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

Humphrey Raps Space Cuts, Inspects Apollo

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Declaring America's space program a wise investment, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey predicts the nation "will pay the price" for not investing more funds for future space research.

"The space program has contributed greatly to the structure of our nation," Humphrey told National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials meeting here yesterday to review preparations for an around-the-moon flight by the three Apollo 8 astronauts at Christmastime.

"I have felt it has been underfunded at times and we will pay the price," the vice president said while explaining that Congress and the Johnson administration cut space spending because of other priorities.

Humphrey, who as vice president is chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council which advises President Johnson on space policy, visited Cape Kennedy for five hours yesterday en route to Washington from Miami, where he and his wife Muriel were vacationing.

He received a first-hand report from the three Apollo 8 pilots who plan to fly around the moon at Christmastime—Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders—then made like an astronaut himself by performing a make-believe rendezvous inside a mock spaceship.

The Vice President said he may return to Cape Kennedy to view the crew blast off Dec. 21 atop their 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 moon rocket.

Lying on the command pilot's couch inside the spacecraft simulator, Humphrey operated controls while two other astronauts involved with the Apollo 9 mission scheduled for launching in February, Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott and Navy Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon, told him how to perform a rendezvous.

"I think you better stop that, Mr. Vice President," Gordon quipped one time when sightings on a spaceship television screen indicated Humphrey was approaching the target too rapidly. "You're going to run right through it."

"I want to thank you for what you've done, which is to give the American people a lift. Without this program, this nation would feel very much behind in the international picture," Humphrey told Apollo program officials.

Egger Elected Chamber Director

James E. Egger, owner of Egger's Nursery, has been elected to the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board, staff secretary Carol Healy reported yesterday.

Re-elected to the board Monday were John Finn III, public accountant; Lawrence A. Mayer, owner of Mayer's Ltd. and partner in Andresen and Mayer, attorneys at law; Edward M. Mills, co-publisher of the Mill Valley Record; and Leonard S. Peck, vice president of Muller's general insurance agency. All will serve for two years.

Election of board officers will be held at noon Dec. 2, Mrs. Healy said.

Sonoma Request Made For Coastline Study

I- JSpecial Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard a request that a commission be formed to study access to and development of the county coastline.

Richard Day, attorney for Citizens Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands, presented a resolution that would establish such a commission. The supervisors advised him to present the proposal to the Sonoma County Parks and Recreation Department for study and recommendations.

The organization had supported Proposition B to establish access corridors to the coast, which failed on the Nov. 4 Sonoma County ballot.

Dr. William Kortum, leader of the organization, said the proposed commission should have the responsibility for developing recreation and access to the coast and should serve as an advisory body to the board of supervisors.

Motorcycle Rider Suffers Broken Arm

Thomas Blair Estes, 36, of 515 Arlington Circle, San Rafael, was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael yesterday for a broken left arm and scrapes suffered when his motorcycle hit a car in jammed commute traffic in Lucas Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The accident occurred at 8:28 a.m., the highway patrol said, on Highway 101 north of the Lucas Valley crossing when traffic slowed for accidents ahead and Estes hit the rear of a car driven by Dr. Charles C. Canada, 60, of Napa, and was thrown onto the center divider.

Father Admits Buying His Teens Marijuana

FREMONT (UPI) — Police said today they were investigating the activities of a college psychologist who supplied his teen-age children with marijuana rather than have them deal with drug peddlers.

Although he is personally opposed to the use of marijuana, police said, Dr. Pete Wilson, 39, purchased the drug for his children Bill, 17, and Cynthia, 15, because he did not want them to deal directly with sellers.

Because he had second thoughts about his involvement, Wilson told police, he cut off his children's supply about a month ago and put a sign on the front door reading, "No dopers allowed." They, however, continued to use the drug.

Wilson finally called police last Saturday, said his children were incorrigible and asked that they be taken into custody. Both are students at Mission San San Jose High School in Fremont.

Dr. Stephen Epler, president of Ohlone Junior College in Fremont, where Wilson is an instructor in psychology, said he has asked for a full report on Wilson's involvement in purchasing marijuana.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana

Wade George Gibson, 19, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court today to a charge that he possessed marijuana Feb. 29 in Sausalito.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino dismissed additional charges that he resisted arrest and possessed a syringe that day.

Gibson's case was continued until Dec. 18 for sentencing.

Reed Board Pares New School Plans

Revisions in bids and the construction schedule for Reedland Woods School to keep costs within $1,250,000 budget were ordered last night by the Reed School District board, according to Asst. Supt. William G. Vanasen.

Vanasen said the board ordered the academic and unified arts building of the new middle school to be incorporated into one base bid with separate additional bids prepared for the administrative and physical education-music buildings.

In addition, the board asked architect Ron D. Young of Santa Clara to delete music practice rooms, instrument storage areas and shower and gym locker facilities in the physical education building, Vanasen said.

The board originally had hoped to construct the 68,000-square-foot school as one unit. However, escalating construction costs and unexpected expenses in the site preparation prompted the revisions.

Vanasen said the site preparation costs are estimated to exceed the $160,000 budget by $50,000. In addition, he noted, building costs have increased from $16 to $17.50 a square foot.

The school, which eventually will house 720 sixth to eighth grade students, is expected to be ready for partial occupancy by September 1969 and completed by December 1969.

The board also accepted the resignations of Susan Davis, primary teacher at Granada School and Judy Wheatley, a teacher on the Del Mar School middle school team. Mrs. Wheatley is being transferred to Sacramento and Miss Davis resigned for health reasons, Vanasen said.

Hub's School Board Eying Building Need

The San Anselmo School District board last night scheduled an informal meeting for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 in the Red Hill School library to discuss means of meeting school building needs.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said several persons who have worked for district interests in the past will be invited, and the group will consider the possibility of naming a citizens' committee for building recommendations.

He said that in light of the June 4 primary defeat of the district's $510,000 bond issue, the feasibility of setting a new bond election or requesting taxpayer approval of a higher tax rate to raise needed funds will be considered.

The bond issue would have provided funds for a six-classroom unit at Red Hill School, a multi-purpose structure for teaching, music training and physical education at Hidden Valley School, and correction of drainage problems at Sleepy Hollow School.

In other action last night, board president Pieter Toal named board members Cornelia Busse and Robert W. Corlett to represent the board on a joint school-City of San Anselmo committee to discuss mutual items of interest.

Members of an 11-member budget advisory committee for the district also were named. They are James E. French, Nancy Philie and Caryl Kurtzman, all district teachers; Richard B. Connell, Hidden Valley School principal; Patrick A. O'Donnell, director of instruction for the district; and two citizens, Herbert West of 120 Crescent Road and William Christy, 1306 San Anselmo Avenue.

A third citizen will be named later.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

LETTER — Took under study a suggestion by Mrs. C. D. McBride of 25 Tappan Road to erect a stop sign at the northeast intersection of Van Winkle Drive and Perry Street near the Sleepy Hollow School.

LIBRARY — Authorized Parodi to withdraw the district from the Marin County schools libary services effective July 1.

PERSONNEL — Accepted the resignation of Beverly Zirpoli as part-time secretary in the district's curriculum office and appointed Margaret Framm to replace her at a monthly salary of $307. The board also hired two teacher aides for educationally handicapped classes at $180 each monthly.

Marin Population Of 375,000 Is Forecast By '85

A federal economist predicted today at a conference in the Marin Civic Center that Marin would have a population of 375,000 by 1985.

The current estimated population of the county is 205,000.

L. T. Wallace, senior staff economist in the Office of the President in Washington, D.C., spoke at a conference of about 100 officials from Marin, Lake, Mendocino, Napa and Sonoma counties sponsored by the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

Wallace projected the Sonoma County population in 1985 at 297,000.

Marin City's Self-Help Organization Runs Out Of Funds; Leader In Oakland

By ALAN JONES

Black Advance, a black self-help organization in Marin City that started last May with high hopes of initiating black businesses and placing Marin City residents in jobs, has apparently folded with the end of its grant from Catholic Social Services.

Gregory L. Baines, director of Black Advance, has left Marin City and is believed living in Oakland.

The Black Advance office in Building C-64 near Hayden's Market in Marin City has been closed for two weeks.

Donald O. Stutsman, director of the Marin City Housing Authority which rented the space to Baines, said he had written Baines in Oakland, asking if he plans to renew the month-to-month rental, but has received no reply. Baines leased the space Dec. 1 and started Black Advance May 1 with an $18,000 grant from Catholic Social Service.

The organization was reasonably successful in early months. A report in July said it had taken 115 job applications, placed 15 persons in jobs and helped start Marin Music City, a record shop adjoining the Black Advance office.

It also sponsored a Marin City Afro-Arts Festival in July with black-oriented goods for sale, a Negro heritage library, two Black Panther booths, a karate exhibition by Baines and five pupils, jazz and rock bands and soul food sold to fairgoers.

The $18,000 grant ran out at the end of September.

Baines presented a proposal to the Marin City Target Area board for a one-year program of job development and placement costing an estimated $185,428, which he said would create 22 jobs and bring $138,000 into the community.

But the target board, an adjunct of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, never approved the program.

Controversy was stirred by a militant newsletter titled Black Arms, which was printed in the Black Advance office and called for "black arms for the black army" and revolution against capitalism and white society.

The newsletter was edited by two other young men, Russell Williams and James Bullock, but community feeling was that Baines was behind it. The sentiment may have been a factor in the failure of Black Advance to get EOC funds.

On Aug. 22, Black Advance co-sponsored a successful rally on black political groups at which a Marin City chapter of Black Panthers was announced and Panther leaders Stokley Carmichael and Eldredge Cleaver spoke in their usual revolutionary vein.

The rally drew more than 500 persons, but may have further alienated possible sources of funds.

Baines presented a proposal for a Marin City skills center to the target board in September, priced at $99,000, but the board again turned him down. Vice Chairman Rogers Jones said he was "against having any program run by Black Advance."

Black Arms ran out of money after an August issue and suspended publication.

Baines, who lived in a co-operative apartment and then a one-family house in Marin City, is now reportedly in Oakland. Stutsman said Catholic Social Service gave him an address of 1737 Broadway Street, which a street directory indicates is the address of a business named Shirts by D. Andre.

A spokesman for Oak Knolls of Marin, which handles sales of the single family homes like that Baines stayed in, conceded Baines had lived in a Buckelew Avenue house briefly but would not say what arrangement was made. The homes normally are for sale but not for rent, and the house is now unoccupied.

The Black Advance staff consisted of Baines, assistant director George Gaines, field workers Ephorn Freeman Jr. and Edward (Boone) Green and secretary Barbara Douglas, of Marin City.

Parents Stage A Sit-In, Protesting Teacher Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Union teachers returned today to three schools in Ocean Hill-Brownsville after angry groups of parents ended overnight sit-ins protesting part of the agreement that ended the citywide teachers' strike.

The teachers and students entered the schools after a state trustee running the experimental, decentralized Brooklyn district gave the three principals at the schools letters removing them from authority.

The letters also required that unauthorized persons be out of the school buildings before students would be allowed to enter. The protesters left the buildings without incident.

The sit-in protest followed the generally peaceful reopening of the city's 900 school yesterday after a citywide strike that kept most of the 1.1 million public school pupils out of class for 35 days.

A key point in settlement with the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers was the reassignment of the three Ocean Hill principals pending a court hearing on the legality of their appointment.

The union said that the principals were among those who had harassed union teachers in the district. An eleventh hour legal move by the New York Civil Liberties Union failed to prevent the reassignment of the three men at this time.

The principals are Luis Fuentes, PS 155, the city's only Puerto Rican principal; William H. Harris of JHS 271 and Ralph Rogers of PS 144. Harris and Rogers are Negroes. All three principals left their schools before students and teachers entered.

Rhody A. McCoy, administrator of the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican district, had earlier warned there could be a "confrontation" over the issue of the principals.

There were extra police assigned to the district overnight but a police spokesman said there were no plans to remove the sit-ins.

Ocean Hill - Brownsville has been the focal point of the months long racially tense city school controversy. It was the ouster of 79 white teachers from the district that precipitated the strike by the UFT.

Permit Is Sought For Flea Market

A proposed weekend flea market in Marinship will be considered when the Sausalito Planning Commission meets at 8 p.m. today in the city council chamber.

William McQuistion is proposing the arts and crafts flea market for Saturdays and Sundays on property east of the Big G supermarket on Harbor Drive.

The commission will also consider pre-zoning for the American Distilling Co. property north of the city, and possible commercial zoning on the inboard side of Bridgeway south of the Ondine restaurant.

Cities, Counties Get Sales Tax Savings

The State Board of Equalization yesterday announced Marin and Sonoma counties' shares in the statewide $110,000 refund made to cities and counties through a saving in administrative costs of collecting the 1 per cent local sales and use tax.

The county of Marin received $310 and Sonoma, $625.

Marin and southern Sonoma cities sharing in the refund were Belvedere, $3; Corte Madera, $16; Fairfax, $27; Larkspur, $32; Mill Valley, $27; Ross, $2; San Anselmo, $34; San Rafael, $231; Sausalito, $100; Novato, $71; Tiburon, $23; Petaluma, $77; Rohnert Park, $8; and Cotati, $14.

Plans On Review

Norris M. Rawles, district administrator, will review plans of the city of San Rafael and the San Rafael Sanitation District on sewage facilities before the district board at 5 p.m. tomorrow at San Rafael City Hall.

Fair-Marin In Role Of Board's Scapegoat

On page 25 of last Friday's Independent-Journal appeared a story that began: "Fair-Marin directors, who will operate the county fairgrounds site at the Civic Center, agreed last night that they need more autonomy in planning and scheduling than the county administrator recommends."

On page 7 of the same issue appeared a story from Sacramento that began: "The Cal Expo executive committee voted today to ask Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature for money to operate next year."

THERE IS MORE than casual similarity here. Cal Expo and Fair-Marin were both set up as non-profit corporations, the first to operate a continuing exhibit to replace or agument the state fair, the second to operate county fairgrounds and auditorium on a year-around basis.

The woes of Cal-Expo are now well known. It is a non-profit operation all right -- too much so. It wound up its first year with a whopping deficit, and it appears very doubtful that it will operate at all next year.

It is unrealistic to suppose that Fair-Marin can attract enough paying events to auditorium and fairgrounds to make them self-supporting, at least for some years to come.

Cal-Expo directors were not hogtied in their function. Fair-Marin directors have that additional handicap. The county administrator, who dreamed up the non-profit corporation idea for the fairgrounds in the first place, now wants to give directions to the corporation's directors.

THE "NON-PROFIT corporation" is a favorite device these days. Actually, however, it is functional only if it can really return profit. What would be the profit can then be used to expand the operation, or — in the case of a corporation set up by state or county — returned to the public coffer whence came the money for the facility in the first place.

When the people of Marin County authorized bonds to build Civic Center and fairgrounds, they did so not in the idea that they were creating a corporation, but in the belief that such facilities are for the public good. They did not look for profit, although of course they did hope for economical operation.

The non-profit corporation, therefore, seems to serve but one purpose: to provide a scapegoat for the elected officials and their hired administrators.

If costs of fairgrounds and auditorium appear excessive, the board of supervisors (and its hired administrator) can blame their creature, Fair-Marin.

MOREOVER, the very nature of the organization is contradictory to its purpose. Although it was set up to operate fairgrounds and auditorium for the good of all, its directors were chosen from special purpose groups seeking to promote their own special uses of those facilities. It thus has a built-in conflict of interests.

In addition to these handicaps, there is another. The county parks and recreation commission is charged with direction of recreational activities on county property. But it was by-passed completely in creating Fair-Marin. It is not even represented on the board.

The board of supervisors should accept responsibility for the fairgrounds and auditorium. There is no need for a non-profit corporation. What is needed is county direction, by those elected — and paid — to do the job.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Finch In Enviable Position To Decide Upon Own Future

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Biggest guessing game around the state capitol these days concerns the future of Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, the "right-hand" man of President-elect Richard Nixon, who is in the enviable position of being able to call his own shots on what he wants for the future.

Apparently, one guess is as good as another, because Finch himself isn't certain at the moment as to just which shot he will call.

SHOULD THE lieutenant governor decide to dump his prospects in California down the drain and strike out for wider fields in Washington, the assumption is that he can have virtually any job he selects. Already, he has ruled out a post as White House aide to the president, and attorney general. But there still remain cabinet posts and other appointments which would fit a man of his caliber.

Should Finch decide to remain in California as lieutenant governor, he takes a gamble on winning one of the two choicest and most influential political posts in the country: (1) U. S. senator from California; (2) the governorship of California.

THE GOSSIP has it that Sen. George Murphy will either retire or not seek re-election. Should this occur, it puts Finch in the top position to be his successor —depending eventually, of course, on the temper of the electorate.

And, should Gov. Ronald Reagan decide not to seek a second term, Finch is his logical successor. At the moment, this is a far out supposition, as all indications point to Reagan as a candidate to succeed himself in 1970.

However, events next year could change this picture. It's a known fact the Democrats would rather see Reagan the gubernatorial candidate than Finch. It's much easier to attack the record of an incumbent than a candidate who is fresh on the scene. Whether Reagan's record could withstand a Democratic onslaught, which is expected to begin with the opening of the 1969 Legislature, is open to question.

Up to the time of Earl Warren, two-term governors in California were virtually nonexistent. And although Warren made it three times and Pat Brown twice, the state could return to its old policy of one term for its chief executive.

FORTUNATELY, Finch is confronted with no Hobson's choice as to his future. Rather, his choice is one which was defined by Julius Caesar centrues ago when the great Roman, according to Francis Bacon, "made no scruple to profess 'that he had rather be first in a village than second at Rome."

Quite obviously, Finch in Washington would be a "second man," a not inconsiderable position these days, as times have changed since Caesar made his long-remembered observation.

On the other hand, Finch in California gambles on being "a first man" either as a potential U. S. senator or governor, without being lost in the shuffle of national politics.

Principal On Role Of English Classes

Mr. (Bryce W.) Anderson's column in the Nov. 13 issue of the Independent-Journal concerned "a story in a recent issue of a student newspaper in a San Francisco Bay Area high school."

Since I am intimately acquainted with the high school which Mr Anderson had in mind, I would like to comment on the contents of his article.

Apparently, Mr. Anderson believes that senior English should concern itself exclusively with reading good literature and studying the rules of grammar. Other matters, such as racial prejudice, should be left to other departments; in his case probably social sciences. He cites as proof of this that in the same school paper there was evidence of the students' inability to use the English language properly. . . .

First of all, I would like to agree entirely with Mr. Anderson in his concern over the incompetence apparent in that particular edition of our school paper. If anything, he was kind to us in his criticism. . . . The adviser and student editors are fully aware of the quality of their product. In this case, they made themselves, and the entire school, look bad by this publication.

There are only two statements I can make in their defense: (1) they are student journalists who are learning, so they are expected to make mistakes, and (2) they really know better. Their errors are due to indolence, rather than ignorance, and they still will make a greater effort in the future to improve.

Whereas, I certainly agree with Mr. Anderson in his appraisal of that issue of our school paper, I couldn't disagree with him more in his opinion about what should be taught in high school English. Let me cite a few facts:

1. Proper language usage is all teachers' business in every class we teach in every grade from kindergarten through Grade 12. Youngsters learn good English (or bad, unfortunately) many, many places other than their English classes. The home is probably the most important learning agency of all.

2. In school, proper language usage begins in kindergarten and is a continuous process. Formal spelling begins in Grade 1. Formal punctuation instruction (including the forming of possessive nouns) in Grade 2.

3. The most capable experts in curriculum (Will French and Edward Krug, to mention two), through extensive research, have concluded that a unified approach to learning — integrating subject areas — is superior to a strictly compartmentized method. Consequently, we urge our teachers to employ an interdisciplinary strategy in teaching, exactly as that senior English class teacher was attempting to do.

No Right To Knock English Class Poll

I think that Bryce W. Anderson had no right in knocking the polls taken by the 12th grade English class. The topic of discussion was black-white power which prompted us to do a survey. English doesn't confine itself to just grammar, vocabulary, and spelling, but it's a broader subject than these. This might relate minutely to social studies, but these things are really learned in an English class. The various topics make our class quite a bit more interesting than doing everything by the book. Anyway, a student should know grammar and spelling by the time he reaches 12th grade. Mr. Anderson, how many words do you misspell? How many puctuation errors do you make? Not even the smartest English professor at a well-known college could conduct the survey like we did without making mistakes. Our English teacher shouldn't be put down because six of us did the survey without his supervision. More students and teachers should be aware of how situations really are. We felt this was the best way to get our point across.

(Editor's note: The letter obviously refers to "The People's Schools" column of Nov. 13, which discussed local and state course mandates and used a survey of racial bias opinions by an English class as an example that course titles may be meaningless. Because this was used merely as an example of widespread practices, the school and teacher were not identified. Miss Billips, however, has correctly recognized the school and class.)

Growing Rapport With Nixon; Advisory Role For Ex-President?

WASHINGTON — The most fascinating and important development today is the evolving relationship — close, comfortable and trusted — between President Johnson and President-elect Nixon.

This is the foundation of the Nixon-Johnson compact to make joint decisions on crucial foreign policy matters from here to Jan. 20.

This compact isn't just a nice procedure. Without it the United States would be paralyzed in vital areas of foreign policy action.

THIS REMARKABLE rapport began during the campaign and has been steadily expanding.

Each has contributed and it was deliberate, not accidental.

Those who have talked with both men know that it stems directly and primarily from their substantially common views on Vietnam and the need for extreme care and responsibility in dealing with the peace talks in the heat and scuffle of the campaign.

Mr. Johnson frankly feels that Nixon contributed incalculably to helping him reach the agreement with Hanoi which made the bombing halt possible and which brings further negotiations within reach.

Nixon feels that the President played fair with him all through the campaign and that LBJ purposely refrained from personal attacks in the few political speeches he delivered.

Both were looking to the future — and now they are profoundly gratified they did.

THE PRESIDENT believes that Nixon won in considerable part because of his consistent and credible stand on Vietnam and he does not hesitate to give Nixon large credit for his unbroken responsibility all through the campaigning.

LBJ thinks that many voters turned to Nixon because of the sureness of his position on Vietnam and his determination not to say or do anything which could be used by Hanoi or anyone else to disturb the delicate negotiations.

I have never heard the President say a critical word about Vice President Humphrey's campaign, especially with reference to Vietnam. But it seems to me Mr. Johnson must feel that Humphrey hurt the negotiations and left the voters uncertain about where he stood by his statements that he would take the risk of ending the bombing without any assured response from Hanoi.

This is deduction, but I feel sure it is valid. It should be added at once that LBJ believes the dissident Democratic liberals made it unbearably difficult for Humphrey and so shattered the party by their arrogant "rule or ruin" tactics as to make winning next to impossible.

THE GOOD WILL and personal regard which Johnson and Nixon have for each other contribute greatly to their working together effectively during the transition. There is more. Each wants to see something near to a compulsory precedent which will govern future transitions between Presidents.

The Nixon-Johnson consultations are increasingly frequent; they have already been on the telephone with each other several times and LBJ wants to do his part in making Nixon the best prepared President-elect the nation has ever had. Mr. Johnson's patriotism overrides partisanship because his view is that if the United States has to have a Republican as President, LBJ wants to see him succeed as President.

Especially in foreign policy, President Johnson does not intend to heckle Nixon from the sidelines. LBJ looks upon General Eisenhower as the very model of an ex-President's relations to the White House and he has confided to friends that, apart from his chief aides — like Dean Rusk, Robert McNamara, Walt Rostow and members of his cabinet — he feels that Ike has given him the mose help, the wisest advice and the strongest encouragement he has received throughout his six years in the presidency. He would like to do the same to Nixon.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

In Showdown, Congress Will Wield The Power

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON —Top contressional leaders are telling themselves that one result of the Nov. 5 elections was to check, and perhaps even reverse, the slow seepage of power from Congress to the President.

Three years hence this veiw may seem to have been clouded by wishful thinking. House and Senate leaders have confidently deluded themselves before in the historic tug-of-war between the capitol and the White House.

For the present, however, legislative leaders believe there has been a real change in the power balance between the President and Congress. They think the change goes beyond the purely partison curb of a Democratic Congress on a Republican President.

Leaders in both parites think President Nixon will have to work with Congress, not manipulate it as President Johnson did in his early years as President. They think Nixon is well aware of this inhibition.

In Nixon's appointment of Bryce Harlow to manage legislative affairs they see a determination by the President-elect to cooperate with a congressional partner. Harlow, a 52-year-old alumnus of the Eisenhower Administration, is respected by leaders of both parties.

CONGRESSIONAL leaders in both parties know that the purely partisan restraints imposed on Nixon by this new Democratic Congress will bind very lightly.

On many issues the new President will be able to override party lines without Johnsonian pressures. Especially in the House, Nixon will often be able to find enough conservative Democrats to join his Republicans in a working majority.

The view that the power balance has shifted is not confined to Democratic leaders. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., is one GOP strategist who has spoken to friends of a "transition" in power brought about by the elections.

LOOKING AHEAD, it would appear that Nixon's problems with Congress will frequently develop on matters of timing and technique. On issues of when to act Democratic leaders can usually command the party-line support of all their members.

There have been hints of trouble, already — trouble with respect to Nixon's views on delaying the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and his support for tax-credits as a technique to get business into programs heretofore conducted — and financed — by government.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., opposes further delay in Senate approval of the non-proliferation treaty. If Mansfield formally asks the Senate to act and Nixon urges further delay, history suggests that the Democratic leader's timing will prevail.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, dislikes tax credits and the kind of incentive programs which they produce. If Nixon persists, he may find that programs involving tax credits are sharply altered in the House.

Sausalito's Lion's Share Wins A Permit

The Lion's Share, folk and rock entertainment center in Sausalito, won a conditional use permit to stay in business last night from the Sausalito City Council before a partisan crowd that overflowed city hall.

But the permit is good only until operator Michael Considine's lease expires July 15, and only if the noise of rock bands, folk singers and electrified instruments is kept inside the building at 100 Caledonia Street. (Another Sausalito Council story, page 1.)

14 PARKING SPACES

The council also granted a variance to let the Lion's Share get along with 14 parking spaces and a parking attendant instead of the 15 required by ordinance. Both actions were unanimous on the motion of Councilman George C. Hoffman.

A petition by 15 neighbors opposed the use permit, but nearly all the audience, which included 30 standees, praised the Lion's Share and pleaded for its life.

Pop singer Gail Garnett of Tiburon, a frequent performer there, said the restaurant is a favorite of performers and a place where old, young, rich, poor, black and white meet and get along.

"Do not negate . . . Considine's work over some excess hair," she asked, answering a complaint in the petition that Lion's Share patrons were "a generally undesirable group of patrons'' and "motley characters."

NO PERMIT

The restaurant has had entertainment for several years, but has never had the use permit needed for entertainment in a neighborhood residential zone. Entertainment was started by the operator who preceded Considine, who took over in 1966.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who represented Considine, said soundproofing in recent weeks should keep noise inside the building and end complaints.

The permit and variance were granted with the condition the city can cancel them by giving five days notice and holding a revocation hearing. Councilmen said the outcome depends on whether there are future complaints.

Storer said Considine should be able by July to show the noise is contained or will be ready to move.

Strongest complaint against the Lion's Share came from neighbor Charlotte Alvarez, who has complained several times to police about the noise. Until two weeks ago the noise was "almost unbearable," Mrs. Alvarez said.

BLASTS OWNER

She said police had frequently asked Considine to lower the volume, but she accused him of turning it back up as soon as the police left.

Considine denied that. "We aren't going to jeopardize our business" by defying police, he said.

Considine presented a petition in support of the Lion's Share signed by 180 persons, including over 100 Sausalito residents.

The restaurant drew praise from parents, Tamalpais High School student body president Chris Harris, an official of the San Francisco Folk Music Club and 10 or 12 other persons.

Mrs. Alvarez and one other Sausalito woman were the only persons speaking against the permit.

Canada Taking Look At Share of NORAD Plan

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government is considering whether to increase its forces assigned to the North American Defense Command, decrease them or pull out of NORAD, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau told the House of Commons yesterday.

Trudeau said Canada's part in the command, in which it the junior partner to the United States, is "indirectly" included in a government review of foreign and defense policy now being made.

If Canada decides to contribute nothing to the joint U.S.-Canada command, established in 1958 with headquarters in Colorado, the agreement would become defunct, he said.

If Canada decreases its commitment but does not eliminate it, Trudeau continued, the NORAD agreement can exist with "very little arms from one side or the other."

Visitors to the Virgin Islands National Park "hike" one of its paths in swimming trunks, mask and flippers.

Teen Center Boosted With Council Funds

The Sausalito City Council last night boosted a Sausalito teen center by approving $220 a month for a part-time recreation director and $500 for any needed building repairs at a teen center, despite complaints by Councilman Robin Sweeney that the church property now used is "an abomination" and unsafe for teen-agers to be in.

Mrs. Sweeney said the former Star of the Sea Catholic Church building has a leaky roof and holes in the floor "you can stick your leg through," and said another building should be found.

Attorney Douglas P. Ferguson, who has worked with the teen group, said he had sought another building with no success. He warned that tying approval to another building would kill the momentum and enthusiasm the teen group has built up.

The council voted 4-1, Mrs. Sweeney dissenting, for the recreation director, following the recommendation of the recreation commission read at a meeting Saturday with members of the Sausalito Teen Club.

The director would work up to 25 hours a week for $220 a month for the rest of the fiscal year.

Constitution Talk

The work of the California Constitution Revision Commission will be discussed by the commission's counsel, Allen Jensen, at a public luncheon to be held by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin at noon Tuesday at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, San Rafael. Baby sitting will be provided.

Bridgeway Project Changes Approved For Cost Lowering

The Sausalito City Council last night approved changes in Phase II of the Bridgeway widening project which it hopes will bring costs into line with estimates, an authorized city engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger to seek new bids for the project.

Bids opened Nov. 7 were double to triple the $150,000 estimate.

Changes Wohlschlaeger proposed last night would eliminate the seawall and substitute a wider sidewalk on the bayward side of the project. Former bids on the seawall were $160,000 and up.

The new plan proposes a sidewalk between the city pier and Richardson Street of concrete or gravel, and a median street strip of patterned concrete or washed concrete. The alternatives of gravel and washed concrete may produce lower bids, Wohlschlaeger said. The sidewalk north of the city pier will be concrete as planned before.

The seawall was a concrete wave splash barrier. Rock riprap already in place is the actual seawall.

The Sausalito City Council also:

TRIDENT — Set a Dec. 3 hearing for a proposal by Peter Wells of the Trident to cover 35 per cent of the restaurant's deck.

VARIANCE — Approved a variance sought by MOD development for an extension of a roof line at 42 Bulkley Avenue which is six feet higher than allowed in the district.

HEARINGS — Set Dec. 3 hearings for use permits sought by Ralph P. Gomez for property in Marina Vista subdivision and Loyal Davis for property on Lincoln Drive.

CURFEW — Told city staff to prepare an amendment of the city's juvenile curfew from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. to conform with curfew in the rest of the county.

CAAB — Accepted resignation of Theodore T. Bountmy from the Community Appearance Advisory Board effective when a replacement is named.

REAPPOINTMENT — Reappointed John C. Campbell and Mrs. Sanford Autumn to new one-year terms on the CAAB.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Dec. 3 in memory of Mrs. Charlotte Gallagher Mork, Sausalito resident since 1902 and former employee of Sausalito Savings and Loan, who died Friday.

Church Is Looted

A wooden gavel and church seal were stolen from the Christian Science Church, 290 Corte Madera Avenue, between Sunday and yesterday, Mill Valley police reported.

In 1815 Napoleon was exiled to St. Helena. To forestall any rescue attempt, the British based a naval garrison on Ascension Island, 800 miles away, and regularly patrolled the neighboring waters.

Sport Of Trial-Watching Declines, Which Is Too Bad For America

The grand old American sport of trial watching seems to be on the decline.

There have been only a handful of spectators this year at the murder trials of Joaquin Herrera, Johnnie Sommerhalder and the joint trial of John Arceo and Dennis Novotny.

There may be more room when the courts move to the Civic Center next year, but there will be even fewer spectators unless Terra Linda and Marinwood have a lot of residents with time on their hands.

There are always crowds in municipal court, but they are all defendants or lawyers — there is rarely room for spectators.

Most people simply haven't time to attend a trial any more, and senior citizens are busy with other things —golfing, television, or puttering.

IT IS A SHAME, really, because watching a trial unfold is a valuable lesson in the way our system works. No one should start complaining about our courts and their decisions until he has seen them first-hand.

Instead of court watchers, these days we have council watchers. Each of Marin's city and town councils has a small group of spectators who turn out for every meeting.

A few that come to mind are Mrs. Dollahite in Fairfax, Manny Gomez in Mill Valley, Carl Spring in Sausalito and Nan Hepp with the Mill Valley School District Board.

They help to keep board members on their toes, an uncomfortable but salutary position.

ATTORNEYS in the Arceo-Novotny trial estimated it would last six to seven weeks, but don't count on it taking that long. Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating has shifted his other duties so the trial can proceed five days a week, and is starting the trial day half an hour early at 9:30 a.m.

He has also lit a fire under the attorneys. Neither side is likely to shilly-shally after the roasting Keating gave Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas last week when Thomas asked a few minutes' delay to produce some prosecution exhibits.

Keating has been patient when an attorney needed time to frame a question or a witness to answer one, but he is not suffering any delay from lack of preparation.

The jury won't have to miss Christmas dinner at home.

ONE OF THE entertaining sights around the courthouse is the appearance and disappearance of facial hair on the premises. Not among defendants, although there are many long-haired young people among that group.

Half the attorneys appearing for the daily municipal court calendar have been sporting sideburns of varying length and elegance, and a few have sprouted mustaches as well. It may be a form of identification with their younger clients.

Somewhat undecided was Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael J. Anthony, who in a few weeks grew sideburns, then added a mustache, then shaved off the lot. But not on orders from the boss, apparently. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales is now wearing a military-looking mustache he brought back from vacation.

The sideburns do look rather un-establishment, which could hinder a rising young lawyer. They might consider the example of Wallace S. Myers, who among other things is Fairfax city attorney. Myers manages to combine long hair and an establishment look with a luxuriant head of hair that looks the way Sen. Everett Dirksen's would if he had a good barber.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Rule Of Law Ignored In Campus Appeasement

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

"Government of laws and not of men" is a principle of the American system that seems to be widely ignored in the wave of uprisings which have closed and disrupted California colleges and high schools.

Administrators of schools swept by revolt have attempted to deal with the disruptions through what they call "established procedures." When these procedures broke down, they have as last resort called in the police. After the police have hauled off a few of the most abusive of the campus hell-raisers, the school officials have fallen back on the same procedures that had failed previously.

The tultimate disciplinary means placed in the hands of school administrations are expulsion of students and dismissal of teachers. To do either, the schools need the backing of the courts. A series of recent court decisions indicates that they have it.

LAST YEAR, University of California expelled several students for participating in "filthy speech rallies" on the Berkeley campus. Some of those expelled filed suit, contending their right of free speech under the First Amendment had been violated.

The case (Goldberg vs. University of California Regents) was carried to the District Court of Appeal. That court not only upheld the expulsions, but in doing so commented:

"Association with an educational institution as a student requires certain minimum standards of propriety in conduct to insure that the educational functions of the institution can be pursued in an orderly and reasonable manner. . . . Conduct involving rowidness, rioting, the destruction of property, the reckless display of impropriety or any unjustifiable disturbance of the public order on or off campus is indefensible."

The court indicated that the same restriction would apply to faculty members by commenting that the privilege of attending a state university was somewhat analogous to the privilege of holding public employment.

IN ZANDERS vs. Louisiana State Board of Education, the U. S. District Court for the Western District of Louisiana upheld expulsion of 29 students from a state college for participating in a demonstration to block the college admission building. In doing so, the court ruled that neither the freedom of speech clause nor the equal protection clause of the United States Constitution licensed the students in such activity.

In Buttny vs. Smiley, the U. S. District Court for Colorado upheld suspension of University of Colorado students for preventing armed forces recruiters, university officials, and other students from entering the University Placement Bureau.

Punishment of the students for this was not a denial of their right of political expression, the court ruled. Purposely aggressive "civil disobedience" is not free speech, it held.

AS FOR TEACHERS, the California Education Code sets forth that a teacher may lose his teaching credential for unprofessional conduct, and includes within that (1) leaving the school during the time he is employed to teach, without consent of the trustees, and (2) profanity. These two alone would cover most of the cases of faculty members who have participated in student revolts and joined picket lines or demonstrations when they were supposed to be teaching.

Much of the reluctance of school authorities to take such measures has been predicated on the contention that to do so might interfere with academic freedom. A difference view of this was expressed by a California jurist, Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin County Municipal Court, in an address last week at an American Civil Liberties Union forum. Said the judge:

"Submission to force and violence in the name of compassion and patience has already had an insidious and destructive effect upon our educational system at all levels. . . . The continued appeasement of this small group poses the single most immediate threat to academic freedom."

The courts, it appears, stand ready to help save the schools. But those charged with running the schools are curiously reluctant to invite that help.

Marin Philosopher Discusses 'Wealth'

Unless Americans can quit confusing money — the symbol — with wealth — the real thing — the United States will cease to exist by the year 2000, direly predicts Alan Watts, Sausalito philosopher, in the December issue of Playboy magazine.

Watts' article, "Wealth vs. Money," contends that technology has made it possible for all to have sufficient wealth to live comfortably without working.

Sonoma Request Made For Coastline Study

I- JSpecial Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard a request that a commission be formed to study access to and development of the county coastline.

Richard Day, attorney for Citizens Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands, presented a resolution that would establish such a commission. The supervisors advised him to present the proposal to the Sonoma County Parks and Recreation Department for study and recommendations.

The organization had supported Proposition B to establish access corridors to the coast, which failed on the Nov. 4 Sonoma County ballot.

Dr. William Kortum, leader of the organization, said the proposed commission should have the responsibility for developing recreation and access to the coast and should serve as an advisory body to the board of supervisors.

Motorcycle Rider Suffers Broken Arm

Thomas Blair Estes, 36, of 515 Arlington Circle, San Rafael, was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael yesterday for a broken left arm and scrapes suffered when his motorcycle hit a car in jammed commute traffic in Lucas Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The accident occurred at 8:28 a.m., the highway patrol said, on Highway 101 north of the Lucas Valley crossing when traffic slowed for accidents ahead and Estes hit the rear of a car driven by Dr. Charles C. Canada, 60, of Napa, and was thrown onto the center divider.

Father Admits Buying His Teens Marijuana

FREMONT (UPI) — Police said today they were investigating the activities of a college psychologist who supplied his teen-age children with marijuana rather than have them deal with drug peddlers.

Although he is personally opposed to the use of marijuana, police said, Dr. Pete Wilson, 39, purchased the drug for his children Bill, 17, and Cynthia, 15, because he did not want them to deal directly with sellers.

Because he had second thoughts about his involvement, Wilson told police, he cut off his children's supply about a month ago and put a sign on the front door reading, "No dopers allowed." They, however, continued to use the drug.

Wilson finally called police last Saturday, said his children were incorrigible and asked that they be taken into custody. Both are students at Mission San San Jose High School in Fremont.

Dr. Stephen Epler, president of Ohlone Junior College in Fremont, where Wilson is an instructor in psychology, said he has asked for a full report on Wilson's involvement in purchasing marijuana.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana

Wade George Gibson, 19, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court today to a charge that he possessed marijuana Feb. 29 in Sausalito.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino dismissed additional charges that he resisted arrest and possessed a syringe that day.

Gibson's case was continued until Dec. 18 for sentencing.

Reed Board Pares New School Plans

Revisions in bids and the construction schedule for Reedland Woods School to keep costs within $1,250,000 budget were ordered last night by the Reed School District board, according to Asst. Supt. William G. Vanasen.

Vanasen said the board ordered the academic and unified arts building of the new middle school to be incorporated into one base bid with separate additional bids prepared for the administrative and physical education-music buildings.

In addition, the board asked architect Ron D. Young of Santa Clara to delete music practice rooms, instrument storage areas and shower and gym locker facilities in the physical education building, Vanasen said.

The board originally had hoped to construct the 68,000-square-foot school as one unit. However, escalating construction costs and unexpected expenses in the site preparation prompted the revisions.

Vanasen said the site preparation costs are estimated to exceed the $160,000 budget by $50,000. In addition, he noted, building costs have increased from $16 to $17.50 a square foot.

The school, which eventually will house 720 sixth to eighth grade students, is expected to be ready for partial occupancy by September 1969 and completed by December 1969.

The board also accepted the resignations of Susan Davis, primary teacher at Granada School and Judy Wheatley, a teacher on the Del Mar School middle school team. Mrs. Wheatley is being transferred to Sacramento and Miss Davis resigned for health reasons, Vanasen said.

Hub's School Board Eying Building Need

The San Anselmo School District board last night scheduled an informal meeting for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 in the Red Hill School library to discuss means of meeting school building needs.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said several persons who have worked for district interests in the past will be invited, and the group will consider the possibility of naming a citizens' committee for building recommendations.

He said that in light of the June 4 primary defeat of the district's $510,000 bond issue, the feasibility of setting a new bond election or requesting taxpayer approval of a higher tax rate to raise needed funds will be considered.

The bond issue would have provided funds for a six-classroom unit at Red Hill School, a multi-purpose structure for teaching, music training and physical education at Hidden Valley School, and correction of drainage problems at Sleepy Hollow School.

In other action last night, board president Pieter Toal named board members Cornelia Busse and Robert W. Corlett to represent the board on a joint school-City of San Anselmo committee to discuss mutual items of interest.

Members of an 11-member budget advisory committee for the district also were named. They are James E. French, Nancy Philie and Caryl Kurtzman, all district teachers; Richard B. Connell, Hidden Valley School principal; Patrick A. O'Donnell, director of instruction for the district; and two citizens, Herbert West of 120 Crescent Road and William Christy, 1306 San Anselmo Avenue.

A third citizen will be named later.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

LETTER — Took under study a suggestion by Mrs. C. D. McBride of 25 Tappan Road to erect a stop sign at the northeast intersection of Van Winkle Drive and Perry Street near the Sleepy Hollow School.

LIBRARY — Authorized Parodi to withdraw the district from the Marin County schools libary services effective July 1.

PERSONNEL — Accepted the resignation of Beverly Zirpoli as part-time secretary in the district's curriculum office and appointed Margaret Framm to replace her at a monthly salary of $307. The board also hired two teacher aides for educationally handicapped classes at $180 each monthly.

Marin Population Of 375,000 Is Forecast By '85

A federal economist predicted today at a conference in the Marin Civic Center that Marin would have a population of 375,000 by 1985.

The current estimated population of the county s 205,000.

L. T. Wallace, senior staff economist in the Office of the President in Washington, D.C., spoke at a conference of about 100 officials from Marin, Lake, Mendocino, Napa and Sonoma counties sponsored by the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

Wallace projected the Sonoma County population in 1985 at 297,000.

Fairfax Votes Clerk $150 Raise, Wrestles Administrator Issue

By JOANNE GRANT

Fairfax City Council, refusing to believe City Clerk Frances Lestanguet's resignation as interim city administrator, last night voted unanimously to pay her $150 a month more for the extra duties.

The raise is a temporary measure — good until the council and city office personnel make a study on the work involved and the time it takes.

Mayor Robert R. Souza appointed himself and Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson to make the study and report back in January.

Mrs. Lestanguet had been receiving $100 a month in addition to her clerk's salary of $643 for extra work caused by the resignation of City Administrator David J. Sumbardo and the council's subsequent decision not to hire another administrator.

RAISES ASKED

The money was paid under a 90-day ordinance which expired Oct. 1. After that Mrs. Lestanguet asked for more money and the subject was on the agenda three times.

Last week, when the council again failed to act on her request, Mrs. Lestanguet resigned as interim city administrator. Mayor Souza said last night he believed the resignation was made emotionally, that Mrs. Lestanguet hadn't really meant it.

The decision to grant the extra pay, retroactive to Oct. 1, followed another lengthy discussion in the city's continuing controversy on the form of government.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell who has steadfastly opposed an administrator admitted that an administrator can do things to save money but maintained, "There aren't enough day-to-day things a city administrator can do."

'LEFT ALONE'

He said Fairfax doesn't want a lot of projects. "They want to be left alone as long as they can," he said.

Mrs. Wilson disagreed, noting people complain if their streets aren't paved and other items taken care of properly. "They do expect things to go along," she said.

She listed more than a dozen things a city administrator would do, such as speak for Fairfax to the county, the Urban Thoroughfare Committee and other organizations, update major ordinances, gather information to assist the council, work to get a branch library in Fairfax and others.

"We have to decide what we want to forget," Mrs. Wilson said, "and what we will do." She noted, "we're being paid now and so far we haven't done very much."

Mayor Souza asked Mrs. Lestanguet if she could accomplish some of the things Mrs. Wilson named, plus the things she knows a city administrator must do, if she were given additional staff.

"The necessary things that have to be done can be done," she replied, but added "All these extra things that you're talking about cannot be."

Councilman Frank J. Egger commented that the city has no administrator or engineer but the tax rate is still the same. "We talk about saving money," he said.

Joseph Walla of 175 Cascade Drive pointed out that council salaries, plus $250 a month for Mrs. Lestanguet (the amount recommended by the council personnel committee), plus an extra clerk, were getting costs back up to the administrator level without a professional.

"I think we should go out and recruit a city administrator," he said firmly.

Mayor Souza indicated he would rather wait until after the Dec. 7 Congress for Community Progress before taking another vote on whether to have an administrator.

The council took no action on the second part of the personnel committee report which involved Mrs. Dell Blodgett, who had been Sumbardo's secretary.

The report recommended eliminating the administrative secretary post and replacing it with a general office clerk position at more than $100 a month less.

Mrs. Blodgett, in a series of memos to the council, protested the reduction and said "it would indicate a strong hint for me to remove myself from the position."

Mayors, Councilmen To Hear Span Chief

Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, will speak to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at 7:30 p.m. today at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

The council also will consider changing the bylaws to create an executive committee to discuss business between dinner meetings. At the last meeting, some councilmen questioned the effectiveness of the dinner sessions, especially since they are preceded by a cocktail hour.

Flexibility In Development Of Fairfax Is Discussed

An ordinance which would allow flexibility in the development of Fairfax was reviewed last night in a study session of the Fairfax City Council and Planning Commission.

The zoning ordinance is being developed in conjunction with the city's general plan by Marin County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill.

Cordill outlined some of the changes in the ordinance last night, pointing out that it proposes use permits instead of the city's current variance procedure.

The change, he explained, would make special uses a part of the deed. Variances are not recorded.

He said Fairfax currently has four zones while the new ordinance proposes 10 and includes several sections which would allow the city latitude in future development.

Several accessory ordinances are incorporated into the proposal such as the city's slope policy, he said.

"It is opening the door to some planning decisions by the city which haven't been available before," Cordill said.

Several more study sessions are expected on the proposed ordinance before it comes to the council for approval.

The Fairfax City Council also:

DEER PARK — Mayor Robert R. Souza appointed Councilman Frank J. Egger and Cornelis Van Vliet to investigate the possibility of buying a small portion of Deer Park for development as a city park.

FIRE MAIN — Authorized spending $5,600 as the city's share of replacing a water main on Forrest Avenue.

FIRE TRUCK — Approved a request from Fire Chief Charles Thornton to begin plans and specifications for a new fire truck.

INCREASE — Agreed to have a study made on the city's cost of granting a cost-of-living increase to retired employees.

Judge Must Decide Real Sticky Puzzler

LONDON (UPI)—It was a sticky problem for Judge John Cross. He was asked to rule on whether candy-covered apples are fruit or candy.

After hearing testimony from candied apple makers and from customs and excise commissioners, Judge Cross reserved decision.

Learning-Sharing Speaker Slated

James Allen, Del Mar School teacher, will speak on "Learning and Sharing" to the youth ministry of the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon at 6 p.m. tomorrow in the church auditorium. The supper meeting will end at 7:30 p.m.

The youth ministry is open to sixth-eighth grade students from the Tiburon Peninsula area. The group is led by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson of San Francisco Theological Seminary and Rev. Frank S. Evans and meets every other Thursday.

Future meetings are scheduled for Dec. 5 and 19 and a trip to the ice capades in planned for Sunday.

Fair-Marin In Role Of Board's Scapegoat

On page 25 of last Friday's Independent-Journal appeared a story that began: "Fair-Marin directors, who will operate the county fairgrounds site at the Civic Center, agreed last night that they need more autonomy in planning and scheduling than the county administrator recommends."

On page 7 of the same issue appeared a story from Sacramento that began: "The Cal Expo executive committee voted today to ask Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature for money to operate next year."

THERE IS MORE than casual similarity here. Cal Expo and Fair-Marin were both set up as non-profit corporations, the first to operate a continuing exhibit to replace or agument the state fair, the second to operate county fairgrounds and auditorium on a year-around basis.

The woes of Cal-Expo are now well known. It is a non-profit operation all right — too much so. It wound up its first year with a whopping deficit, and it appears very doubtful that it will operate at all next year.

It is unrealistic to suppose that Fair-Marin can attract enough paying events to auditorium and fairgrounds to make them self-supporting, at least for some years to come.

Cal-Expo directors were not hogtied in their function. Fair-Marin directors have that additional handicap. The county administrator, who dreamed up the non-profit corporation idea for the fairgrounds in the first place, now wants to give directions to the corporation's directors.

THE "NON-PROFIT corporation" is a favorite device these days. Actually, however, it is functional only if it can really return profit. What would be the profit can then be used to expand the operation, or — in the case of a corporation set up by state or county — returned to the public coffer whence came the money for the facility in the first place.

When the people of Marin County authorized bonds to build Civic Center and fairgrounds, they did so not in the idea that they were creating a corporation, but in the belief that such facilities are for the public good. They did not look for profit, although of course they did hope for economical operation.

The non-profit corporation, therefore, seems to serve but one purpose: to provide a scapegoat for the elected officials and their hired administrators.

If costs of fairgrounds and auditorium appear excessive, the board of supervisors (and its hired administrator) can blame their creature, Fair-Marin.

MOREOVER, the very nature of the organization is contradictory to its purpose. Although it was set up to operate fairgrounds and auditorium for the good of all, its directors were chosen from special purpose groups seeking to promote their own special uses of those facilities. It thus has a built-in conflict of interests.

In addition to these handicaps, there is another. The county parks and recreation commission is charged with direction of recreational activities on county property. But it was by-passed completely in creating Fair-Marin. It is not even represented on the board.

The board of supervisors should accept responsibility for the fairgrounds and auditorium. There is no need for a non-profit corporation. What is needed is county direction, by those elected — and paid — to do the job.

Former Gov. Pat Brown has disclosed he is thinking about running again two years hence. That's just what we don't need in 1970: another Hobson's choice between Brown and Reagan.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Finch In Enviable Position To Decide Upon Own Future

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Biggest guessing game around the state capitol these days concerns the future of Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, the "right-hand" man of President-elect Richard Nixon, who is in the enviable position of being able to call his own shots on what he wants for the future.

Apparently, one guess is as good as another, because Finch himself isn't certain at the moment as to just which shot he will call.

SHOULD THE lieutenant governor decide to dump his prospects in California down the drain and strike out for wider fields in Washington, the assumption is that he can have virtually any job he selects. Already, he has ruled out a post as White House aide to the president, and attorney general. But there still remain cabinet posts and other appointments which would fit a man of his caliber.

Should Finch decide to remain in California as lieutenant governor, he takes a gamble on winning one of the two choicest and most influential political posts in the country: (1) U. S. senator from California; (2) the governorship of California.

THE GOSSIP has it that Sen. George Murphy will either retire or not seek re-election. Should this occur, it puts Finch in the top position to be his successor —depending eventually, of course, on the temper of the electorate.

And, should Gov. Ronald Reagan decide not to seek a second term, Finch is his logical successor. At the moment, this is a far out supposition, as all indications point to Reagan as a candidate to succeed himself in 1970.

However, events next year could change this picture. It's a known fact the Democrats would rather see Reagan the gubernatorial candidate than Finch. It's much easier to attack the record of an incumbent than a candidate who is fresh on the scene. Whether Reagan's record could withstand a Democratic onslaught, which is expected to begin with the opening of the 1969 Legislature, is open to question.

Up to the time of Earl Warren, two-term governors in California were virtually nonexistent. And although Warren made it three times and Pat Brown twice, the state could return to its old policy of one term for its chief executive.

FORTUNATELY, Finch is confronted with no Hobson's choice as to his future. Rather, his choice is one which was defined by Julius Caesar centrues ago when the great Roman, according to Francis Bacon, "made no scruple to profess 'that he had rather be first in a village than second at Rome."

Quite obviously, Finch in Washington would be a "second man," a not inconsiderable position these days, as times have changed since Caesar made his long-remembered observation.

On the other hand, Finch in California gambles on being "a first man" either as a potential U. S. senator or governor, without being lost in the shuffle of national politics.

Principal On Role Of English Classes

Mr. (Bryce W.) Anderson's column in the Nov. 13 issue of the Independent-Journal concerned "a story in a recent issue of a student newspaper in a San Francisco Bay Area high school."

Since I am intimately acquainted with the high school which Mr Anderson had in mind, I would like to comment on the contents of his article.

Apparently, Mr. Anderson believes that senior English should concern itself exclusively with reading good literature and studying the rules of grammar. Other matters, such as racial prejudice, should be left to other departments; in his case probably social sciences. He cites as proof of this that in the same school paper there was evidence of the students' inability to use the English language properly. . . .

First of all, I would like to agree entirely with Mr. Anderson in his concern over the incompetence apparent in that particular edition of our school paper. If anything, he was kind to us in his criticism. . . . The adviser and student editors are fully aware of the quality of their product. In this case, they made themselves, and the entire school, look bad by this publication.

There are only two statements I can make in their defense: (1) they are student journalists who are learning, so they are expected to make mistakes, and (2) they really know better. Their errors are due to indolence, rather than ignorance, and they still will make a greater effort in the future to improve.

Whereas. I certainly agree with Mr. Anderson in his appraisal of that issue of our school paper, I couldn't disagree with him more in his opinion about what should be taught in high school English. Let me cite a few facts:

1. Proper language usage is all teachers' business in every class we teach in every grade from kindergarten through Grade 12. Youngsters learn good English (or bad, unfortunately) many, many places other than their English classes. The home is probably the most important learning agency of all.

2. In school, proper language usage begins in kindergarten and is a continuous process. Formal spelling begins in Grade 1. Formal punctuation instruction (including the forming of possessive nouns) in Grade 2.

3. The most capable experts in curriculum (Will French and Edward Krug, to mention two), through extensive research, have concluded that a unified approach to learning — integrating subject areas — is superior to a strictly compartmentized method. Consequently, we urge our teachers to employ an interdisciplinary strategy in teaching, exactly as that senior English class teacher was attempting to do.

No Right To Knock English Class Poll

I think that Bryce W. Anderson had no right in knocking the polls taken by the 12th grade English class. The topic of discussion was black-white power which prompted us to do a survey. English doesn't confine itself to just grammar, vocabulary, and spelling, but it's a broader subject than these. This might relate minutely to social studies, but these things are really learned in an English class. The various topics make our class quite a bit more interesting than doing everything by the book. Anyway, a student should know grammar and spelling by the time he reaches 12th grade. Mr. Anderson, how many words do you misspell? How many puctuation errors do you make? Not even the smartest English professor at a well-known college could conduct the survey like we did without making mistakes. Our English teacher shouldn't be put down because six of us did the survey without his supervision. More students and teachers should be aware of how situations really are. We felt this was the best way to get our point across.

SANDE BILLIPS
San Rafael High School
12th Grade
San Rafael

(Editor's note: The letter obviously refers to "The People's Schools" column of Nov. 13, which discussed local and state course mandates and used a survey of racial bias opinions by an English class as an example that course titles may be meaningless. Because this was used merely as an example of widespread practices, the school and teacher were not identified. Miss Billips, however, has correctly recognized the school and class.)

WASHINGTON — The most fascinating and important development today is the evolving relationship — close, comfortable and trusted — between President Johnson and President-elect Nixon.

This is the foundation of the Nixon-Johnson compact to make joint decisions on crucial foreign policy matters from here to Jan. 20.

This compact isn't just a nice procedure. Without it the United States would be paralyzed in vital areas of foreign policy action.

THIS REMARKABLE rapport began during the campaign and has been steadily expanding.

Each has contributed and it was deliberate, not accidental.

Those who have talked with both men know that it stems directly and primarily from their substantially common views on Vietnam and the need for extreme care and responsibility in dealing with the peace talks in the heat and scuffle of the campaign.

Mr. Johnson frankly feels that Nixon contributed incalculably to helping him reach the agreement with Hanoi which made the bombing halt possible and which brings further negotiations within reach.

Nixon feels that the President played fair with him all through the campaign and that LBJ purposely refrained from personal attacks in the few political speeches he delivered.

Both were looking to the future — and now they are profoundly gratified they did.

THE PRESIDENT believes that Nixon won in considerable part because of his consistent and credible stand on Vietnam and he does not hesitate to give Nixon large credit for his unbroken responsibility all through the campaigning.

LBJ thinks that many voters turned to Nixon because of the sureness of his position on Vietnam and his determination not to say or do anything which could be used by Hanoi or anyone else to disturb the delicate negotiations.

I have never heard the President say a critical word about Vice President Humphrey's campaign, especially with reference to Vietnam. But it seems to me Mr. Johnson must feel that Humphrey hurt the negotiations and left the voters uncertain about where he stood by his statements that he would take the risk of ending the bombing without any assured response from Hanoi.

This is deduction, but I feel sure it is valid. It should be added at once that LBJ believes the dissident Democratic liberals made it unbearably difficult for Humphrey and so shattered the party by their arrogant "rule or ruin" tactics as to make winning next to impossible.

THE GOOD WILL and personal regard which Johnson and Nixon have for each other contribute greatly to their working together effectively during the transition. There is more. Each wants to see something near to a compulsory precedent which will govern future transitions between Presidents.

The Nixon-Johnson consultations are increasingly frequent; they have already been on the telephone with each other several times and LBJ wants to do his part in making Nixon the best prepared President-elect the nation has ever had. Mr. Johnson's patriotism overrides partisanship because his view is that if the United States has to have a Republican as President, LBJ wants to see him succeed as President.

Especially in foreign policy, President Johnson does not intend to heckle Nixon from the sidelines. LBJ looks upon General Eisenhower as the very model of an ex-President's relations to the White House and he has confided to friends that, apart from his close aides — like Dean Rusk, Robert McNamara, Walt Rostow and members of his cabinet — he feels that Ike has given him the mose help, the wisest advice and the strongest encouragement he has received throughout his six years in the presidency. He would like to do the same to Nixon.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

In Showdown, Congress Will Wield The Power

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON —Top contressional leaders are telling themselves that one result of the Nov. 5 elections was to check, and perhaps even reverse, the slow seepage of power from Congress to the President.

Three years hence this veiw may seem to have been clouded by wishful thinking. House and Senate leaders have confidently deluded themselves before in the historic tug-of-war between the capitol and the White House.

For the present, however, legislative leaders believe there has been a real change in the power balance between the President and Congress. They think the change goes beyond the purely partison curb of a Democratic Congress on a Republican President.

Leaders in both parites think President Nixon will have to work with Congress, not manipulate it as President Johnson did in his early years as President. They think Nixon is well aware of this inhibition.

In Nixon's appointment of Bryce Harlow to manage legislative affairs they see a determination by the President-elect to cooperate with a congressional partner. Harlow, a 52-year-old alumnus of the Eisenhower Administration, is respected by leaders of both parties.

CONGRESSIONAL leaders in both parties know that the purely partisan restraints imposed on Nixon by this new Democratic Congress will bind very lightly.

On many issues the new President will be able to override party lines without Johnsonian pressures. Especially in the House, Nixon will often be able to find enough conservative Democrats to join his Republicans in a working majority.

The view that the power balance has shifted is not confined to Democratic leaders. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., is one GOP strategist who has spoken to friends of a "transition" in power brought about by the elections.

LOOKING AHEAD, it would appear that Nixon's problems with Congress will frequently develop on matters of timing and technique. On issues of when to act Democratic leaders can usually command the party-line support of all their members.

There have been hints of trouble, already — trouble with respect to Nixon's views on delaying the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and his support for tax-credits as a technique to get business into programs heretofore conducted — and financed — by government.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., opposes further delay in Senate approval of the non-proliferation treaty. If Mansfield formally asks the Senate to act and Nixon urges further delay, history suggests that the Democratic leader's timing will prevail.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, dislikes tax credits and the kind of incentive programs which they produce. If Nixon persists, he may find that programs involving tax credits are sharply altered in the House.

Army Reports Trouble In Presidio Stockade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Several alleged suicide attempts including a hanging, have been reported among 27 soldiers at the Presidio facing possible mutiny charges for refusing to obey orders.

The 27 prisoners staged a sit-in and refused to obey any orders Oct. 14. They were protesting the fatal shooting three days earlier of a fellow prisoner attempting to escape from a work detail. The prisoner was shot by a guard after refusing orders to halt.

Pre-trial hearings have been underway two weeks to determine whether the men should be tried on mutiny charges. The hearings are expected to last several weeks.

Among the men facing charges is Keith Mather, 21, of San Bruno, one of the nine servicemen who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar demonstration in a Marin City church last summer.

Mather is in the stockade awaiting review of his sentence after a court martial which found him guilty of desertion and disobedience of a lawful order. He has been sentenced to four years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge.

An Army spokesman said today, "it was indicated in the course of the pre-trial investigations that there were some instances of alleged attempted suicide."

"One prisoner was hospitalized overnight because he undertook to drink medicated shampoo prescribed by a doctor for treatment of dandruff. His stomach was pumped and he was released," the spokesman said.

"Another prisoner wrapped trousers around himself and attempted to hang himself but he never lost consciousness."

Speaking of attempted suicides and hangings, the spokesman said: "These things are very common to all confinement facilities — both military and civilian."

After the pre-trial investigations are completed, the spokesman said, the investigating officer will recommend to the commanding officer at the Presidio whether the prisoners should be tried for mutiny.

If the mutiny charge is recommended and the commanding officer agrees, the spokesman said, the cases would be referred to the commanding general of the Sixth Army at the Presidio.

"He makes the final determination for trial," he said.

No Wedding Bells

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—Carlos Cantera Artagaveytia, 20, saw $2,000 lying on the car seat of an Argentine tourist and picked it up, envisioning his chance to marry and set up a hairdresser shop with his future bride. Police became suspicious of his sudden prosperity and arrested him only hours before the scheduled wedding.

High School Students Get Role In Recreation Plans

San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools will send representatives to the next meeting of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission to discuss forming committees at each school to help plan teen recreation activities.

Ronald Koller of the city recreation department has met with students of both schools inviting each to send two representatives to the meeting at 8 p.m. Dec. 4 at city hall.

The date is a change from the regularly scheduled fourth Wednesday of the month because of Thanksgiving Day.

Koller said each school would be asked to form a committee consisting of two members from each class. The committees would work separately on needs at the individual schools and together on common problems, he said.

Terra Linda will send seniors Kathy Strachan and Claudette Sherbet. San Rafael's representatives are expected to be chosen tomorrow.

The student representatives were requested by the commission at its last meeting. Members also discussed the possibility of appointing a young person to the commission but took no action on the proposal.

C. Norman Stroyd is president of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin.

Sport Of Trial-Watching Declines, Which Is Too Bad For America

The grand old American sport of trial watching seems to be on the decline.

There have been only a handful of spectators this year at the murder trials of Joaquin Herrera, Johnnie Sommerhalder and the joint trial of John Arceo and Dennis Novotny.

There may be more room when the courts move to the Civic Center next year, but there will be even fewer spectators unless Terra Linda and Marinwood have a lot of residents with time on their hands.

There are always crowds in municipal court, but they are all defendants or lawyers — there is rarely room for spectators.

Most people simply haven't time to attend a trial any more, and senior citizens are busy with other things —golfing, television, or puttering.

IT IS A SHAME, really, because watching a trial unfold is a valuable lesson in the way our system works. No one should start complaining about our courts and their decisions until he has seen them first-hand.

Instead of court watchers, these days we have council watchers. Each of Marin's city and town councils has a small group of spectators who turn out for every meeting.

A few that come to mind are Mrs. Dollahite in Fairfax, Manny Gomez in Mill Valley, Carl Spring in Sausalito and Nan Hepp with the Mill Valley School District Board.

They help to keep board members on their toes, an uncomfortable but salutary position.

ATTORNEYS in the Arceo-Novotny trial estimated it would last six to seven weeks, but don't count on it taking that long. Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating has shifted his other duties so the trial can proceed five days a week, and is starting the trial day half an hour early at 9:30 a.m.

He has also lit a fire under the attorneys. Neither side is likely to shilly-shally after the roasting Keating gave Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas last week when Thomas asked a few minutes' delay to produce some prosecution exhibits.

Keating has been patient when an attorney needed time to frame a question or a witness to answer one, but he is not suffering any delay from lack of preparation.

The jury won't have to miss Christmas dinner at home.

ONE OF THE entertaining sights around the courthouse is the appearance and disappearance of facial hair on the premises. Not among defendants, although there are many long-haired young people among that group.

Half the attorneys appearing for the daily municipal court calendar have been sporting sideburns of varying length and elegance, and a few have sprouted mustaches as well. It may be a form of identification with their younger clients.

Somewhat undecided was Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael J. Anthony, who in a few weeks grew sideburns, then added a mustache, then shaved off the lot. But not on orders from the boss, apparently. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales is now wearing a military-looking mustache he brought back from vacation.

The sideburns do look rather un-establishment, which could hinder a rising young lawyer. They might consider the example of Wallace S. Myers, who among other things is Fairfax city attorney. Myers manages to combine long hair and an establishment look with a luxuriant head of hair that looks the way Sen. Everett Dirksen's would if he had a good barber.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Rule Of Law Ignored In Campus Appeasement

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

"Government of laws and not of men" is a principle of the American system that seems to be widely ignored in the wave of uprisings which have closed and disrupted California colleges and high schools.

Administrators of schools swept by revolt have attempted to deal with the disruptions through what they call "established procedures." When these procedures broke down, they have as last resort called in the police. After the police have hauled off a few of the most abusive of the campus hell-raisers, the school officials have fallen back on the same procedures that had failed previously.

The tultimate disciplinary means placed in the hands of school administrations are expulsion of students and dismissal of teachers. To do either, the schools need the backing of the courts. A series of recent court decisions indicates that they have it.

LAST YEAR, University of California expelled several students for participating in "filthy speech rallies" on the Berkeley campus. Some of those expelled filed suit, contending their right of free speech under the First Amendment had been violated.

The case (Goldberg vs. University of California Regents) was carried to the District Court of Appeal. That court not only upheld the expulsions, but in doing so commented:

"Association with an educational institution as a student requires certain minimum standards of propriety in conduct to insure that the educational functions of the institution can be pursued in an orderly and reasonable manner. . . . Conduct involving rowidness, rioting, the destruction of property, the reckless display of impropriety or any unjustifiable disturbance of the public order on or off campus is indefensible."

The court indicated that the same restriction would apply to faculty members by commenting that the privilege of attending a state university was somewhat analogous to the privilege of holding public employment.

IN ZANDERS vs. Louisiana State Board of Education, the U. S. District Court for the Western District of Louisiana upheld expulsion of 29 students from a state college for participating in a demonstration to block the college admission building. In doing so, the court ruled that neither the freedom of speech clause nor the equal protection clause of the United States Constitution licensed the students in such activity.

In Buttny vs. Smiley, the U. S. District Court for Colorado upheld suspension of University of Colorado students for preventing armed forces recruiters, university officials, and other students from entering the University Placement Bureau.

Punishment of the students for this was not a denial of their right of political expression, the court ruled. Purposely aggressive "civil disobedience" is not free speech, it held.

AS FOR TEACHERS, the California Education Code sets forth that a teacher may lose his teaching credential for unprofessional conduct, and includes within that (1) leaving the school during the time he is employed to teach, without consent of the trustees, and (2) profanity. These two alone would cover most of the cases of faculty members who have participated in student revolts and joined picket lines or demonstrations when they were supposed to be teaching.

Much of the reluctance of school authorities to take such measures has been predicated on the contention that to do so might interfere with academic freedom. A difference view of this was expressed by a California jurist, Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin County Municipal Court, in an address last week at an American Civil Liberties Union forum. Said the judge:

"Submission to force and violence in the name of compassion and patience has already had an insidious and destructive effect upon our educational system at all levels. . . . The continued appeasement of this small group poses the single most immediate threat to academic freedom."

The courts, it appears, stand ready to help save the schools. But those charged with running the schools are curiously reluctant to invite that help.

Marin Philosopher Discusses 'Wealth'

Unless Americans can quit confusing money — the symbol — with wealth — the real thing — the United States will cease to exist by the year 2000, direly predicts Alan Watts, Sausalito philosopher, in the December issue of Playboy magazine.

Watts' article, "Wealth vs. Money," contends that technology has made it possible for all to have sufficient wealth to live comfortably without working.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Bridge Eloquence Can Produce Lots Of Misery

After measuring partnership discussions and results at the bridge table, mathematicians have discovered that elequence equals misery times the square of confusion. In mathematical lingo this is expressed as Equals MC2 square, but in ordinary English we would say: the louder the partner, the worse the results. As usual we have a bridge hand to prove all of this.

WITH ACE

East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and shifted to the king of hearts. When West played the encouraging six, East continued with the queen of hearts. West completed his signal by playing the deuce of hearts and then waited for his partner to lead a third heart. West is still waiting.

East switched back to clubs, whereupon South won, drew trumps and claimed the rest of the tricks as though reprieved while the rope was already about his neck.

AN OVERTAKE?

"Why couldn't you overtake the queen of hearts with the ace?" East demanded. "Then you could lead a third heart, and I'd ruff to beat this silly contract."

"How coul I tell you had only two hearts?" West wailed. "If you held three hearts, overtaking with the ace would be the only way to give him the contract."

ARGUMENT CONTINUES

East continued his complaints, and West defended himself bitterly, thus producing misery and confusion. (Science never fails, after all.) Nobody saw that East might have saved the partnership by proper play of the hearts.

At the second trick East should lead the queen rather than the king of hearts. When this wins, East continues with the king of hearts. This reversal of the normal play in hearts should wake West up to the fact that something requires his attention.

If West is really alert he may reason that East would play the hearts normally if he had K-Q-z; and he may therefore overtake the second heart with the ace to lead a third heart.

Fairfax Votes Clerk $150 Raise, Wrestles Administrator Issue

By JOANNE GRANT

Fairfax City Council, refusing to believe City Clerk Frances Lestanguet's resignation as interim city administrator, last night voted unanimously to pay her $150 a month more for the extra duties.

The raise is a temporary measure — good until the council and city office personnel make a study on the work involved and the time it takes.

Mayor Robert R. Souza appointed himself and Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson to make the study and report back in January.

Mrs. Lestanguet had been receiving $100 a month in addition to her clerk's salary of $643 for extra work caused by the resignation of City Administrator David J. Sumbardo and the council's subsequent decision not to hire another administrator.

RAISES ASKED

The money was paid under a 90-day ordinance which expired Oct. 1. After that Mrs. Lestanguet asked for more money and the subject was on the agenda three times.

Last week, when the council again failed to act on her request, Mrs. Lestanguet resigned as interim city administrator. Mayor Souza said last night he believed the resignation was made emotionally, that Mrs. Lestanguet hadn't really meant it.

The decision to grant the extra pay, retroactive to Oct. 1, followed another lengthy discussion in the city's continuing controversy on the form of government.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell who has steadfastly opposed an administrator admitted that an administrator can do things to save money but maintained, "There aren't enough day-to-day things a city administrator can do."

'LEFT ALONE'

He said Fairfax doesn't want a lot of projects. "They want to be left alone as long as they can," he said.

Mrs. Wilson disagreed, noting people complain if their streets aren't paved and other items taken care of properly. "They do expect things to go along," she said.

She listed more than a dozen things a city administrator would do, such as speak for Fairfax to the county, the Urban Thoroughfare Committee and other organizations, update major ordinances, gather information to assist the council, work to get a branch library in Fairfax and others.

"We have to decide what we want to forget," Mrs. Wilson said, "and what we will do." She noted, "we're being paid now and so far we haven't done very much."

Mayor Souza asked Mrs. Lestanguet if she could accomplish some of the things Mrs. Wilson named, plus the things she knows a city administrator must do, if she were given additional staff.

"The necessary things that have to be done can be done," she replied, but added "All these extra things that you're talking about cannot be."

Councilman Frank J. Egger commented that the city has no administrator or engineer but the tax rate is still the same. "We talk about saving money," he said.

Joseph Walla of 175 Cascade Drive pointed out that council salaries, plus $250 a month for Mrs. Lestanguet (the amount recommended by the council personnel committee), plus an extra clerk, were getting costs back up to the administrator level without a professional.

"I think we should go out and recruit a city administrator," he said firmly.

Mayor Souza indicated he would rather wait until after the Dec. 7 Congress for Community Progress before taking another vote on whether to have an administrator.

The council took no action on the second part of the personnel committee report which involved Mrs. Dell Blodgett, who had been Sumbardo's secretary.

The report recommended eliminating the administrative secretary post and replacing it with a general office clerk position at more than $100 a month less.

Mrs. Blodgett, in a series of memos to the council, protested the reduction and said "it would indicate a strong hint for me to remove myself from the position."

Mayors, Councilmen To Hear Span Chief

Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, will speak to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at 7:30 p.m. today at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

The council also will consider changing the bylaws to create an executive committee to discuss business between dinner meetings. At the last meeting, some councilmen questioned the effectiveness of the dinner sessions, especially since they are preceded by a cocktail hour.

Flexibility In Development Of Fairfax Is Discussed

An ordinance which would allow flexibility in the development of Fairfax was reviewed last night in a study session of the Fairfax City Council and Planning Commission.

The zoning ordinance is being developed in conjunction with the city's general plan by Marin County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill.

Cordill outlined some of the changes in the ordinance last night, pointing out that it proposes use permits instead of the city's current variance procedure.

The change, he explained, would make special uses a part of the deed. Variances are not recorded.

He said Fairfax currently has four zones while the new ordinance proposes 10 and includes several sections which would allow the city latitude in future development.

Several accessory ordinances are incorporated into the proposal such as the city's slope policy, he said.

"It is opening the door to some planning decisions by the city which haven't been available before," Cordill said.

Several more study sessions are expected on the proposed ordinance before it comes to the council for approval.

The Fairfax City Council also:

DEER PARK — Mayor Robert R. Souza appointed Councilman Frank J. Egger and Cornelis Van Vliet to investigate the possibility of buying a small portion of Deer Park for development as a city park.

FIRE MAIN — Authorized spending $5,600 as the city's share of replacing a water main on Forrest Avenue.

FIRE TRUCK — Approved a request from Fire Chief Charles Thornton to begin plans and specifications for a new fire truck.

INCREASE — Agreed to have a study made on the city's cost of granting a cost-of-living increase to retired employees.

Judge Must Decide Real Sticky Puzzler

LONDON (UPI)—It was a sticky problem for Judge John Cross. He was asked to rule on whether candy-covered apples are fruit or candy.

After hearing testimony from candied apple makers and from customs and excise commissioners, Judge Cross reserved decision.

Learning-Sharing Speaker Slated

James Allen, Del Mar School teacher, will speak on "Learning and Sharing" to the youth ministry of the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon at 6 p.m. tomorrow in the church auditorium. The supper meeting will end at 7:30 p.m.

The youth ministry is open to sixth-eighth grade students from the Tiburon Peninsula area. The group is led by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson of San Francisco Theological Seminary and Rev. Frank S. Evans and meets every other Thursday.

Future meetings are scheduled for Dec. 5 and 19 and a trip to the ice capades in planned for Sunday.

Army Reports Trouble In Presidio Stockade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Several alleged suicide attempts including a hanging, have been reported among 27 soldiers at the Presidio facing possible mutiny charges for refusing to obey orders.

The 27 prisoners staged a sit-in and refused to obey any orders Oct. 14. They were protesting the fatal shooting three days earlier of a fellow prisoner attempting to escape from a work detail. The prisoner was shot by a guard after refusing orders to halt.

Pre-trial hearings have been underway two weeks to determine whether the men should be tried on mutiny charges. The hearings are expected to last several weeks.

Among the men facing charges is Keith Mather, 21, of San Bruno, one of the nine servicemen who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar demonstration in a Marin City church last summer.

Mather is in the stockade awaiting review of his sentence after a court martial which found him guilty of desertion and disobedience of a lawful order. He has been sentenced to four years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge.

An Army spokesman said today, "it was indicated in the course of the pre-trial investigations that there were some instances of alleged attempted suicide."

"One prisoner was hospitalized overnight because he undertook to drink medicated shampoo prescribed by a doctor for treatment of dandruff. His stomach was pumped and he was released," the spokesman said.

"Another prisoner wrapped trousers around himself and attempted to hang himself but he never lost consciousness."

Speaking of attempted suicides and hangings, the spokesman said: "These things are very common to all confinement facilities — both military and civilian."

After the pre-trial investigations are completed, the spokesman said, the investigating officer will recommend to the commanding officer at the Presidio whether the prisoners should be tried for mutiny.

If the mutiny charge is recommended and the commanding officer agrees, the spokesman said, the cases would be referred to the commanding general of the Sixth Army at the Presidio.

"He makes the final determination for trial," he said.

No Wedding Bells

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—Carlos Cantera Artagaveytia, 20, saw $2,000 lying on the car seat of an Argentine tourist and picked it up, envisioning his chance to marry and set up a hairdresser shop with his future bride. Police became suspicious of his sudden prosperity and arrested him only hours before the scheduled wedding.

High School Students Get Role In Recreation Plans

San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools will send representatives to the next meeting of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission to discuss forming committees at each school to help plan teen recreation activities.

Ronald Koller of the city recreation department has met with students of both schools inviting each to send two representatives to the meeting at 8 p.m. Dec. 4 at city hall.

The date is a change from the regularly scheduled fourth Wednesday of the month because of Thanksgiving Day.

Koller said each school would be asked to form a committee consisting of two members from each class. The committees would work separately on needs at the individual schools and together on common problems, he said.

Terra Linda will send seniors Kathy Strachan and Claudette Sherbet. San Rafael's representatives are expected to be chosen tomorrow.

The student representatives were requested by the commission at its last meeting. Members also discussed the possibility of appointing a young person to the commission but took no action on the proposal.

C. Norman Stroyd is president of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Bridge Eloquence Can Produce Lots Of Misery

After measuring partnership discussions and results at the bridge table, mathematicians have discovered that eloquence equals misery times the square of confusion. In mathematical lingo this is expressed as Equals MC2 square, but in ordinary English we would say: the louder the partner, the worse the results. As usual we have a bridge hand to prove all of this.

Opening lead — ♣ J

WITH ACE

East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and shifted to the king of hearts. When West played the encouraging six, East continued with the queen of hearts. West completed his signal by playing the deuce of hearts and then waited for his partner to lead a third heart. West is still waiting.

East switched back to clubs, whereupon South won, drew trumps and claimed the rest of the tricks as though reprieved while the rope was already about his neck.

AN OVERTAKE?

"Why couldn't you overtake the queen of hearts with the ace?" East demanded. "Then you could lead a third heart, and I'd ruff to beat this silly contract."

"How coul I tell you had only two hearts?" West wailed. "If you held three hearts, overtaking with the ace would be the only way to give him the contract."

ARGUMENT CONTINUES

East continued his complaints, and West defended himself bitterly, thus producing misery and confusion. (Science never fails, after all.) Nobody saw that East might have saved the partnership by proper play of the hearts.

At the second trick East should lead the queen rather than the king of hearts. When this wins, East continues with the king of hearts. This reversal of the normal play in hearts should wake West up to the fact that something requires his attention.

If West is really alert he may reason that East would play the hearts normally if he had K-Q-z; and he may therefore overtake the second heart with the ace to lead a third heart.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—8 3 2
♥—K Q
♣—10 5 3
♦—A 8 7 4 3.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one no trump.

Do not raise partner with only two-card support for his suit.

An Old Festival

BENTON, Ky. (UPI)—This town has been the home of the annual "Big Singing Day," a Welsh folk festival, since 1884.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 20, the 325th day of 1968 with 41 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1937 Chungking was established as the war time capital of China.

In 1945 24 top German leaders went on trial at Nuremberg before the International War Crimes Tribunal.

In 1947 Princess Elizabeth of England married Philip Mountbatten.

In 1964 newspaper executive Roy Howard died in New York City at the age of 81.

A thought for the day: Scottish essayist Thomas Carlyle said, "Music is well said to be the speech of angels."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Intestinal Surgery Sometimes An Answer To Extreme Obesity

VAN DELLEN

Surgery for extreme obesity does not involve cutting away fat. It is an operation in which the last half of the small intestine is bypassed so as to lessen the area where certain foods are absorbed.

Tubby stuffs himself as always, but only half of the food reaches his tissues. The remainder is eliminated as waste. The good results stem from marked interference with fat absorption.

THIS DRASTIC procedure is recommended only in intractable obesity. It is not advised when overeating is on a psychological basis.

Candidates are otherwise healthy and under 40 years of age. The operation is a standard procedure and has been done by suregons in many parts of the country. All persons so treated lost considerable weight.

Diarrhea, a troublesome side effect, usually subsides within 6 to 12 months.

ONE MAN lost 121 of his 320 pounds in nine months; but the bowel had to be re-attached, because he developed a turbulent personality and was depressed.

More than a year ago we told of a similar operation to lower blood cholesterol levels. It is in this part of the bowel that the cholesterol in food and in bile is absorbed. Again we must stress that resection is drastic treatment.

Cholestyramine, a new anti-cholesterol drug, also prevents absorption of cholesterol-rich bile. There is some evidence that this experimental product might affect utilization of other food elements.

OPERATIONS of these types are examples of manmade malabsorption syndrome. There are many hereditary and acquired diseases involving impaired absorption.

In some, food is absorbed but not carried to the tissues and not altered sufficiently to be utilized. When fat is not absorbed, elements, such as vitamins A and D, that are soluble in fats, are not absorbed. It is for this reason that the malabsorption syndrome leads to a constellation of symptoms.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

U. C., Colleges Warned: Cut Back Requests

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Reagan administration is telling the University of California and the state colleges to cut back sharply on requests for more money next year.

The latest economy move is part of the administration's attempt to keep the new budget below $6 billion and still have enough money left over for a $35 million tax cut for middle-income Californians.

The present budget is a record $5.7 billion and officials said the next one will be three per cent to four per cent higher.

EXCEED REVENUE

Finance Director Caspar Weinberger said that spending estimates by state department heads exceeded expected revenues by $500 million for the 1968-69 budget that will be submitted to the Legislature early next year.

"The allocations to most of the agencies will be less than they expected," Weinberger said in an interview yesterday. "We will have no tax increase and we will have a balanced budget."

Weinberger said spending requests by U.C. and state college administrators will be cut for both day-to-day operating expenses and for construction.

Educational appropriations, he said, will be boosted only to meet rising enrollments "to the extent we possibly can."

PROGRAMS CUT

Weinberger said there will be no money for the enriched programs college administrators have been seeking to make up for the past two economy budgets.

In Los Angeles, Weinberger was criticized at an Assembly Ways and Means subcommittee hearing on state college financing. The chairman, Democratic Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker of Lompoc, said he informed Weinberger of the meeting, but was told by other officials that no one would appear from the finance department.

Harry Brakebill, vice chancellor for the college system's business affairs, told the assemblymen nearly 6,000 persons who would qualify as new, full-time students will be turned away from the colleges next spring without additional money for the current year. The finance department has said no more money is available for higher education this academic year.

BOND DEFEAT

Failure of the people to approve a $250 million bond issue in November means a big cut in planned construction for higher education, Weinberger said.

Where the state college system and university had sought $90 million each for building, they will receive only about $45 million each, he said.

That's likely to touch off another dispute between the Republican governor and legislative Democrats who favor more money for higher education.

Even though the GOP controls the Assembly 41-39 and the Senate is split 20-20, the Republicans need Democratic votes for the two-thirds majority required for budget passage.

SURPLUS SEARCH

Weinberger said the administration is looking for a surplus from this year — now estimated at about $100 million — to provide some money for construction and for the tax cut.

Report Urges Agency For Transit Problems

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today studied a report urging a new government agency to coordinate development of a statewidek transportation system and oversee expenditure of an estimated $50 billion in the neft 15 years.

A blue ribbon 24-member task force headed by William Pereira, Los Angeles architect, concluded in its 20-month study: "The state's primary responsibility should be the coordination and integration of overall transportation planning."

The governor accepted the 50-page task force study yesterday as a "broad and general plan from which we now can work" to solve specific transportation problems.

The report recommended formation of a transportation board to advise the secretary of business and transportation on highway, air, water and pipeline transport.

It would be supported by a technical staff in a proposed transportation planning office who would collect and interpret data and devise a "master plan" for an integrated transportation system "balanced to meet the future needs of all segments of California's industry and society."

The report generally concluded there was a wealth of data on transportation problems but no agency to coordinate it on an interlocking statewide basis.

It projected an outlay of $50 billion dollars—tenfold the present yearly budget — would be required for an efficient transportation network by 1985.

This was broken down into $30 billion for freeways and other highways, $15 billion for urban mass transit, $3 billion for airports and $2 billion for harbors and ports.

But, the report warned, to support such a program, "it would appear present user charges and taxes would have to be increased."

This would mean higher fuel taxes, in-lieu taxes and toll charges. One suggestion was a retail sales tax on vehicle fuels.

The report said the critical area of transportation financing was for urban mass transit in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego and bus lines in smaller cities. But it made no specific recommendations.

LBJ Calls For Continued Efforts On Civil Rights

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, in an indirect challenge to his Republican successor, says many civil rights gains have been made in the last five years "but we are nowhere in sight of where we must be before we can rest."

Addressing the National Urban League here last night, Johnson called on government, business and labor as well as the news media and schools to give all Americans what he called "the right to opportunity."

He said, "we can expand our economy and resist those voices who call for a little more unemployment as medicine for inflation"—an indirect criticism of some economic advisers to President-elect Richard M. Nixon who have said an increase in unemployment would help fight inflation.

"I promise you one thing," Johnson said. "For as long as I live, I shall remain joined with you in fighting for that right to opportunity."

Johnson made his remarks, which were relatively short and valedictory in tone, in an address at the New York Hilton Hotel to the 12th annual Equal Opportunity Days awards dinner of the Urban League, an organization devoted to the promotion of civil rights.

Whitney M. Young, executive director of the league, announced at the meeting the establishment of a $100,000 Lyndon Baines Johnson scholarship fund at the University of Texas to annually aid a "deserving black youngster" studying public affairs.

The president flew here from Washington for an overnight stay. The trip was not announced until the last minute.

After the dinner he joined his wife who was already in New York, where she took part earlier in the day in an awards luncheon of Keep America Beautiful, a group which sponsors antilitter and cleanup campaigns.

Court Rebuffs Powell In Libel Jail Sentence

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell was rebuffed today by the state's highest court in his effort to free himself of a 30-day jail sentence that has been hanging over his head for two years.

The Court of Appeals unanimously sustained lower-court rulings finding Powell in contempt in connection with a libel judgment against the Harlem Democrat.

The jail sentence was imposed when Powell failed to appear in court to face a libel suit by Mrs. Esther James, a Harlem widow he had described on a television program as a go-between for police payoffs. He later paid the award of about $50,000.

Powell has been free pending the appeal.

He was ousted from his seat in the U.S. House of Representatives last year on charges of misconduct but was re-elected in a special election in 1967 and again in the regular election earlier this month.

For Better Police

MANILA (UPI)—Concerned about criticisms of the efficiency of Filipino police officers, President Ferdinand E. Marcos has ordered creation of four training centers throughout the Philippines to turn out 4,000 model policemen a year.

Car Purchaser Denies Charge

A San Rafael man pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a car theft charge that he paid C and D Motors of San Rafael for a 1964 Pontiac with a bad check.

Pleading was Daniel Claren Cameron, 63, of Room 11, El Camino Motel, Lincoln and Mission Avenues. Preliminary hearing on the felony charge was scheduled for Tuesday.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. denied Cameron's request for release without bail when the probation department reported Cameron has spent 12-14 years in various state prisons on bad check charges. He set his bail at $1,000.

Collegians In Prague Remain Out

PRAGUE (UPI)—Prague college students defied the government today and voted to extend by at least one day their campus strike. Railway workers vowed to stop all trains in the capital if the Communist regime moved against the students.

About 400 students meeting in the philosophy department of Charles University voted overwhelmingly to extend a strike by all 22,000 students for 24 hours. Sentiment was for an even longer extension. But students went along with their leaders' call for only one more day to protest the collapse of Czechoslovak Communist reform.

At the meeting's start, leaders read a government statement "asking" the student to end their occupation of classroom buildings which began Monday. "I don't want to stay one more day," one youth shouted. "I want to stay even longer." The others cheered.

The leaders then read a letter of support from Prague railway workers who referred to the government statement and declared that if authorities move against the students "not a single train will move out of any of Prague's stations."

The philosophy department is the center of university student activity and the meeting's decision was expected to be followed by virtually all the campus' 22,000 students.

Their strike has spread to campuses across the nation.

Youths Accused Of Bold Stealing

Three 16-year-old San Rafael youths who, San Anselmo police said, boldly stole $242 worth of new merchandise from outside a store yesterday have been cited to the Marin County juvenile probation office for grand theft.

Officers said Frank W. Worthen, owner of the Black Market imports, 230 Greenfield Avenue, told them a witness notified him at 4:10 p.m. that she had just seen three youths transferring boxes from the sidewalk near his storeroom into a car.

She had jotted down the car license number, enabling police to arrest the youths and recover the loot at a San Rafael home.

Worthen said the items included beads, pendants, ear rings and bead baskets just arrived and yet unstored.

Firemen Offer To Teach Youth

Terra Linda firemen are willing to teach auto mechanics to young people, Fire Chief George A. Walser reported to the Terra Linda Community Services District directors last night.

The directors said they are interested in an educational program for youth and and asked Chief Walser to get details of the program and report back next month.

"We plan to conduct a basic mechanics course on automotive repair and maintenance," said Chief Walser. "We may also teach them how to build go-karts." He said the courses can be given at the firehouse.

Old Coaches Go

MADRID (UPI)—Spanish railways are phasing out their third class wooden coaches, some of which are as much as 50 years old.

Rohnert Park Selects Rec Board Chief

Rohnert Park City Council has named Ronald E. Rasmussen as chairman of the recreation commission to replace Dr. Donald Davis who resigned Nov. 4.

Rasmussen, 38, has been a member of the commission for six years and has lived in Rohnert Park for eight years, having moved there from San Francisco. He is employed by Marshall and Associates, civil engineers, Cotati.

Rasmussen also serves as assistant scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 23, sponsored by the Rohnert Park Optimist Club.

J. Hayes Hunter, a counselor at Petaluma Junior High School, was named vice chairman of the commission at the council meeting Monday night.

The council is considering the appointment of a new commission member, and according to City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan, high school students may be considered.

Foundation Set To Use Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A foundation was formed yesterday to install a science museum in the Palace of Fine Arts, a $7.4 millon structure without a purpose.

Plans were announced at a luncheon by Dr. Frank Oppenheimer, University of Colorado physics professor who has been on leave for a year to promote the idea.

The palace was built for $750,000 in plaster for the 1915 Pan American Exposition. Rebuilt in steel and concrete at a cost of $7.4 million, it was reopened last September and has been unused since.

The new organization, called for the Palace of Arts and Sciences Foundation, named Walter S. Johnson as its honorary president.

Judges Rebuke Draft Card Burning Backers

NEW YORK (AP — To federal judges have rebuked the president and 5,000 students of Cornell University for "seeking to sway" a decision in behalf of a student convicted of tearing up his draft card.

The student, Bruce D. Dancis, 20, was freed without bail by a three-judge U.S. Second Court of Appeals panel yesterday pending a hearing Dec. 16 on appeal of his conviction.

But two of the judges criticized Cornell President James A. Perkins, who sent a letter and telegram to the appeals court, which also received a petition containing 5,000 student signatures urging leniency for Dancis.

Said Judge Irving R. Kaufman: "A court is not a political forum; nor should an issue be decided in favor of the litigant who can produce the more influential and more numerous supporters," adding:

"We believe it would be highly improper to receive the petition or to consider the telegram and letter, just as we would refuse similar blandishments if offered by the prosecution."

Judge Robert P. Anderson said it was "shocking" that an educational insitution was unaware it was acting improperly in seeking to influence a court in a specific case.

The third jurist on the panel, Judge Charles H. Tenney, did not comment from the bench.

On Dec. 14, 1966, Dancis, then a Cornell sophomore from the Bronx, tore his draft card in four pieces on the campus at Ithaca, while about 200 spectators watched. He then mailed the pieces to his draft board as a protest against the draft system.

Convicted and sentenced by federal Judge Edmund Port of the Northern District, Dancis faced up to six years in jail. He spent the past five days in the Jamesville Penitentiary, Jamesville, N.Y.

Protection Tips Offered Seniors

Talks on how older persons can protect themselves from assailants will highlight a meeting of the San Rafael Goldenaires at 11 a.m. Monday at the San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets.

Lt. Lincoln Borba of the San Rafael Police Department, and Delmo Esposti, of the Marin School for Self Defense, will speak.

The meeting of the group sponsored by the city parks and recreation department is open to all Marin adults over 50. Additional information is available from the center office.

Safety Idea Proves More Of A Liability

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Safety-minded citizens of a midwestern community had what seemed like a good idea backfire on them recently, according to the National Automobile Club.

They took the most smashed-up car they could find and placed it near a highway as a warning to wayward motorists. One motorist stepped on his brakes to get a better look at the wreck—and was rammed by another motorist who was also studying the wreckage.

Young Fall Victim In Fair Condition

A 13-year-old San Rafael boy was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a skull fracture suffered Sunday when he fell from the steps of Central School in Fairfax.

Michael Allyn of Loch Lomond Marina was playing on the steps when he fell at about 4:40 p.m., according to police.

Hughes Left Out Of Nevada Probe On Fair Hiring

NORTH LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Nevada Equal Rights Commission refused yesterday to summon billionaire Howard Hughes but promised to subpoena personnel directors at 12 major hotels.

Lawyer Charles Kellar had asked commissioners to call on Hughes, Del Webb, Kirk Kerkorian and other hotel owners to answer charges that their hotels discriminate by race in hiring.

Other attempts to subpoena Hughes have failed because outsiders are unable to reach him at the top floor of the Desert Inn.

Commissioner Paul Garwood, who moved to subpoena the personnel directors instead, said yesterday Kellar's list "named people in the organization who are far away from the day-to-day operation."

GOP Official To Be Guest Speaker

Mrs. Angela Lombardi of Glendale, Los Angeles County, state president of the California Federated Republican Women, will speak before the Marin Federated Republican Women at noon Dec. 3 in the Pepperwood restaurant in San Anselmo.

Also on the agenda is installation of officers for 1969. The nominating committee has porposed the following slate: Mrs. Helen Gardner, president; Mrs. Harold H. Taft, first vice president; Mrs. R. A. Millard, second vice president; Mrs. Sally A. Ryan, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank C. S. Pedersen, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Paul J. McCart, treasurer.

Rough On Cats

LOS ALTOS (UPI) — Three million cats are killed every year by automobiles, according to S. Richard Calore, founder of the National Cat Protection Society.

TV REVIEW

Decision On 'Heidi' Was Right

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There have been some pretty silly arguments over television, but few to match the case of "Heidi vs. the American Football League."

As you probably know by now, NBC-TV caught the devil Sunday when it cut away from a dramatic football game to make sure a two-hour adaptation of "Heidi" began on time throughout most of the nation.

THE GAME

The game, between the New York Jets and Oakland Raiders, was close, all right. But the topper came during the minute or so of missed television action, when Oakland scored twice to come from behind and win.

You can imagine the hysterically funny scenes of enraged fathers throughout the country storming around in anxiety over the football outcome as the network switched to a show for their children.

And you can also imagine the understandable glee of the nation's football widows—those wives whose weekends are wiped out as their husbands stare endliessly at gridiron action on television.

As it happens, I am one of these hooked football addicts. I love sports almost as much as good cigars. And I am all for keeping brats in their place.

RIGHT DECISION

But, for my money, the gentlemen who had to make the awful decision to cut away from the game was absolutely right in his verdict. There are roughly three million football games on television each year, and although this was an outstanding and significant one, it wasn't a championship contest or a playoff.

If there was blame involved, it should be aimed at the video scheduling of the game so close to "Heidi"—a tactical error by the network, and a lesson for programming planners in the future.

"Heidi" had cost NBC-TV a small fortune, had taken a long time to produce and had been promoted widely as one of the year's major video attractions, especially for youngsters. And my own feeling is that the quick decision Sunday to favor the small children over the grown-up children showed the best sense under the absurd circumstances.

HIGHLY INVOLVED

NBC-TV, of course, is highly involved with the American Football League; it virtually created it. And according to some reports, the network has promised that "Heidi" would get cut in future conflicts with football. If this is so one can only wonder. True, "Heidi" will only be a rerun from now on. But even so, why should the network even consider such a conflict again?

There might have been, by the way, another solution to Sunday's panic: cover the game to the end, start "Heidi" slightly late and cut a couple of commercials from it to make up for the lost time. Imagine the priaise and goodwill that the publicity from this would have won from the public.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Intestinal Surgery Sometimes An Answer To Extreme Obesity

VAN DELLEN

Surgery for extreme obesity does not involve cutting away fat. It is an operation in which the last half of the small intestine is bypassed so as to lessen the area where certain foods are absorbed.

Tubby stuffs himself as always, but only half of the food reaches his tissues. The remainder is eliminated as waste. The good results stem from marked interference with fat absorption.

THIS DRASTIC procedure is recommended only in intractable obesity. It is not advised when overeating is on a psychological basis.

Candidates are otherwise healthy and under 40 years of age. The operation is a standard procedure and has been done by suregons in many parts of the country. All persons so treated lost considerable weight.

Diarrhea, a troublesome side effect, usually subsides within 6 to 12 months.

ONE MAN lost 121 of his 320 pounds in nine months; but the bowel had to be re-attached, because he developed a turbulent personality and was depressed.

More than a year ago we told of a similar operation to lower blood cholesterol levels. It is in this part of the bowel that the cholesterol in food and in bile is absorbed. Again we must stress that resection is drastic treatment.

Cholestyramine, a new anticholesterol drug, also prevents absorption of cholesterol-rich bile. There is some evidence that this experimental product might affect utilization of other food elements.

OPERATIONS of these types are examples of manmade malabsorption syndrome. There are many hereditary and acquired diseases involving impaired absorption.

In some, food is absorbed but not carried to the tissues and not altered sufficiently to be utilized. When fat is not absorbed, elements, such as vitamins A and D, that are soluble in fats, are not absorbed. It is for this reason that the malabsorption syndrome leads to a constellation of symptoms.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

U. C., Colleges Warned: Cut Back Requests

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Reagan administration is telling the University of California and the state colleges to cut back sharply on requests for more money next year.

The latest economy move is part of the administration's attempt to keep the new budget below $6 billion and still have enough money left over for a $35 million tax cut for middle-income Californians.

The present budget is a record $5.7 billion and officials said the next one will be three per cent to four per cent higher.

EXCEED REVENUE

Finance Director Caspar Weinberger said that spending estimates by state department heads exceeded expected revenues by $500 million for the 1968-69 budget that will be submitted to the Legislature early next year.

"The allocations to most of the agencies will be less than they expected," Weinberger said in an interview yesterday. "We will have no tax increase and we will have a balanced budget."

Weinberger said spending requests by U.C. and state college administrators will be cut for both day-to-day operating expenses and for construction.

Educational appropriations, he said, will be boosted only to meet rising enrollments "to the extent we possibly can."

PROGRAMS CUT

Weinberger said there will be no money for the enriched programs college administrators have been seeking to make up for the past two economy budgets.

In Los Angeles. Weinberger was criticized at an Assembly Ways and Means subcommittee hearing on state college financing. The chairman. Democratic Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker of Lompoc, said he informed Weinberger of the meeting, but was told by other officials that no one would appear from the finance department.

Harry Brakebill, vice chancellor for the college system's business affairs, told the assemblymen nearly 6,000 persons who would qualify as new, full-time students will be turned away from the colleges next spring without additional money for the current year. The finance department has said no more money is available for higher education this academic year.

BOND DEFEAT

Failure of the people to approve a $250 million bond issue in November means a big cut in planned construction for higher education, Weinberger said.

Where the state college system and university had sought $90 million each for building, they will receive only about $45 million each, he said.

That's likely to touch off another dispute between the Republican governor and legislative Democrats who favor more money for higher education.

Even though the GOP controls the Assembly 41-39 and the Senate is split 20-20, the Republicans need Democratic votes for the two-thirds majority required for budget passage.

SURPLUS SEARCH

Weinberger said the administration is looking for a surplus from this year — now estimated at about $100 million — to provide some money for construction and for the tax cut.

Report Urges Agency For Transit Problems

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today studied a report urging a new government agency to coordinate development of a statewidek transportation system and oversee expenditure of an estimated $50 billion in the neft 15 years.

A blue ribbon 24-member task force headed by William Pereira, Los Angeles architect, concluded in its 20-month study: "The state's primary responsibility should be the coordination and integration of overall transportation planning."

The governor accepted the 50-page task force study yesterday as a "broad and general plan from which we now can work" to solve specific transportation problems.

The report recommended formation of a transportation board to advise the secretary of business and transportation on highway, air, water and pipeline transport.

It would be supported by a technical staff in a proposed transportation planning office who would collect and interpret data and devise a "master plan" for an integrated transportation system "balanced to meet the future needs of all segments of California's industry and society."

The report generally concluded there was a wealth of data on transportation problems but no agency to coordinate it on an interlocking statewide basis.

It projected an outlay of $50 billion dollars—tenfold the present yearly budget — would be required for an efficient transportation network by 1985.

This was broken down into $30 billion for freeways and other highways, $15 billion for urban mass transit, $3 billion for airports and $2 billion for harbors and ports.

But, the report warned, to support such a program, "it would appear present user charges and taxes would have to be increased."

This would mean higher fuel taxes, in-lieu taxes and toll charges. One suggestion was a retail sales tax on vehicle fuels.

The report said the critical area of transportation financing was for urban mass transit in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego and bus lines in smaller cities. But it made no specific recommendations.

LBJ Calls For Continued Efforts On Civil Rights

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, in an indirect challenge to his Republican successor, says many civil rights gains have been made in the last five years "but we are nowhere in sight of where we must be before we can rest."

Addressing the National Urban League here last night, Johnson called on government, business and labor as well as the news media and schools to give all Americans what he called "the right to opportunity."

He said, "we can expand our economy and resist those voices who call for a little more unemployment as medicine for inflation"—an indirect criticism of some economic advisers to President-elect Richard M. Nixon who have said an increase in unemployment would help fight inflation.

"I promise you one thing," Johnson said. "For as long as I live, I shall remain joined with you in fighting for that right to opportunity."

Johnson made his remarks, which were relatively short and valedictory in tone, in an address at the New York Hilton Hotel to the 12th annual Equal Opportunity Days awards dinner of the Urban League, an organization devoted to the promotion of civil rights.

Whitney M. Young, executive director of the league, announced at the meeting the establishment of a $100,000 Lyndon Baines Johnson scholarship fund at the University of Texas to annually aid a "deserving black youngster" studying public affairs.

The president flew here from Washington for an overnight stay. The trip was not announced until the last minute.

After the dinner he joined his wife who was already in New York, where she took part earlier in the day in an awards luncheon of Keep America Beautiful, a group which sponsors antilitter and cleanup campaigns.

Court Rebuffs Powell In Libel Jail Sentence

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell was rebuffed today by the state's highest court in his effort to free himself of a 30-day jail sentence that has been hanging over his head for two years.

The Court of Appeals unanimously sustained lower-court rulings finding Powell in contempt in connection with a libel judgment against the Harlem Democrat.

The jail sentence was imposed when Powell failed to appear in court to face a libel suit by Mrs. Esther James, a Harlem widow he had described on a television program as a go-between for police payoffs. He later paid the award of about $50,000.

Powell has been free pending the appeal.

He was ousted from his seat in the U.S. House of Representatives last year on charges of misconduct but was re-elected in a special election in 1967 and again in the regular election earlier this month.

For Better Police

MANILA (UPI)—Concerned about criticisms of the efficiency of Filipino police officers, President Ferdinand E. Marcos has ordered creation of four training centers throughout the Philippines to turn out 4,000 model policemen a year.

Car Purchaser Denies Charge

A San Rafael man pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a car theft charge that he paid C and D Motors of San Rafael for a 1964 Pontiac with a bad check.

Pleading was Daniel Claren Cameron, 63, of Room 11, El Camino Motel, Lincoln and Mission Avenues. Preliminary hearing on the felony charge was scheduled for Tuesday.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. denied Cameron's request for release without bail when the probation department reported Cameron has spent 12-14 years in various state prisons on bad check charges. He set his bail at $1,000.

Collegians In Prague Remain Out

PRAGUE (UPI)—Prague college students defied the government today and voted to extend by at least one day their campus strike. Railway workers vowed to stop all trains in the capital if the Communist regime moved against the students.

About 400 students meeting in the philosophy department of Charles University voted overwhelmingly to extend a strike by all 22,000 students for 24 hours. Sentiment was for an even longer extension. But students went along with their leaders' call for only one more day to protest the collapse of Czechoslovak Communist reform.

At the meeting's start, leaders read a government statement "asking" the student to end their occupation of classroom buildings which began Monday. "I don't want to stay one more day," one youth shouted. "I want to stay even longer." The others cheered.

The leaders then read a letter of support from Prague railway workers who referred to the government statement and declared that if authorities move against the students "not a single train will move out of any of Prague's stations."

The philosophy department is the center of university student activity and the meeting's decision was expected to be followed by virtually all the campus' 22,000 students.

Their strike has spread to campuses across the nation.

Youths Accused Of Bold Stealing

Three 16-year-old San Rafael youths who, San Anselmo police said, boldly stole $242 worth of new merchandise from outside a store yesterday have been cited to the Marin County juvenile probation office for grand theft.

Officers said Frank W. Worthen, owner of the Black Market imports, 230 Greenfield Avenue, told them a witness notified him at 4:10 p.m. that she had just seen three youths transferring boxes from the sidewalk near his storeroom into a car.

She had jotted down the car license number, enabling police to arrest the youths and recover the loot at a San Rafael home.

Worthen said the items included beads, pendants, ear rings and bead baskets just arrived and yet unstored.

Firemen Offer To Teach Youth

Terra Linda firemen are willing to teach auto mechanics to young people, Fire Chief George A. Walser reported to the Terra Linda Community Services District directors last night.

The directors said they are interested in an educational program for youth and and asked Chief Walser to get details of the program and report back next month.

"We plan to conduct a basic mechanics course on automotive repair and maintenance," said Chief Walser. "We may also teach them how to build go-karts." He said the courses can be given at the firehouse.

Rohnert Park Selects Rec Board Chief

Rohnert Park City Council has named Ronald E. Rasmussen as chairman of the recreation commission to replace Dr. Donald Davis who resigned Nov. 4.

Rasmussen, 38, has been a member of the commission for six years and has lived in Rohnert Park for eight years, having moved there from San Francisco. He is employed by Marshall and Associates, civil engineers, Cotati.

Rasmussen also serves as assistant scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 23, sponsored by the Rohnert Park Optimist Club.

J. Hayes Hunter, a counselor at Petaluma Junior High School, was named vice chairman of the commission at the council meeting Monday night.

The council is considering the appointment of a new commission member, and according to City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan, high school students may be considered.

Foundation Set To Use Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A foundation was formed yesterday to install a science museum in the Palace of Fine Arts, a $7.4 millon structure without a purpose.

Plans were announced at a luncheon by Dr. Frank Oppenheimer, University of Colorado physics professor who has been on leave for a year to promote the idea.

The palace was built for $750,000 in plaster for the 1915 Pan American Exposition. Rebuilt in steel and concrete at a cost of $7.4 million, it was reopened last September and has been unused since.

The new organization, called for the Palace of Arts and Sciences Foundation, named Walter S. Johnson as its honorary president.

Judges Rebuke Draft Card Burning Backers

NEW YORK (AP — To federal judges have rebuked the president and 5,000 students of Cornell University for "seeking to sway" a decision in behalf of a student convicted of tearing up his draft card.

The student, Bruce D. Dancis, 20, was freed without bail by a three-judge U.S. Second Court of Appeals panel yesterday pending a hearing Dec. 16 on appeal of his conviction.

But two of the judges criticized Cornell President James A. Perkins, who sent a letter and telegram to the appeals court, which also received a petition containing 5,000 student signatures urging leniency for Dancis.

Said Judge Irving R. Kaufman: "A court is not a political forum; nor should an issue be decided in favor of the litigant who can produce the more influential and more numerous supporters," adding:

"We believe it would be highly improper to receive the petition or to consider the telegram and letter, just as we would refuse similar blandishments if offered by the prosecution."

Judge Robert P. Anderson said it was "shocking" that an educational insitution was unaware it was acting improperly in seeking to influence a court in a specific case.

The third jurist on the panel, Judge Charles H. Tenney, did not comment from the bench.

On Dec. 14, 1966, Dancis, then a Cornell sophomore from the Bronx, tore his draft card in four pieces on the campus at Ithaca, while about 200 spectators watched. He then mailed the pieces to his draft board as a protest against the draft system.

Convicted and sentenced by federal Judge Edmund Port of the Northern District, Dancis faced up to six years in jail. He spent the past five days in the Jamesville Penitentiary, Jamesville, N.Y.

Safety Idea Proves More Of A Liability

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Safety-minded citizens of a midwestern community had what seemed like a good idea backfire on them recently, according to the National Automobile Club.

They took the most smashed-up car they could find and placed it near a highway as a warning to wayward motorists. One motorist stepped on his brakes to get a better look at the wreck—and was rammed by another motorist who was also studying the wreckage.

Young Fall Victim In Fair Condition

A 13-year-old San Rafael boy was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a skull fracture suffered Sunday when he fell from the steps of Central School in Fairfax.

Michael Allyn of Loch Lomond Marina was playing on the steps when he fell at about 4:40 p.m., according to police.

Hughes Left Out Of Nevada Probe On Fair Hiring

NORTH LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Nevada Equal Rights Commission refused yesterday to summon billionaire Howard Hughes but promised to subpoena personnel directors at 12 major hotels.

Lawyer Charles Kellar had asked commissioners to call on Hughes, Del Webb, Kirk Kerkorian and other hotel owners to answer charges that their hotels discriminate by race in hiring.

Other attempts to subpoena Hughes have failed because outsiders are unable to reach him at the top floor of the Desert Inn.

Commissioner Paul Garwood, who moved to subpoena the personnel directors instead, said yesterday Kellar's list "named people in the organization who are far away from the day-to-day operation."

GOP Official To Be Guest Speaker

Mrs. Angela Lombardi of Glendale, Los Angeles County, state president of the California Federated Republican Women, will speak before the Marin Federated Republican Women at noon Dec. 3 in the Pepperwood restaurant in San Anselmo.

Also on the agenda is installation of officers for 1969. The nominating committee has porposed the following slate: Mrs. Helen Gardner, president; Mrs. Harold H. Taft, first vice president; Mrs. R. A. Millard, second vice president; Mrs. Sally A. Ryan, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank C. S. Pedersen, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Paul J. McCart, treasurer.

The questionnaire's results will be used to determine topics for the annual town meeting.

TV REVIEW

Decision On 'Heidi' Was Right

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There have been some pretty silly arguments over television, but few to match the case of "Heidi vs. the American Football League."

As you probably know by now, NBC-TV caught the devil Sunday when it cut away from a dramatic football game to make sure a two-hour adaptation of "Heidi" began on time throughout most of the nation.

THE GAME

The game, between the New York Jets and Oakland Raiders, was close, all right. But the topper came during the minute or so of missed television action, when Oakland scored twice to come from behind and win.

You can imagine the hysterically funny scenes of enraged fathers throughout the country storming around in anxiety over the football outcome as the network switched to a show for their children.

And you can also imagine the understandable glee of the nation's football widows—those wives whose weekends are wiped out as their husbands stare endliessly at gridiron action on television.

As it happens, I am one of these hooked football addicts. I love sports almost as much as good cigars. And I am all for keeping brats in their place.

RIGHT DECISION

But, for my money, the gentlemen who had to make the awful decision to cut away from the game was absolutely right in his verdict. There are roughly three million football games on television each year, and although this was an outstanding and significant one, it wasn't a championship contest or a playoff.

If there was blame involved, it should be aimed at the video scheduling of the game so close to "Heidi"—a tactical error by the network, and a lesson for programming planners in the future.

"Heidi" had cost NBC-TV a small fortune, had taken a long time to produce and had been promoted widely as one of the year's major video attractions, especially for youngsters. And my own feeling is that the quick decision Sunday to favor the small children over the grown-up children showed the best sense under the absurd circumstances.

HIGHLY INVOLVED

NBC-TV, of course, is highly involved with the American Football League; it virtually created it. And according to some reports, the network has promised that "Heidi" would get cut in future conflicts with football. If this is so one can only wonder. True, "Heidi" will only be a rerun from now on. But even so, why should the network even consider such a conflict again?

There might have been, by the way, another solution to Sunday's panic: cover the game to the end, start "Heidi" slightly late and cut a couple of commercials from it to make up for the lost time. Imagine the priaise and goodwill that the publicity from this would have won from the public.

Overdue Book Fines To Get Moratorium

50 Turkeys To Be Given On Saturday

As part of its annual Turkey Daze Thanksgiving promotion, the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council will give away 50 turkeys at a drawing to be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, in the CMC Mall with promotion manager Hollie L. Smith doing the honors.

Tickets are available at the stores of all participating merchants and should be obtained there and dropped in the receptacle available for the purpose in each of the CMC stores.

The turkeys will all be fresh-killed, 15-pound average hens. Winners will be able to pick the turkeys up at Cala's meat department the same day.

Lucky winners who are present at the drawing will get an added bonus — TWO turkeys instead of one.

The turkeys, of course, are part of the big pre--Christmas sale at the Corte Madera Center. Merchants will have bargains galore as a part of the Turkey Daze promotion which will last from today through Saturday.

Stores will remain open until 9 p.m. through Tuesday, Dec. 24. Wards will also be open on Sundays.

Loot Reported Off San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The lure of sunken treasure hidden hundreds of years in sunken Spanish galleons is still strong in the hearts of many divers.

The State Lands Commission has given permission to Wilfred S. Takasato to search for three years off the Southern California coast for the galleon Trinidad, believed buried less than [illegible] offshore between Oceanside and La Jolla.

Takasato said the Trinidad was sunk in 1540.

Wrapping Center To Be Opened

This Christmas the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council will make available to the shopping public an entire store building for use in wrapping packages and parcels for gifts and mailing.

Located in the former Luana's store at the juncture of the two malls will be wrapping and packaging services staffed by Marin County church groups who will donate their time and route service charges to church charitable work.

In addition, shoppers will still be able to utilize the Corte Madera Center's unique self-service Post Office located on the highway side of the center. The self-service unit provides stamps, weighing facilities, minimum insurance and change maker.

Weatherman About To Go Underwater

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The weatherman is about to go underwater.

Scientific weather forecasting for the atmosphere dates back a century or more. But the flow of tides, temperatures and turbidity beneath the waves remains largely unpredictable.

Now an international group of oceanobraphers is designing a worldwide ocean information and forecasting service that will be useful to sea captains and fishermen, beachboys and bathing beauties.

It is to be called IGOSS—the Integrated Global Ocean Station System. Its job: Underwater weather watching.

Currents, waves and tides are the winds of the underwater world. Water density readings correspond to barometric pressures in the air. Temperature patterns influence weather both above and below the sea.

Commercial fishermen want to know about movements of large water masses, distribution of dissolved oxygen and the plankton upon which fish graze.

Water pollution concerns fishermen, health authorities and millions of bathers relaxing at the seashore.

IGOSS will draw its information from a wide variety of sources, including shore stations, lightships, manned sea platforms, ocean weatherships, automatic buoys, drifting ice islands, satellites, research ships, and cooperating military and commercial ships and planes.

The initial phase, using existing facilities, is being planned by a working committee of the Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission (IOC), a subsidiary of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Committee members come from Canada, West Germany, France, Japan, The Netherlands, Norway, Britain, the United states, the Soviet Union and the Ukraine.

Dr. John P. Tully, a Canadian oceanographer, heads the committee. It expects to present its plan to the 60-nation IOC at its Paris session in October 1969.

50 Turkeys To Be Given On Saturday

As part of its annual Turkey Daze Thanksgiving promotion, the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council will give away 50 turkeys at a drawing to be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, in the CMC Mall with promotion manager Hollie L. Smith doing the honors.

Tickets are available at the stores of all participating merchants and should be obtained there and dropped in the receptacle available for the purpose in each of the CMC stores.

The turkeys will all be fresh-killed, 15-pound average hens. Winners will be able to pick the turkeys up at Cala's meat department the same day.

Lucky winners who are present at the drawing will get an added bonus — TWO turkeys instead of one.

The turkeys, of course, are part of the big pre--Christmas sale at the Corte Madera Center. Merchants will have bargains galore as a part of the Turkey Daze promotion which will last from today through Saturday.

Stores will remain open until 9 p.m. through Tuesday, Dec. 24. Wards will also be open on Sundays.

Loot Reported Off San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The lure of sunken treasure hidden hundreds of years in sunken Spanish galleons is still strong in the hearts of many divers.

The State Lands Commission has given permission to Wilfred S. Takasato to search for three years off the Southern California coast for the galleon Trinidad, believed buried less than [illegible] offshore between Oceanside and La Jolla.

Takasato said the Trinidad was sunk in 1540.

New Home For Santa This Year

The Corte Madera Shopping Center has a new home for special promotional events.

It is a colorful gingerbread house located at the north end of the center's north-south mall. It is large enough to hold an audience, a nursery or a children's show.

For openers, the house will be used this Christmas for Santa Claus, carolers, and various musical groups.

Later — if the Town of Corte Madera approves — the house will remain at its present location and be used for a variety of purposes connected with the holidays, with children, and with the center's frequent promotional events.

Gas Burners Really Do Job

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—One of the two giant burners at a local steel mill consumes as much natural gas in an hour as the average family needs to heat a home, heat water, burn refuse, dry clothes—as well as do the cooking—for more than two years.

The burners, designed by the Natural Cylinder Gas division of Chemetron Corp., are used to increase the scrap content in steel made in the mill's basic oxygen furnaces. The behemoths can heat more than 60 tons of scrap from room temperature to 1,200 degrees F. in less than 15 minutes.

Minnesota Boasts Fishing Interest

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Minnesota claims to be the state with the mostest when it comes to freshwater fishing. According to a report from the U.S. Department of Interior, Minnesota sold 1,378,230 fishing licenses in 1967.

Only one state sold more licenses, California. That state has a long salt-water coast, Minnesotans are quick to point out. California sold 1,872,258 licenses last year. Texas and Wisconsin completed the "top four" list by racking up fishing license sales of more than 1 million each.

OFFICERS CRITICAL

Eight Panthers Seized In Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto has called for a grand jury investigation of the Black Panthers following a gun battle in which three policemen were wounded, two critically. Eight Negroes were arrested.

The shooting yesterday erupted within 100 yards of a police station after two cruising patrolmen stopped a panel truck minutes after a service station holdup.

Police said Sgt. Robert Flynn, 51, was shot in the groin while questioning the driver of the van, which had "Black Panther —Black Community News Service" painted on the side.

DRIVER HELD

"He had the driver with his hands on the side of the truck when someone inside the front seat shot him," said John Palou, a fireman at a station directly across the street.

Lt. Dermott Creedon, 49, was shot in the chest as he stepped out of the patrol car, revolver in hand, police said.

Alioto called last night for a grand jury investigation "into any organization which advocates shooting of policemen and to which any of the defendants belong."

Creedon and Flynn remained in critical condition today.

Three officers were in a car which answered an emergency call from Creedon.

Lt. Michael O'Mahoney said: "I saw three men pour out of the van and I ordered them to halt, but they fired at me and ran into an areaway next to a church."

HIT IN HAND

O'Mahoney was wounded in the hand, but said the three came out of the church with their hands up after he fired three warning shots.

The other officers with O'Mahoney ran to the van.

"Five men in the back of the truck started to get out and I covered them with my gun and ordered them back in and locked them in," said officer John Hanifin.

The gunfire brought other officers running from the nearby Hall of Justice.

Those arrested included Ray Lewis, 28, of San Francisco, editor of the Black Panther, the militant Negro group's publication.

Others arrested were listed as Wilford M. Holiday, 35, of Oakland, a frequent contributor to the paper; William Lee Brent, 37, a Black Panther captain for Oakland; and Sam Napier, 26; John Bowman, 21; Lennox Merritt, 16; Harrill Hill, 17, and Richard E. Brown, 27, all of San Francisco.

FREE ON BAIL

Authorities said Brown is free on $12,500 bail on a charge of assault to commit murder.

Officers said Napier and Bowman had visited Huey Newton in jail before the Black Panther founder was convicted of voluntery manslaughter in the shooting of an Oakland policeman.

The "Black Panther" truck carried license plates with numbers as listed by the manager of a service station at 2890 Third Street robbed some 10 minutes before the gun battle, police said.

The vehicle carried placards on each side calling for the support of Eldridge Cleaver, whose recent series of lectures created a stir at the University of California. Cleaver is awaiting trial in connection with a East Bay shootout with police.

Officers said one pistol was recovered from one of those arrested and a search was made of the area without finding any other weapons. They said a supply of ammunition was inside the van.

Marin College Student Charged In Auto Ring

A College of Marin student and a Sebastopol man were charged in Marin Municipal Court yesterday as a result of a police investigation of an atuo theft ring specializing in Volkswagens.

Accused after a three-month California Highway Patrol investigation were the student, David George Merz, 23, of 26 Boulevard Terrace, Novato, and James Llewellyn Jardine, 23, of 7120 Fircrest, Sebastopol.

Both are charged with stealing the Volkswagen of Steven Rippon, 20, of 2065 Mill Road, Novato, Nov. 2 and with conspiracy to steal that car. Jardine alone is charged with stealing Alice Simon's Volkswagen Aug. 27 in Fairfax.

Officer L. R. Disser of the Highway Patrol said members of the car theft ring altered the identification numbers and some parts of the cars they stole, then sold them.

The accused men came under police surveillance Sept. 19, when the owner of a Santa Rosa wrecking yard reported the pair had been buying several frames of abandoned Volkswagens and Porches.

Novato police added to Disser's suspicions when they reported a lot of work on Volkswagens at the Merz home, Disser said.

The first firm break in the case came last Wednesday, when officers discovered that a Volkswagen sedan owned by Steven Cook of 225 Canal Street, San Rafael, contained a stolen engine, Disser said.

Cook reportedly said he bought the car for $700 from Jardine, a friend.

Disser asked if Cook had bought other cars from Jardine and Cook reported that, on Nov. 11, he bought a 1961 Volkswagen from Jardine for $550.

The car's engine was from a 1961 model, but the vehicle appeared to be of a later model, Disser said. A closer check revealed the identification

Cubans Complain Of Boat Attack

HAVANA (AP) — Two Venezuelan gunboats opened fire on a Cuban fishing vessel today, damaged her and ordered her into a Venezuelan port, Havana radio reported.

The broadcast declared the fishing vessel Alecrin was attacked with machine guns and cannon 100 miles off Venezuela's coast. It called this "cowardly aggression" by Venezuela.

There were no injuries abord the Alecrin.

MINE TRAGEDY—Family members of one of the miners trapped this morning in an explosion near Mannington, W. Va., walk dejectedly away from the air shaft through a wintery setting.

21 ARE RESCUED

70 Feared Trapped In W. Va. Mine

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —A chain of booming explosions ripped through a deep, rich coal mine early today, trapping most of the miners in smoke-filled shafts.

Company officials fear "as many as 70 miners" may be pinned in the mine.

Sheriff Robert Tennant of Marion County said 21 men had escaped or had been pulled from the mine. But James McCartney of the Mountaineer Coal Co., said 70 men were missing.

THROUGH PORTALS

The first blast, just before 6 a.m., blew machinery through one of the mine's portals, Tennant said, and closed it as an avenue of rescue. Teams gathered around the Farmington portal, one mile away, to concentrate rescue efforts.

McCartney said either gas or coal dust triggered the explosion and fire which still was sending towers of smoke from mine entrances early this afternoon.

All communication into the mine was lost, McCartney said.

Rescue teams, working in sub-freezing temperatures and snow flurries, faced a dilemma. McCartney said air was being pumped into the shaft to keep the trapped men from suffocating but the air stream also fed the flames deep in the shafts.

"No one knows exactly where these men were at the time of the explosion," McCartney said. "There were six crews of six men each working in the general area of the explosion. The other men were on other assignments throughout the mine."

AIR SHAFT

Rescuers located eight of the men in the Mohan air shaft and plucked them from the 600-foot level two-by-two, using a big scoop bucket on the end of a crane.

Tennant said the confusion about the number of missing men resulted from the destruction of the "lamp house" in the blast. Miners check into work at the lamp house at the beginning of their shifts, but the explosion destroyed it and its records.

One of those reported safe was Matt Menas Jr., whose father was killed in the same mine in a blast that took 15 lives on Nov. 13, 1954.

The mine is located in the rich coal country of north-central West Virginia near Mannington and just south of the Pennsylvania state line. The Mountaineer company is a division of Consolidation Coal Co.

Rescue efforts moved slowly because of the damage caused by the explosion and the smoke which filled the shafts.

Despite the sub-freezing temperatures and the snow flurries, Red Cross units and women's clubs from nearby communities provided coffee and sandwiches for the waiting wives and children.

Dave Davis, president of the firm, said the blast packed a powerful punch.

Deserter Accused Of U.C. Bombing

OAKLAND (UPI)—Police and the FBI today announced that an AWOL soldier has been accused in formal charges of two Bay Area bombings.

They also said three other young persons are being sought in a nationwide search in connection with the series of 30 East Bay sabotage bombings since last February.

Daniel Carroll Guirkins, 23, was specifically charged with the Sept. 13 bombing of an ROTC building at the University of California in Berkeley. He also was accused of detonating bombs at the Alameda County Courthouse Oct. 3.

Guirkins, who escaped the Fort Ord stockade while awaiting trial on desertion charges, was arrested Oct. 15 at his apartment.

The apartment was found to contain a wide variety of explosives and detonators. One of the explosives was of an uncommon variety identical with that of an unexploded bomb at the courthouse.

Joseph Francis Cowan Jr., 29, who was with Guirkins in the apartment at the time, now is one of three suspects being sought. It was disclosed that a warrant was issued for Cowan

Arceo-Novotny Trial Defense Takes Turn

By ELLEN BRY

The prosecution rested its case this morning in the trial of John Arceo and Dennis C. Novotny, charged with the murder of a San Rafael man in the course of a robbery.

Defense attorneys were to begin their side of the trial this afternoon in Marin Superior Court.

Novotny and Arceo are charged with murdering Wesley L. Marshall, 68.

Prosecution testimony has alleged Arceo helped plan the robbery Dec. 6 in which Wesley was kicked in the head five or six times. He died Jan. 6.

Novotny took part in the robbery and kicked Marshall, the district attorney Joshua W. Thomas contends.

The main prosecution witness has been Claude LeBas, 21, who confessed to taking part in the robbery and kicking Marshall. Yesterday defense attorneys cross-examined LeBas, attempting to show inconsistencies in LeBas's memories of times, dates, details of the crime and emphasizing his large part in it.

Fairfax Chief of Police James R. Orr testified for the prosecution this morning. The chief said that in questioning after arrest, Arceo at first did not mention any intimidation by LeBas. But later, the chief said, Arceo and his wife said that LeBas that threatened them and their son with guns while staying at their Fairfax home.

Orr said that Arceo at first denied knowledge of guns found at his home and later said LeBas had given them to him.

S.F. Campus Again Open; Staff Balks

Pickets Orderly; Some Plainclothes Police Seen

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO—Racially troubled San Francisco State College reopened today under police protection but officials said there were very few, if any, regular classes.

As plainslothesmen patrolled the campus and other police units were reported standing by, some 18,000 students swarmed onto the campus.

Many students sat in classrooms watching on closed circuit television a meeting held in the main auditorium by about 250 of the college's 1,300 faculty members.

One of the speakers, English professor George Price, said he is "refusing to teach so long as police threaten the campus."

Price said he objected to college President Robert D. Smith's "going right back where he left off Wednesday by saying he would call police to the campus." (See also photo, page 8.)

There were no signs of a resumption of the violence that led Smith to suspend classes last Wednesday.

A check of two main buildings showed only one instructor was on hand for early morning classes. Police were alerted for the reopening, but no uniformed officers were seen on the campus.

Smith relayed to students and faculty yesterday orders for classroom resumption issued by state college trustees during an emergency meeting in Los Angeles Monday. Several hundred faculty members then voted to reopen the school for general meetings with students but to refuse to carry out class instruction.

White militants resumed a strike called nearly two weeks ago by the Black Students Union to protest the suspension of Black Panther George Murray as a part-time Egnlish instructor. About 25 pickets paraded peacefully at the main campus entrance.

Using a bullhorn, the pickets exhorted students to boycott classes. Other pickets did likewise from positions at entrances to most campus buildings.

A group called "The Committee for Academic Environment," handed out flyers to students urging nonviolence.

"We can't stop the police from coming on campus," the leaflet read. "We can prevent it from becoming a major crisis by not becoming part of a mob."

Murray's suspension was ordered by State College Chan-

Novato Drafts Race Opportunity Policy

By THERON A. NEWELL

At a special meeting with Novatans for Racial Equality last night, the Novato City Council asked for preparation of two resolutions, one declaring the city an equal opportunity employer, the other declaring Novato an open housing city.

Councilman Douglas M. Merrill was assigned to draft the resolutions.

Mayor Harley McAskili named himself, Merrill and planning director Brian Mattson to a committee to ascertain if the city needs a public housing program.

Wallace K. Shepherd, field representative of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, agreed to act as an adviser to the committee.

Shepherd and L. Charles Smith, representing Novatans for Racial Equality, urged the creation of a miniboard, a miniature human rights commission, for the city.

The council committee studying public housing needs was instructed also to report on whether the council should create such a miniboard.

The council's call for the resolution on open housing was preceded by unanimous agreement to back the federal civil rights laws on open housing, a statement called for by Smith.

At a previous council meeting, Smith had asked that the city try to hire people from minority groups by advertising in media that reached them alone.

Director of Finance Charles L. Foster reported last night that he had advertised for police officers in the Sun Reporter, the largest Negro weekly in Northern California, and had contacted the urban skills bank in San Francisco

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Zsa Zsa Pouts In Passport Fuss

PALMA DE MALLORCA, Balearic Island (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor got her passport back today and said she'll tell the American television audience about her fracas with a Mallorcan cop.

Zsa Zsa

"Certainly I hit an agent with my hand," the blonde film and TV star said, "but it was in legitimate defense. Before, I had received a blow on the leg."

Miss Gabor is saving the rest of the story for Johnny Carson's "Tonight" audience.

The ex-Hungarian had been vacationing in Palma and had planned to leave yesterday for Paris, but her passport was picked up and she was called into private session with an investigative municipal judge last night. The U.S. consul's office said she got her passport back after posting $2,000 bail.

Minority Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System says the proportion of minority group members serving on local draft boards has doubled in the last year.

The system said yesterday the number of Negroes, Spanish-Americans, Indians and Orientals serving on the nation's 4,000 boards from 1,001 in Ooctober last year to 2,198 this year. Six per cent of draft board members last year were drawn from the four groups, compared to 12 per cent this year.

Selective Service adopted about a year ago the goal of increasing minority representation.

Reported Resting

LIVINGSTON, N.J. (AP) — U.S. Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen was reported resting comfortably today after a series of undisclosed tests at St. Barnabas Medical Center.

Higher Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says it will have to pay $1.2 billion more than planned for the first 120 C5A cargo planes, biggest planes ever made.

The report from the Pentagon yesterday differed from a statement by A. E. Fitzgerald, an Air Force financial management official, who said last week the cost could rise to $2 billion over estimates.

The Defense Department said the Air Force estimated the cost forr the 120 airplanes—the first of which flew last March — would be $3.1 billion. The revised figure is $4.3 billion.

Arrests In Mali?

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Reports to Dakar today said that President Mobido Keita of neighboring Mali, who was overthrown by the army yesterday, has been arrested with his cabinet.

There was no indication where they were being held or whether they would be put on trial.

The government radio in Bamako, capital of the former French colony in West Africa, said today that messages of support from all parts of the country were coming in to the new military regime. A "national salvation committee" headed by Lt. Moussa Traore took power after a crisis which has been building up for months.

Leftists Rejected

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's government rejected leftist demands today and said it would not renew its request to the United States to withdraw its B52 bombers from Okinawa.

Leftists in Japan and Okinawa demanded immediate withdrawal of the giant bombers after a B52 leaded with bombs crashed Tuesday at Kadena Air Base in central Okinawa as it was taking off for Vietnam. Five civilians and seven crewmen were injured.

Suspect Held For Blaze In Jetliner

DENVER (UPI)—A retired Air Force sergeant who recently underwent brain surgery was accused yesterday of igniting a fire that sent thick acrid smoke through a Continental Airlines jetliner over the Colorado Rockies.

None of the seven crew members or 63 passengers, including Sen. Clifford Hansen of Wyoming, was injured, but the passengers were forced to use oxygen masks.

"Without these masks, I don't believe people could have survived the smoke," Hansen said. "I don't know if I could have."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in Washington identified the suspect as Lawrence B. Havelock, 47, a rancher from near Lake George in the mountains west of Colorado Springs.

Havelock, held under $10,000 bond, said he was a 20-year Air Force veteran and a naturalized citizen born in Czechoslovakia.

The man's wife said he was released from Denver Veterans Hospital "a few weeks ago" after undergoing brain surgery. He retired from the Air Force June 1.

"I didn't even know he was on the plane," Mrs. Havelock said.

The fire broke out in a rear restroom of a Continental Airlines 707 jet as it neared Denver on a flight that began in Los Angeles.

As soon as the smoke began filling the rear of the plane, emergency oxygen masks popped out in front of the passengers. A stewardess, Helga Wood of Los Angeles, grabbed an extinguisher and quickly put out the blaze.

FBI officials said there was a concussion with the fire, but they said this did not necessarily mean an explosion. The exterior of the plane was not damaged.

Havelock was arrested after a stewardess told investigators she saw him enter the restroom wearing a pair of rubber gloves shortly before the fire broke out.

Fred B. Saccone is president of the San Rafael Lions Club.

Viet Reds Step Up Shelling Of Cities

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners stepped up their rocket and mortar attacks last night, giving Da Nang its heaviest pounding in three months and hitting two American infantry units, five district towns and one provincial capital.

Casualties and damage generally were light. But one of the mortar attacks, on a night bivouac of U.S. 1st Division infantryment 24 miles north of Saigon, was followed by a ground attack by 150 enemy soldiers hurling grendades and blazing away with machine guns.

Artillery and gunships drove the attackers off at daybreak after three hours of fighting. U.S. Headquarters said the bodies of 12 of the enmy were found just outside the American lines and 14 weapons were captured.

One American was killed and 12 were wounded.

Military spokesmen said in the other attacks one American and nine South Vietnamese were killed, and nine Americans and 13 South Vietnamese were wounded.

The South Vietnamese spokesman said there now have been 74 rocket and mortar attacks on population centers since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1. He said 33 civilians have been killed and 192 wounded in the attacks.

South Vietnam repeated charges that the Communist Command was violating an agreement to stop shelling provincial capitals and district towns in return for the bombing halt. Hanoi has denied making such an agreement, claiming the bombing halt was unconditional.

The U.S. Command reported continuing ground activity south of Da Nang, where more than 600 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been reported killed in the past three days.

Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, commander of South Vietnam's five northernmost provinces, said earlier that the greatly increased enemy activity around Da Nang meant the start of the enemy's winter offensive in the northern region.

Red China U.N. Seat Beaten Again

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Never in the past five years have Red China's chances for admission to the United Nations been so remote.

By a 58-44 vote with 23 abstentions, the U.N. General Assembly yesterday rejected the annual resolution to replace Nationalist China with Communist China in the United Nations.

It was the widest margin of rejection since 1963 and the 19th successive year the assembly has turned down Mao Tse-tung's government.

At the same time, it killed—perhaps for good—a resolution calling for both Chinas to be seated in the United Nations. The vote was 67-30, with 27 abstentions, against the "two China" plan, which both Taipei and Peking said they would not accept anyway.

The United States, breaking with Britain and France as it usually does on the China issue, was the staunchest backer of the Nationalists.

Before the final Red China vote, the U.S. delegation pushed through a resolution requiring a two-thirds majority to admit Red China in place of Chiang Kai-shek's Taiwan government.

Huddle Called In Bonn To Fight Franc Crisis

LONDON (AP) — The leading finance ministers of the Western try to halt the second major crisis in the international monetary system this year.

Most Western money markets were shut to check speculators' attacks on major Western currencies.

With the money exchanges closed, the speculators switched to gold and sent its price soaring.

Many financial experts in London considered the present emergency even more serious than the March gold crisis because three of the world's principal trading currencies—the French franc, the pound sterling and the dollar—were simultaneously under attack by the speculators.

The crisis was sparked by belief that a devaluation of the franc and a revaluation upward of the West German deutschesmark—the world's strongest currency—were imminent.

Speculators rushed to change francs for marks and the fever soon spread to include both the pound and the dollar. But the franc was hardest hit.

The French government announced that the Paris stock market, gold market and foreign exchange market would remain closed "until further notice." Officials said they would not reopen until next Monday.

In an attempt to check the flight to the mark, the West German government announced that it would not revalue the currency but instead was making tax changes to reduce the large foreign trade surplus responsible for the expectation of revaluation.

West German Economics Minister Karl Schiller called an emergency meeting in Bonn today of the "Group of 10," the finance ministers of Belgium, Britain, Canada, France, West Germany, the Netherlands, Italy, Japan, Sweden and the United States. U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler already was there, taking a roundabout route back to Washington from the NATO meeting in Brussels last week. But the United States so far appeared to be taking only a standby role in the crisis.

HUMPHREY VISITS JOHNSON

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and President Lyndon B. Johnson were all smiles this morning, as they got together in the White House for the first time since Nov. 5. Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey returned to Washington today from a post-election vacation in the Caribbean, concluded with a visit to Cape Kennedy. (UPI Telepho)

Thieu Repeats Rebuff; Pravda Blaming U.S.

COMBINED AP & UPI

South Vietnam today again rejected taking part in Paris Vietnam talks under present conditions, Vietnamese sources said. Allied diplomats at the same time said Moscow appears to be telling the Communists to make it easier for Saigon to end its boycott and come to the negotiations, although Pravda today accused the U.S. of blocking the talks.

The diplomats said the Kremlin even wants the Communists to slow down military action in South Vietnam.

In Vung Tau, Vietnam, Vietnamese sources said President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam reaffirmed the talks boycott in a closed door speech there to political followers.

South Vietnam's boycott is based mainly on a refusal to see the Viet Cong get full conference status. Thieu wants the Viet Cong seated as only a part of the Hanoi delegation.

Le Duc Tho, the powerful member of the North Vietnam delegation, was currently in the fourth day of a Moscow stopover on his way from Hanoi to Paris. Diplomats in Paris said the Kremlin was apparently using its influence on him. Tho stopped earlier for only one day in Peking where Chinese Communist leaders oppose any compromise with Saigon.

North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris confirmed they have been meeting U.S. officials the past 48 hours. Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance, deputy chief of the U.S. delegation, and his opposite number, Hanoi's Col. Hau Van Lau, have been conducting the secret sessions, diplomatic sources said. The pair was said to have made plans for getting the talks started immediately upon Saigon announcing it would attend.

In Moscow, Pravda accused the United States today of blocking the Vietnam peace talks and demanded that it get them started.

The Communist party newspaper, which reflects the official Soviet viewpoint, also called for an end to U.S. reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam, calling them "provocative overflights."

The article noted that the United States had stopped bombing North Vietnam nearly three weeks ago but since then had made no further progress toward peace.

Water Board Eyes Ideas For Merger

The North Marin County Water District should form an improvement district to handle business operations of the Novato Sanitary District, which it seeks to absorb.

This was the recommendation to the water district board last night by Dist. Mgr. Jerome B. Gilbert, according to clerk Eugene Churchill.

The proposed merger of the water and sanitary districts has been approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission and is scheduled to be reviewed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors before being submitted to Novato area voters.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

WATER USE — Heard a report that water consumption in October of this year had dropped 6.5 per cent from last year, or from 130.1 million gallons last year to 121.6 million gallons, because of increased rainfall.

MAIN — Approved an agreement with the Novato Sanitary District to install a main on Davidson Street at a cost estimated at $7,520. The main will be shared by the sanitary district, City of Novato and Western California Telephone Co.

ANNEXATION — Approved the annexation of the water district's Trumbull Avenue Sanitary District.

INSTALLATIONS — Heard that the pipeline replacement on Novao Boulevard between Diablo Avenue and Tamalpais Avenue was 75 per cent complete and that the new main on Los Alondros Court was 80 per cent complete.

Jewelry, Radio, Cash Stolen

Jewelry, a radio and cash, with a total value of $500, were stolen from Jane Heubner's home at 735 Bay Road, Mill Valley, by a thief who climbed in through a window Saturday, sheriff's deputies said today.

Other burglaries reported by the sheriff included:

Theft of $400 cash and $50 in checks from the car of Mark D. Souza of 5631 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, parked on Majorca Court in Marinwood Saturday night.

Theft of jewelry worth more than $1,000 from the home of Mary Jean McCartan on Bayview Drive, Kentfield, sometime Monday night.

Theft of a television, an oriental chest and stereophonic equipment from the home of Robert Peterson on Oak Grove Avenue, Woodacre, Saturday night.

BOMBING

when he failed to appear before a federal grand jury.

The other suspects were Richard Tankersley, 28, and his wife, Susan, 26, of Richmond. Police said today that an arsenal of bombs and explosives was found in their home a month ago.

Police investigated the Tankersley's name. At the time of Guirkins' arrest, they were believed to have been in Boulder, Colo., attending the national convention of Students for Democratic Society.

Sausalito Gun Policy Is Repealed

Sausalito's gun ordinance, due to go into effect Dec. 5, was reluctantly repealed last night by the Sausalito City Council.

Several antigun registration speakers, including James Marsico of the Citizens Against Gun Registration, told the council the ordinance would be inconsequential, possibly dangerous and illegal in the light of the overturning of a San Francisco ordinance, and would cost the city heavily in administration costs. (Other Sausalito Council stories, page 34.)

The registration would serve criminals, one critic said. The lists of gun owners would be on sale in the underworld within two weeks, he said.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk moved to repeal the ordinance in light of the county-wide rejection of gun registration Nov. 5. He said he made the motion despite the arguments presented.

"A lot of people think you must have a gun in your home or you're not a man," he commented.

Alexander R. Imlay seconded the motion and echoed Dyk's sentiment. "I disagree with 90 per cent of the comments I've heard tonight," he said.

The repeal, passed as an emergency ordinance, took effect immediately. The city gun ordinance was passed July 16 and the council later postponed its effective date until after the Nov. 5 vote.

cellor Glenn Dumke after the tence for his part in an attack cently given a suspended sena year ago, urged minorities to n the campus newspaper staff bring guns to school as protection against "racist administrators."

Smith and the deans of San Francisco State's seven departments announced yesterday they had decided to resume a full class schedule.

"The faculty is asked to report to their scheduled classes," Smith said in a "state of the campus" address over the school's closed television system.

However, the faculty's refusal to teach came on a voice vote at a meeting attended by more than half of the 1,000 full-Black Panther, who was retime faculty members. They voted to resume general meetings and to hold consultations with students.

"We are resuming classes," said Leo McClathy, chairman of the Academic Senate, "but we have decided there will be only one class, which will be held in the auditorium and piped out to the students and faculty in the other rooms."

NOVATO

for police recruits. The city did not receive any applicants from either source, he said.

Smith had also asked that radio stations KSOL and KDIA be used for advertising. Foster was directed to get the cost of advertising on these stations.

Smith asked how many applications from minority groups the city had when it recruited.

Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva replied that the city had 51 applicants for two positions in the public works department, but could not say how many were from minority groups becasuse because that question is not on the application. Only when it had been narrowed down to 10 men for interviews did the council know their race, Silva said.

Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said that in the course of Novato's eight-year history of police recruiting five members of minority groups, three Negroes and two Japanese, had reached the interview stage. One Negro, Ronald Bostick, rated the highest and was hired, Di Grazia said. Bostick has since left the city for higher wages, the chief noted.

Smith agreed that the city should not ask the race of a person in an application.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack said he felt that the city owed its own residents something and should give them preferential treatment for city jobs.

To which Smith said that Novato should reach out beyond its borders to the minority groups.

McAskill said that would be discriminating against white people.

"The Negro has had 350 years of discrimination against him and I do not think a year or two of the reverse discrimination would hurt," Smith said.

Councilman Joseph Gargiulo said that Smith acted as though the present people were responsible for conditions that existed 350 years ago.

"I grew up a member of a minority group —my father came from Italy and my mother was Mexican, so I know that one can grow up in a minority group and not allow it to interfere with his life," Gargiulo said.

The council adjourned until 7 p.m. today to review applications for the position of city manager, vacant since the resignation of John Julien Baget on Sept. 15.

numbers, placed on the car's frame at the factory, had been cut out and replaced with the numbers from a frame purchased in a wrecking yard, he said.

Jardine was arrested that night and charged with possession of stolen property. That charge was replaced by the joint criminal complaint filed in court yesterday.

Disser said he traced the car to Rippon, who said he recognized the car as one stolen from him at the Roger Wilco Store in Novato Nov. 2.

Rippon later found floor mats from his car in the garage of Merz's home in Novato, Disser said.

"There were a multitude of Volkswagen parts in the garage," he added.

Disser also charged that Jardine stole a Volkswagen in Fairfax from Alice Simon Aug. 27 and drove it to Hicks Valley, where he removed the engine, placed it on a truck and took it to Merz's home.

He put it into the shell of a volkswagen he had purchsed and sold it to Cook for $700, Disser said. This was the first stolen auto police found at the Cook home.

In October, Jardine also stole a 1959 Porsche in San Francisco, drove it to his home, changed the license plates and identification numbers and drove it as his own, Disser said. Jardine was driving that car when arrested Nov. 13.

BART, Reagan Agree Sales Tax Hike Is Best Solution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — If legislators approve Gov. Ronald Reagan's plans, residents of three San Francisco area counties will pay a higher sales tax in the next four and one-half years to complete the Bay Area Rapid Transit District system.

Reagan and BART directors announced at the Capitol yesterday they have agreed on the course they will ask the Legislature to take to pull the district out of a $146 million financial hole.

If the Legislature approves, the current sales tax of five cents on the dollar will go to five and one-half cents for what Reagan estimated would be four and one-half years in the limited area.

He called it "an emergency, short-term ... tax increase" and noted it would affect only the three BART counties — San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa, with about 2.3 million residents.

The governor likened it to the statewide, seven-months boost in the gasoline tax during 1965 to pay for roads damaged in the 1964 Northern California flood.

Legislation carrying an "urgency" clause to make it effective immediately upon the governor's signature without the usual waiting period will be introduced when the Legislature meets Jan. 6. To be carried by Sen. Lewis Sherman, R-Berkeley, it will permit the BART board of directors to raise the tax.

Because of the urgency clause the bill will require a two-thirds vote of approval in both houses.

Reagan told reporters "this is clearly a matter of extreme urgency . . . In my mind, the sales tax approach is the only fiscally sound one with which to effect a solution."

He said he is "confident that we will be able to count on broad community support for the sales tax approach."

That was backed up by the president of the BART board, James P. Doherty of El Cerrito.

Voters in the three counties aproved a $792 million bond issue for the 75-mile system of rapid rail transit in 1962, but well above $1 billion. Facing the deficit, the district has halted issuing most new contracts and said that if it didn't get some money, there would be a lot of expensive holes in the ground.

Self-Inflicted Deaths Rising

GENEVA (AP) — Hungary, Iceland and West Berlin still lead the world in the number of suicides within their borders, a World Health Organization survey revealed today.

It also showed that suicides are becoming a growing problem in developing countries and that suicides had moved up to the No. 3 position as a cause of death in eight industrial countries.

In Hungary, suicide accounted for 3 per cent of all deaths in 1966, the year of the study. In Iceland it was 2.7 per cent and 2.3 per cent in West Berlin.

Among the industrialized nations Japan led with 2.1 per cent, followed by West Germany with 1.7 per cent, France 1.5 per cent and the United States 1.1 per cent.

Sausalito's Rail Future Hearing Ends

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on Northwestern Pacific Railroad's application to abandon service on its Sausalito branch concluded yesterday after five days of testimony.

The ICC examiner who heard the testimony, Samuel C. Shoup, set Jan. 3 as the deadline for the railroad and Sausalito firms opposing the application to file written briefs, and said he probably would issue his recommendation to the ICC 60 to 90 days later.

NEXT STEP

Then, after both sides have had a chance to file exceptions to his recommendations, the matter will go before either the commission or a division of the commission, which either can adopt his recommendations or issue its own order.

Shoup could not estimate how long the whole process may take.

The railroad's application contends that traffic on the branch is too light to warrant necessary repairs to the branch, but several business firms served by the branch are opposing the application to abandon service.

In earlier testimony, C. E. Neil, vice president and general manager of the railroad, pictured the branch as a rusted and decaying stretch that would require about $1.4 million to renovate.

However, James Hawke, a San Francisco structural engineer hired by the firms opposing the application, estimated it would cost about $36,000 to make repairs adequate for the next 10 years.

COSTS ISSUE

In closing testimony yesterday, Neil conceded Hawke's figures for labor and material costs were correct, but Neil argued that Hawke did not propose enough work to make the line safe.

Also in testimony yesterday, a trucker told the examiner that the Sausalito industries could get along without rail service by shifting to use of trucks. However, he did not have available figures to compare the cost of rail and truck service, reported Robert N. Lowry, attorney for the Sausalito firms.

A. G. Schoonmaker testified Monday that it would cost his diesel generating and gas turbine manufacturing firm about $65,000 a year more to move his products by trucks.

Lowry also reported that Neil testified that he had been trying to have the railroad renovate the branch since 1954.

In 1960, an ICC examiner ruled in favor of abandonment but was overturned by an ICC subcommittee.

City Ownership Of Gas, Electric Systems Viewed

The suggestion that the City of Rohnert Park operate its own gas and electric systems has been presented to the city council with the recommendation that a feasibility study be made.

Developers Paul Golis and Hugh Codding in letters read at the Monday council meeting said it was their opinion the city could progress faster if it operated its own gas and electric supply systems. Golis said the slow actions of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. have held up development of certain areas on several occasions.

Acknowledging a feasibility study might be appropriate, the council asked the men if they might agree to share costs of the study. City Mgr. Peter M. Callahan suggested that each, as large undeveloped land owners, might put up $2,500. Golis said he would investigate costs for a study.

In prior years the council has studied the matter and at one time had retained the firm of R. W. Beck Associates of Seattle, Wash., for a study, but no action toward taking over the utilities was ever made.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

STOP SIGNS — Approved installation of stop signs on Transport Avenue at Commerce Boulevard; Industrial Court at Commerce Boulevard; Golf Course Drive at the Wilfred Avenue off-ramp of Highway 101, and on Rohnert Park Expressway at Snyder Lane.

ADVERTISING — Approved planned advertising sign of Golis on Highway 101 near his office on Commerce Boulevard.

HOSPITAL — Received letter from Golis suggesting that land set aside for the civic center buildings on Rohnert Park Expressway be relocated to city-owned property near the proposed Cofega Lake Drive and use the civic center property for a hospital site. The council agreed to study the suggestion.

UNDERGROUNDING — Was informed by the state Public Utilities Commission that districts for the undergrounding of utility lines need not be established as far in advance as had been required under old rulings. Proposed districts, therefore, were not discussed.

PAYMENT — Approved second progress payment of $27,088 to the James Construction Co. for work on the community and recreation center.

COMMENDED — Adopted resolutions commending the Rohnert Park Junior High School and Pop Warner football teams on their undefeated seasons.

WORK INCENTIVE — Approved participation in the federal work incentive program where persons on the welfare will be given job assignments with the city and receive an additional $30 a month from the state Department of Employment. Callinan said the city is responsible only for the supervision of employees and no financial outlay.

Berkeley Council Backs Farm Union

BERKELEY (UPI) — The City Council of Berkeley by a 5-to-1 vote yesterday adopted a resolution endorsing the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee boycott of table grapes.

The resolution, adopted even though the city doesn't buy table grapes, urged "all persons" to support the boycott.

Gunman Holds Up Grocer For $100

A man who stopped in at the Tamalpais Market, Second and D streets, San Rafael, ostensibly to buy a bottle of soda just before it closed last night, pulled a gun on co-owner Lloyd Mason and demanded the money from the cash register, police said.

Mason told officers the 55-to 60-year-old man came in at 8:55 p.m., five minutes before closing. He selected a soft drink and as Mason rang up the sale he pulled a .45-caliber gun and demanded the money, Mason reported.

Police said the amount of cash taken has not been definitely determined, but said it was about $100.

Marin Woman Denies Charge

Sandra Lee Price, 30, of Mill Valley, yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of embezzlement in a San Francisco Municipal Court hearing.

Her case was bound over to Superior Court with no hearing date yet set.

Mrs. Price is charged with embezzling more than $200 between June, 1966, and Feb. 21, 1968, from General Sales Corp. where she worked as a bookkeeper and accountant.

Mexico Students To Press Boycott

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Leaders of Mexico's striking students vowed last night to continue the boycott of classes until the government meets their demands.

Members of the national strike committee announced to some 10,000 cheering students at the Santo Tomas campus of the Polytechnic Institute that they have no intention of complying with the repeated requests of Education Minister Agustin Yanez that they resume their studies.

The students announced plans to hold a "monster meeting" Saturday with representatives of dissatisfied federal teachers who have threatened a national strike for higher pay.

Nothern Irish Clash Hurts 10

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — At least 18 persons were injured last night when Roman Catholic demonstrators and Protestants clashed in the street outside a Londonderry factory.

It was the worst outbreak of violence in Londonderry since Oct. 5, when 80 persons were injured in a similar Catholic-Protestant street battle.

Yesterday about 200 youths marched to a factory to protect Catholic working girls who the youths said had been stoned by Protestants when they left the factory after the evening shift Monday.

Reports Bike Theft

Mary Reis of 119 Center Street, San Rafael, reported yesterday that an almost new bike had been taken from her porch sometime during the night, police said. Mrs. Reis told officers the bike was locked.

LBJ HONORS HEROES

Human Rights Official Reports Car Rifled

While he was attending the Novato City Council special meeting with the Novatans for Racial Equality last night at the community house, Wallace K. Shepherd, field representative of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, said his car was rifled, according to police.

A brief case containing papers belonging to Shepherd and a hunting-style knife were found at 11:30 p.m. at South Novato Boulevard and Arthur Street by Robert Abercrombie of 2350 Dominic Drive, Novato, who returned the articles to police. Shepherd told police he would recover the items today.

Lack Of Quorum

Yesterday's scheduled meeting of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce was canceled for lack of a quorum. Secretary Sandra Healey said the meeting will be rescheduled, but the date is not set yet.

Oakland's Tech High Reopens For Classes

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland Technical High School reopened today after being closed two days following a rampage in which 110 windows were broken.

Faculty members at Tech met throughout yesterday, drafting proposals to thwart any violence in the future.

The Negotiating Council of the Oakland Education Association, representing a majority of the city's teachers, proposed automatic suspension of any student identified as a participant in a school disruption.

In separate disturbance Tuesday at McClymonds High School in West Oakland, temporary evacuation was ordered when fires broke out in a music room.

In moves against vandalism, the board of education last night appropriated $50,000 to hire additional guards.

The board also approved requiring students to carry identification cards and expelled two more students. Twelve have been expelled this year.

Sleepy Lagunitas Motorist Injured

Donald Ray Pate, 30, of 60 Mountain View Avenue, Lagunitas, was treated today at Marin General Hospital for broken ribs and face cuts received when his car went over a bank west of Fairfax, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The highway patrol said Pate told them he fell asleep driving home at 1:55 a.m. on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard just outside the Fairfax city limits.

President of Corte Madera Volunteer Fire Department is Larry P. Salarpi.

Novato Postal Bids Too High

The two bids received to operate a post office substation on Grant Avenue in Novato were rejected today as too high, according to Novato Postmaster Harry Overly.

Bids were submitted for a substation in the main business district by Baxter Hovis, owner of Pini Hardware at 1107 Grant Avenue, and Jack J. Friddle, owner of Ben Franklin Store at 871 Grant Avenue, Overly said.

The post office will call for new bids after Christmas, Overly said.

Peking Trade Off

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist China's foreign trade began declining in late 1967 and kept falling even after things began returning to normal following Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung's Cultural Revolution, Western economic experts said yesterday.

ALIOTO GETS NOISY RECEPTION

San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto is shouted down by 150 students and demonstrators as he tries to address the crowd at San Francisco State College. (See story on page 1.) The Mayor met with college president Robert Smith yesterday on reopening the troubled campus, before the encounter. (AP Wirephoto)

Except for a small strip six miles wide, the present boundaries of Colusa County have nothing in common with the original boundaries of the county.

Teacher Is Fired Over Marijuana

DANVILLE (AP) — The superintendent of schools says a substitute teacher has been fired and six Monte Vista High School students suspended for smoking marijuana in class.

Dr. Richard Foster, San Ramon Valley Unified School District superintendent, said yesterday a further investigation is under way.

Principal Larry Church discovered the incident Friday and said the teacher "was incapable of a coherent response to questions."

Neither the teacher nor the students were named.

Danville is in Contra Costa County.

Foster, a resident of Greenbraé, has resigned as superintendent effective June 30, 1969. His resignation came after residents in the district split over what some called "permissive education" and a proposal to bus pupils from Oakland and Richmond poverty areas to San Ramon Valley schools. Foster is a former assistant superintendent of Marin County schools.

Two Sisters Perish As Blaze Hits Home

LA HABRA (AP) — A 10-year-old girl died trying to save her little sister as fire swept through the second floor of their home last night.

The youngsters were killed by flames and smoke as three brothers, a sister and their grandmother fled and screamed to neighbors for help.

Dead are Marta Markel and her sister, Megan, 2. Their parents, Melvin, 45, an engineer, and Marjorie, 41, were at a dinner party.

A neighbor, Clara Meister, 45, heard the screams and tried to climb a stairway but was turned back by heat and smoke.

Her husband, Willard, 49, and daughter, Paulette, 19, also tried to scale the stairs, but failed.

A fireman broke through a window, scooped up Marta from the bedroom floor and took her unconscious onto the roof of the garage.

Henry Torget is president of Black Point Improvement Club.

Drake Freshmen Set Election

Sir Francis Drake High School freshmen will elect officers to serve for the rest of the school year during world history classes Friday.

Freshmen started the year with a temporary council to give students a chance to get to know one another and the school. Previously fall and spring officers were elected.

Candidates for president are Jeanne Furrier, Dennis Gallagher, Robert Morgen and Tom Thompson; vice president, Mike Barbera, Danielle Dever, Kathy Olson, Cindy DeMars, and Cyndi Miller; secretary, Leslie Caulfield, Sue Harrison, Vicki McVey, Karin Moffat, Debbie Mueller and Lori Tourte; and treasurer, Gael Adair, Tricia Behre, Pat Grubbs, Nori Hendricks and Kris Niemann.

Hub City Youth Taken To Napa

A 19-year-old San Anselmo youth who, police say, apparently was under the influence of drugs was taken to Napa State Hospital yesterday on an emergency committment.

Officers said they arrived at the home of William Michael Wauters, 130 Melville Avenue, about 11 p.m. yesterday and found him removing his jacket and shirt in the middle of the street.

He declared he owned the universe, they said, and ordered officers to leave the area. No drugs were in his possession, police added.

The dogwood tree is believed to have gotten its name from Europeans who boiled its bark to produce a potion for treating mange in dogs.

Petaluma Planners Favor Convalescent Hospital

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night unanimously gave permission for construction of a convalescent hospital on Douglas Street at the Petaluma Trade Center.

The application, filed by California Health Care, Inc., was recommended by William C. McGivern, city planner, who said the location is convenient, plans attractive, zoning correct and that the hospital will meet a growing need. He reported the city now has 254 convalescent beds and will need a minimum of 347 by 1972.

At the public hearing, several neighbors complained the hospital would bring additional traffic into the area, while others argued another convalescent hospital is not needed.

The Petaluma Planning Commission Also:

VARIANCE —Approved variance requested by Dr. Hamza Munib to construct a triplex apartment building on a substandard lot at 340 Kentucky Street. Planner McGivern had opposed the variance, saying the 4,800 square foot lot is too small for the proposed building.

RESOLUTION — Approved resolution to amend the zoning ordinance to add mobile homes parks to the list of conditional uses in the limited industrial zone.

AMEND — Approved resolution asking the city council to amend the zoning ordinance to allow the planning commission to add conditional uses to the ordinance.

MOBILE HOMES — Directed planing staff to study and prepare an ordinance to establish a separate mobile home district and to schedule a public hearing.

REHABILITATION — Approved request of Signal Oil and Gas Co. to allow rehabilitation of existing station at 296 Wilson Street. Site designs were also approved.

REZONING — Approved recommendation to city council that 19 acres of unincorporated land owned by Aubrey W. Sanderson on Old Redwood Highway at Highway 101 be rezoned from light industrial to highway commercial. The city council will study the rezoning at a meeting today at 4:30 p.m. at city hall and will make a recommendation to the Sonoma County Planning Commission.

USE PERMIT — Approved recommendation to the county planning commission that a use permit be granted for construction of an education building at the Church of God the Prophecy, 2100 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Petaluma Teen-Ager Hurt In Car Accident

Paul B. Luchessa, 16, of 23 Laurel Drive, Petaluma, was injured yesterday at 2:25 p.m. when his car ran down an embankment on Highway 101 near the School Street exit at Cotati.

Luchessa was treated at Petaluma General Hospital for face cuts. He was thrown from the car.

The California grizzly bear appearing on the state flag and seal was extinct before it formally became the state's animal in 1953.

TO DISLODGE BULLET

Centrifuge Used As Surgical Tool

MOUNTAN VIEW (UPI) — A huge centrifuge, normally used to train and test astronauts, has become a surgical tool for doctors trying to shift a bullet lodged in a man's brain to a less critical area.

The bullet is in the brain of Joseph Barrios, 63, a Morgan Hill, cook shot during an Oct. 7 holdup at the restaurant where he worked.

Doctors and scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center made the first attempt Monday to move the bullet by subjecting Barrios to the pressures of centrifugal force.

The first attempt failed but doctors were encouraged enough to begin plans for a second try during the next two weeks.

In the first try, Barrios wore a tight-fitting helmet and was strapped and clamped into place at the end of the huge centrifuge arm.

He was given a 30-second spin at four Gs — four times the force of gravity. He showed no ill effects and agreed to another run of 20 seconds at five Gs and five seconds at 6 Gs. He was talkative and smiling as the machine stopped twirling.

The bullet is in the left lateral ventricle of the soft tissue of Barrios' brain. His doctors want to shift it a fraction of an inch to a position where it would be harmless or could be removed surgically with much less risk.

Other NASA equipment was used earlier when the bullet shifted into the third ventricle, an even more critical spot. Barrios was somersaulted in a special rotating chair and the bullet moved back into the lateral ventricle.

The bullet has not affected Barrios' physical actions, but doctors have ordered him kept immobile to prevent movement of the bullet into a more dangerous spot.

3-Year-Old Probe Begins Pass At Sun

MOUNTAIN VIEW (UPI) — Pioneer VI, launched nearly three years ago to study the solar atmosphere, began its pass around the sun yesterday — 167,591,700 miles from earth.

A spokesman for the Ames Research Center, which is conducting the Pioneer Project, said monitoring devices were turned off due to normal violent activity near the solar surface.

Scientists said the craft will disappear behind the solar disc tomorrow morning and emerge again Saturday afternoon.

Coronal turbulence weakened the radio signal emitted from Pioneer VI, 432 miles from the solar surface. Radio noise transmitted by the sun itself was so powerful that the spacecraft's signal was blotted out.

Scientists conducting experiments with the spacecraft are stationed at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena. They are measuring effects of a radio signal passing from the spacecraft through the little-known corona of the sun on its way to earth.

It is hoped such measurements will give man its best information yet on the structure of the corona, which is the part of the sun's turbulent atmosphere closest to the solar surface.

Another experiment linked with Pioneer VI seeks to check the theory of relativity.

Novato Trustees To Trim Budget For Salary Increases

Novato Unified School District trustees Monday night approved trimming the budget and taking money from undistributed reserve to meet the $350,000 pay increase granted the teachers and other employees last month, Supt. James G. Bunker reported yesterday.

Various budget items were trimmed by a total $71,610. Added to this was $135,120 of additional income from the federal money to districts in which a military base is located and $143,270 from the reserves.

This left only $46,577 in the undistributed reserve fund, Bunker said.

Novato Unified School District Trustees Also:

GROWTH — Heard a report that there were 306 new houses under construction in the city which will necessitate one new elementary school and additions to San Marin High School by the fall of 1971.

CORPORATION YARD — Asked staff to find out the cost of five acres in the vicinity of Gnoss Field for a district corporation yard.

HILL ROAD — Reviewed proposals by the Novato City Public Works Department on the realignment of Hill Road by Rancho School, and opposed one plan which would put the road 40 feet from the door of the school.

SAN MARIN HIGH — Approved a change order on San Marin High for a pressure reduction valve on the water main costing $4,162.

Rock Group, Film Star In Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — The Jefferson Airplane, a rock music group, bombed out yesterday as far as the police were concerned and their rooftop renditions resulted in a bumpy landing for actor Rip Torn.

The group had plugged in its amplifiers atop a nine-story midtown Manhattan hotel during the filming of "One American Movie" for a Public Broadcasting Laboratory TV program.

The guitar noise got the better of guests and tied up traffic on the streets below.

During a police investigation, Torn got into an argument and pushed a patrolman, officers said. He was issued a summons for harassment. The film company, Leacock Pennebaker Inc., also received a summons for creating a public disturbance and filming without a permit.

Guilty Plea Made In Property Case

Kelly Sanford Walter, 19, of Marin City, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court Monday to a charge that he concealed property stolen in a burglary of a Sausalito home June 15.

His plea was offered after the district attorney withdrew a charge that he burgled the home. His case was continued until Dec. 16 for sentencing.

San Rafael Sets Firemen's Class

Firemen throughout Marin County will come to San Rafael Friday and Saturday to participate in a county-wide fire fighting school, San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett said yesterday.

Live fire demonstrations will be used to teach the firemen to combat gas, oil and butane fires with water and other extinguishing agents, such as dry powder. The school sessions will take place on the flatlands near the San Rafael Fire Department Number Four, off Francisco Blvd.

There will be class sessions beginning at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. on both days.

Arraigned In Theft

Fred Michael Ball of Garfield Road, Petaluma, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on felony of car theft and burglary in Novato April 2 and another burglary in that city April 7. His case was continued until today for plea.

Educators Given Warning On Laws

Repressive school legislation, largely as a result of widespread dissatisfaction with conduct of colleges and high schools, may be expected from the 1969 California Legislature, the Marin Elementary School Administrators' Association was warned yesterday.

Bryce W. Anderson, executive city editor of the Independent-Journal, outlined some of the measures expected to be introduced in the Legislature during a talk to the monthly breakfast meeting of the association at Dominican College.

He forecast a new and perhaps successful attempt to repeal the portion of the Unruh Education Act which removes all school tax rate ceilings as of 1971, curtailment of a teacher tenure rights, and possibly setting of teacher salaries by the state. He suggested that how the school districts go about curriculum control which was granted them by the George Miller Jr. Act may have considerable effect on whether repressive legislation is passed.

NAMED AIRMAN—A/1C Ronald C. Richards, 26, who is assigned to the 78th Communications and Electronic Maintenance Squadron and lives in the barracks, has been chosen Airman of the Month at Hamilton Air Force Base. He was selected for his self-improvement, job performance and knowledge of current events.

Tomales Bay Changes Under Way

Many of the programs requested by parents last March at a special meeting, have been started, Supt. Ralph E. Nixon reported Monday night to Tomales Bay School District trustees.

The Tomales Elementary School District board also:

X-RAY — Heard a report from Nixon that he had requested the mobile chest X-ray unit from the Marin County Tuberculosis Association, but the date has not been set.

Lobbyist Issue Again Confronts Gate Span Board

The recurring issue of whether to hire a Sacramento lobbyist will come before the legislation committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Former Assembly Speaker Gordon Garland, 68, has represented the district in the capitol since 1961 at an annual fee of $16,000. A minority of the board's 14 directors has opposed his hiring each year.

Board criticism of Garland this year, however, is expected to be strengthened because the district failed to block legislation it opposed in the 1968 session.

District auditor Gordon E. Dahlgren has reported that Garland has been paid a total of $84,000, including expenses, in his seven years as lobbyist.

Garland served in the Assembly from 1936 to 1943, and lobbies for several other clients.

The committee's recommendation will be presented to the full board at 10 a.m. Friday in the district offices.

Book Says Cardinal Lost Post Over War

TURIN, Italy (AP) - A priest historian says sharp criticism of American bombing in North Vietnam cost Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro his post as archbishop of Bologna last January.

In a book issued today, the Rev. Lorenzo Bedeschi, a university professor in modern history, argues that conservatives in the Vatican Curia took advantage of the poor health of Pope Paul VI last winter to get from him an order of resignation for Cardinal Lercaro. Father Bedeschi says Pope Paul later bitterly repented what he had done.

The book, entitled "The Dismissed Cardinal," reports the papal order to resign reached the the cardinal in a few days after he called bombing in Vietnam an evil and said the Church was bound in conscience to denounce it.

The historian says conservatice prelates in the Vatican charged the cardinal with being prone to Communist influence and that his sermon provided evidence.

Father Bedeschi says Pope Paul, recovering from the prostate surgery of November 1967, was an easy prey to conservative maneuvering.

Cardinal Lercaro, considered a top figure among Italian Catholic progressives, has long been the target of attacks by conservatives. Last year a pamphlet with an approving preface by Italy's Antonio Cardinal Bacci described Cardinal Lercaro as the most dangerous man in the church since Luther.

Shortly after Cardinal Lercaro's dismissal the Vatican announced the resignation of Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, who was widely regarded as a key figure in church conservatism. From his post as head of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.

According to Father Bedeschi's book, in a private audience last March the Pope kindly reproached Cardinal Lercaro for "having accepted the order to resign too readily" and told him he should have consulted personally with the pontiff before obeying.

Since then, Pope Paul has often praised Cardinal Lercaro and his activity before audiences of pilgrims. The Pope also sent the cardinal as his representative to open the World Eucharistic Congress in Bogota, Colombia, last August.

Brocco Case: No Charges Planned Yet

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said today that he has no immediate plans to seek charges against Lorraine Brocco, who wounded her sleeping husband with a hatchet in their Greenbrae home on Oct. 27.

Mrs. Brocco, who took an overdose of pills after striking the former Larkspur City Councilman Henry Brocco on the head, is now a patient at the new Community Mental Health Center, where she was transferred from Marin General Hospital.

Because of Mrs. Brocco's illness, Chief Clark has been unable to interview her about the incident, he said.

He has conferred with the district attorney's office, he said, and no plans have been made to file charges in view of Mrs. Brocco's illness.

Brocco, 43-year-old owner of the Bon Air Pharmacy, told officers he awakened in their home at 349 Via La Paz to find his wife chopping at his head with a hatchet. He was treated at Marin General Hospital but the wound was not considered serious.

He told police he knew of no reason for the assault.

Mrs. Brocco was found unconscious in their bedroom shortly after and taken to Marin General Hospital, where she was treated in the intensive care unit.

Kimmel Faces Charges On Marijuana

James David Kimmel, the Novato High School teacher arrested on campus Friday with suspected marijuana, will be charged with possession of the weed and resisting a police officer, Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas said today.

Thomas also confirmed that his office is considering additional charges against the biology and earth science teacher, on the basis of new reports from the Novato police department.

Thomas said he will ask Carl Shapiro, attorney for Kimmel, to have his client in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow for arraignment.

Kimmel was suspended by Novato Unified School District trustees after a closed session Monday night.

On Friday, he and a 16-year-old boy were arrested by Novato police after a tip that the student was selling marijuana to the teacher.

Police recovered a cigarette butt, which they said Kimmel was smoking, and a tin containing green vegetable matter. Kimmel was booked on suspicion of possessing marijuana, destroying evidence and resisting arrest.

TERRA LINDA COEDS MAY WEAR SLACKS

Terra Linda High School coeds may wear slacks to school beginning Tuesday, a committee of parents, staff and students decided yesterday.

The committee acted on a newly revised district policy which gave each school the option of permitting girls to wear slacks. San Rafael High School granted the permission Nov. 12.

Terra Linda Principal Frank Stocking said the one-week delay was to give time to send letters to parents informing them of the changed rule.

Six Drown

MANILA (AP) — At least six persons drowned when the inter-island ferry Iruna and the British freighter Eastern Moon collided Monday night in Cebu harbor, navy headquarters said today. The Iruna sank, and the first report of the collision said 200 persons were missing.

Marin Democrats Set Sights On 1970 Drive

After learning last night that its finances are in good shape, the Marin County Democratic Central Committee began making plans for the 1970 election.

Chairman S. Robert Politzer said that the financial drive begun in June had raised enough money to pay off a two-year debt of $1,800 with money left over. "Considering this was not a Democratic year, we are very pleased with our financial picture," Politzer said.

The Marin Democrats have embarked on a three-prong program called "Project '70," Politzer said. The first part of the program will be a search for a candidate for the Fourth State Senatorial District, the seat now held by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Politzer said the committee also plans to start building a war chest toward this election.

The third part of the program is to build a new club movement in the county, probably not associated with the California Democratic Council, which has become ineffective, Politzer said.

"We also plan to bring the central committee closer to county Democrats by holding monthly meetings in various communities with speakers on political issues," Politzer explained.

Key Democrats in the county who do not belong to the central committee will be invited to a seminar within the next few weeks, he said, to discuss and organize the Democratic structure in Marin.

Teen-Ager Cited On Theft Of Car

A 15-year-old San Rafael youth was cited on three counts of car theft and released to his father yesterday after police found him with a car taken Sunday in San Rafael.

The youth admitted taking two other cars recently. Police said all of the cars had been recovered.

First Plans For Luchessi Park Studied

The Petaluma Parks and Recreation Commission last night studied preliminary plans for the development of Luchessi Park on Maria Drive at East Washington Street.

Landscaping plans were submitted by architect Sidney Lewin of San Rafael. Commission members said they would study them for comments at the Dec. 4 meeting in city hall when a public hearing will be held.

Lewin suggested that federal funds for the project might come from the open space land program or the land and water conservation program. Commission members asked Lewin to study the fund plans and to make a recommendation.

The Petaluma Parks and Recreation Commission also:

U.S., Japan Ironing Out Fishing Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Japan and the United States "are at the halfway mark" in their review of existing fishing agreements, a State Department official said yesterday.

The official said the review is extensive, and that both Japan and the United States are making serious efforts to solve any problems regarding fishing rights.

King crab rights are one of the major topics being discussed, the official said.

The talks are expected to conclude next Wednesday, at which time an announcement will be issued, the official said.

The United States recognizes a three-mile offshore territorial limit, but extends its fishing rights to a 12-mile limit. The Japanese have never agreed to the extended fishing limits. The U.S. has granted the Japanese fishing rights in certain areas for specified types of fish at particular seasons.

The Japanese, who were listed by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations as the second biggest fishing nation in the world in 1967, are seeking to expand their fishing rights, particularly off the West Coast of the United States.

At the beginning of the current talks, the State Department said that "depending upon their findings, the delegations may recommend modifications of the agreements."

It said both sides would "examine the operation of the agreements in the light of current problems and new developments in the fisheries."

The first of the fishing agreements under review between the two counties, signed in 1964, regulates king crab fishing in the eastern Bering Sea.

The other agreement, signed May 9, 1967, concerns fishery problems off the U.S. coast.

Ambassador Donald L. McKernan, special assistant to the secretary of state, heads the U.S. delegation in the current talks, which also included representatives from the states of Alaska, Washington, Oregon and California. The Japanese delegation is headed by Bonroku Yoshino, minister of the Japanese Embassy.

Reagan To Name Fifth Superior Judge Next Week

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointment of a fifth Marin County Superior Court judge will be announced next week, his appointments secretary said today.

Paul R. Haerle, formerly of Santa Venetia, noted that the appointment had been expected Nov. 1, but was delayed because the board of governors of the State Bar of California had not screened possible appointees as expected at the October meeting.

The board's November meeting will be held tomorrow in San Francisco, and its 15 members are to screen a slate of appointees proposed by the governor, said Haerle. No Marinites are on the board of governors.

Candidates already have been screened under tight security by a secret committee of Marinites whose meeting dates and recommendations were kept under wraps by the governor's office.

The judgeship pays $30,572 a year.

Police-Community Panel Slated

A three-man panel will discuss police-community relations at the home of Gloria Jones of 519 Northern Avenue, Mill Valley, at 8 p.m. today.

Speakers will be Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, William J. Dews, police-community relations officer for the sheriff's department, and Richard Wertheimer, an American Civil Liberties Union attorney.

The meeting is sponsored by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

HALF-HOUR FROM DEATH

Mired In Mudflats, His Yells Save Life

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Jim Turley stood chest deep in sea water, immobilized in mud up to his knees, with the incoming tide slowly rising toward his head.

He ran his car into a ditch four hours earlier in the darkness and fog and struck out across the tidal flats of Huntington Harbor for help, the mud sucking at his ankles.

Turley said yesterday he couldn't remember how long he walked before he became exhausted and stopped to rest. Slowly, he began sinking. Soon the mud was up to his knees and he was stuck.

Lifeguards said today had rescuers arrived half an hour later Turley would have drowned.

Recalling his ordeal, the 28-year-old welfare worker from Orange County told an interviewer, "I think for a moment I just gave up."

Then he started calling for help, at first in a normal voice.

"But, then I decided I had better get a little more volume. I began to take deep breaths and yell as loud as I could," Turley said.

He yelled himself hoarse as the water continued to rise. "I was cold and numb," he said. "My teeth were chattering like a machine gun."

Suddenly, he sighted several small lights moving across the water in the distance.

They were the running lights on a boat owned by J.G. Armand, 37, a commercial pilot. He had been sleeping aboard the boat when he heard Turley's screams for help. Armand assumed a plane had crashed, and he and a friend had been searching for the wreckage in the swirling fog for two hours.

"Point your lights in the direction you think I am and I will tell you whether you are pointing at me," Turley yelled.

They found him at 5:30 a.m., five hours after Turley set out from his car.

Armand, thinking of the plane crash, asked Turley where the other passengers were.

"I'm alone," Turley replied.

"How did you get here?"

"I don't know," Turley said.

"Can you come aboard?"

"No, I'm up to my knees in mud."

Pedestrian's Leg Injuries Healing

A Novato man was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with injuries to his left hip and leg suffered in an accident at 3 p.m. Friday on a Highway 101 frontage road.

Heinz Eiberger, 48, of 84 Montego Key, said he had been standing by the Highway 101 fence watching an accident scene on Puerto Suello Hill, police reported.

He turned away, stepped into the street and was hit by a car driven by Gary Charles Graham 28, of San Diego, police said.

No Decision Reached On Excused Students

The disciplinary study committee for Tamalpais High School District last night mulled over the wisdom of permitting parents to excuse students from classes for such activities as peace rallies, but took no stand.

Ann Bell West, dean of girls at Sir Francis Drake High School, said even with parental permission to attend such rallies, the administration should have the right of punishment of students if it felt the reason was inadequate.

That school has been under some parental fire since it disciplined students for skipping classes to attend an antidraft rally in April.

Last Friday, the question of absences was raised at Tamalpais High School when 160 black students, many with parental approval, cut classes for the day to attend a rally in Marin City to hear San Francisco State College students explain the significance of the strife at the college.

Gloria Melbostad, district board president, said last night a school would be "on thin ice" in making "moral second guesses" on whether parents should grant permission to their children to be absent.

Donald Kreps, principal at Redwood High School, declared that often a student with parental permission and "Pre-arrainged absences" may learn more outside a school than within. He said such practices could include peace rallies and demonstrations.

The 23-member committee, asked to make recommendations of revised disciplinary policies to the board, will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 3 in the Redwood High faculty lounge.

Woman Beaten And Robbed In Marin City Underpass

A 23-year-old woman was beaten and robbed last night as she walked from a Marin City church to her home on a houseboat at Gate 6, just north of Sausalito.

Sharon E. Haney was treated at the Marin General Hospital emergency room for a broken nose, blackened eye and cut lip she suffered while scuffling with her assailant, deputies said.

She told officers she was nearing the Marin City underpass at 7:15 p.m. when a youth, described as black and aged 17-22, tapped her on the shoulder. When she turned to see who it was, he struck her in the eye, she said.

The assailant then told her to come into some nearby bushes with him. Miss Haney refused, but offered him the change she carried in her purse, deputies said.

He threw her against the fence and hit her in the mouth, cutting her lip, then struck her in the nose with his fist and tossed her to the ground, Miss Haney told officers.

She emptied her purse onto the ground, giving him some small change and showed him the empty purse to prove he had all her money. The youth glanced at the purse, then turned and walked into the darkness, toward Marin City, she said.

Miss Haney said her assailant was wearing a black and grey plaid shirt, black pants and black work boots. He was about five feet nine inches tall and slim, she said.

Tam Students Vote To Lobby For New Bonds

The 25-member Student Executive board of Tamalpais High School voted today to attend as a group the Dec. 2 meeting of the Tamalpais Union High School District board to lobby for another district bond election in April.

A $10.9 million school bond issue failed Nov. 5 to win the needed two-thirds majority.

The district board, which will discuss the bond defeat, indocated Monday it may order a stop to all architectural work for proposed new schools in the district.

The student board said today it felt the present school situation is intolerable and another bond issue should be scheduled as soon as possible.

The board is composed of class presidents, student body officers and committee chairmen.

'68 EDITION

Ice Capades Colorful, But Uneven

By GARY TISCHLER

SAN FRANCISCO — The 1968 edition of the Ice Capades, which opened at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium last night, is an uneven mixture of stylish individual performances, good to fair production numbers, and a dash of mixed media.

It's really a story of two shows, with the first half getting off to a slow start and the second half picking up on a general travelogue theme of Americana.

Two lavish production numbers, the professional debut of Austman Olympic Gold Medalist Wolfgang Schwartz and a show-stopping performance by Sashi Kuchiki highlighted the first half.

The "Sugar 'N Spice" production number was a beautiful treat for the kiddies visually, using a filmed story of a candy genie along with huge gingerbread and candy costumes. You might say it was delicious.

"Ritual of the Waters" seemed to be the case of a good idea that went nowhere. The muted green costumes and settings were beautiful to look at, but whatever theme there may have been got lost in all that expensive scenery.

But Kuchiki stopped the show and the number with a dazzling individual performance of sheer whirling energy and speed.

The debut of Schwartz was a cool, technically perfect performance in terms of execution, but it lacked verve and showmanship, something one assumes he will pick up with time.

The second half was highlighted by a smashing wild west production number featuring some smooth skating by Janet Runn and Donald Knight and a helter-skelter use of comedy and film set to a silent movie pace.

Best of the comedians was Hans Leiter, who showed that ice comedy is something more than a matter of a few falls here and there.

Roy and Sandi Wagelein gave an elegant and rousing demonstration of what pairs skating should be.

The orchestration was unsuitably brassy and herky-jerky.

The Ice Capades remain at the Civic Auditorium through Sunday, starting at 8 p.m.

Photographs By Fulton On Display

Photographs by Jack Fulton, a San Rafael photographer, are on display in the young adult section of the Marin County Library on the fourth floor of the Civic Center.

Virginia Keating, county librarian, announced that the exhibit will continue through Dec. 15.

Fulton graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin. He has been a professional photographer in San Rafael since 1963.

His photographs range from black and white to infra-red color prints.

Dominican Opera Workshop Sets Two One-Act Operas

Two contemporary one-act operas will be presented by the Dominican College Opera Workshop at 8 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday in Angelico Hall on the San Rafael campus.

This will mark the second public performance by the Opera Workshop under the direction of Arthur Conrad, who began the program last year to train singers in the theatre arts.

In a foreword to "Lord Byron's Love Letter," Tennessee Williams explains his libretto is based on such a letter. Leading roles will be sung by soprano Lorie Kutski of Sausalito and soprano Darlene Brock of Larkspur. They will be supported by San Rafael contralto Marjorie Broughton, tenor Melvyn Poll of San Francisco and Dominican undergraduate students Suanne O'Hare of Monterey and Sherry Silva of Walnut Grove.

Soprano Joan Smith of Kentfield will sing the leading role of Parasha in Stravinsky's comic opera "Mavra." Singing with her will be soprano Lynn Mitchell of Inverness and contralto Jan Vaccaro of San Francisco and Melvyn Poll.

The flowering lilac shrub orginated in Persia, was brought to Europe by crusaders, then found its way to America.

Hub's Drive-In Restaurants Facing Tighter Restrictions

San Anselmo City Council, faced with an increasing number of drive-in restaurants and take-out food dispensers, last night whipped into shape proposed tighter restrictions.

As proposed, drive-in and take-out establishments would be permitted only in the general commercial area, and then only by use permit.

The proposed change to the city's zoning ordinance was one of several reviewed at a joint workshop meeting of the council and city planning commission at city hall.

"The town is being overrun by take-out food joints," said Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson.

Under review were uses permitted by the ordinance in the neighborhood commercial, central commercial and general commercial districts, and the uses to be allowed by use permit only.

The commission and council agreed that gasoline service stations should not be permitted in the central business district, but allowed in the neighborhood commercial district by use permit and in the general commercial district.

Planning Commissioner Joseph Gue felt that gasoline stations weren't compatible with neighborhood commercial uses, but others felt they should be included because they would require a use permit and could be controlled.

Both groups agreed that there could be off-sale liquor stores in the neighborhood district by use permit only, but no on-sale liquor business.

Living quarters would be permitted in a neighborhood commercial district if they were secondary to the commerical uses, and then only by use permit.

The "living quarters" provisions would apply to such places as a room in the back of a store or an apartment above a store, as opposed to dwellings.

The council agreed that wholesale distribution uses and warehouses should be allowed in the general commercial area, by use permit only.

John F. West, commission chairman, suggested that the council consider a temporary use permit system to cover outdoor sales such as Christmas trees.

Councilman James F. Reed suggested that the council place a time limit for nonconforming outdoor uses to continue without a use permit.

The proposed zoning ordinance amendments will be presented at the council's next meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at city hall, and a public hearing is scheduled to be set for the following meeting.

Commissioners Philip S. Heinecke and Dennis T. Moore were absent.

Probation Given In Driving Case

Michael John Ryan, 20, a Treasure Island sailor, was placed on two years probation in Marin Superior Court Monday and ordered to abstain from use of alcohol after a charge of drunken driving Oct. 10 in the Sausalito lateral tunnel under Highway 101.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales argued unsuccessfully that the sailor should at least be fined for the misdemeanor offense, since he was originally charged with felony drunken driving.

Such misdemeanor charges bring an almost automatic fine in Municipal Court, he said.

Youth Suspected Of Marijuana

A Kentfield juvenile was booked into juvenile hall Friday night on suspicion of marijuana possession after he tried to hide two suspected marijuana cigarettes from a deputy sheriff on Nave Drive near Novato, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

The youth and two companions told deputies they were out of gas and during the conversation the 17-year-old driver slipped something under the car, deputies said. Deputies checked and found the two suspected marijuana cigarettes, they reported.

No other evidence was found and the companions were not held.

Tiburon Grants Setback Variance For Six Lots

Variances for front and side yard setbacks have been approved by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments for six lots in the Reedland Woods Subdivision, Unit 1, Development Administrator Phil V. Scott reported yesterday.

Reduced were side yard setbacks from 15 to 10 feet and front yard setbacks from 30 to 25 feet.

The board, however, postponed consideration Monday night of similar variance requests for 21 other lots in the subdivision pending presentation of precise plans to show need.

The Tiburon Board of Adjustments also granted minor setback variances for Ron M. Nunn at 76 East View Avenue; F. H. Norris Jr. at 85 Seafirth Road and Ralph T. Welsh at 270 Round Hill Road.

Sounding Board To Discuss Fair-Marin

Fair-Marin president Harold Stockstad, vice president Harry Moore, Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce and Marin County Director of Parks and Recreation Pierre W. Joske will discuss the responsibilities of Fair-Marin tomorrow at 9 a.m. over the KTIM Sounding Board as guests of moderator Kitty Oppenheimer.

Questions may be phoned in during tomorrow's live broadcast. The program will be repeated by tape-recording Sunday at 10:05 a.m.

Rate Hikes Sliced At Boarding Homes

The Marin County Board of Supervisors approved a trimmed rate increase yesterday for the monthly care of welfare recipients in boarding homes.

The increase — from $200 to $220 in per patient costs — was far short of the $250 rate sought by representatives of a newly formed group of boarding house owners and operators called the Marin Resident Care for the Aged.

County Administrator Alan Bruce, on the other hand, asked supervisors to grant no increase, since the state was responsible for a major share of boarding home care of old age, disabled and blind persons and that a rate increase was expected to be approved early next year in Sacramento.

Although the state says that boarding homes may charge up to $200 per month to care for welfare patients, it contributes only up to $189.50 to the county toward support of recipients. The county supplies the difference through a special supplement and also provides $15 a month extra for a recipient's personal needs.

The cost of the $20 monthly increase, through next June, was estimated by the supervisors at $11,200. A rise to $250 would have cost $24,000.

Supervisors, drawing funds from reserves to cover the increase, doubted the emergency treasury was solvent enough to surrender the larger sum.

Bette C. Porter, president of Marin Resident Care for the Aged, said that an "immediate emergency supplement" was needed to "preserve our businesses and give these people the kind of care they deserve."

In a letter to supervisors, she reported the monthly cost of caring for welfare recipients exceeded $225 a month, but that the state ceiling had not been increased in eight years.

Betty L. Presley, county director of public social services, said emergency legislation to raise the ceiling was expected to be introduced in January with the Reagan Administration's support. Another rate increase bill was vetoed by Reagan after the last session.

Miss Presley said state increases in support would reduce the county's supplement payment for boarding home care.

Cluster Of Wreaths Mark RFK's Grave On Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cluster of wreaths marked the grave of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy today, the 43rd anniversary of his birth.

Kennedy, who was assassinated in Los Angeles last June, is buried in Arlington National Cemetery next to the eternal flame over the grave of his brother, President John F. Kennedy. Friday is the fifth anniversary of the president's assassination.

Nine wreaths were placed yesterday at the small white cross that marks Robert Kennedy's grave until a permanent memorial being planned by the family can be installed.

The flowers on one wreath spelled out:

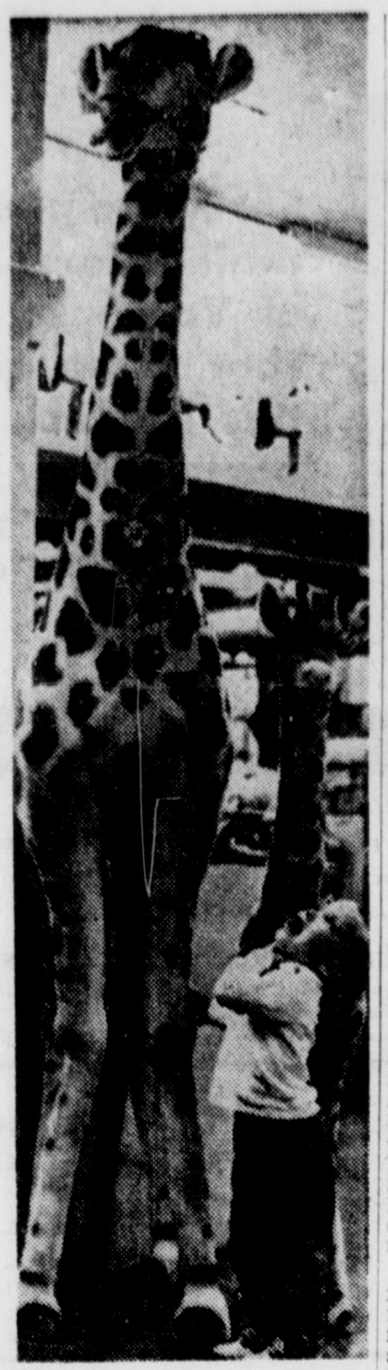
"We dream, Bobby, and ask why not?" The words echoed Kennedy's remark, "Some people see things as they are and say, 'Why?' I dream things that never were and say, 'Why not?' "

Kennedy's widow, Ethel, who is expecting her 11th child, was under doctor's orders to rest at her McLean, Va., home. She wasn't expected to visit the grave.

Girl, 16, Arrested In Blouses Theft

A 16-year-old Larkspur girl was turned over to her parents after being arrested on suspicion of shoplifting Monday at 4:10 p.m. at Macy's, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The girl was apprehended by a store employee, after she was seen taking two blouses worth $30, according to the police report.



NECK AND NECK — Little Linda Kay Pope holds her neck as she tries to compare hers with the neck of a giant toy giraffe in a Columbus, Ohio, toyland. She isn't sure, however, the $300 toy will fit into her Christmas stocking. (AP Wirephoto)

Drug Suspect's Job Is Denied

Contrary to a report by state narcotics agents, published in Saturday's Independent-Journal, Andrew Samuel Perri, 19, of San Francisco, who was arrested in conjunction with a narcotics raid in San Anselmo Friday, is not a janitor and musician for the Family Dog, Inc., a member of the firm said yesterday.

The Family Dog books musical groups for the Avalon Ballroom in San Francisco.

Australia is divided into six states.

16 Lighting Districts Consolidated

Sixteen lighting districts in Marin County, where tax rates vary from almost nothing to about 24 cents, were consolidated into one by a resolution of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Administrative Analyst Michael A. Chrystal and Public Works Director Donald R. Frost recommended consolidation for efficiency and economy.

The 16 districts range in size from three lights to 249 lights. If consolidated, the new district would have a tax rate of about 9 cents, Chrystal estimated.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr wondered whether consolidation would work since tax rates vary. Chrystal and Frost said they foresee no problems. Behr's motion to consolidate won unanimous approval.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SIDEWALKS — Approved a three-way sharing of the $3,189.90 cost of installing a sidewalk on the east side of Los Ranchitos Road between Las Gallinas Avenue and Constance Avenue. The county will pay $1,624.53; San Rafael School District $875; and six property owners along Los Ranchitos, $690.36.

AIRPORT — Applied for federal aid to get the following improvements at Gnoss Field for 1970: Acquire about five acres of land, and fill and pave for airplane parking apron.

QUARANTINE STATIONS — Took no action on the state's proposal to close down plant quarantine stations on the California border, because the County Supervisors Association of California is still investigating.

MARIN CITY LIBRARY — Created a new full time library assistant position for the Marin City library at Manzanita Center, increasing the hours of service. The total cost of increased service is $4,062 per year.

PADDED CELLS—Asked the sheriff and the director of Community Mental Health Services to determine how many padded cells are needed in the new Hall of Justice jail to care for alcoholics and psychotics. The architect had recommended four padded cells for $18,750, but several supervisors said four may not be needed.

NUGENT WILL WEAR MEDAL TO REUNION

SAIGON (AP) — Airman 1/C Patrick J. Nugent is taking a new medal he's won to Honolulu to show his wife, Luci, President Johnson's daughter.

The Air Force announced today that the 25-year-old Nugent had been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" in flying more than 400 combat sorties in a cargo plane over South Vietnam.

He was scheduled to leave Vietnam today for a week's leave with his wife, who is waiting for him in Honolulu.

The Air Force said Nugent, a loadmaster in the 309th Special Operations Squadron, has logged 536 combat hours in the C123 transports carrying ammuntion, troops and supplies, often under enemy ground fire.

Angry Lecturer Brooks No Nudes

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A lecture on art criticism at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee got sidetracked for a moment yesterday with the appearance of a nude young lady wearing a paper bag on her head.

John Colt, chairman of the art department course, intercepted the woman as she started to walk on-stage.

Colt also ejected three photographers, dressed in men's clothing and also wearing bags on their heads, who moments before had begun taking pictures of the lecture.

Colt, who is 5 feet 6 and weighs 147 pounds, said he had no trouble removing all four, explaining, "I was mad."

Interim Houseboat Ordinance Ordered

County supervisors yesterday ordered an emergency interim ordinance drawn up to stop the indiscriminate influx of new houseboats in Richardson Bat.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who had been trying for such an ordinance for several months, moved to ask the county counsel to draw up the emergency measure by next Tuesday. The ordinance would be a "holding action" until permanent ordinances regulating houseboats and marinas are completed.

Kettenhofen's motion passed unanimously.

The emergency ordinance would prohibit the importation or occupancy of additional houseboats without a permit from the Department of Public Works. The permits would be issued only if:

1. The proposed use would not be detrimental to public health, safety and welfare.

2. The proposed use would not substantially contravene the provisions of the ordinances which are being drawn up to regulate houseboats and marinas.

3. Occupancy under the permit would not be deemed to establish nonconforming use.

The supervisors approved plans and specifications for the job of removing all land-based structures from portions of Yuba, Himboldt and Sonoma streets along Richardson Bay. Bids on the project will be opened on Dec. 9 at 2 p.m.

The Waldo Point Committee of the Marin Houseboat Association recommended members of a committee to work for improvement of the houseboat community in Richardson Bay.

Among members recommended were Supervisor Peter H. Behr and Supervisor-elect Peter R. Arrigoni.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis said they see nothing wrong in Behr's serving on the committee because he is the Southern Marin supervisor, but objected to any other supervisor being named to the committee. The supervisors recognized a committee composed of Behr and four representing houseboat dwellers — T. J. Nelson, Michael Healey, Charles Whitlock, and Helen Wolfe.

Multiple Charges Case Continued

Richard Thomas Govednik, 22, of San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on charges of possessing methamphetamine, concealing stolen property, petty theft and being drunk in public.

His case was continued until today for plea.

Sausalito police arrested him Sunday when they found him wandering the streets with equipment stolen from a nearby sports car and two tablets.

Four Tabbed For Mental Health Panel

Marin supervisors filled four of the seven new slots on the Mental Health Advisory board yesterday.

The board is being expanded from six to 13 members under a new state law.

Selected yesterday were David Sokoloff, to one of three positions to be occupied by the general public; Jack D. Williams, as psychologist on the board; Miss Martha Valliant, to the opening reserved for a registered nurse, and Donald Barksdale of Center Medical Hospital, Kentfield, to the hospital administrator's position.

The board decided to wait until next week to finish appointing representatives from the general public and to select one social worker for the board from among four candidates.

Marinite Exhibits

Ada Garfinkel of Kentfield is represented in "Fifty Paintings," a national competition which is on exhibit to Friday, Dec. 6, in the Civic Arts Gallery, Walnut Creek.

Back From Tennessee Would Come Favorite Pumpkin Loaf

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press

Here's a recipe for Pumpkin Bread that we think you'll enjoy down to the last crumb. It has a delicate flavor, an airy texture and slices beautifully.

The recipe comes from Mrs. Blaylock of Chatanooga, Tennessee. Daughter Sandra used to do art work for the women's pages of the New York Herald Tribune. When Sandy would go home for vacation, Mrs. Blaylock would always have her special Pumpkin Bread on hand. Then when Sandy returned to New York, her suitcase would bulge with treats from her mother for Sandra's co-workers on the newspaper.

The late Clementine Paddleford, famous food editor in the good old days of the New York Herald Tribune, loved Mrs. Blaylock's Pumpkin Bread and would look forward to receiving a loaf. Clem would demolish several slices while writing a column, then wrap the remainig loaf to carry home.

Clem used to share goodies with her staff, but the Tennessee Pumpkin Bread was an exception that always went home for future munching. She liked to spread it with cream cheese and serve it with weekend brunch.

Mrs. Blaylock is a great cook and Sandra, recently married, wants to follow suit. Right now she's in Pakistan where her husband will be working for a couple of years. If she can find canned pumpkin there, she'll be treating her new neighbors to the Tennessee bread.

We baked the Pumpkin Bread in a non-stick coated pan (no need for greasing) and it slid out in a wink. With canned pumpkin on our market shelves, this delicious loaf is an easy-to-make treat.

TENNESSEE PUMPKIN BREAD

1⅔ cups sifted regular flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅓ cup shortening
1⅓ cups suger
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup canned mashed pumpkin
½ cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Grease a regular loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) or use a non-stick coated one and do not grease.

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg.

In a medium mixing bowl cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Stir in pumpkin.

Stir in dry ingredients in 4 additions, alternately with water until just smooth; do not overbeat. Fold in nuts. Turn batter into prepared pan.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—45to 55 minutes.

Turn out on a wire rack; turn right side up; cool. Stored in a tightly covered tin box loaf will keep nicely for several days. Or wrap tightly and store in refrigerator; bring to room temperature before serving. For special guests serve the loaf, cooled, after it is freshly baked.

Here's An Entire Menu For Your Thanksgiving Dinner

Pilgrim-like we grace our table each Thanksgiving season with a tender delicate fowl . . . the traditional turkey.

And of course, there's giblet gravy to spoon over uniquely seasoned corn bread dressing . . . especially convenient prepared a day ahead. Your Horn of Plenty? Cranberry Salad Mold topped with a mixture of raspberry flavored gelatin, cottage cheese, chopped nuts and orange rind. To complete this bountiful dinner, there's candied sweet potatoes, peas and water chestnuts. And sweetest of all, Sour Cream Pumpkin Pie.

PREPARING TURKEY

10-12 pound turkey

To stuff turkey: Pack dressing lightly into body and neck cavities. Fasten neck skin down with poultry pin. Fasten legs of turkey according to packer's directions.

The timetable for this tent-roasting method for the turkey: 6 to 8 pounds, 3 to 3½ hours; 8 to 12 pounds, 3½ to 4½ hours; 12 to 16 pounds, 4½ to 5½ hours; 16 to 20 pounds, 5½ to 6½ hours; and 20 to 24 pound bird, 6½ to 7 hours. 1 cup chopped onions
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
3 cups herb seasoned croutons
¼ cup chopped parsley
¼ cup liquid from cooking giblets OR milk

Bake corn bread according to package directions; cool. In skillet cook sausage until lightly browned; transfer to large bowl. Melt butter in skillet; saute onion, celery and mushrooms until tender. Stir in poultry seasoning. Mix in with sausage. Break corn bread into pieces. Toss with sausage mixture along with croutons, parsley and giblet liquid. (Add ¼ cup more liquid if baking dressing separately.) Yield: 9½ cups.

CANDIED YAMS

2 pounds yams (4 mdium)
½ cup (1 stick) butter
¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup water

Cool potatoes in skins until tender but still firm (20-30 minutes). Pare and cut diagonally in half or thirds. In skillet melt butter; add sugar and salt. Stir until smooth; add water. Add potatoes; turn to coat all sides. Cover. Cook over low heat for 20 minutess. 8-10 servings.

SOUR CREAM PUMPKIN PIE

Pie Shell:

1 cup sifted regular all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lard
½ cup finely chopped pecans
3 tablespoons milk

Filling:

1½ cups dairy sour cream
3 egg yolks
1 can (1 lb.) solid pack pumpkin
¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
Sweetened whipped cream

To Prepare Pie Shell: Sift together flour and salt. Cut in butter and lard until mixture resembles small peas. Add pecans. Sprinkle on milk one tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly with fork. Gather up dough with fingers; shape into a ball. On lightly floured surface roll 1/8th-inch thick into 10-inch circle. Ease dough into 9-inch pie plate. Build up edge on rim of pie plate and flute.

To Prepare Filling: In a 2-quart saucepan stir together sour cream, egg yolks, pumpkin, brown sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, 15 minutes or until mixture thickens. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Gradually fold pumpkin mixture into beaten egg whites. Mound into pie shell. Bake in a pre-heated 375° oven 20-30 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack. Garnish with whipped cream.

CRANBERRY SALAD

Cranberry Layer:

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
3⅓ cups fresh cranberries
½ cup water
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped unpared apple (1 medium)
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cottage Cheese Layer:

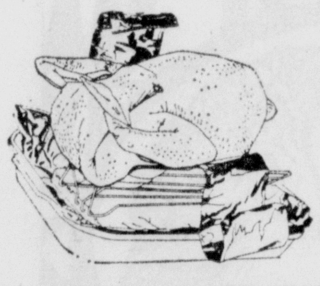
1 package (3 oz.) raspberry flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup orange juice
1¼ cups cottage cheese
1 teaspoon orange rind
½ cup orange sections, cut-up (1 medium)
¼ cup chopped nuts

To prepare Cranberry Layer: Soften gelatin in ½ cup water. Cook cranberries in ½ cup water until skins are popped, crushing berries against sides of pan with wooden spoon. Add sugar and return to boil. Add gelatin, stir to dissolve. Chill until partially set. Toss apple with lemon juice; add to cranberry mixture. Turn into 6½ to 7-cup mold; chill until set but not firm. To prepare Cottage Cheese Layer: Pour boiling water over gelatin; stir to dissolve. Add orange juice. Chill until partially set. Add cottage cheese, orange rind and sections and nuts. Spoon onto first layer. Chill until firm. 10-12 servings.

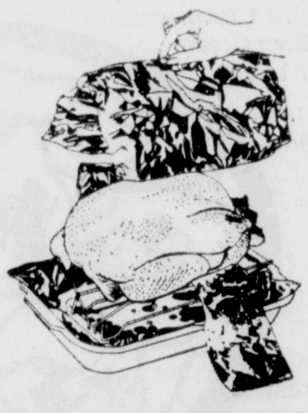
PEAS AND WATER CHESTNUTS

2 packages (10-oz. each) frozen green peas
6 tablespoons (¾ stick) butter
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and sliced

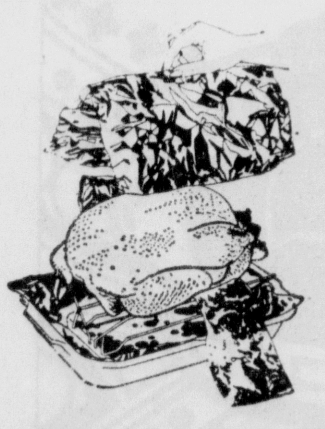
Cook peas according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile in saucepan melt butter, add celery salt and water chestnuts; heat. Pour over peas. 8-10 servings.



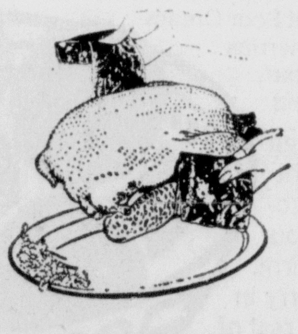
PLACE TURKEY, breast down, on a foil band on a rack in foil-lined pan. To make band, fold heavy duty foil lengthwise, over and over to make 2 to 3 inch wide band. Brush turkey with softened butter. Place in 325°F oven and roast according to the timetable.



WHEN TURKEY has roasted for about two-thirds the required time, remove from oven and turn breast up. Use the foil band to flip it first on the side then breast up. Brush breast with softened butter.



A MEAT THERMOMETER may be inserted in the thickest part of thigh during last third of roasting time. Crease foil lengthwise to make a tent and arrange over bird loosely. Return to oven and continue roasting. The tent keeps the turkey moist and prevents overbrowning.



THE TURKEY IS done when the breast meat feels soft when pressed with finger and drumstick and thigh joint moves easily or meat thermometer registers 185°. To transfer turkey to platter, lift with foil band. Let turkey stand, covered with foil tent, for about 30 minutes so juices stop running and carving will be easier.

Westerners Counter-Attack With Long Pants

By LINDA DEUTSCH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the year of the minidress and bikini, California sportswear designers have launched a counterattack of long pants, long tunics, and long beach pajamas.

The pants, which opened the spring showings of the California fashion creators are flared and feminine, flopping around the ankles.

But the vests, another borrowed bonanza from men's wear, are as tailored as can be.

In a daylong show of sportswear, nary a skirt was seen, Alex Colman was the only designer to touch the basic shift at all. His were bright bold floral prints native to California.

The sportswear designers—Colman, Internationale Set, Koret of California, Whitestag and Malia of Hawaii—all emphasized pants. Internationale Set designers said the new flowing flares harked back to the styles of the 1940s.

Koret called its feminine trend for 1969 "Clothes Livin' Dolls." They proceeded to display little-girl look clothes on models who skipped and sucked lollipops.

The fabrics this year are active, washable arnells and polyesters. The colors are the American combo of red white and blue, and splashing prints in brown, black and white. Pastels are still a perennial favorite.

Whitestag has added to its classic line the new fashion concept of wide legs and tunic tops. Tunics often zip closed and have belts. And vests make a plain pair of pants into a suit.

Though pants are total, the fitted skin peeks out in the returning midriff blouse. Whitestag shows it in knit and Charm of Hollywood puts it over sheer voile bell-bottom pants called "See Legs" which are almost transparent.

California's tropical neighbor Malia of Hawaii, turned out one of the most colorful collections of print pants, jump suits and at-home culottes.

Malia puts dresses back into the act, but most of them are mini and worn over matching long pants. One standout is a white sharkskin dress with bright striped borders on hem and matching pants cuffs. The borders are purple, pink, orange and green. If a few places Malia duplicated Hawaian culotte prints in matching mens' jackets.

Hostess culottes also showed off Malia's splashy print fabrics. And there were even full length beach pajamas to cover up those little bikinis.

Golf dresses, tennis dresses, wrapped front pants, disguised as skirts all point to the fact that California sports wear is more casual than ever.

"Our customers are having more time to play," said Alex Colman, "so we're giving them something to play in."

Wrinkles

Wrinkle resistance has been defined as the property of a fabric that causes it to recover from folding and creasing either in wearing or washing. If a fabric has high wrinkle recovery, it will recapture its original smoothness without heavy ironing after being washed; a fabric with low wrinkle recovery must be ironed to remove wrinkles.

New Measurers

Now you can take the guesswork out of measuring half a spoonful of medicine with a stainless steel spoon that has a graduated bowl marked to show exact ½ and 1 teaspoon measurements. The design includes a safety lock grip to keep it steady in your hand while pouring, and a self-leveling handle.

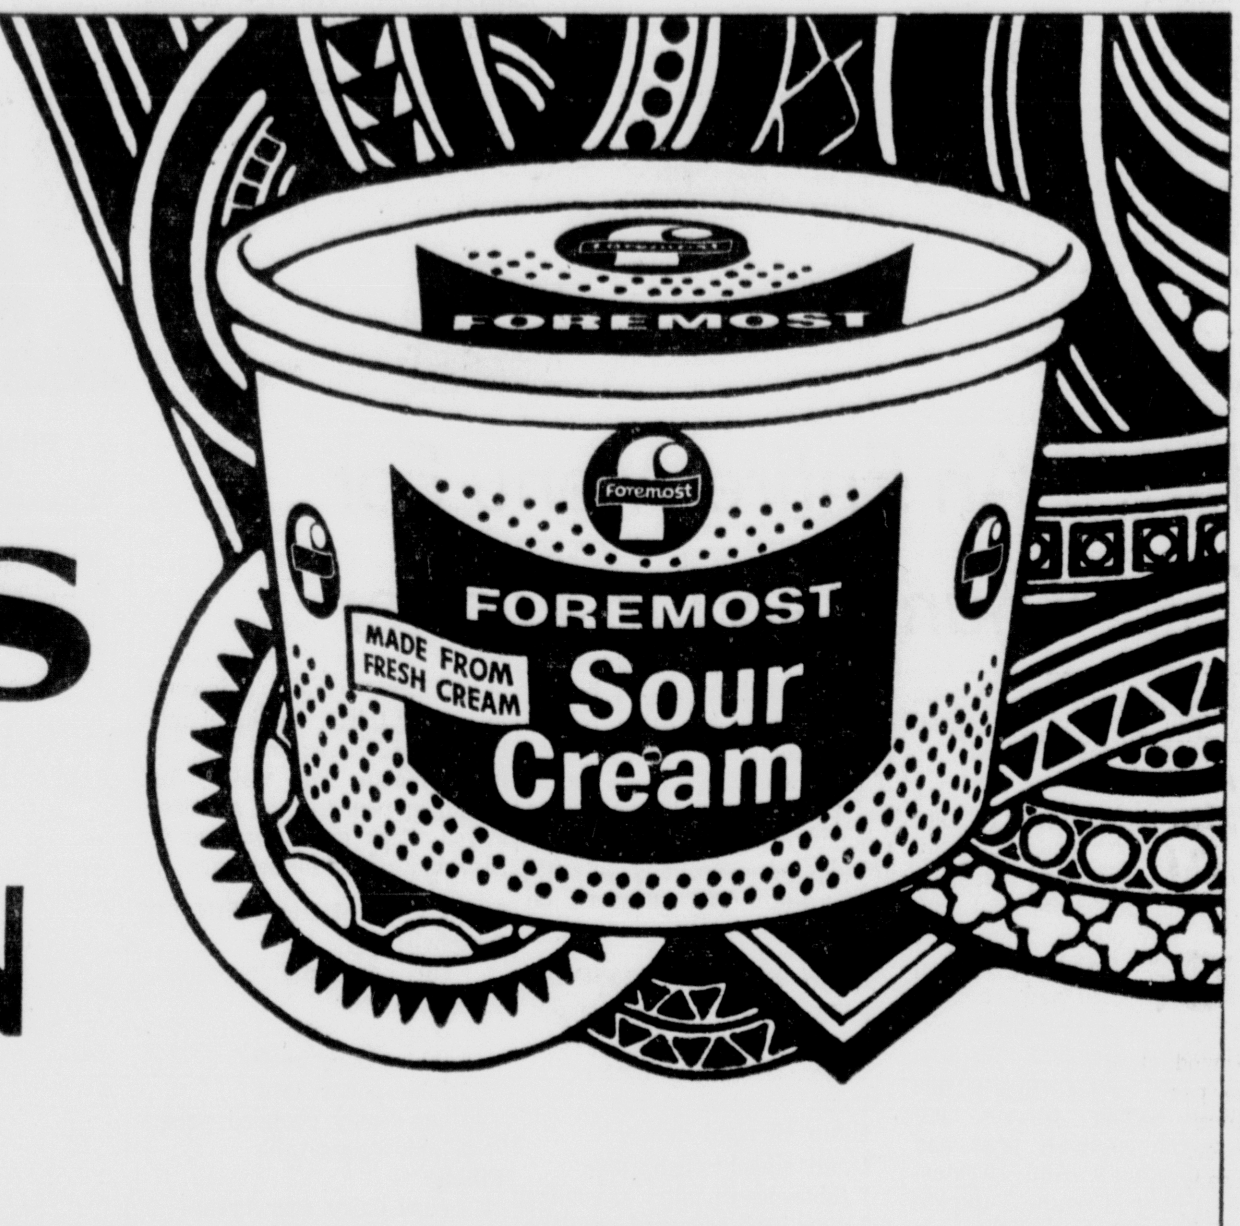
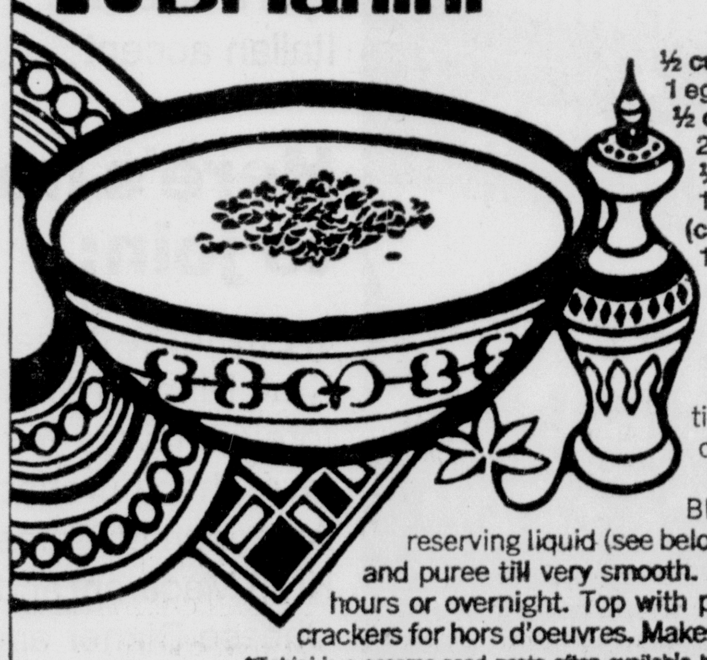
FOUR SOUR CREAM RECIPES FOR WOMEN WHO KNOW NO FEAR.



These sour cream recipes are for the adventurous, for women who think they're pretty daring or something. So you may be happier with a nice, plain old-fashioned sour cream dip for the holidays. Whether you're adventurous or not, use a good fresh sour cream if you want everything to turn out all right. And since Foremost Sour Cream is always fastidiously fresh, why not get it?

1. Hommos Bi Tahini

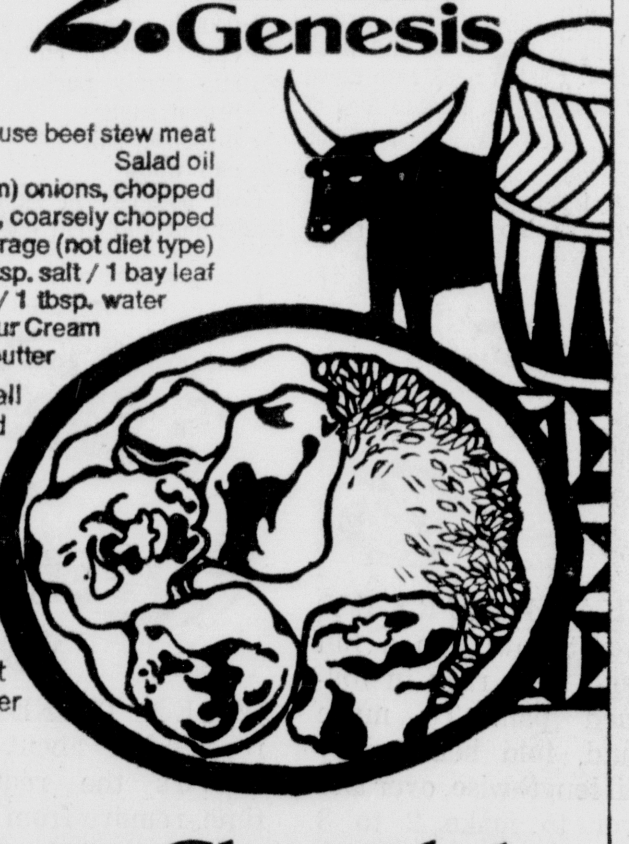


½ cup sesame seeds*
1 egg / ¼ cup salad oil
½ cup lemon juice
2 cloves garlic, peeled
½ tsp. salt
1 can (15½ ozs.) garbanzo beans (called Hommos in Arabic)
1 cup Foremost Sour Cream
chopped parsley

Spread sesame seeds in shallow pan and toast till golden (about 15 minutes), stirring several times. Cool. In electric blender combine egg, oil, toasted sesame seeds, lemon, garlic, and salt. Blend well. Drain garbanzo beans, reserving liquid (see below). Add drained garbanzo beans and puree till very smooth. Stir in sour cream. Chill several hours or overnight. Top with parsley. Serve with flat bread or crackers for hors d'oeuvres. Makes 3 cups.

*Tahini is a sesame seed paste often available in the gourmet food section. When using Tahini substitute ½ cup Tahini for sesame seeds, egg, and salad oil. Add a little reserved liquid from garbanzo beans if mixture seems too thick.

2. African Genesis



1 disjointed oxtail (2½ lbs.) or use beef stew meat
Salad oil
1 cup (2 medium) onions, chopped
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes, coarsely chopped
1 can (12 oz.) carbonated cola beverage (not diet type)
1 tsp. salt / 1 bay leaf
1 tbsp. cornstarch / 1 tbsp. water
1 pint Foremost Sour Cream
½ cup chunk-style peanut butter

Brown meat in 11-inch skillet in a small amount of oil. When nearly brown add onions and cook till transparent. Stir in tomatoes, cola, salt, and bay leaf. Cover and simmer 2 hours or till meat is tender. Skim fat from top. Thicken gravy with cornstarch mixed with water. Blend sour cream with peanut butter. Stir half of cream mixture into meat and serve the rest separately for topping. Delicious over rice. 5-6 servings.

3. West Indian Avocado Soup

1 cup (2 medium) ripe avocados
¼ cup lemon juice
½ tsp. salt
6 drops tabasco sauce
1 cup Foremost Sour Cream
1 can (13 ozs.) consomme Madrilene
1 can (10½ ozs.) condensed beef consomme
3 drops green food coloring
Wedges of papaya, tomato or avocado for garnish
Sour Cream for topping

Peel and seed avocado. Mash or beat with lemon, salt and tabasco till smooth. Blend in sour cream. Beat in Madrilene, beef consomme and coloring. Chill several hours or overnight. At serving time, stir with fork then spoon into chilled cups or glasses. Garnish with wedges of fruit and dollop of sour cream. Makes 5 cups (6 to 8 servings).

4. Chocolate Tartufo Tre Scalini

3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar / 3 egg yolks / ¼ tsp. salt
1 pint Foremost Sour Cream
1 tsp. vanilla / 30 candied cherries
6-ounce milk chocolate bar, chilled and grated

Melt chocolate. Cool. Beat egg yolks with salt and sugar till light colored and thick. Beat in chocolate, sour cream and vanilla. Pour into a 9" loaf pan. Freeze till firm. Scoop into 1½" balls with a cherry in center, a few at a time, keeping rest of mixture in freezer. Roll balls in grated milk chocolate and store in freezer. Allow 2 or 3 balls per serving, topped with additional sour cream, if you dare. Makes about 30 balls.

College Students Teach Minorities

By JAMES BOW

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — "You gave up. You must never give up," a Negro teacher told a fifth grade Negro girl, defeated by an arithmetic problem.

At the same time, another teacher, a black girl from Newark, N.J., was pointing: "Head, shoulders, knees and toes." Two Mexican-American girls, second and fourth graders, listened and copied. They were learning English.

THESE ARE THE sights and sounds produced by 27 college students — including 11 Negroes, 13 of Mexican ancestry and one Filipina. Most of them are going back to the other side of the tracks to teach in neighborhoods such as the ones they came from.

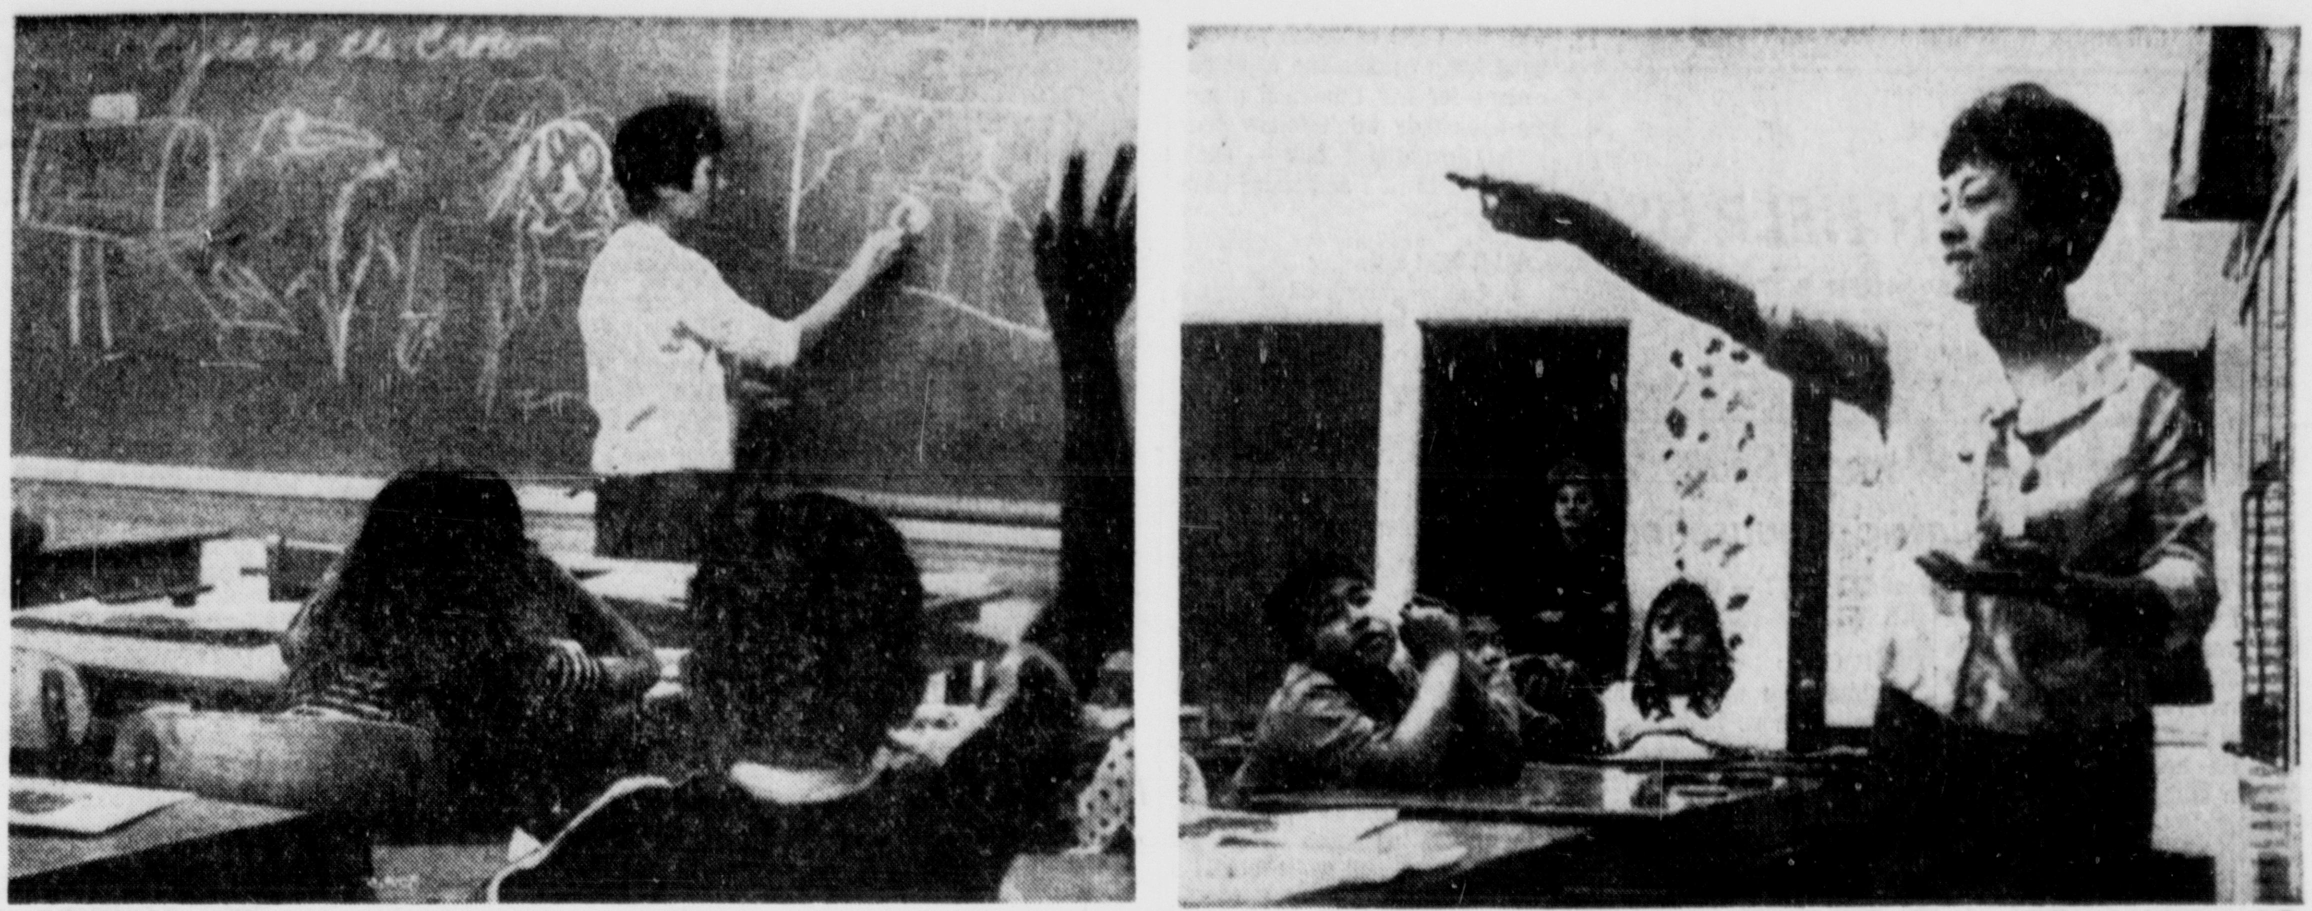
The National Teachers Corps chose Stockton as the test city for an experiment with two new features for the federal program—the teachers, working as classroom aides, don't yet have their college degrees and most of them come from poor families.

Ennis Ramos, 30, comes from a family of farm workers. In his application for the corps he wrote: "I remember that on several occasions we registered at a school in the morning and checked out of school in the afternoon of the same day, because while we were in school my father had learned that the crops weren't too good."

"I WASN'T ABLE to understand English until I was about nine years old," he said.

Mary Trejo, 21, came from Mexico to Stockton in 1957. She believes middle-class teachers don't always understand the problems of poor children.

"You see little boys who don't comb their hair or brush their teeth," Miss Trejo explained. "Maybe they don't have water at home."



DRAWNG ON her own experience, Andrea Nicolas illustrates a story during a class for children from low income families in Stockton. Andrea, whose background is similar to many of her pupils, is one of the college students employed as classroom aides by the National Teachers Corps. Her father is a Filipino farm worker and her mother is a Japanese. (AP Wirephoto)

Still, a child's school appearance goes on his formal record, blocking his progress later on, she said.

THE $275,000 south Stockton project is run by the University of the Pacific in Stockton. The federal government pays 90 per cent and the Stockton School District pays 10 per cent.

Students from the university and from other campuses across the country are volunteering to work in poor neighborhoods. But Stockton, an agricultural center in the San Joaquin Valley, needs more than student volunteers.

A year ago, Stockton's unemployment rate was 8.8 per cent, compared to 3.8 per cent nationally. More than 40 per cent of Stockton's 100,000 residents are Negroes and Mexican-Americans, working or looking for work in the town's canneries and nearby fields.

The Stockton corpsmen, who began this summer, will have two years to turn their enthusiasms and novel ideas into lasting results.

"I'M CONVINCED these teachers have a closer relationship with the children because of their similar backgrounds," said Prof. John Schippers, the university's director for the project.

"They have a depth of understanding that just won't stop."

The National Teachers Corps was created by the federal government in 1966 to train college graduates to teach in poor areas, where they're needed. But a corps officials in Washington said that up to now, corpsmen were mostly from middle or upper income groups.

Booker Guyton, 23, is from Stockton and a corpsman at Taft School. He spent two years on a scholarship at the University of California in Berkeley. "I had the best instructors around but to me it wasn't as meaningful as this," he said.

Guyton, a Negro, is leading an after-hours math class with some of Taft's toughest discipline problems in attendance. Pupils are quiet. Teachers speak calmly.

GUYTON SAID parents voluntarily sent their children to the special classes.

Sharon Haradawy, 19, a Negro girl from Newark, attends Pacific's Spanish-language Covell College and teaches English to Spanish-speaking pupils at McKinley.

Her school is an old building, across a busy street from a cannery.

Andrea Nicolas, 30, is the mother of four children, the youngest six months. Her father was a Filipino farm worker, her mother Japanese. Her specialty is children's stories, intricately and humorously illustrated on the blackboard.

LARCENE DIXON, a Negro, has a child attending junior college.

Stockton corpsmen have worked their way through two years of college, mostly at junior colleges. They attend the University of the Pacific and are paid $75 a week—with $15 extra for each dependent.

Schippers said more than 175 applied. But the standard for acceptance was experience, not grades.

Has this experience paid off? A regularly employed McKinley teacher said that last year only four parents came to the first Parent-Teachers Association meeting of the year. This fall, he said, more than 75 came to hear the program arranged by the corpsmen.

Blonde Kathie Ostrum, 22, says, "Among teachers there is a natural aversion to teaching in certain areas. . . .

"Children are just children, capable of achieving anything," she said. "We're not trying to change children. We're trying to change the educational system."

FIVE AGES OF WOMAN

Physical Changes Are Regulators Of The Female's Cycle Of Life

(Introduction and first of a five part series from the Women's Medical News Service, "The Five Ages of Woman.")

A man's life is related to his career — school years, working years, retirement years — rather than his body. After adolescence, he simply gets gently older.

By comparison, a woman is in pawn to her glands and hormones, stirred by monthly cycles that occur within a life cycle that is often ill-understood . . . a life cycle that proceeds by fits and starts and that consists of five clearly defined "ages:"

Childhood, the most unselfconscious of times for a girl, when boys are primarily companions.

Adolescence, when the little girl slowly, nervously turns into a young woman capable of bearing children.

Maturity, when the young woman faces the challenges of independence, love, marriage, motherhood.

Menopause, the reverse of adolescence, when slowly, nervously, the mature woman returns to an independent life without growing children and the capacity to bear babies.

Postmenopause, when a woman looks forward to a 30-year "age" of glandular stability, when she is free to choose for herself what her activities and responsibilities will be.

Many of these stages used to be wrapped in superstition and frightening myths. Old wives' tales persist but the foolishness of these stories has become obvious, and a woman's life can be a wondrous affair.

CHILDHOOD

From the moment of conception, girls are built to last. At conception, boys outnumber girls 130 to 100. From then on, those male embryos and fetuses give up the ghost in disproportionate numbers. So many more boys spontaneously abort that, at birth, there are only 106 boys left for every 100 newborn girls. In the first few months of life, the boys continue to succumb. When that first birthday cake comes around, the number of boys and girls is even.

During infancy and early childhood, girls and boys share more common experiences than they ever will again. Physical changes are very much the same for both sexes. They're even look-alikes, as anyone knows who has ever looked into a strange baby carriage. Now that boys wear pink with impunity, little girls blue, and both sexes revel in reds and yellows, figuring out the correct sex is largely a matter of chance.

IN THE BEGINNING of his baby book, Dr. Benjamin Spock apologizes for using "he" throughout and thus ignoring half the infant population. That single correction is sufficient because, in the early years, little boys and little girls develop so similarly. Boys tend to be somewhat slower about such items as toilet-training, but the difference is quite insignificant — and a fast boy has no trouble outpacing a slow girl.

Infants of both sexes make their greatest spurts in growth in that first year — stretching by half, from an average of 20 inches to 30 inches and tripling their birth weights. Then they both slow down, so it takes five years just to double their first-year weight. By the age of four, sexual differences start manifesting themselves.

At about that age, enough adrenal estrogen is released to give a little girl a subtle feminine look. At around eight, her knees and shoulders are visibly plumper than a boy's. By 10, most boys are clearly stronger than girls of the same age, showing 35 per cent more muscle strength on specific tests. Small wonder that girls learn early to prudently limit their expressions of anger to tears and screams, rather than attempting hand-to-hand combat.

The really crucial determinant of childhood sex differences, of course, may well be the social norm decreeing that girls should be agreeable and ingratiating, while boys should be independent and aggressive. Little girls tend to pattern themselves after their mothers, as boys do after their fathers.

STUDIES SHOW that teachers often unfairly favor girls over schoolboys because the girls are so much quieter and more obedient. Treated more gently, they tend to be gentler.

Curiosity about the world and people consumes both boys and girls. "What makes a cloud?" "Where do I come from?" These are everyday, interchangeable questions from children. Pediatricians believe both should be answered, not necessarily in great detail. If a child wants to know more, she will ask further questions. Honest answers are always the best policy. What pediatricians caution against are over-answers, answers going far beyond the girl's request for information.

There is a growing recognition of the need for down-to-earth factual information on sexual matters for youngsters. Many schools have begun sex education courses. In the lower grades, appropriate subjects are: how the sexes differ, how a baby is conceived and how it is born.

False modesty instilled in a girl's early years can become an adult hang-up. Nakedness is essentially normal. So is masturbation and "playing doctor." Physicians agree that a girl should never be scolded for such behavior. However, says pediatrician Herbert Birch of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, a decent regard for social convention is not necessarily prudery; even a three- or four-year-old, he feels, is old enough to be told that she should not handle herself in public. Generally, genital play is usually dropped at around seven or eight years of age.

Dr. Elizabeth Parker, a Los Angeles gynecologist, points out that parents lay the groundwork for sex education "by loving the child and expressing that love in a meaningful way" and by the way they treat one another. As in more routine matters, "Don't do what I do but do what I say" does not work here either.

The beloved daughter of loving parents is guaranteed to be made of "sugar and spice and all that's nice."

'Good Girl Guide' For Man On Loose In London

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

LONDON (AP) — If you want to pick up an American girl in London get an umbrella and a derby hat. American girls are so eager to date an Englishman you'll need the umbrella to fight them off.

To pick up an English girl, go to the greensward of Hyde Park, a stalking ground so popular with American servicemen in World War II that an estimated 38 per cent of all GI brides met their Yanks there.

THAT'S THE ADVICE in London's latest guide book. London has guide books for museums, for ancient architecture and restaurants, even for public washrooms. Now it has one giving the best places to meet girls.

It's called the "Good Girl Guide" and for six shillings—72 cents — the footloose male gets 64 pages of advice on where to find young ladies and what approach to use.

Author Stephen Lestre claims London has more than half a million women between the ages of 17 and 25, most of them in miniskirts, so "sheer numbers are on your side."

THE BEST HUNTING spots for American girls, says Lestre, who claims to have tried out many of his own suggestions and hints he got arrested only once in the process, are the American Express and the Hilton Hotel.

American Express, he says, is filled with "chirpy little things from Iowa ... languid pools of beauty from Georgia ... and bright-eyed jumping beans from New York." The best time for pickups is Monday morning when they come to collect their mail, or Friday when they come to get money.

Season's best from S&W

HELEN HELP US!

Suicide Leaves Woman Shaky And Needing Psychiatric Counseling

DEAR HELEN:

My father committed suicide three years ago. A short time afterward I met a man who somewhat resembled him, and who had just separated from his wife. He had a big drinking problem and threatened to take his life.

Though I am married to a fine man I tried to console this fellow, who, I later discovered, was an alcoholic and in need of psychiatry.

He had financial troubles, so I loaned him a good deal of money which I probably won't get back. But I'd be willing to forget it if I could just be rid of the worry. Each time I tell him I'm through, he says he can't live without me and he'll kill himself. I'm trying to get him into an alcohol treatment center, which will cost around $200 for five days. Where do I go from there? He's had treatment before, without success.

I suppose I feel that I could have saved my father's life had I tried harder, and now, if I turn this derelict loose, history will repeat itself. At age 50, I can't face another tragedy.

The man has a good job (which he hates), but his bills seem to keep him broke.

How can I get free without feeling guilty? — CONSCIENCE BOUND

DEAR C. B.:

I think you need psychiatry counseling more than does this parasite who has found an easy mark and is playing her for all she's worth.

Weak and disturbed is he, but so long as he has you to lean on, he may never help himself. You've expiated for your father's death far too long. Now it's time for psychological insight — and freedom from unearned guilt.

Turn your alcoholic over to an expert, and get back to the man who really needs you: Your husband.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter is 23. She has met a man of 26. They never mention marriage, but she goes off on weekends with him, and they visit each other's apartments as if they belonged there.

About all I can get out of her is, "We like each other very much." He appears to be a nice person, but . . .

Should I insist that she come home to live so she won't completely ruin her good reputation? She was raised in a fine, moral home. — UNBELIEVING

DEAR UN:

If you've raised your daughter with the right attitudes you can trust her to make the right decisions for her time and place. Perhaps they won't follow your strict limitations, but — she's free and 23 . . . and times have changed.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

In our neighborhood there's a 13-year-old boy who gets away with murder — and I'm afraid it might be just that unless he is stopped. He has a wild temper. Recently, if he hadn't been pulled off a younger boy, the child might have been permanently injured. He was banging his head on the sidewalk, and choking him.

The parents think he is wonderful, never reprimand him, always say he was picked on. Even when the school complains, they threaten to "get the principal's job."

The kid sasses back, and dares us to tell his father. He's got a gang now, and we're afraid a bad situation will get worse. What can be done? — THE NEIGHBORS

DEAR NEIGHBORS:

If talking to the boy's parents doesn't help, tell them you'll call the police at the next sign of trouble. When a wild teen organizes a gang, the next stop is juvenile hall — and this usually jars a doting father out of his lethargy. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Better Handicapped Classrooms Sought

The special education committee of the Marin County schools office has recommended that a committee be formed to create a master plan for improved housing of classes for handicapped children.

Edward Brennan, director of special services, said yesterday the plan would be designed to replace temporary buildings, rented space, and other makeshift accommodations for classes for all special education facilitiees in the county.

He said various organizations interested in handicapped children programs would be asked to recommend a representative to the committee. The county schools office would then consider approval of those recommendations, Brennan said.

The special education committee also recommended Monday night that the county schools office co-sponsor an application for $1,035 in funds from the William Babcock Memorial Foundation in San Francisco for equipment and training of nurses in Marin County hospitals to detect hard-of-hearing cases among newborn infants.

It also recommended that a $16,000 application for federal funds be revised to be used for training hard-of-hearing children from six months old to 18 months rather than for an age range from 18 to 36 months.

The educational services committee took under study a request by the Audubon Society of Marin County for cooperation with the society in establishing an outdoor science education program for students if the society purchases a 235-acre site adjacent to the Audubon canyon Ranch in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area.

Stanley Friese, deputy superintendent, said at present the county schools office transports students to the Redwood Glen camp in San Mateo County for such studies.

Current directors include Leo Lavio of Petaluma, district president; William Lawrence of Petaluma, James Grossi of Novato and Manuel Gonsalves of San Rafael.

District 3 covers the counties of Lake, Marin, Mendocino, Napa, Solano and Sonoma. Ken Baird of Petaluma is area representative for the association.

Petaluma Chamber Worries Over Scattering Hospitals

Petaluma Chamber of Commerce directors have received a committee report suggesting additional hosital facilities be built on the west side of the city.

The committee, headed by Clyde A. Nelson Jr., reported Monday that construction of a new hospital on the east side would spread medical facilities and personnel too far. They recommended the new hospital be built as close as posible to the present Hillcrest hospital to give maximum usage of ambulance and medical facilites. They claimed that physicians would not have time to staff two widely separated hospitals, under their present heavy workload. The report also asserted the city is short eight or 10 doctors at present, as are most cities of Petaluma's size.

The committee said all persons in the Petaluma area now live within 15 minutes of a hospital and said this compared favorably with statistics of larger cities such as San Francisco.

Petaluma Chamber Directors Also:

REZONING — Forwarded without comment a report of its industrial committee to the city planning commission offering recommendations on rezoning of 30 acres of industrial land on McDowell Boulevard to residential to allow construction of a mobile home park, requested by Novato Develper Dane Young.

SIGNS — Received report from sign committee that new welcoming signs on highway 101 might cost $2,232. The directors agreed to ask the city council to share the costs since it will be of general city benefit.

DAIRY WOMEN — Received contribution of $200 from the North Bay Dairy Women in appreciation of chamber work for the dairy industry.

LIBRARY — Announced that the directors will meet with the Petaluma library trustees to discuss the proposed merger of the city library with the Sonoma County library system, tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the meeting room of the Argus-Courier.

Insurance Dividend Is Declared 'Untrue'

The Veterans Administration has labeled "totally false" a widely circulated report that certain veterans may get up to $200 on an unpaid 1948 GI insurance.

Gordon R. Elliott, Northern California VA regional office manager, said, "Dozens of California newspapers, radio and television stations are still carrying untrue reports of this dividend."

Collegiate Council Backs Black Requests

The College of Marin student executive council has endorsed several proposals made recently by Black Students for Action.

David Long, student president, said the proposals, approved Monday, will be forwarded to the Marin Junior College District board of trustees for possible action.

The proposals, originally made by Michael Pradia, a member of the black student group, at a college rally Thursday in Olney Hall, ask that Afro-American studies be taught by Negro teachers, that black students participate in hiring these teachers, that financial assistance be given to black students, and that a full-time liaison official be hired for better understanding between the college administration and black students.

They also seek the hiring of more black counselors, and ask that a drive be launched to enroll more black students at the college.

The council also endorsed recommendations by student Michael Conroy that law enforcement officers not be permitted on campus unless specifically invited by students, and that ultimate control of the student newspaper, College of Marin Times, be in the hands of the student body rather than the trustee board.

Sausalito Sends LBJ Antimissile Missive

The City of Sausalito has appealed to President Lyndon B. Johnson to block possible Army use of Wolfback Ridge or Angel Island for an antiballistic missile base.

A copy of the city's letter to President Johnson, dated Oct. 29 — almost three months after the letter was ordered sent by the planning commission — was sent to the Independent-Journal by former planning director Charles W. Whitehead. His resignation was effective Friday.

A city employee, asked why the letter had not been sent sooner after the commission's Aug. 7 action opposing the two possible sites, said, "It was one of those things that just wasn't gotten to."

The letter, written by Whitehead, declared the planning commission was "unalterably opposed" to the two possible sites "due to possible impact upon the immediate areas involved and upon the surrounding urban and natural environment."

Whitehead noted in his letter that Johnson has "expressed considerable interest, concern and a great degree of sensitivity regarding our American environment and various factors which affect it."

The letter suggested that the site go on the third Bay Area location being considered by the Army, the San Pablo Reservoir in Contra Costa County.

Since the Bay Area base is to be the only one between Los Angeles and Seattle, wrote Whitehead, "it would appear that some latitude or degree of flexibility exists in siting the missile installation." The East Bay site is only 15 miles from Wolfback Ridge, he noted.

Trouble Between Kuharich, Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ends Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman of the winless Philadelphia Eagles have been suspended and placed on waivers for granting interviews critical of Coach Joe Kuharich.

Ballman and Ditka, over the past seven years two of the top pass catchers in the National Football League, both confirmed they were set down indefinitely by Kuharich, also general manager of the Eagles.

"He called me in and told me in his little way that I was a troublemaker and was suspended indefinitely," Ditka said.

"I'm on suspension and believe he asked waivers on me," Ballman asserted.

The Eagles made no announcement. Kuharich said, "When we have something to announce we will. These rumors you get from people you have to take with a grain of salt."

Ditka, played six years for Chicago before being dealt to the Eagles in 1967.

Ballman was drafted by Pittsburgh in 1962, and was acquired by the Eagles a year ago.

Kuharich sought the two pass catchers in an effort to add prime targets for quarterback Norm Snead.

Ditka said the article Kuharich complained about was in yesterday's New York Post.

In the story, the 230-pounder was quoted as saying he didn't want to leave the Eagles, but would not play again for Kuharich.

Ditka has been sidelined with various injuries and hasn't played much this season as the Eagles lost their first 10 games.

He said he was asked in New York if he would play again for Kuharich.

"What I replied was: 'No I wouldn't. I don't think he wants me to play for him. And I don't want to play for anyone who doesn't want me," Ditka said.

Ditka was quoted as saying at a luncheon in New York Monday: "There is a need for a change somewhere. We're not that bad a ball club, not bad enough for an 0-10 record.

"The whole problem is discipline. We had it in Chicago and won a championship with what actually wasn't the best team in football that season."

Ditka aid he didn't feel his remarks were unfair and that he was the victim of a bad rap as a troublemaker.

Ditka said he plans to appeal the suspension if Kuharich tries to make it stick. He said he already was in touch with the Players Association for advice.

Ballman's apparently was suspended because he was being openly critical of the Eagles' offense and Snead. His relations with Kuharich, however, have been strained.

ALABAMA ACCEPTS BID TO GATOR BOWL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Alabama's Crimson Tide was invited and immediately accepted today an invitation to meet Missouri in the Gator Bowl football game, the 10th straight bowl game for a "Bear" Bryant Alabama team.

Selection of Alabama for the Dec. 28 nationally-televised game was announced here by Nelson Harris Jr., chairman of the Gator Bowl Selection Committee. Acceptance came from Dr. Frank Rose, president of the University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa.

Golfer Ron Cerrudo's Thing: Aggressiveness

TEE TIPS—Ron Cerrudo, San Rafael's young golf professional who earned more than $30,000 in his first year on the PGA tour, is featured in the December issue of Golf Digest.

The 23-year-old Cerrudo writes a brief article on aggressiveness, which he considered the most important scoring aid he learned during his first year.

Take it away, Ronald:

"As an amateur I always figured that if I could make par I would beat most of my opponents. When I first came out on the tour this year I retained this thinking, even though I knew that the winning scores were often below par. I must have thought that the birdies would come by osmosis or something.

"They didn't, of course, and after a few months I had to re-shape my thinking to be bold and aggressive all the time.

"This may sound simple, but it isn't. For instance, a player may be inclined to take it a little easy on the first few holes of any round. It takes quite a bit of mental conditioning to convince yourself that a birdie on the first hole can mean as much as one on the last.

'Protection Doesn't Work'

"Also, when a golfer does run off a birdie streak and gets under par, it's natural to try to protect his score. That doesn't work, either. Once you lose the drive to birdie every hole and try to play safe, you'll wind up sweating out 5-foot par putts.

"All of this doesn't mean that I am constantly gambling, trying to shave doglegs and pop shots just barely over big sand bunkers. I like to think that I can play percentage golf to a degree. But when I tee up the ball on every hole, I'm thinking birdie—not par."

IN THE same issue of the pasture pool bible is a yarn on how golf is pacing the Bahamas boom with considerable ink devoted to Harry "Jacke" Obitz, formerly of San Rafael, who is director of golf at the King's Inn, Grand Bahama Island.

A Grand Bahama Tour

Which reminds me that some local friends of Obitz—San Rafael businessmen Al Tognoli and Irving Chapman, to name just two—are planning a tour to Grand Bahama in January. GTS Travel of San Rafael is shaping up a package that would include a stopover in Miami to catch the pro football Super Bowl game, thence to King's Inn to watch the Grand Bahama Open tournament, play golf, visit with Obitz and just relax.

Mike Dolan of GTS is handling all details.

Yank Pitcher Named A. L. Rookie Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Bahnsen always wanted to travel. When he was a kid in Council Bluffs, Iowa, he used to dream about being a big league ball player.

The dream came true for Bahnsen last season when he turned in a 17-12 season that was a major factor in the New York Yankees' rise to fifth place. As a result, he has been named the American League's Rookie of the Year by a landslide 17-3 vote.

The only other votes from the 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, two from each league city, went to Del Unser, Washington's center fielder, son of Al Unser, former big league catcher with Detroit and Cincinnati and currently a scout with Atlanta.

"New York scares you at first," said Bahnsen, a 23-year-old bachelor who is spending the winter in Fort Lee, N.J.

Bahnsen is well used to city life now, spending the winter making talks at baseball dinners under arrangements with the Yankees.

Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, said he had half expected Bahnsen to make the grade in 1967 and has planned on him being a starter that year.

"I stuck with him until we played an exhibition game at Houston and he couldn't get the ball over," said Houk who farmed out the pitcher to Syracuse of the International League. "I told him last year he had a spot on the club if he could get the ball over. A game in Anaheim last spring really put him on the right track."

Bahnsen didn't get to camp until March 17 last spring because he was in the Army. He spent two weeks in the Army in the summer and several weekends.

"He richly deserves it," said Houk. "I am looking forward to him being one of the mainstays of the staff."

LAKERS TRIP CELTICS

West Steals The Show

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was the Los Angeles Lakers against the Boston Celtics, Wilt Chamberlain against Bill Russell—and Jerry West stole the show.

West stole the ball nine times and scored 29 points last night as the Lakers, first in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, won their ninth straight by rallying for a 116-106 victory over the Celtics, who dropped to second behind idle Baltimore in the East.

Elgin Baylor threw in 30 points and snared 19 rebounds as he joined West in leading the Lakers from a 56-50 halftime deficit to an 84-77 lead after three quarters.

The Lakers then built their lead to 90-77 and the Celtics were on their way to their first defeat in six games. John Havlicek led Boston with 32 points.

In other NBA action, Philadelphia trounced Phoenix 126-110 and San Diego outlasted New York 113-107 in a doubleheader at New York, Detroit topped Cincinnati 121-107, Milwaukee whipped Atlanta 119-98 and San Francisco took Chicago 121-109.

Dallas edged Indiana 110-107, New Orleans beat Kentucky 114-108 and Denver nipped Minnesota 126-121 in the American Basketball Association.

Hal Greer's shooting and playmaking in the fourth quarter enabled Philadelphia to break open a close game with Phoenix. The veteran guard scored 12 points and set up several other baskets in the final period.

Greer finished with 21 points, all but two in the second half, but the top Philadelphia scorer was Billy Cunningham with 27.

Chet Walker added 18 for Philadelphia. Two of them, which came with 54 seconds left in the first half, were the first foul shots the 76ers made in the game.

Dick Van Arsdale led Phoenix with 29.

San Diego led most of the way until New York outscored the Rockets 19-3 to move ahead 89-87 early in the fourth quarter. But the Rockets came back to break a 103-103 tie with six straight points to win.

Elvin Hayes scored 39 and Don Kojis 33 for San Diego. Dick Barnett got 22 and Willis Reed 20 for New York.

Detroit picked up its sixth straight home victory by exploding for 40 points in the final period. Happy Hairston scored 12 points in the fourth-period spurt and finished with 30. Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas each scored 23 for Cincinnati.

The new Milwaukee club notched its fourth victory in 14 starts as Guy Rodgers scored 26 points and handed out 10 assists. Walt Hazzard topped Atlanta with 25 points.

Cardinals Win Final Game Of Japan Tour

SHIZUOKA, Japan (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals slammed seven homers—two each by Orlando Cepeda and Ed Spiezio—to rout the Yomiuri Giants 16-9 today in the final baseball game of their 18-game goodwill tour of Japan.

The National League champions finished their tour with a record of 13 victories and five losses.

The Cardinals trailed 5-4 going into the sixth, but a bases-loaded homer by Joe Hague and a solo homer by Cepeda enabled them to go ahead 9-5.

The Cards scored seven more runs in the seventh including Cepeda's and Spiezio's second homers and one by Mike Shannon. Spiezio had collected his first homer in the second inning.

Warriors Win, Move On To Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors arrived today for an evening clash with Cincinnati after a 121-109 triumph over the Chicago Bulls last night.

Nate Thurmond performed commandingly on the backboards and scored 41 points to spark the triumph.

The Warriors surged into a commanding lead in the third quarter. Thurmond and San Francisco's other front man, Rudy LaRusso, scored 21 points between them and gave the Warriors an 18 point bulge in the third stanza.

LaRusso's game total was 24.

Rivalry May Hit Professional Track Athletes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The world's top amateur track and field athletes may soon find themselves trapped in the middle of a rivalry for their skills in the world of professional sports.

Two new organizations, both headed by Southern Californians have arisen, both with the idea of signing track and field stars to professional contracts and conducting meets.

On Monday night, Jerry Sherman and Mike Heaman, two 29-year-old California Western University law school graduates from Sherman Oaks, announced the creation of the National Track and Field Association.

They said their plans include a 10-team league in the United States with 30 meets to be held starting next June. The athletes, they said, would be competing for $4 million in prize money.

Last night, Al Schallau, a University of Southern California law school graduate from Los Angeles, disclosed his plans to contract athletes under his International Track and Field Association.

He said the organization would be patterned after professional open golf with individual athletes competing in 15 meets in the United States and abroad next year.

Prize money of $5,000, $3,000 and $1,000 would go to the top three finishers in each event with a $5,000 bonus going to any athlete breaking a world record.

Both groups say they have received commitments from United States and foreign track and field stars to compete for their organizations.

Chemist Backs Up Testimony

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —An outside chemist took the stand today in the Dancer's Image case and supported some of the testimony heard during an appeal of the colt's disqualification in the Kentucky Derby.

Lous Harris, a state witness, said five tests performed by chemist Kenneth Smith were sufficient to detect the presense of phenylbutazone.

Dancer's Image was deprived of the first prize of $122,600 in the 1968 Derby after a chemical report said traces of the medication showed up in a post-race urinalysis.

Peter Fuller, the colt's owner, appealed to the Kentucky State Racing Commission to set aside the decision by Churchill Downs stewards.

Attorneys for Fuller had argued that Smith failed to carry out all the tests recommended by the Association of Official Racing Chemists.

Santa Barbara Sailor Leads

J. R. Noble of Santa Barbara in his 53-foot yawl Simoon is leading the Los Angeles-to-Mazatlan, Mexico, ocean race at the two-thirds mark.

Also entered in the race is San Rafael's Rolfe Croker, an ocean-sailing veteran, who is racing his Cal-30 sloop Ana Nuevo. There has been no report on his standing.

Mir, a Canadian entry from the Royal Vancouver, B.C., Yacht Club, led the field, but trailed because of the handicap system of scoring.

The boats are expected in Mazatlan by Friday, if good weather holds.

University of California is favored by six points over Stanford in the Big Game in Berkeley.

The oddsmakers figure seventh-ranked Kansas will have the toughest battle among the top-ranking teams with the Jayhawks quoted a slim one-point pick over Missouri.

In other games involving ranked teams, third-rated Penn State and eighth-ranked Tennessee are such overwhelming choices over their Saturday opponents that no point spreads have been listed. Penn State plays Pittsburgh and Tennessee tangles with entucky.

Ninth-ranked Arkansas, battling for the Southwest Conference title, is a six point favorite over Texas Tech.

YALE OVER HARVARD

In the game for the Ivy League championship, Yale is a seven-point choice over Harvard. In other Ivy games, Columbia is picked by 13 over Brown, Dartmouth by 5 over Pennsylvania and Princeton dy 7 over Cornell.

JACK HANLEY

Lakers Baylor, West Perfect Pro Partners

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West are the perfect pro basketball partners. Baylor, now 33 and in his 10th national Basketball Association campaign for the Los Angeles Lakers, attacks the inner defense of the opposition. West, now 30 and in his eighth pro campaign, exploits the outer defense perimeter.

It's an unusual evening when both Baylor and West are contained. During the weekend when the Lakers and Warriors met for the first time in the still young 1968-69 season, the Warriors contained one at a time but not both simultaneously.

BAYLOR CARRIED the attack in the first half when West was reasonably restrained. Baylor scored 12 of 16 field goal attempts in the first half. That's a rather remarkable .750 shooting percentage. He also scored three of five free throws for a total of 27 points before the halftime intermission.

West wasn't impotent in the first half. He scored 16 points, 7 of 14 field goal attempts and 2 out of 2 free throws. But that is mediocre scoring for the one-time West Virginia University star. In the second half West led the attack as the Warriors concentrated their primary defense on Baylor.

WEST LOBBED 20 footers over the defenders and was near perfect from the free throw line, making 12 of 13 free throws. West's second half total was 21, giving him an overall game high of 37. Baylor, guarded closely after the intermission, scored only three field goals in the second half but it was Baylor to whom the Lakers fed the ball when the score was tied 109-109 with two minutes to play.

BAYLOR PROMPTLY broke the tie, driving through the key for a twisting layup against which the only defense was a foul. And at that stage of the game, with the Warriors in a penalty situation, Baylor almost certainly would have made good two free throws in three tries.

Basketball, of course is a game of putting a ball through a net. But working the ball into position calls for floor work, a kind of choreography of the court. And at this Baylor is a superb performer.

Baylor advances on a basket with footwork so graceful that he always is perfectly balanced for a seemingly impossible body twist at the moment of shooting. He makes moves that leaves defenders bewildered.

MARSHALL LEAHY never misses a Warrior-Lakers game because he marvels at Baylor's moves. Leahy is a real basketball old timer. Four decades ago, in the 20s, he played on a championship team at St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco and later a championship outfit at Santa Clara University. So Leahy in 40 years has seen some good ones ,amateurs and pros.

"But Baylor," says Leahy, "makes moves that never were in the book and never will be. He seems to improvise new ones with each game."

49er Coach Nolan Still Optimistic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Dick Nolan still thinks his San Francisco 49ers have winning capabilities, despite two straight losses and tie.

His attention was turned by newsmen yesterday to the feeling of certain discouraged fans that the 49ers are born losers.

Nolan said he thinks this "snake-bit" theory is ridiculous.

"Winning is a matter of good personnel and precise execution," he said. "I' moptimistic about the future."

Nolan said rookie defensive end Kevin Hardy, who suffered a knee sprain in Sunday's 20-20 tie with the Los Angeles Rams, will miss the game this Sunday against the Steelers in Pittsburgh but should be ready for the Green Bay game Dec. 1 at Kezar Stadium.

USF Grid Coach Calls It Quits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ron Pierceall, head football coach at University of San Francisco since it resumed the sport in 1964, resigned yesterday.

The Dons have had an 0-8-1 season marked by a rash of injuries. Only 18 players were in uniform last Saturday as Sacramento State bounced USF 76-0.

Pierceall's five-year record was 18-24-1. He said he would continue to teach in the Physical Education Department until June, but then might get another coaching job.

EARL MORRALL

From Bench Riding To Baltimore Hero

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three months ago, Earl Morrall was resigned to another frustrating season as a bench riding, reserve quarterback.

The pre-season trade which sent him from the New York Giants to the Baltimore Colts didn't change the outlook. The Colts wanted the much-traveled veteran as a backup man for John Unitas.

Today, Morrall is the No. 1 signal caller of the Colts—a team with a 9-1 record and a chance to become the National Football League's representative in the Super Bowl.

"The trade was a tremendous break for me," the 34-year-old Morrall said today. "One of the best that ever happened to me."

"I didn't figure to start for the Giants in place of Fran Tarkenton," Morrall said.

"I talked with Giant officials about a possible trade, but they indicated they were happy with the quarterbacks and would stay with them. Two weeks after I moved my family to New York for the season, I was traded."

Two weeks later, in Baltimore's final preseason exhibition, Unitas suffered a torn muscle in his right elbow—already pained by chronic tendonitis—and Morrall opened the season for the Colts.

The Colts won their first five games, and each week Morrall retained his composure while answering the same questions from a different set of writers:

"When will Unitas be back?"

"Do you think you'll start next week? How much does John help you on the sidelines?"

Only now is Morrall perfecting his timing with Colt pass receivers, and he still has to concentrate to call the right plays in the huddle, since Baltimore's numbering system is the opposite of those he used for four other NFL teams.

"We placed more emphasis on running this year," Coach Don Shula said, "because we couldn't rely on Earl throwing while not being familiar with our system. One thing led to another, and now our attack is more balanced."

With 20 touchdown passes in 10 games, Morrall has emerged from the shadows on the sidelines. If the Colts go all the way, he could well wind up as the NFL's Most Valuable Player—an award won last season by Unitas.

O.J., Mates Expect Tough Game From UCLA Bruins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — O. J. Simpson knows he's being compared with football's great rushers from Red Grange to Gale Sayers and he tries to ignore it.

"You might get to thinking I'm so-and-so and I can't be tackled." reasoned the All-American halfback from Southern California. "And that's when you get it."

He looks at Saturday's nationally televised game against UCLA in somewhat the same vein.

DEFENSE

"We don't look at UCLA as an inferior opponent," Simpson asserts despite the 3-6 record of the cross-town foe. "I look over their defense and see about everybody we played last season and I've said before that was the toughest defense we faced."

A year ago with both USC and UCLA in contention for the mythical national championship, Simpson smashed through on a 65-yard touchdown run with 10:38 left to bring the Trojans a 21-20 victory, the Rose Bowl bid and the collegiate title.

In 1967 it was UCLA quarterback Gary Beban who won the Heisman Trophy, awarded the player voted the best in the nation. Simpson placed second and this year stands as the prime candidate.

While the USC runner already has set a Pacific-8 rushing record for a single season with 1,449 yards, the Bruins haven't found a quarterback replacement for Beban.

INJURY

Bill Bolden, slated as the successor, injured a shoulder in the opener and hasn't rounded into winning form. Jim Nader, who passes better than Bolden, lacks the running ability so necessary in the UCLA offense.

The Coliseum kickoff is set for 3 p.m. PST to accomodate television viewers across the nation with USC rated a two-touchdown favorite

Rated No. 1 again this time, the Trojans boast an 8-0 record with UCLA and Notre Dame remaining. Already they have clinched the Pacific-8 Rose Bowl bid.

Coach Tommy Prothro of UCLA says you can't key on Simpson because the Trojans have other weapons such as quarterback Steve Sogge, who can pass and also run on the option play.

WEAPON

Still O.J. remains the big weapon and the 200-pounder from San Francisco pronounces himself in good physical shape.

"Early in the year, I was favoring a leg and not driving," Simpson explains.

"You should drive at the defensive halfback because usually he's smaller than I am and I'm moving ahead while he's standing still. Now the leg is fine and I feel that I'm driving like I should."

While the Trojans and Bruins battle the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative will have been decided in Michigan-Ohio State clash.

"We just want to play the best team in the Big Ten," is the way O.J. looks at that Midwestern battle.

Extra 20 Minutes Work For Bears

BERKELEY (AP) — California Bear Coach Ray Willsey says he is afraid rain later in the week will hold down practice for Saturday's "Big Game" against Stanford.

So Willsey drilled his football team an extra 20 minutes yesterday.

The coach said he foresaw no need for changing strategy against the Indians. "Everyone says they are a great passing team," he said. "But don't forget they've made more yards than we have rushing—they have the most versatile offense we have seen this year."

Cowboys Rate High In NFL Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Clark of Dallas has taken over the scoring lead in the National Football League and Don Meredith of the same club has moved out front as the leading passer.

Clark moved out front of two running backs, Bill Brown of Minnesota and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, each of whom has scored 12 touchdowns for 72 points. Clark, the Cowboys' place kicker, has booted 13 of 19 field goals and 39 straight extra points for a total of 78 points.

Meredith, injured in last Sunday's game at Washington and considered doubtful for this week, displaced New York's Fran Tarkenton as the top passer. Meredith's high rating is a combination of his 57.6 percentage completion, 18 touchdown passes, 3.9 percentage of interceptions and 8.30 average gain.

Kelly continues to move toward the 1,000-yard mark with a total of 909 on 184 carries although he was held in check last week by Pittsburgh. Gale Sayers, the Chicago Bears' ace who is out for the season after knee surgery, still is second with 856 yards rushing.

Clifton McNeil of the San Francisco 49ers remains way out front in pass receiving with 53 for 786 yards and six scores.

Alioto Says 49ers To Stay In S.F.

Mayor Joseph Alioto says the San Francisco 49ers won't leave the city for any new home on the Peninsula or in Marin County.

"The team management has a good right to complain about conditions at Kezar Stadium," he concede yesterday, "but we are moving as quickly as possible to determine if Candlestick Park will be improved or a new downtown stadium built."

Team president Lou Spadia said Monday that the team was looking for a new Bay Area home, but Alioto noted that "those who thought they could move legitimate theater to the Peninsula know better now, and I believe Lou will come to the same conclusion."

Ersatz A plenty—or, Phonies I Have Known

It's a sad commentary that what was once rare and unpleasant is now common place and still unpleasant. Sometimes in times past an entire day would pass without confrontation with a monumental bore. Now, you might luckily enjoy an hour now and then without running into or being run over by one.

There was a time when a "college man" connoted clean ducks, neck, and even mind. Books, exams, grade, and dates monopolized coke sessions, and a degree-motivated student apologized to no one for his dream. Today, the cause is the thing, and what cause is of little import. Now, it's placards, speeches, press conferences, and love-ins, and coke backs off for pot.

The real sadness is that the big switch is wielded by the little group in charge of the Big Put-On, and the large group is in danger of being hollered—or, bored to death. In either case, the large group loses another battle, and the little core of phonies gets bigger and brassier.

At one time, the phonies concentrated in highly specialized pursuits like aluminum sidings, television repairing, and food freezer peddling. Concentrated to the point where the honest operators in these fields needed much championing to survive. A little jailing and a lot of publicity eventually cleaned up this mess of roaches, but some must have escaped to breed again.

The phonies are a prolific lot, and too many of their varmints have infested my particular sphere of interest — the automobile selling and servicing bag. You beat one of them to death, and the poison pollen escapes to live and breath and defile somewhere else. Every last man and woman in our industry bears the awesome burden of having to defend too many of our absolutely legitimate business activities because the maneuvers of this poisonous segment cannot be defended.

I remember a harrowing experience once many years ago when a small brush fire in Australia quickly became a roaring inferno beyond all possible control. Originally, a spurt of flame here and there was extinguished with little effort and no alarm. I, for one, learned a lesson not easily forgotten. It would be tragic if we all had to face a brush fire to become sufficiently alarmed over the spread of the phonies among us.

For one so acutely aware, and so violently repelled by all things phony, my thankfully brief exposure in the very special hell of automobile peddling that thrives especially well in Southern California, provided new insights of the black arts practiced by these charlatans. The "bait and switch" was honed to a razor's edge, and the moochers responded to the bait and switched right on cue. It was a repetitious and thoroughly degrading performance.

The ersatz parade makes the proper scene in the Hollywood area. Nothing is absolutely certain to be for real there, so why should the people be? The group who buss cheeks on casual contact and extend limply left hands for shaking coming and going add to the eerie air of fantasy and fraud.

Mix this not so well in automobile merchandising, and you reach for Alka-Seltzer and plane schedules — quickly.

Then, you seek solace at home, before blazing hearth and flickering boob-tube (these built-in antenna systems are pretty phoney, too). And, what do you find? The boobs are coming at you from the boob-tube, and from Southern California, yet. The Big Deal has come to the Bay Area, and aren't you all so lucky? The lucky ones will be those who can still spot fiction and stay away. Those who find strange comfort in words phoney will flock to the Great Promiser and burn like the helpless but bewitched moth.

Like the weather, everyone moans about the phonies in the car business, but little is done about and to them. At my dealership, Marin Dodge, I'll keep pitching 'em straight, even though those curves thrown by the phonies seem to attract an awful lot of moths.

Reeves Censures Coach, Players

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dan Reeves, owner of the Los Angeles Rams, yesterday censured his coach, George Allen, and some of the players for criticizing playing conditions at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

Reeves said he didn't think "Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen or Allen have the right to say that Kezar should be junked."

The Rams rallied to tie the San Francisco 49ers 20-20 last Sunday, and Allen said later the field was "the worst I've seen in 20 years of coaching," and a "disgrace to the National Football League.

"I though we were more sophisticated and sedate than to do something like this," Reeves said later. He said people in San Francisco are trying to improve field conditions.

The field was a quagmire of mud for the Ram-49er game Sunday.

The Southwest Conference football record for most net yards passing was set by Don Trull of Baylor in 1963 with 2,157 yards.

BOATING

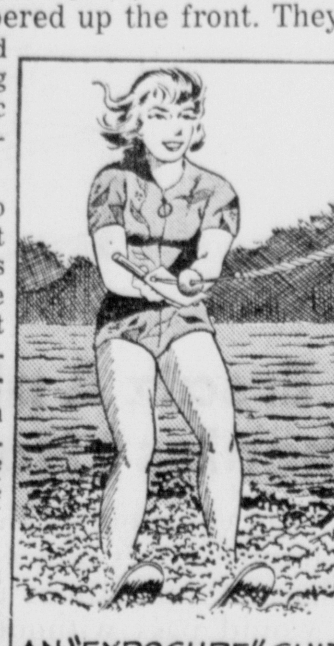
Exposure Suits Keep Water Skiers Warm

A thing that struck me as I watched quite a number of water ski contests and shows in the northern part of the country late this summer was the number of girl skiers who wore neatly tailored rubber suits.

The suits were mostly in gaudy colors, had short sleeves and legs, and zippered up the front. They are called exposure suits, and I find a growing trend toward wearing them in boating and aquatic sports where one may be dunked into chilly water.



AN "EXPOSURE" SUIT MAKES FOR SAFER FUN WHEN WATER IS CHILLY.

Water skiers wear them so that they do not lose body heat and, consequently, do not tire as quickly under strenuous practice or competition. It's strange, but most discussions of safety practices seldom touch on water temperature and its effect on survival. Yet it is a very significant factor for some period of the winter in the greater part of the country.

ONE OFTEN hears parents admonish children about taking out boats without life-jackets, but I don't ever recall hearing anybody caution another person about the deadly effects of cold.

The answer, of course, is the exposure suit, and it should be considered mandatory equipment for anyone venturing out in a small boat on water that is below 50 degrees.

What is an exposure suit? It's simply a snug-fitting, foam-rubber garment. Skin and scuba divers have been wearing such suits for years. They call them "wet" suits. They got his name because the suit is made with no attempt to keep out the water. But it is made to fit snugly so that there is only a very thin film of water between the suit and the skin. This is quickly warmed by body heat and is easily kept warm by the insulating qualities of the foam rubber.

THEY WERE called wet suits after earlier "dry" suits, which tried to keep out the water, failed. The foam in a wet suit is usually a quarter of an inch thick, but in an exposure suit it is often only a eighth.

The wet suit material needs to be thicker because, in a dive, water pressure squeezes the quarter-inch foam down to an eighth of an inch very quickly, even at relatively shallow depths.

Exposure suits are easy to repair and are even easy to make. The foam rubber and cement are available — as are complete suits — at scuba diver shops.

IF YOU don't think an exposure suit is a good idea, here is a medical table compiled by one of our leading medical schools for the navy. It shows the length of time an average person can survive immersed up to the neck in water:

Water Temperature	Time to Unconsciousness	Expected Length of Survival
Freezing	—15 min.	15-45 min.
32°-40°	15-30 mins.	30-90 min.
40°-50°	30-60 mins.	1-3 hrs.
50°-60°	1-2 hrs.	1-6 hrs.
60°-70°	2-7 hrs.	2-40 hrs.
70°-80°	3-12 hrs.	3-indef.
above 80°	indefinitely	indef.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL NOTES

Hollywood Script For Marin League

By GARY TISCHLER

Well, how about that for a windup!

A Hollywood script writer couldn't have dreamed up a better one for the Marin County Athletic League football race.

The sequence of events that resulted in another tie for a title were pretty long-shot ones. Terra Linda needed a win or a tie for its first-ever unbeaten season and sole possession of the crown. Only Redwood stood in the way. And Novato and Drake of San Anselmo needed a win by Redwood to make their clash four hours later a championship one.

And that is pretty much what happened. The Giants of Redwood upset the Trojans, Novato beat Drake, 14-13, and voila, Terra Linda and Novato tie for the title.

The Trojans of Terra Linda probably don't appreciate it, but it was a fairy-tale windup for fans, something of an early Christmas present.

WELL, WHOEVER got all-league honors, one thing is for certain, the MCAL had a wealth of good fullbacks, receivers and quarterbacks.

This is more or less for those who didn't make it — it's tough to pick from the likes of fullbacks like Redwood's Pete Richter, Drake's Bob Sutherland, Dave Hector of Tamalpais and Tom Zechlin of Novato. And throw in Derek Clark of San Rafael, a standout on a losing team.

It was also tough to pick among such fine receivers as Mike Davlin and Dave Alvarado of Drake, Jack Straw and Pete Weekly of Novato, Jack Dennis of Terra Linda, Bruce D'Ambra of San Rafael, Ron Small of Tamalpais and Jeff Konopisos and Pete Carroll of Redwood. Not to speak of quarterbacks Mike Dillon of Novato, Don Mackin of Tamalpais and Ed Harrington of Drake.

With the momentous goings-on Saturday, San Rafael's brave effort against St. Ignatius of San Francisco may have been overlooked but it shouldn't have. The Bulldogs doggedly fought the Wildcats to a standstill for three quarters and were actually on the attack for most of the third quarter until the roof caved in on St. Ignatius' three-touchdown spree in the final period.

SOME FINAL number notes: Redwood wound up the top-scoring team in league play with 105 points to 104 by Drake. But neither finished in the money, showing that a little defense helps also.

MARIN COUNTY Athletic League teams wound up on the plus side of the ledger in competition against non-league opponents, winning 14 games losing seven and tying two with a 532-366 point-scoring advantage.

THE RETURN of Pat Green, who practiced only two days last week, was a helpful one for Novato. The fine-running halfback and kicker booted both extra points in the Hornets' one-point, 14-13 win. Those were his first points since the third game of the season. The last extra point he kicked also proved to be a winner in a 14-12 win over Redwood.

THOSE WERE Novato players, incidentally, that were rooting for Redwood Saturday afternoon. Quarterback Russ Dillon was out on the field congratulating the Giants after the game. He must have known something.

Raider Boss Is Lauded By Lassiter

is, the man who runs the Oakland Raiders, has been called a lot of things, but Ike Lassiter is the only one who has called him a Billy Graham.

Lassiter is one of Davis' employes, and that's the reason for the comparison.

"Al Davis is my Billy Graham," Lassiter says, "because he saved my soul."

While enjoying his salvation, though, the 6-foot-5, 280-pound veteran also has been returning the favor by waging weekly crusades for the Raiders.

His latest was against the New York Jets, and he emerged from it as The Associated Press' selection as the defensive player of the week in the American Football League yesterday.

Lassiter has gone through a lot of crusades since Davis made him a Raider three years ago. Prior to that his pro football life hadn't been very enjoyable.

Signed by the Los Angeles Rams out of little St. Augustine College in North Carolina, he lasted only three weeks. From there he went to the Denver Broncos.

"I was like a piece of furniture there," Lassiter recalled. "The coach (Jack Faulkner) was always on me. He hardly knew who I was, but he still blamed me for everything that went wrong."

The Broncos released him in 1964, and that's where Davis came in.

'I WAS BITTER'

"I thought I was through with football, and I was bitter about it," he related. "Early the next year I began to ache to play again. I wrote to Davis because other players had told me he treated everyone with respect.

"Davis called and told me to come to camp in shape. I was over 300 pounds then, but I got down to 280. When I first got to Oakland I had a chip on my shoulder. I was mad at everybody. After a while, though, everything was fine."

The only anger Lassiter displays now, though, is when he's ripping through the offensive line toward the quarterback.

Only Joe Namath's quick release of the ball on his passes kept the Jet quarterback from being hit more often by Ike and the other Raiders. As it was, Lassiter dumped Namath three times behind the line

MARIN RUNNING GROUPS

Got A Middle-Age Bulge? Join The Jogging Craze

By RALPH CHATOIAN

More and more people today are getting out of those easy chairs and taking to the hills for a little running.

Some call it jogging and some call it running, but the purpose is usually the same — to get rid of that middle-aged bulge around the midsection, to get in physical condition and stay there.

Runners are banding together to form small groups.

One such Marin County group is made up of five men who run primarily for exercise. There is another group of Marin County men which does it for competition.

Organizer of the group for exercise is Bill Taylor, who was an 880-yard runner at University of Southern California in 1954-55. In addition to Taylor, there are other San Anselmans, Bill Kaul and Bill Biggs, Bill Frederickson of San Geronimo Valley and Gordon Pusser of Corte Madera.

According to Taylor, "Anyone who wants to run too fast or too far is out. The minimum age is 30, unless you're less than 30 and look 40."

Aims of the other group go a little further than this, as most of the members have run in competition, including the Mill Valley to Stinson Beach Dipsea Race.

In this group are Jim Grant, Robert Lee, Larry Hoyt, Ed Wasp and Lud Lozier of San Rafael and Bob Biancalana of Mill Valley. Hoyt, 42 years old, ran the more than six miles of the Dipsea Race over Mount Tamalpais last August in 57 minutes, placing 14th out of a field of more than 800 runners.

Competition is the aim of this group of men, all over 40. They do a lot of running on their own, and meet once a week for a group run.

"We meet at 6 o'clock in the morning on Saturdays and then go over to Mount Tam to do some running, from about 500 feet elevation to 2,000 feet, then back down," said Grant, an insurance agent.

Most of the members of this group are members of the Marin Athletic Club, affiliated with the AAU. The runs up and down Mount Tam are done full bore. They like racing as a sport. This kind of running is not for the timid and the weak, and is not jogging, but very fast running.

Taylor and the other four runners are not running for competition, but just for exercise, with plans for runs of varied distances through different parts of Marin County.

"It's a kind of therapy for me," said Taylor. "I run from a mile to three miles a day on my own, and then run a little further when we meet as a group."

Taylor said if anyone was interested in jogging with his group he would be happy to talk to them. He lives at 185 The Alameda, San Anselmo.

BIG 10 SHOWDOWN

Daugherty Gives Nod To Ohio State's Depth

EAST LANSING, Mich., (AP) — How does Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, whose Spartans have lost to both, figure the Big Ten championship game between Michigan and Ohio State Saturday at Columbus, Ohio?

Duffy declines to name a favorite, but made a few comparisons yesterday.

"Ohio State doesn't have anyone near the threat of Ron Johnson," said Daugherty, whose team lost 28-14 to Michigan and 25-20 to the Buckeyes.

"And the Ohio State quarterbacks don't have near the poise and confidence of Dennie Brown.

"But I think Ohio State has more over-all team speed. Michigan has no one to match the speed of Jan White (sophomore flanker).

"And most of the Ohio State backs . . . guys like John Brockington, Hondo Brungard and Jim Otis . . . are faster than the Michigan backs.

"Michigan has a big advantage in blocking. Jim Mandich and that fullback, Garvie Craw, are as good as anyone at clearing a hole."

Daugherty gave the nod to Ohio State on depth, especially at vital spots, and described both teams as strong defensively, although they use different formations: Michigan the 4-3-3 umbrella and Ohio State the 6-2-2-1 monster.

Raiders Most Explosive '11'

NEW YORK (AP) — It may come as a surprise to watchers of Heidi that the Oakland Raiders have the most explosive offense in the American Football League.

The Raiders, who scored two late touchdowns to beat the New York Jets while most of the nation complained about the movie that knocked the game off the air, have averaged 409 yards a game, best in the latest AFL team statistics.

Kansas City, idle this Sunday, has the best running game and the San Diego Chargers lead the pack in pass offense.

UNIQUE ENTRANCE FOR NORTHGATE BUILDING

A diagonal slice in construction makes an unusual entrance for the new home of Automatic Tube Co., Inc., on Paul Drive, Northgate Industrial Park. Automatic Tube, one of three major pneumatic tube system manufacturers in the United States, recently moved its headquarters to Marin County from San Francisco. The company's products are supplied mainly to hospitals, stores and other commercial establishments.

INVESTING

Warrants A Tricky Offering

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Could you clarify for me what a warrant is? — B.L.

A. Warrants, which were used commonly in the 1920s, have again become important and therefore should be understood by the investor.

Warrants frequently are used by an acquiring company in conjunction with other securities to sweeten a merger offer. They also figure in some refinancing arrangements and occasionally warrants are attached to a common stock offering. At times an underwriting firm receives warrants as part of its fee for arranging the financing. Although a warrant gives the holder the right to buy stock for a stated price, usually within a specified period of time, it does not represent ownership in the corporation, not does it apy dividends.

The main value is in the leverage a warrant affords a trader. For example, since January, GAC Corp. warrants — trading at about half the price of the common — moved up 106 per cent while the common gained only 73 per cent. Leverage works in reverse as in the case of Trans World Airlines' warrants which from a peak in 1967 to the present dropped 56 per cent while the common dropped 49 per cent.

When is a warrant attractive? When it has a long time to run, the company outlook is good, the leverage ratio high and warrant price low.

Q. My husband passed away a year ago, leaving me with the following holdings; Anaconda Co., Armco Steel, Burlington Industries, Cities Service, Gillette, Kresge, Manufacturers Hanover Trust, Morgan Guaranty Trust, Olin Mathieson, Squibb Beech-Nut, Texaco and Warner-Lambert. My income is limited and I wonder if it is wise to retain these as an investment. — W. N.

A. Your husband left you with a very fine list. There are only two issue which I question: Anaconda, with risk inherent in its foreign operations, an Olin Bathieson, with possible problems from its firearms and fertilizer division. Washington Water Power, yielding about 5 per cent would be a suitable replacement.

Q. Can you advise me as to the amount of Atlantic Richfield stock owned by Cities Service? — J.M.

A. Cities Service owns 2,915,000 shares of Atlantic Richfield $3 Cumulative Convertible Preference stock, which is carried on the books by Citgo at a cost of about $30 million. These shares have a current market value of about $522 million, worth $17.87 for each share of Cities Service common stock. The Atlantic preferred, which must be disposed of by 1973, will probably be offered by Cities Service to its shareholders in exchange for Cities' common stock. The indirect participation in Atlantic's Alaska strike plus offshore Louisiana and California crude production just coming on-stream make Cities Service an attractive long-term buy.

Bank Of Marin Gets Larkspur Branch Approval

Bank of Marin has received approval from the California State Superintendent of Banks to open a branch office in Larkspur.

In making the announcement, bank president William P. Murray, Jr. said it is planned to locate the office on Magnolia Avenue near the Larkspur-Kentfield city limits.

Murray also said that, under a previously approved application to open a branch in East San Rafael, the bank is having plans drawn for a modern bank building with offstreet parking at 65 Medway Road, near Francisco Boulevard.

A application for the bank to open an office at 25 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, also awaits approval.

DAIRYMAN—Jack W. Dei of Sebastopol, president of the Petaluma Cooperative Creamery, has been named chairman of the board of the Dairy Council of California. Dei is president of Sun Valley Dairy in San Francisco.

PHIDADELPHIA (BW) — Sear, Roebuck & Co. has reported record net income for the third quarter and nine months ended Oct. 31.

Gordon M. Metcalf, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said net income for the third quarter was $99,711,000, or 65 cents per share. This was 6.4 per cent higher than net income of $93,675,000, or 61 cents per share, in the third quarter of last year.

For the nine months ended Oct. 31 net income was $268,591,000, or $1.75 per share, an increase of 8.9 per cent over net income of $246,702,000, or $1.61 per share, in the same period of 1967.

Also the company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share and an extra yearend dividend of 15 cents per share on the outstanding common stock of the company.

There were 59 permits issued this October and last, but only 34 issued in September. Total valuation this October was $1,054,927.

Building permits for the first four months of the 1968 fiscal year have totaled 188, down from the 240 issued in the first four months of 1967.

A SAFETY HAZARD?

The Hidden Windshield Wiper Causing Concern

DETROIT (UPI) — Hidden windshield wipers, a new styling trend in the auto industry, have been indicted as a serious safety hazard, and an item that could add millions of dollars to the annual repair bills on American cars.

The man who makes the charge is Edward Daniels, claims manager of the inter-insurance exchange of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Daniels laid it on the line before the American Society of Body Engineers at their annual convention in Detroit recently.

Though he pulled his punches in his words, Daniels left no doubt that the new hood design hiding windshield wipers could become a horizontal guillotine for car passengers involved in a serious head-on collision.

"The hidden windshield wiper design is such that in moderate front end accidents, the sharp hood corner or fender corner is driven back, breaking the windshield and adding an unnecessary $100 to the repair," he said. "In severe accidents, the side mounted hinges give way, throwing the hood into the passenger compartment."

The prospect of a knife-edged front hood hurtling through a windshield and into the passenger compartment of a car is certain to occupy the attention of federal highway safety officials in Washington.

The hidden windshield wiper design was first developed and used on the 1967 Pontiac. It spread to other General Motors products on 1968 models and has been adopted on many 1969 models by other car makers.

Purpose of the Daniels speech to the body engineers was not essentially to point out any safety failures in design on new cars, but the failure of design engineers to stem the mounting cost of repairs to cars involved in accidents. Daniels, in fact, suggested that designers were increasing repair costs.

Daniels said that car bumpers now are little more than ornamental and easily damaged in impacts of less than 10 miles an hour. He said there is so much inaccessibility for repair designed into cars that it sometimes costs 10 times as much for labor as for the part being replaced. In some cases, he said, a bumper has to be removed to replace a tail light bulb.

There is so little room between a radiator and the engine fan that even a minor front end accident can damage the radiator core, he added.

Women Still Filling Posts

DETROIT (UPI)—The answer to an anticipated shortage of office workers is women, report researchers of Kelly Services, national supplier of temporary help services.

Kelly points out that in 1967 nearly seven million women worked in temporary jobs and one out of four women works less than 35 hours a week at any one time. The company says that despite expanding use of computers and other business machines, clerical workers of all types will be needed.

Banking Debits Climb In October

Marin County bank debits and deposits during the month of October were higher than during the same month in 1967.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $201,227,000, compared with $183,657,000 in October of last year. Unadjusted deposits of $100,199,000 were up from $89,734,000.

No seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are yet reported for Marin County, as figures have not been compiled long enough for seasonal fluctuations to be recorded.

Consumer Index Still Climbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board reports consumer goods output has powered another increase in monthly industrial production.

The board said Monday the October index climbed to 165 per cent of the 1957-59 average—up from the September level of 164.4.

Consumer goods production showed an increase of 1.1 percentage points, indicating the consumer-spending slowdown for which the administration hopes hasn't occured so far.

The board had said earlier the overall index dipped in September, but the revised figures released yesterday showed an increase.

Marin's Fish, Chips Tycoon Expands By Leaps And Bounds

A new progress report in the amazing career of Marin County fish and chips tycoon Haddon Salt has been received from Martha Hannon of Mill Valley, who had a success story on the British-born fishmonger published in the Oct. 18 issue of Christian Science Monitor.

Salt, now operating under the business name of H. Salt, Esq., Authentic English Fish and Chips, first made his appearance in San Rafael four years ago when he and his wife purchased the Griddle restaurant. They had emigrated from Skegness, England, where Salt and his family had been in the restaurant and hotel business. He has since sold the Griddle.

Salt's first official fish and chips shop opened in Sausalito in 1965 and his empire has grown by leaps and bounds. Mrs. Hannon reports that since her article for the Monitor was written last July his shops have increased from 40 to 45, with 44 of them franchised. Thirty more are being built and by the middle of next year he expects to have a full 100.

In addition to his Northgate Industrial Park headquarters and distribution center he also has offices in Los Angeles and Chicago.

NEW CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER for Synergistic Industries, San Rafael, is Eugene Burkhardt of San Francisco. Before joining the cosmetics manufacturer he was with Lybrand Co. for a number of years.

MRS. LOUIS GEORGE of Petaluma has been promoted to clinic director and educational director of the newly expanded medical clinic of the Planned Parenthood Association of Marin at 603 D Street, San Rafael. They took honors for their landscaping of Old Courthouse Square in the City of Sonoma for the Urban Renewal Agency.

San Rafael landscape architect William L. Kapranos was one of three judges who traveled 3,000 miles by plane and by car to inspect all the entries. Cities from San Diego to Santa Rosa were represented in the contest.

REAL ESTATE. Henry L. Hicks of Novato is co-developer in charge of leasing at the 28-acre Northwood Square shopping facility to be built at Landess and Morrill avenues, San Jose. Ground will be broken next April. First tenant Hicks got to sign for space was the J. J. Newberry Co., national junior department store chain.

AMONG MARIN RESIDENTS participating in the National Frozen Food convention in San Francisco this week are George Silvestri and Fred Acciari of Marin Products, Ignacio, and K L. Carmichael of Santa Venetia, a San Francisco advertising and public relations man. Silvestri is a director of the National Frozen Food Association and of the Northern California association. LONG WAY UP—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey strains his neck to look at the 363-feet tall Saturn 5 rocket being groomed to carry three astronauts around the moon at Christmastime. Humphrey paid the Cape Kennedy space complex a five hour visit yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

Humphrey Raps Space Cuts, Inspects Apollo

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Declaring America's space program a wise investment, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey predicts the nation "will pay the price" for not investing more funds for future space research.

"The space program has contributed greatly to the structure of our nation," Humphrey told National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials meeting here yesterday to review preparations for an around-the-moon flight by the three Apollo 8 astronauts at Christmastime.

"I have felt it has been underfunded at times and we will pay the price," the vice president said while explaining that Congress and the Johnson administration cut space spending because of other priorities.

Humphrey, who as vice president is chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council which advises President Johnson on space policy, visited Cape Kennedy for five hours yesterday en route to Washington from Miami, where he and his wife Muriel were vacationing.

He received a first-hand report from the three Apollo 8 pilots who plan to fly around the moon at Christmastime—Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders—then made like an astronaut himself by performing a make-believe rendezvous inside a mock spaceship.

The Vice President said he may return to Cape Kennedy to view the crew blast off Dec. 21 atop their 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 moon rocket.

Lying on the command pilot's couch inside the spacecraft simulator, Humphrey operated controls while two other astronauts involved with the Apollo 9 mission scheduled for launching in February, Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott and Navy Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon, told him how to perform a rendezvous.

"I think you better stop that, Mr. Vice President," Gordon quipped one time when sightings on a spaceship television screen indicated Humphrey was approaching the target too rapidly. "You're going to run right through it."

"I want to thank you for what you've done, which is to give the American people a lift. Without this program, this nation would feel very much behind in the international picture," Humphrey told Apollo program officials.

Egger Elected Chamber Director

James E. Egger, owner of Egger's Nursery, has been elected to the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board, staff secretary Carol Healy reported yesterday.

Re-elected to the board Monday were John Finn III, public accountant; Lawrence A. Mayer, owner of Mayer's Ltd. and partner in Andresen and Mayer, attorneys at law; Edward M. Mills, co-publisher of the Mill Valley Record; and Leonard S. Peck, vice president of Muller's general insurance agency. All will serve for two years.

Election of board officers will be held at noon Dec. 2, Mrs. Healy said.

BLACK ADVANCE CLOSES OFFICE

Marin City's Self-Help Organization Runs Out Of Funds; Leader In Oakland

By ALAN JONES

Black Advance, a black self-help organization in Marin City that started last May with high hopes of initiating black businesses and placing Marin City residents in jobs, has apparently folded with the end of its grant from Catholic Social Services.

Gregory L. Baines, director of Black Advance, has left Marin City and is believed living in Oakland.

The Black Advance office in Building C-64 near Hayden's Market in Marin City has been closed for two weeks.

Donald O. Stutsman, director of the Marin City Housing Authority which rented the space to Baines, said he had written Baines in Oakland, asking if he plans to renew the month-to-month rental, but has received no reply. Baines leased the space Dec. 1 and started Black Advance May 1 with an $18,000 grant from Catholic Social Service.

The organization was reasonably successful in early months. A report in July said it had taken 115 job applications, placed 15 persons in jobs and helped start Marin Music City, a record shop adjoining the Black Advance office.

It also sponsored a Marin City Afro-Arts Festival in July with black-oriented goods for sale, a Negro heritage library, two Black Panther booths, a karate exhibition by Baines and five pupils, jazz and rock bands and soul food sold to fairgoers.

The $18,000 grant ran out at the end of September.

Baines presented a proposal to the Marin City Target Area board for a one-year program of job development and placement costing an estimated $185,428, which he said would create 22 jobs and bring $138,000 into the community.

But the target board, an adjunct of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, never approved the program.

Controversy was stirred by a militant newsletter titled Black Arms, which was printed in the Black Advance office and called for "black arms for the black army" and revolution against capitalism and white society.

The newsletter was edited by two other young men, Russell Williams and James Bullock, but community feeling was that Baines was behind it. The sentiment may have been a factor in the failure of Black Advance to get EOC funds.

On Aug. 22, Black Advance co-sponsored a successful rally on black political groups at which a Marin City chapter of Black Panthers was announced and Panther leaders Stokley Carmichael and Eldredge Cleaver spoke in their usual revolutionary vein.

The rally drew more than 500 persons, but may have further alienated possible sources of funds.

Baines presented a proposal for a Marin City skills center to the target board in September, priced at $99,000, but the board again turned him down. Vice Chairman Rogers Jones said he was "against having any program run by Black Advance."

Black Arms ran out of money after an August issue and suspended publication.

Baines, who lived in a cooperative apartment and then a one-family house in Marin City, is now reportedly in Oakland. Stutsman said Catholic Social Service gave him an address of 1737 Broadway Street, which a street directory indicates is the address of a business named Shirts by D. Andre.

A spokesman for Oak Knolls of Marin, which handles sales of the single family homes like that Baines stayed in, conceded Baines had lived in a Buckelew Avenue house briefly but would not say what arrangement was made. The homes normally are for sale but not for rent, and the house is now unoccupied.

The Black Advance staff consisted of Baines, assistant director George Gaines, field workers Ephorn Freeman Jr. and Edward (Boone) Green and secretary Barbara Douglas, of Marin City.

Parents Stage A Sit-In, Protesting Teacher Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Union teachers returned today to three schools in Ocean Hill-Brownsville after angry groups of parents ended overnight sit-ins protesting part of the agreement that ended the citywide teachers' strike.

The teachers and students entered the schools after a state trustee running the experimental, decentralized Brooklyn district gave the three principals at the schools letters removing them from authority.

The letters also required that unauthorized persons be out of the school buildings before students would be allowed to enter. The protesters left the buildings without incident.

The sit-in protest followed the generally peaceful reopening of the city's 900 school yesterday after a citywide strike that kept most of the 1.1 million public school pupils out of class for 35 days.

A key point in settlement with the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers was the reassignment of the three Ocean Hill principals pending a court hearing on the legality of their appointment.

The union said that the principals were among those who had harassed union teachers in the district. An eleventh hour legal move by the New York Civil Liberties Union failed to prevent the reassignment of the three men at this time.

The principals are Luis Fuentes, PS 155, the city's only Puerto Rican principal; William H. Harris of JHS 271 and Ralph Rogers of PS 144. Harris and Rogers are Negroes. All three principals left their schools before students and teachers entered.

Rhody A. McCoy, administrator of the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican district, had earlier warned there could be a "confrontation" over the issue of the principals.

There were extra police assigned to the district overnight but a police spokesman said there were no plans to remove the sit-ins.

Ocean Hill - Brownsville has been the focal point of the months long racially tense city school controversy. It was the ouster of 79 white teachers from the district that precipitated the strike by the UFT.

Permit Is Sought For Flea Market

A proposed weekend flea market in Marinship will be considered when the Sausalito Planning Commission meets at 8 p.m. today in the city council chamber.

William McQuistion is proposing the arts and crafts flea market for Saturdays and Sundays on property east of the Big G supermarket on Harbor Drive.

The commission will also consider pre-zoning for the American Distilling Co. property north of the city, and possible commercial zoning on the inboard side of Bridgeway south of the Ondine restaurant.

Cities, Counties Get Sales Tax Savings

The State Board of Equalization yesterday announced Marin and Sonoma counties' shares in the statewide $110,000 refund made to cities and counties through a saving in administrative costs of collecting the 1 per cent local sales and use tax.

The county of Marin received $310 and Sonoma, $625.

Marin and southern Sonoma cities sharing in the refund were Belvedere, $3; Corte Madera, $16; Fairfax, $27; Larkspur, $32; Mill Valley, $27; Ross, $2; San Anselmo, $34; San Rafael, $231; Sausalito, $100; Novato, $71; Tiburon, $23; Petaluma, $77; Rohnert Park, $8; and Cotati, $14.

Plans On Review

Norris M. Rawles, district administrator, will review plans of the city of San Rafael and the San Rafael Sanitation District on sewage facilities before the district board at 5 p.m. tomorrow at San Rafael City Hall.

Sausalito's Lion's Share Wins A Permit

The Lion's Share, folk and rock entertainment center in Sausalito, won a conditional use permit to stay in business last night from the Sausalito City Council before a partisan crowd that overflowed city hall.

But the permit is good only until operator Michael Considine's lease expires July 15, and only if the noise of rock bands, folk singers and electrified instruments is kept inside the building at 100 Caledonia Street. (Another Sausalito Council story, page 1.)

14 PARKING SPACES

The council also granted a variance to let the Lion's Share get along with 14 parking spaces and a parking attendant instead of the 15 required by ordinance. Both actions were unanimous on the motion of Councilman George C. Hoffman.

A petition by 15 neighbors opposed the use permit, but nearly all the audience, which included 30 standees, praised the Lion's Share and pleaded for its life.

Pop singer Gail Garnett of Tiburon, a frequent performer there, said the restaurant is a favorite of performers and a place where old, young, rich, poor, black and white meet and get along.

"Do not negate . . . Considine's work over some excess hair," she asked, answering a complaint in the petition that Lion's Share patrons were "a generally undesirable group of patrons" and "motley characters."

NO PERMIT

The restaurant has had entertainment for several years, but has never had the use permit needed for entertainment in a neighborhood residential zone. Entertainment was started by the operator who preceded Considine, who took over in 1966.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who represented Considine, said soundproofing in recent weeks should keep noise inside the building and end complaints.

The permit and variance were granted with the condition the city can cancel them by giving five days notice and holding a revocation hearing. Councilmen said the outcome depends on whether there are future complaints.

Storer said Considine should be able by July to show the noise is contained or will be ready to move.

Strongest complaint against the Lion's Share came from neighbor Charlotte Alvarez, who has complained several times to police about the noise. Until two weeks ago the noise was "almost unbearable," Mrs. Alvarez said.

BLASTS OWNER

She said police had frequently asked Considine to lower the volume, but she accused him of turning it back up as soon as the police left.

Considine denied that. "We aren't going to jeopardize our business" by defying police, he said.

Considine presented a petition in support of the Lion's Share signed by 180 persons, including over 100 Sausalito residents.

The restaurant drew praise from parents, Tamalpais High School student body president Chris Harris, an official of the San Francisco Folk Music Club and 10 or 12 other persons.

Mrs. Alvarez and one other Sausalito woman were the only persons speaking against the permit.

Canada Taking Look At Share of NORAD Plan

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government is considering whether to increase its forces assigned to the North American Defense Command, decrease them or pull out of NORAD, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau told the House of Commons yesterday.

Trudeau said Canada's part in the command, in which it the junior partner to the United States, is "indirectly" included in a government review of foreign and defense policy now being made.

If Canada decides to contribute nothing to the joint U.S.-Canada command, established in 1958 with headquarters in Colorado, the agreement would become defunct, he said.

If Canada decreases its commitment but does not eliminate it, Trudeau continued, the NORAD agreement can exist with "very little arms from one side or the other."

Visitors to the Virgin Islands National Park "hike" one of its paths in swimming trunks, mask and flippers.

Teen Center Boosted With Council Funds

The Sausalito City Council last night boosted a Sausalito teen center by approving $220 a month for a part-time recreation director and $500 for any needed building repairs at a teen center, despite complaints by Councilman Robin Sweeney that the church property now used is "an abomination" and unsafe for teen-agers to be in.

Mrs. Sweeney said the former Star of the Sea Catholic Church building has a leaky roof and holes in the floor "you can stick your leg through," and said another building should be found.

Attorney Douglas P. Ferguson, who has worked with the teen group, said he had sought another building with no success. He warned that tying approval to another building would kill the momentum and enthusiasm the teen group has built up.

The council voted 4-1, Mrs. Sweeney dissenting, for the recreation director, following the recommendation of the recreation commission read at a meeting Saturday with members of the Sausalito Teen Club.

The director would work up to 25 hours a week for $220 a month for the rest of the fiscal year.

Constitution Talk

The work of the California Constitution Revision Commission will be discussed by the commission's counsel, Allen Jensen, at a public luncheon to be held by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin at noon Tuesday at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, San Rafael. Baby sitting will be provided.

Bridgeway Project Changes Approved For Cost Lowering

The Sausalito City Council last night approved changes in Phase II of the Bridgeway widening project which it hopes will bring costs into line with estimates, an authorized city engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger to seek new bids for the project.

Bids opened Nov. 7 were double to triple the $150,000 estimate.

Changes Wohlschlaeger proposed last night would eliminate the seawall and substitute a wider sidewalk on the bayward side of the project. Former bids on the seawall were $160,000 and up.

The new plan proposes a sidewalk between the city pier and Richardson Street of concrete or gravel, and a median street strip of patterned concrete or washed concrete. The alternatives of gravel and washed concrete may produce lower bids, Wohlschlaeger said. The sidewalk north of the city pier will be concrete as planned before.

The seawall was a concrete wave splash barrier. Rock riprap already in place is the actual seawall.

The Sausalito City Council also:

TRIDENT — Set a Dec. 3 hearing for a proposal by Peter Wells of the Trident to cover 35 per cent of the restaurant's deck.

VARIANCE — Approved a variance sought by MOD development for an extension of a roof line at 42 Bulkley Avenue which is six feet higher than allowed in the district.

HEARINGS — Set Dec. 3 hearings for use permits sought by Ralph P. Gomez for property in Marina Vista subdivision and Loyal Davis for property on Lincoln Drive.

CURFEW — Told city staff to prepare an amendment of the city's juvenile curfew from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. to conform with curfew in the rest of the county.

CAAB — Accepted resignation of Theodore T. Bountmy from the Community Appearance Advisory Board effective when a replacement is named.

REAPPOINTMENT — Reappointed John C. Campbell and Mrs. Sanford Autumn to new one-year terms on the CAAB.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Dec. 3 in memory of Mrs. Charlotte Gallagher Mork, Sausalito resident since 1902 and former employee of Sausalito Savings and Loan, who died Friday.

Church Is Looted

A wooden gavel and church seal were stolen from the Christian Science Church, 290 Corte Madera Avenue, between Sunday and yesterday, Mill Valley police reported.

In 1815 Napoleon was exiled to St. Helena. To forestall any rescue attempt, the British based a naval garrison on Ascension Island, 800 miles away, and regularly patrolled the neighboring waters.

Sonoma Request Made For Coastline Study

I- JSpecial Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard a request that a commission be formed to study access to and development of the county coastline.

Richard Day, attorney for Citizens Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands, presented a resolution that would establish such a commission. The supervisors advised him to present the proposal to the Sonoma County Parks and Recreation Department for study and recommendations.

The organization had supported Proposition B to establish access corridors to the coast, which failed on the Nov. 4 Sonoma County ballot.

Dr. William Kortum, leader of the organization, said the proposed commission should have the responsibility for developing recreation and access to the coast and should serve as an advisory body to the board of supervisors.

Motorcycle Rider Suffers Broken Arm

Thomas Blair Estes, 36, of 515 Arlington Circle, San Rafael, was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael yesterday for a broken left arm and scrapes suffered when his motorcycle hit a car in jammed commute traffic in Lucas Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The accident occurred at 8:28 a.m., the highway patrol said, on Highway 101 north of the Lucas Valley crossing when traffic slowed for accidents ahead and Estes hit the rear of a car driven by Dr. Charles C. Canada, 60, of Napa, and was thrown onto the center divider.

Father Admits Buying His Teens Marijuana

FREMONT (UPI) — Police said today they were investigating the activities of a college psychologist who supplied his teen-age children with marijuana rather than have them deal with drug peddlers.

Although he is personally opposed to the use of marijuana, police said, Dr. Pete Wilson, 39, purchased the drug for his children Bill, 17, and Cynthia, 15, because he did not want them to deal directly with sellers.

Because he had second thoughts about his involvement, Wilson told police, he cut off his children's supply about a month ago and put a sign on the front door reading, "No dopers allowed." They, however, continued to use the drug.

Wilson finally called police last Saturday, said his children were incorrigible and asked that they be taken into custody. Both are students at Mission San San Jose High School in Fremont.

Dr. Stephen Epler, president of Ohlone Junior College in Fremont, where Wilson is an instructor in psychology, said he has asked for a full report on Wilson's involvement in purchasing marijuana.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana

Wade George Gibson, 19, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court today to a charge that he possessed marijuana Feb. 29 in Sausalito.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino dismissed additional charges that he resisted arrest and possessed a syringe that day.

Gibson's case was continued until Dec. 18 for sentencing.

Reed Board Pares New School Plans

Revisions in bids and the construction schedule for Reedland Woods School to keep costs within $1,250,000 budget were ordered last night by the Reed School District board, according to Asst. Supt. William G. Vanasen.

Vanasen said the board ordered the academic and unified arts building of the new middle school to be incorporated into one base bid with separate additional bids prepared for the administrative and physical education-music buildings.

In addition, the board asked architect Ron D. Young of Santa Clara to delete music practice rooms, instrument storage areas and shower and gym locker facilities in the physical education building, Vanasen said.

The board originally had hoped to construct the 68,000-square-foot school as one unit. However, escalating construction costs and unexpected expenses in the site preparation prompted the revisions.

Vanasen said the site preparation costs are estimated to exceed the $160,000 budget by $50,000. In addition, he noted, building costs have increased from $16 to $17.50 a square foot.

The school, which eventually will house 720 sixth to eighth grade students, is expected to be ready for partial occupancy by September 1969 and completed by December 1969.

The board also accepted the resignations of Susan Davis, primary teacher at Granada School and Judy Wheatley, a teacher on the Del Mar School middle school team. Mrs. Wheatley is being transferred to Sacramento and Miss Davis resigned for health reasons, Vanasen said.

Hub's School Board Eying Building Need

The San Anselmo School District board last night scheduled an informal meeting for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 in the Red Hill School library to discuss means of meeting school building needs.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said several persons who have worked for district interests in the past will be invited, and the group will consider the possibility of naming a citizens' committee for building recommendations.

He said that in light of the June 4 primary defeat of the district's $510,000 bond issue, the feasibility of setting a new bond election or requesting taxpayer approval of a higher tax rate to raise needed funds will be considered.

The bond issue would have provided funds for a six-classroom unit at Red Hill School, a multi-purpose structure for teaching, music training and physical education at Hidden Valley School, and correction of drainage problems at Sleepy Hollow School.

In other action last night, board president Pieter Toal named board members Cornelia Busse and Robert W. Corlett to represent the board on a joint school-City of San Anselmo committee to discuss mutual items of interest.

Members of an 11-member budget advisory committee for the district also were named. They are James E. French, Nancy Philie and Caryl Kurtzman, all district teachers; Richard B. Connell, Hidden Valley School principal; Patrick A. O'Donnell, director of instruction for the district; and two citizens, Herbert West of 120 Crescent Road and William Christy, 1306 San Anselmo Avenue.

A third citizen will be named later.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

LETTER — Took under study a suggestion by Mrs. C. D. McBride of 25 Tappan Road to erect a stop sign at the northeast intersection of Van Winkle Drive and Perry Street near the Sleepy Hollow School.

LIBRARY — Authorized Parodi to withdraw the district from the Marin County schools libary services effective July 1.

PERSONNEL — Accepted the resignation of Beverly Zirpoli as part-time secretary in the district's curriculum office and appointed Margaret Framm to replace her at a monthly salary of $307. The board also hired two teacher aides for educationally handicapped classes at $180 each monthly.

Marin Population Of 375,000 Is Forecast By '85

A federal economist predicted today at a conference in the Marin Civic Center that Marin would have a population of 375,000 by 1985.

The current estimated population of the county s 205,000.

L. T. Wallace, senior staff economist in the Office of the President in Washington, D.C., spoke at a conference of about 100 officials from Marin, Lake, Mendocino, Napa and Sonoma counties sponsored by the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

Wallace projected the Sonoma County population in 1985 at 297,000.

Fair-Marin In Role Of Board's Scapegoat

On page 25 of last Friday's Independent-Journal appeared a story that began: "Fair-Marin directors, who will operate the county fairgrounds site at the Civic Center, agreed last night that they need more autonomy in planning and scheduling than the county administrator recommends."

On page 7 of the same issue appeared a story from Sacramento that began: "The Cal Expo executive committee voted today to ask Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature for money to operate next year."

THERE IS MORE than casual similarity here. Cal Expo and Fair-Marin were both set up as non-profit corporations, the first to operate a continuing exhibit to replace or agument the state fair, the second to operate county fairgrounds and auditorium on a year-around basis.

The woes of Cal-Expo are now well known. It is a non-profit operation all right -- too much so. It wound up its first year with a whopping deficit, and it appears very doubtful that it will operate at all next year.

It is unrealistic to suppose that Fair-Marin can attract enough paying events to auditorium and fairgrounds to make them self-supporting, at least for some years to come.

Cal-Expo directors were not hogtied in their function. Fair-Marin directors have that additional handicap. The county administrator, who dreamed up the non-profit corporation idea for the fairgrounds in the first place, now wants to give directions to the corporation's directors.

THE "NON-PROFIT corporation" is a favorite device these days. Actually, however, it is functional only if it can really return profit. What would be the profit can then be used to expand the operation, or — in the case of a corporation set up by state or county — returned to the public coffer whence came the money for the facility in the first place.

When the people of Marin County authorized bonds to build Civic Center and fairgrounds, they did so not in the idea that they were creating a corporation, but in the belief that such facilities are for the public good. They did not look for profit, although of course they did hope for economical operation.

The non-profit corporation, therefore, seems to serve but one purpose: to provide a scapegoat for the elected officials and their hired administrators.

If costs of fairgrounds and auditorium appear excessive, the board of supervisors (and its hired administrator) can blame their creature, Fair-Marin.

MOREOVER, the very nature of the organization is contradictory to its purpose. Although it was set up to operate fairgrounds and auditorium for the good of all, its directors were chosen from special purpose groups seeking to promote their own special uses of those facilities. It thus has a built-in conflict of interests.

In addition to these handicaps, there is another. The county parks and recreation commission is charged with direction of recreational activities on county property. But it was by-passed completely in creating Fair-Marin. It is not even represented on the board.

The board of supervisors should accept responsibility for the fairgrounds and auditorium. There is no need for a non-profit corporation. What is needed is county direction, by those elected — and paid — to do the job.

Former Gov. Pat Brown has disclosed he is thinking about running again two years hence. That's just what we don't need in 1970: another Hobson's choice between Brown and Reagan.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Finch In Enviable Position To Decide Upon Own Future

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Biggest guessing game around the state capitol these days concerns the future of Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, the "right-hand" man of President-elect Richard Nixon, who is in the enviable position of being able to call his own shots on what he wants for the future.

Apparently, one guess is as good as another, because Finch himself isn't certain at the moment as to just which shot he will call.

SHOULD THE lieutenant governor decide to dump his prospects in California down the drain and strike out for wider fields in Washington, the assumption is that he can have virtually any job he selects. Already, he has ruled out a post as White House aide to the president, and attorney general. But there still remain cabinet posts and other appointments which would fit a man of his caliber.

Should Finch decide to remain in California as lieutenant governor, he takes a gamble on winning one of the two choicest and most influential political posts in the country: (1) U. S. senator from California; (2) the governorship of California.

THE GOSSIP has it that Sen. George Murphy will either retire or not seek re-election. Should this occur, it puts Finch in the top position to be his successor —depending eventually, of course, on the temper of the electorate.

And, should Gov. Ronald Reagan decide not to seek a second term, Finch is his logical successor. At the moment, this is a far out supposition, as all indications point to Reagan as a candidate to succeed himself in 1970.

However, events next year could change this picture. It's a known fact the Democrats would rather see Reagan the gubernatorial candidate than Finch. It's much easier to attack the record of an incumbent than a candidate who is fresh on the scene. Whether Reagan's record could withstand a Democratic onslaught, which is expected to begin with the opening of the 1969 Legislature, is open to question.

Up to the time of Earl Warren, two-term governors in California were virtually nonexistent. And although Warren made it three times and Pat Brown twice, the state could return to its old policy of one term for its chief executive.

FORTUNATELY, Finch is confronted with no Hobson's choice as to his future. Rather, his choice is one which was defined by Julius Caesar centrues ago when the great Roman, according to Francis Bacon, "made no scruple to profess 'that he had rather be first in a village than second at Rome."

Quite obviously, Finch in Washington would be a "second man," a not inconsiderable position these days, as times have changed since Caesar made his long-remembered observation.

On the other hand, Finch in California gambles on being "a first man" either as a potential U. S. senator or governor, without being lost in the shuffle of national politics.

STILL FLICKERING

Principal On Role Of English Classes

Mr. (Bryce W.) Anderson's column in the Nov. 13 issue of the Independent-Journal concerned "a story in a recent issue of a student newspaper in a San Francisco Bay Area high school."

Since I am intimately acquainted with the high school which Mr Anderson had in mind, I would like to comment on the contents of his article.

Apparently, Mr. Anderson believes that senior English should concern itself exclusively with reading good literature and studying the rules of grammar. Other matters, such as racial prejudice, should be left to other departments; in his case probably social sciences. He cites as proof of this that in the same school paper there was evidence of the students' inability to use the English language properly. . . .

First of all, I would like to agree entirely with Mr. Anderson in his concern over the incompetence apparent in that particular edition of our school paper. If anything, he was kind to us in his criticism. . . . The adviser and student editors are fully aware of the quality of their product. In this case, they made themselves, and the entire school, look bad by this publication.

There are only two statements I can make in their defense: (1) they are student journalists who are learning, so they are expected to make mistakes, and (2) they really know better. Their errors are due to indolence, rather than ignorance, and they still will make a greater effort in the future to improve.

Whereas, I certainly agree with Mr. Anderson in his appraisal of that issue of our school paper, I couldn't disagree with him more in his opinion about what should be taught in high school English. Let me cite a few facts:

1. Proper language usage is all teachers' business in every class we teach in every grade from kindergarten through Grade 12. Youngsters learn good English (or bad, unfortunately) many, many places other than their English classes. The home is probably the most important learning agency of all.

2. In school, proper language usage begins in kindergarten and is a continuous process. Formal spelling begins in Grade 1. Formal punctuation instruction (including the forming of possessive nouns) in Grade 2.

3. The most capable experts in curriculum (Will French and Edward Krug, to mention two), through extensive research, have concluded that a unified approach to learning — integrating subject areas — is superior to a strictly compartmentized method. Consequently, we urge our teachers to employ an interdisciplinary strategy in teaching, exactly as that senior English class teacher was attempting to do.

No Right To Knock English Class Poll

I think that Bryce W. Anderson had no right in knocking the polls taken by the 12th grade English class. The topic of discussion was black-white power which prompted us to do a survey. English doesn't confine itself to just grammar, vocabulary, and spelling, but it's a broader subject than these. This might relate minutely to social studies, but these things are really learned in an English class. The various topics make our class quite a bit more interesting than doing everything by the book. Anyway, a student should know grammar and spelling by the time he reaches 12th grade. Mr. Anderson, how many words do you misspell? How many puctuation errors do you make? Not even the smartest English professor at a well-known college could conduct the survey like we did without making mistakes. Our English teacher shouldn't be put down because six of us did the survey without his supervision. More students and teachers should be aware of how situations really are. We felt this was the best way to get our point across.

(Editor's note: The letter obviously refers to "The People's Schools" column of Nov. 13, which discussed local and state course mandates and used a survey of racial bias opinions by an English class as an example that course titles may be meaningless. Because this was used merely as an example of widespread practices, the school and teacher were not identified. Miss Billips, however, has correctly recognized the school and class.)

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Growing Rapport With Nixon; Advisory Role For Ex-President?

WASHINGTON — The most fascinating and important development today is the evolving relationship — close, comfortable and trusted — between President Johnson and President-elect Nixon.

This is the foundation of the Nixon-Johnson compact to make joint decisions on crucial foreign policy matters from here to Jan. 20.

This compact isn't just a nice procedure. Without it the United States would be paralyzed in vital areas of foreign policy action.

THIS REMARKABLE rapport began during the campaign and has been steadily expanding.

Each has contributed and it was deliberate, not accidental.

Those who have talked with both men know that it stems directly and primarily from their substantially common views on Vietnam and the need for extreme care and responsibility in dealing with the peace talks in the heat and scuffle of the campaign.

Mr. Johnson frankly feels that Nixon contributed incalculably to helping him reach the agreement with Hanoi which made the bombing halt possible and which brings further negotiations within reach.

Nixon feels that the President played fair with him all through the campaign and that LBJ purposely refrained from personal attacks in the few political speeches he delivered.

Both were looking to the future — and now they are profoundly gratified they did.

THE PRESIDENT believes that Nixon won in considerable part because of his consistent and credible stand on Vietnam and he does not hesitate to give Nixon large credit for his unbroken responsibility all through the campaigning.

LBJ thinks that many voters turned to Nixon because of the sureness of his position on Vietnam and his determination not to say or do anything which could be used by Hanoi or anyone else to disturb the delicate negotiations.

I have never heard the President say a critical word about Vice President Humphrey's campaign, especially with reference to Vietnam. But it seems to me Mr. Johnson must feel that Humphrey hurt the negotiations and left the voters uncertain about where he stood by his statements that he would take the risk of ending the bombing without any assured response from Hanoi.

This is deduction, but I feel sure it is valid. It should be added at once that LBJ believes the dissident Democratic liberals made it unbearably difficult for Humphrey and so shattered the party by their arrogant "rule-or-ruin" tactics as to make winning next to impossible.

THE GOOD WILL and personal regard which Johnson and Nixon have for each other contribute greatly to their working together effectively during the transition. There is more. Each wants to see something near to a compulsory precedent which will govern future transitions between Presidents.

The Nixon-Johnson consultations are increasingly frequent; they have already been on the telephone with each other several times and LBJ wants to do his part in making Nixon the best prepared President-elect the nation has ever had. Mr. Johnson's patriotism overrides partisanship because his view is that if the United States has to have a Republican as President, LBJ wants to see him succeed as President.

Especially in foreign policy, President Johnson does not intend to heckle Nixon from the sidelines. LBJ looks upon General Eisenhower as the very model of an ex-President's relations to the White House and he has confided t[illegible] that, apart from his c[illegible] aides — like Dean Rusk, [illegible]rt McNamara, Walt R[illegible]w and members of his cabinet — he feels that Ike has given him the mose help, the wisest advice and the strongest encouragement he has received throughout his six years in the presidency. He would like to do the same to Nixon.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

In Showdown, Congress Will Wield The Power

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON —Top contressional leaders are telling themselves that one result of the Nov. 5 elections was to check, and perhaps even reverse, the slow seepage of power from Congress to the President.

Three years hence this veiw may seem to have been clouded by wishful thinking. House and Senate leaders have confidently deluded themselves before in the historic tug-of-war between the capitol and the White House.

For the present, however, legislative leaders believe there has been a real change in the power balance between the President and Congress. They think the change goes beyond the purely partison curb of a Democratic Congress on a Republican President.

Leaders in both parites think President Nixon will have to work with Congress, not manipulate it as President Johnson did in his early years as President. They think Nixon is well aware of this inhibition.

In Nixon's appointment of Bryce Harlow to manage legislative affairs they see a determination by the President-elect to cooperate with a congressional partner. Harlow, a 52-year-old alumnus of the Eisenhower Administration, is respected by leaders of both parties.

CONGRESSIONAL leaders in both parties know that the purely partisan restraints imposed on Nixon by this new Democratic Congress will bind very lightly.

On many issues the new President will be able to override party lines without Johnsonian pressures. Especially in the House, Nixon will often be able to find enough conservative Democrats to join his Republicans in a working majority.

The view that the power balance has shifted is not confined to Democratic leaders. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., is one GOP strategist who has spoken to friends of a "transition" in power brought about by the elections.

LOOKING AHEAD, it would appear that Nixon's problems with Congress will frequently develop on matters of timing and technique. On issues of when to act Democratic leaders can usually command the party-line support of all their members.

There have been hints of trouble, already — trouble with respect to Nixon's views, on delaying the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and his support for tax-credits as a technique to get business into programs heretofore conducted — and financed — by government.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., opposes further delay in Senate approval of the non-proliferation treaty. If Mansfield formally asks the Senate to act and Nixon urges further delay, history suggests that the Democratic leader's timing will prevail.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, dislikes tax credits and the kind of incentive programs which they produce. If Nixon persists, he may find that programs involving tax credits are sharply altered in the House.

Sport Of Trial-Watching Declines, Which Is Too Bad For America

The grand old American sport of trial watching seems to be on the decline.

There have been only a handful of spectators this year at the murder trials of Joaquin Herrera, Johnnie Sommerhalder and the joint trial of John Arceo and Dennis Novotny.

There may be more room when the courts move to the Civic Center next year, but there will be even fewer spectators unless Terra Linda and Marinwood have a lot of residents with time on their hands.

There are always crowds in municipal court, but they are all defendants or lawyers — there is rarely room for spectators.

Most people simply haven't time to attend a trial any more, and senior citizens are busy with other things —golfing, television, or puttering.

IT IS A SHAME, really, because watching a trial unfold is a valuable lesson in the way our system works. No one should start complaining about our courts and their decisions until he has seen them firsthand.

Instead of court watchers, these days we have council watchers. Each of Marin's city and town councils has a small group of spectators who turn out for every meeting.

A few that come to mind are Mrs. Dollahite in Fairfax, Manny Gomez in Mill Valley, Carl Spring in Sausalito and Nan Hepp with the Mill Valley School District Board.

They help to keep board members on their toes, an uncomfortable but salutary position.

ATTORNEYS in the Arceo-Novotny trial estimated it would last six to seven weeks, but don't count on it taking that long. Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating has shifted his other duties so the trial can proceed five days a week, and is starting the trial day half an hour early at 9:30 a.m.

He has also lit a fire under the attorneys. Neither side is likely to shilly-shally after the roasting Keating gave Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas last week when Thomas asked a few minutes' delay to produce some prosecution exhibits.

Keating has been patient when an attorney needed time to frame a question or a witness to answer one, but he is not suffering any delay from lack of preparation.

The jury won't have to miss Christmas dinner at home.

ONE OF THE entertaining sights around the courthouse is the appearance and disappearance of facial hair on the premises. Not among defendants, although there are many long-haired young people among that group.

Half the attorneys appearing for the daily municipal court calendar have been sporting sideburns of varying length and elegance, and a few have sprouted mustaches as well. It may be a form of identification with their younger clients.

Somewhat undecided was Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael J. Anthony, who in a few weeks grew sideburns, then added a mustache, then shaved off the lot. But not on orders from the boss, apparently. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales is now wearing a military-looking mustache he brought back from vacation.

The sideburns do look rather un-establishment, which could hinder a rising young lawyer. They might consider the example of Wallace S. Myers, who among other things is Fairfax city attorney. Myers manages to combine long hair and an establishment look with a luxuriant head of hair that looks the way Sen. Everett Dirksen's would if he had a good barber.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Rule Of Law Ignored In Campus Appeasement

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

"Government of laws and not of men" is a principle of the American system that seems to be widely ignored in the wave of uprisings which have closed and disrupted California colleges and high schools.

Administrators of schools swept by revolt have attempted to deal with the disruptions through what they call "established procedures." When these procedures broke down, they have as last resort called in the police. After the police have hauled off a few of the most abusive of the campus hell-raisers, the school officials have fallen back on the same procedures that had failed previously.

The tultimate disciplinary means placed in the hands of school administrations are expulsion of students and dismissal of teachers. To do either, the schools need the backing of the courts. A series of recent court decisions indicates that they have it.

LAST YEAR, University of California expelled several students for participating in "filthy speech rallies" on the Berkeley campus. Some of those expelled filed suit, contending their right of free speech under the First Amendment had been violated.

The case (Goldberg vs. University of California Regents) was carried to the District Court of Appeal. That court not only upheld the expulsions, but in doing so commented:

"Association with an educational institution as a student requires certain minimum standards of propriety in conduct to insure that the educational functions of the institution can be pursued in an orderly and reasonable manner. . . . Conduct involving rowidness, rioting, the destruction of property, the reckless display of impropriety or any unjustifiable disturbance of the public order on or off campus is indefensible."

The court indicated that the same restriction would apply to faculty members by commenting that the privilege of attending a state university was somewhat analogous to the privilege of holding public employment.

IN ZANDERS vs. Louisiana State Board of Education, the U. S. District Court for the Western District of Louisiana upheld expulsion of 29 students from a state college for participating in a demonstration to block the college admission building. In doing so, the court ruled that neither the freedom of speech clause nor the equal protection clause of the United States Constitution licensed the students in such activity.

In Buttny vs. Smiley, the U. S. District Court for Colorado upheld suspension of University of Colorado students for preventing armed forces recruiters, university officials, and other students from entering the University Placement Bureau.

Punishment of the students for this was not a denial of their right of political expression, the court ruled. Purposely aggressive "civil disobedience" is not free speech, it held.

AS FOR TEACHERS, the California Education Code sets forth that a teacher may lose his teaching credential for unprofessional conduct, and includes within that (1) leaving the school during the time he is employed to teach, without consent of the trustees, and (2) profanity. These two alone would cover most of the cases of faculty members who have participated in student revolts and joined picket lines or demonstrations when they were supposed to be teaching.

Much of the reluctance of school authorities to take such measures has been predicated on the contention that to do so might interfere with academic freedom. A difference view of this was expressed by a California jurist, Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin County Municipal Court, in an address last week at an American Civil Liberties Union forum. Said the judge:

"Submission to force and violence in the name of compassion and patience has already had an insidious and destructive effect upon our educational system at all levels. . . . The continued appeasement of this small group poses the single most immediate threat to academic freedom."

The courts, it appears, stand ready to help save the schools. But those charged with running the schools are curiously reluctant to invite that help.

Fairfax Votes Clerk $150 Raise, Wrestles Administrator Issue

By JOANNE GRANT

Fairfax City Council, refusing to believe City Clerk Frances Lestanguet's resignation as interim city administrator, last night voted unanimously to pay her $150 a month more for the extra duties.

The raise is a temporary measure — good until the council and city office personnel make a study on the work involved and the time it takes.

Mayor Robert R. Souza appointed himself and Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson to make the study and report back in January.

Mrs. Lestanguet had been receiving $100 a month in addition to her clerk's salary of $643 for extra work caused by the resignation of City Administrator David J. Sumbardo and the council's subsequent decision not to hire another administrator.

RAISES ASKED

The money was paid under a 90-day ordinance which expired Oct. 1. After that Mrs. Lestanguet asked for more money and the subject was on the agenda three times.

Last week, when the council again failed to act on her request, Mrs. Lestanguet resigned as interim city administrator. Mayor Souza said last night he believed the resignation was made emotionally, that Mrs. Lestanguet hadn't really meant it.

The decision to grant the extra pay, retroactive to Oct. 1, followed another lengthy discussion in the city's continuing controversy on the form of government.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell who has steadfastly opposed an administrator admitted that an administrator can do things to save money but maintained, "There aren't enough day-to-day things a city administrator can do."

'LEFT ALONE'

He said Fairfax doesn't want a lot of projects. "They want to be left alone as long as they can," he said.

Mrs. Wilson disagreed, noting people complain if their streets aren't paved and other items taken care of properly. "They do expect things to go along," she said.

She listed more than a dozen things a city administrator would do, such as speak for Fairfax to the county, the Urban Thoroughfare Committee and other organizations, update major ordinances, gather information to assist the council, work to get a branch library in Fairfax and others.

"We have to decide what we want to forget," Mrs. Wilson said, "and what we will do." She noted, "we're being paid now and so far we haven't done very much."

Mayor Souza asked Mrs. Lestanguet if she could accomplish some of the things Mrs. Wilson named, plus the things she knows a city administrator must do, if she were given additional staff.

"The necessary things that have to be done can be done," she replied, but added "All these extra things that you're talking about cannot be."

Councilman Frank J. Egger commented that the city has no administrator or engineer but the tax rate is still the same. "We talk about saving money," he said.

Joseph Walla of 175 Cascade Drive pointed out that council salaries, plus $250 a month for Mrs. Lestanguet (the amount recommended by the council personnel committee), plus an extra clerk, were getting costs back up to the administrator level without a professional.

"I think we should go out and recruit a city administrator," he said firmly.

Mayor Souza indicated he would rather wait until after the Dec. 7 Congress for Community Progress before taking another vote on whether to have an administrator.

The council took no action on the second part of the personnel committee report which involved Mrs. Dell Blodgett, who had been Sumbardo's secretary.

The report recommended eliminating the administrative secretary post and replacing it with a general office clerk position at more than $100 a month less.

Mrs. Blodgett, in a series of memos to the council, protested the reduction and said "it would indicate a strong hint for me to remove myself from the position."

Flexibility In Development Of Fairfax Is Discussed

An ordinance which would allow flexibility in the development of Fairfax was reviewed last night in a study session of the Fairfax City Council and Planning Commission.

The zoning ordinance is being developed in conjunction with the city's general plan by Marin County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill.

Cordill outlined some of the changes in the ordinance last night, pointing out that it proposes use permits instead of the city's current variance procedure.

The change, he explained, would make special uses a part of the deed. Variances are not recorded.

He said Fairfax currently has four zones while the new ordinance proposes 10 and includes several sections which would allow the city latitude in future development.

Several accessory ordinances are incorporated into the proposal such as the city's slope policy, he said.

"It is opening the door to some planning decisions by the city which haven't been available before," Cordill said.

Several more study sessions are expected on the proposed ordinance before it comes to the council for approval.

The Fairfax City Council also:

DEER PARK — Mayor Robert R. Souza appointed Councilman Frank J. Egger and Cornelis Van Vliet to investigate the possibility of buying a small portion of Deer Park for development as a city park.

FIRE MAIN — Authorized spending $5,600 as the city's share of replacing a water main on Forrest Avenue.

FIRE TRUCK — Approved a request from Fire Chief Charles Thornton to begin plans and specifications for a new fire truck.

INCREASE — Agreed to have a study made on the city's cost of granting a cost-of-living increase to retired employees.

Judge Must Decide Real Sticky Puzzler

LONDON (UPI)—It was a sticky problem for Judge John Cross. He was asked to rule on whether candy-covered apples are fruit or candy.

After hearing testimony from candied apple makers and from customs and excise commissioners, Judge Cross reserved decision.

Learning-Sharing Speaker Slated

James Allen, Del Mar School teacher, will speak on "Learning and Sharing" to the youth ministry of the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon at 6 p.m. tomorrow in the church auditorium. The supper meeting will end at 7:30 p.m.

The youth ministry is open to sixth-eighth grade students from the Tiburon Peninsula area. The group is led by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson of San Francisco Theological Seminary and Rev. Frank S. Evans and meets every other Thursday.

Future meetings are scheduled for Dec. 5 and 19 and a trip to the ice capades in planned for Sunday.

Mayors, Councilmen To Hear Span Chief

Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, will speak to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at 7:30 p.m. today at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

The council also will consider changing the bylaws to create an executive committee to discuss business between dinner meetings. At the last meeting, some councilmen questioned the effectiveness of the dinner sessions, especially since they are preceded by a cocktail hour.

Army Reports Trouble In Presidio Stockade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Several alleged suicide attempts including a hanging, have been reported among 27 soldiers at the Presidio facing possible mutiny charges for refusing to obey orders.

The 27 prisoners staged a sit-in and refused to obey any orders Oct. 14. They were protesting the fatal shooting three days earlier of a fellow prisoner attempting to escape from a work detail. The prisoner was shot by a guard after refusing orders to halt.

Pre-trial hearings have been underway two weeks to determine whether the men should be tried on mutiny charges. The hearings are expected to last several weeks.

Among the men facing charges is Keith Mather, 21, of San Bruno, one of the nine servicemen who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar demonstration in a Marin City church last summer.

Mather is in the stockade awaiting review of his sentence after a court martial which found him guilty of desertion and disobedience of a lawful order. He has been sentenced to four years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge.

An Army spokesman said today, "it was indicated in the course of the pre-trial investigations that there were some instances of alleged attempted suicide."

"One prisoner was hospitalized overnight because he undertook to drink medicated shampoo prescribed by a doctor for treatment of dandruff. His stomach was pumped and he was released," the spokesman said.

"Another prisoner wrapped trousers around himself and attempted to hang himself but he never lost consciousness."

Speaking of attempted suicides and hangings, the spokesman said: "These things are very common to all confinement facilities — both military and civilian."

After the pre-trial investigations are completed, the spokesman said, the investigating officer will recommend to the commanding officer at the Presidio whether the prisoners should be tried for mutiny.

If the mutiny charge is recommended and the commanding officer agrees, the spokesman said, the cases would be referred to the commanding general of the Sixth Army at the Presidio.

"He makes the final determination for trial," he said.

No Wedding Bells

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—Carlos Cantera Artagaveytia, 20, saw $2,000 lying on the car seat of an Argentine tourist and picked it up, envisioning his chance to marry and set up a hairdresser shop with his future bride. Police became suspicious of his sudden prosperity and arrested him only hours before the scheduled wedding.

High School Students Get Role In Recreation Plans

San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools will send representatives to the next meeting of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission to discuss forming committees at each school to help plan teen recreation activities.

Ronald Koller of the city recreation department has met with students of both schools inviting each to send two representatives to the meeting at 8 p.m. Dec. 4 at city hall.

The date is a change from the regularly scheduled fourth Wednesday of the month because of Thanksgiving Day.

Koller said each school would be asked to form a committee consisting of two members from each class. The committees would work separately on needs at the individual schools and together on common problems, he said.

Terra Linda will send seniors Kathy Strachan and Claudette Sherbet. San Rafael's representatives are expected to be chosen tomorrow.

The student representatives were requested by the commission at its last meeting. Members also discussed the possibility of appointing a young person to the commission but took no action on the proposal.

C. Norman Stroyd is president of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Bridge Eloquence Can Produce Lots Of Misery

After measuring partnership discussions and results at the bridge table, mathematicians have discovered that elequence equals misery times the square of confusion. In mathematical lingo this is expressed as Equals MC2 square, but in ordinary English we would say: the louder the partner, the worse the results. As usual we have a bridge hand to prove all of this.

WITH ACE

East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and shifted to the king of hearts. When West played the encouraging six, East continued with the queen of hearts. West completed his signal by playing the deuce of hearts and then waited for his partner to lead a third heart. West is still waiting.

East switched back to clubs, whereupon South won, drew trumps and claimed the rest of the tricks as though reprieved while the rope was already about his neck.

AN OVERTAKE?

"Why couldn't you overtake the queen of hearts with the ace?" East demanded. "Then you could lead a third heart, and I'd ruff to beat this silly contract."

"How coul I tell you had only two hearts?" West wailed. "If you held three hearts, overtaking with the ace would be the only way to give him the contract."

ARGUMENT CONTINUES

East continued his complaints, and West defended himself bitterly, thus producing misery and confusion. (Science never fails, after all.) Nobody saw that East might have saved the partnership by proper play of the hearts.

At the second trick East should lead the queen rather than the king of hearts. When this wins, East continues with the king of hearts. This reversal of the normal play in hearts should wake West up to the fact that something requires his attention.

If West is really alert he may reason that East would play the hearts normally if he had K-Q-z; and he may therefore overtake the second heart with the ace to lead a third heart.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—8 3 2
♥—K Q
♦—10 5 3
♣—A 8 7 4 3.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one no trump.

Do not raise partner with only two-card support for his suit.

An Old Festival

BENTON, Ky. (UPI)—This town has been the home of the annual "Big Singing Day," a Welsh folk festival, since 1884.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 20, the 325th day of 1968 with 41 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1937 Chungking was established as the war time capital of China.

In 1945 24 top German leaders went on trial at Nuremberg before the International War Crimes Tribunal.

In 1947 Princess Elizabeth of England married Philip Mountbatten.

In 1964 newspaper executive Roy Howard died in New York City at the age of 81.

A thought for the day: Scottish essayist Thomas Carlyle said, "Music is well said to be the speech of angels."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Intestinal Surgery Sometimes An Answer To Extreme Obesity

VAN DELLEN

Surgery for extreme obesity does not involve cutting away fat. It is an operation in which the last half of the small intestine is bypassed so as to lessen the area where certain foods are absorbed.

Tubby stuffs himself as always, but only half of the food reaches his tissues. The remainder is eliminated as waste. The good results stem from marked interference with fat absorption.

THIS DRASTIC procedure is recommended only in intractable obesity. It is not advised when overeating is on a psychological basis.

Candidates are otherwise healthy and under 40 years of age. The operation is a standard procedure and has been done by suregons in many parts of the country. All persons so treated lost considerable weight.

Diarrhea, a troublesome side effect, usually subsides within 6 to 12 months.

ONE MAN lost 121 of his 320 pounds in nine months; but the bowel had to be re-attached, because he developed a turbulent personality and was depressed.

More than a year ago we told of a similar operation to lower blood cholesterol levels. It is in this part of the bowel that the cholesterol in food and in bile is absorbed. Again we must stress that resection is drastic treatment.

Cholestyramine, a new anticholesterol drug, also prevents absorption of cholesterol-rich bile. There is some evidence that this experimental product might affect utilization of other food elements.

OPERATIONS of these types are examples of manmade malabsorption syndrome. There are many hereditary and acquired diseases involving impaired absorption.

In some, food is absorbed but not carried to the tissues and not altered sufficiently to be utilized. When fat is not absorbed, elements, such as vitamins A and D, that are soluble in fats, are not absorbed. It is for this reason that the malabsorption syndrome leads to a constellation of symptoms.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

U. C., Colleges Warned: Cut Back Requests

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Reagan administration is telling the University of California and the state colleges to cut back sharply on requests for more money next year.

The latest economy move is part of the administration's attempt to keep the new budget below $6 billion and still have enough money left over for a $35 million tax cut for middle-income Californians.

The present budget is a record $5.7 billion and officials said the next one will be three per cent to four per cent higher.

EXCEED REVENUE

Finance Director Caspar Weinberger said that spending estimates by state department heads exceeded expected revenues by $500 million for the 1968-69 budget that will be submitted to the Legislature early next year.

"The allocations to most of the agencies will be less than they expected," Weinberger said in an interview yesterday. "We will have no tax increase and we will have a balanced budget."

Weinberger said spending requests by U.C. and state college administrators will be cut for both day-to-day operating expenses and for construction.

Educational appropriations, he said, will be boosted only to meet rising enrollments "to the extent we possibly can."

PROGRAMS CUT

Weinberger said there will be no money for the enriched programs college administrators have been seeking to make up for the past two economy budgets.

In Los Angeles. Weinberger was criticized at an Assembly Ways and Means subcommittee hearing on state college financing. The chairman. Democratic Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker of Lompoc, said he informed Weinberger of the meeting, but was told by other officials that no one would appear from the finance department.

Harry Brakebill, vice chancellor for the college system's business affairs, told the assemblymen nearly 6,000 persons who would qualify as new, full-time students will be turned away from the colleges next spring without additional money for the current year. The finance department has said no more money is available for higher education this academic year.

BOND DEFEAT

Failure of the people to approve a $250 million bond issue in November means a big cut in planned construction for higher education, Weinberger said.

Where the state college system and university had sought $90 million each for building, they will receive only about $45 million each, he said.

That's likely to touch off another dispute between the Republican governor and legislative Democrats who favor more money for higher education.

Even though the GOP controls the Assembly 41-39 and the Senate is split 20-20, the Republicans need Democratic votes for the two-thirds majority required for budget passage.

SURPLUS SEARCH

Weinberger said the administration is looking for a surplus from this year — now estimated at about $100 million — to provide some money for construction and for the tax cut.

Report Urges Agency For Transit Problems

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today studied a report urging a new government agency to coordinate development of a statewidek transportation system and oversee expenditure of an estimated $50 billion in the neft 15 years.

A blue ribbon 24-member task force headed by William Pereira, Los Angeles architect, concluded in its 20-month study: "The state's primary responsibility should be the coordination and integration of overall transportation planning."

The governor accepted the 50-page task force study yesterday as a "broad and general plan from which we now can work" to solve specific transportation problems.

The report recommended formation of a transportation board to advise the secretary of business and transportation on highway, air, water and pipeline transport.

It would be supported by a technical staff in a proposed transportation planning office who would collect and interpret data and devise a "master plan" for an integrated transportation system "balanced to meet the future needs of all segments of California's industry and society."

The report generally concluded there was a wealth of data on transportation problems but no agency to coordinate it on an interlocking statewide basis.

It projected an outlay of $50 billion dollars—tenfold the present yearly budget — would be required for an efficient transportation network by 1985.

This was broken down into $30 billion for freeways and other highways, $15 billion for urban mass transit, $3 billion for airports and $2 billion for harbors and ports.

But, the report warned, to support such a program, "it would appear present user charges and taxes would have to be increased."

This would mean higher fuel taxes, in-lieu taxes and toll charges. One suggestion was a retail sales tax on vehicle fuels.

The report said the critical area of transportation financing was for urban mass transit in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego and bus lines in smaller cities. But it made no specific recommendations.

LBJ Calls For Continued Efforts On Civil Rights

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, in an indirect challenge to his Republican successor, says many civil rights gains have been made in the last five years "but we are nowhere in sight of where we must be before we can rest."

Addressing the National Urban League here last night, Johnson called on government, business and labor as well as the news media and schools to give all Americans what he called "the right to opportunity."

He said, "we can expand our economy and resist those voices who call for a little more unemployment as medicine for inflation"—an indirect criticism of some economic advisers to President-elect Richard M. Nixon who have said an increase in unemployment would help fight inflation.

"I promise you one thing," Johnson said. "For as long as I live, I shall remain joined with you in fighting for that right to opportunity."

Johnson made his remarks, which were relatively short and valedictory in tone, in an address at the New York Hilton Hotel to the 12th annual Equal Opportunity Days awards dinner of the Urban League, an organization devoted to the promotion of civil rights.

Whitney M. Young, executive director of the league, announced at the meeting the establishment of a $100,000 Lyndon Baines Johnson scholarship fund at the University of Texas to annually aid a "deserving black youngster" studying public affairs.

The president flew here from Washington for an overnight stay. The trip was not announced until the last minute.

After the dinner he joined his wife who was already in New York, where she took part earlier in the day in an awards luncheon of Keep America Beautiful, a group which sponsors antilitter and cleanup campaigns.

Court Rebuffs Powell In Libel Jail Sentence

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell was rebuffed today by the state's highest court in his effort to free himself of a 30-day jail sentence that has been hanging over his head for two years.

The Court of Appeals unanimously sustained lower-court rulings finding Powell in contempt in connection with a libel judgment against the Harlem Democrat.

The jail sentence was imposed when Powell failed to appear in court to face a libel suit by Mrs. Esther James, a Harlem widow he had described on a television program as a go-between for police payoffs. He later paid the award of about $50,000.

Powell has been free pending the appeal.

He was ousted from his seat in the U.S. House of Representatives last year on charges of misconduct but was re-elected in a special election in 1967 and again in the regular election earlier this month.

For Better Police

MANILA (UPI)—Concerned about criticisms of the efficiency of Filipino police officers, President Ferdinand E. Marcos has ordered creation of four training centers throughout the Philippines to turn out 4,000 model policemen a year.

Car Purchaser Denies Charge

A San Rafael man pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a car theft charge that he paid C and D Motors of San Rafael for a 1964 Pontiac with a bad check.

Pleading was Daniel Claren Cameron, 63, of Room 11, El Camino Motel, Lincoln and Mission Avenues. Preliminary hearing on the felony charge was scheduled for Tuesday.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. denied Cameron's request for release without bail when the probation department reported Cameron has spent 12-14 years in various state prisons on bad check charges. He set his bail at $1,000.

Collegians In Prague Remain Out

PRAGUE (UPI)—Prague college students defied the government today and voted to extend by at least one day their campus strike. Railway workers vowed to stop all trains in the capital if the Communist regime moved against the students.

About 400 students meeting in the philosophy department of Charles University voted overwhelmingly to extend a strike by all 22,000 students for 24 hours. Sentiment was for an even longer extension. But students went along with their leaders' call for only one more day to protest the collapse of Czechoslovak Communist reform.

At the meeting's start, leaders read a government statement "asking" the student to end their occupation of classroom buildings which began Monday. "I don't want to stay one more day," one youth shouted. "I want to stay even longer." The others cheered.

The leaders then read a letter of support from Prague railway workers who referred to the government statement and declared that if authorities move against the students "not a single train will move out of any of Prague's stations."

The philosophy department is the center of university student activity and the meeting's decision was expected to be followed by virtually all the campus' 22,000 students.

Their strike has spread to campuses across the nation.

Youths Accused Of Bold Stealing

Three 16-year-old San Rafael youths who, San Anselmo police said, boldly stole $242 worth of new merchandise from outside a store yesterday have been cited to the Marin County juvenile probation office for grand theft.

Officers said Frank W. Worthen, owner of the Black Market imports, 230 Greenfield Avenue, told them a witness notified him at 4:10 p.m. that she had just seen three youths transferring boxes from the sidewalk near his storeroom into a car.

She had jotted down the car license number, enabling police to arrest the youths and recover the loot at a San Rafael home.

Worthen said the items included beads, pendants, ear rings and bead baskets just arrived and yet unstored.

Firemen Offer To Teach Youth

Terra Linda firemen are willing to teach auto mechanics to young people, Fire Chief George A. Walser reported to the Terra Linda Community Services District directors last night.

The directors said they are interested in an educational program for youth and and asked Chief Walser to get details of the program and report back next month.

"We plan to conduct a basic mechanics course on automotive repair and maintenance," said Chief Walser. "We may also teach them how to build go-karts." He said the courses can be given at the firehouse.

Rohnert Park Selects Rec Board Chief

Rohnert Park City Council has named Ronald E. Rasmussen as chairman of the recreation commission to replace Dr. Donald Davis who resigned Nov. 4.

Rasmussen, 38, has been a member of the commission for six years and has lived in Rohnert Park for eight years, having moved there from San Francisco. He is employed by Marshall and Associates, civil engineers, Cotati.

Rasmussen also serves as assistant scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 23, sponsored by the Rohnert Park Optimist Club.

J. Hayes Hunter, a counselor at Petaluma Junior High School, was named vice chairman of the commission at the council meeting Monday night.

The council is considering the appointment of a new commission member, and according to City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan, high school students may be considered.

Foundation Set To Use Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A foundation was formed yesterday to install a science museum in the Palace of Fine Arts, a $7.4 millon structure without a purpose.

Plans were announced at a luncheon by Dr. Frank Oppenheimer, University of Colorado physics professor who has been on leave for a year to promote the idea.

The palace was built for $750,000 in plaster for the 1915 Pan American Exposition. Rebuilt in steel and concrete at a cost of $7.4 million, it was reopened last September and has been unused since.

The new organization, called for the Palace of Arts and Sciences Foundation, named Walter S. Johnson as its honorary president.

Judges Rebuke Draft Card Burning Backers

NEW YORK (AP — To federal judges have rebuked the president and 5,000 students of Cornell University for "seeking to sway" a decision in behalf of a student convicted of tearing up his draft card.

The student, Bruce D. Dancis, 20, was freed without bail by a three-judge U.S. Second Court of Appeals panel yesterday pending a hearing Dec. 16 on appeal of his conviction.

But two of the judges criticized Cornell President James A. Perkins, who sent a letter and telegram to the appeals court, which also received a petition containing 5,000 student signatures urging leniency for Dancis.

Said Judge Irving R. Kaufman: "A court is not a political forum; nor should an issue be decided in favor of the litigant who can produce the more influential and more numerous supporters," adding:

"We believe it would be highly improper to receive the petition or to consider the telegram and letter, just as we would refuse similar blandishments if offered by the prosecution."

Judge Robert P. Anderson said it was "shocking" that an educational insitution was unaware it was acting improperly in seeking to influence a court in a specific case.

The third jurist on the panel, Judge Charles H. Tenney, did not comment from the bench.

On Dec. 14, 1966, Dancis, then a Cornell sophomore from the Bronx, tore his draft card in four pieces on the campus at Ithaca, while about 200 spectators watched. He then mailed the pieces to his draft board as a protest against the draft system.

Convicted and sentenced by federal Judge Edmund Port of the Northern District, Dancis faced up to six years in jail. He spent the past five days in the Jamesville Penitentiary, Jamesville, N.Y.

The meeting of the group sponsored by the city parks and recreation department is open to all Marin adults over 50. Additional information is available from the center office.

Safety Idea Proves More Of A Liability

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Safety-minded citizens of a midwestern community had what seemed like a good idea backfire on them recently, according to the National Automobile Club.

They took the most smashed-up car they could find and placed it near a highway as a warning to wayward motorists. One motorist stepped on his brakes to get a better look at the wreck—and was rammed by another motorist who was also studying the wreckage.

Young Fall Victim In Fair Condition

A 13-year-old San Rafael boy was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a skull fracture suffered Sunday when he fell from the steps of Central School in Fairfax.

Michael Allyn of Loch Lomond Marina was playing on the steps when he fell at about 4:40 p.m., according to police.

Hughes Left Out Of Nevada Probe On Fair Hiring

NORTH LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Nevada Equal Rights Commission refused yesterday to summon billionaire Howard Hughes but promised to subpoena personnel directors at 12 major hotels.

Lawyer Charles Kellar had asked commissioners to call on Hughes, Del Webb, Kirk Kerkorian and other hotel owners to answer charges that their hotels discriminate by race in hiring.

Other attempts to subpoena Hughes have failed because outsiders are unable to reach him at the top floor of the Desert Inn.

Commissioner Paul Garwood, who moved to subpoena the personnel directors instead, said yesterday Kellar's list "named people in the organization who are far away from the day-to-day operation."

GOP Official To Be Guest Speaker

TV REVIEW

Decision On 'Heidi' Was Right

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There have been some pretty silly arguments over television, but few to match the case of "Heidi vs. the American Football League."

As you probably know by now, NBC-TV caught the devil Sunday when it cut away from a dramatic football game to make sure a two-hour adaptation of "Heidi" began on time throughout most of the nation.

THE GAME

The game, between the New York Jets and Oakland Raiders, was close, all right. But the topper came during the minute or so of missed television action, when Oakland scored twice to come from behind and win.

You can imagine the hysterically funny scenes of enraged fathers throughout the country storming around in anxiety over the football outcome as the network switched to a show for their children.

And you can also imagine the understandable glee of the nation's football widows—those wives whose weekends are wiped out as their husbands stare endlessly at gridiron action on television.

As it happens, I am one of these hooked football addicts. I love sports almost as much as good cigars. And I am all for keeping brats in their place.

RIGHT DECISION

But, for my money, the gentlemen who had to make the awful decision to cut away from the game was absolutely right in his verdict. There are roughly three million football games on television each year, and although this was an outstanding and significant one, it wasn't a championship contest or a playoff.

If there was blame involved, it should be aimed at the video scheduling of the game so close to "Heidi"—a tactical error by the network, and a lesson for programming planners in the future.

"Heidi" had cost NBC-TV a small fortune, had taken a long time to produce and had been promoted widely as one of the year's major video attractions, especially for youngsters. And my own feeling is that the quick decision Sunday to favor the small children over the grown-up children showed the best sense under the absurd circumstances.

HIGHLY INVOLVED

NBC-TV, of course, is highly involved with the American Football League; it virtually created it. And according to some reports, the network has promised that "Heidi" would get cut in future conflicts with football. If this is so one can only wonder. True, "Heidi" will only be a rerun from now on. But even so, why should the network even consider such a conflict again?

There might have been, by the way, another solution to Sunday's panic: cover the game to the end, start "Heidi" slightly late and cut a couple of commercials from it to make up for the lost time. Imagine the priaise and goodwill that the publicity from this would have won from the public.

Overdue Book Fines To Get Moratorium

The Mill Valley Public Library's annual moratorium on overdue book fines will go into effect Saturday through Dec. 1, librarian Dorothy Thomas has announced.

Not only will there be no fines on books returned during the Thanksgiving week but unpaid fines on previously returned overdue books will be forgiven, Mrs. Thomas said.

HIGHWAY 101, CORTE MADERA

50 Turkeys To Be Given On Saturday

As part of its annual Turkey Daze Thanksgiving promotion, the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council will give away 50 turkeys at a drawing to be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, in the CMC Mall with promotion manager Hollie L. Smith doing the honors.

Tickets are available at the stores of all participating merchants and should be obtained there and dropped in the receptacle available for the purpose in each of the CMC stores.

The turkeys will all be fresh-killed, 15-pound average hens. Winners will be able to pick the turkeys up at Cala's meat department the same day.

Lucky winners who are present at the drawing will get an added bonus — TWO turkeys instead of one.

The turkeys, of course, are part of the big pre--Christmas sale at the Corte Madera Center. Merchants will have bargains galore as a part of the Turkey Daze promotion which will last from today through Saturday.

Stores will remain open until 9 p.m. through Tuesday, Dec. 24. Wards will also be open on Sundays.

Loot Reported Off San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The lure of sunken treasure hidden hundreds of years in sunken Spanish galleons is still strong in the hearts of many divers.

The State Lands Commission has given permission to Wilfred S. Takasato to search for three years off the Southern California coast for the galleon Trinidad, believed buried less than [illegible] offshore between Oceanside and La Jolla.

Takasato said the Trinidad was sunk in 1540.

Early Yule Gifts

ELMIRA, N.Y. (UPI)—Employes at Capabilities, Inc., started getting Christmas presents this year even before the first frost. They couldn't keep them, though. The firm, which hires only handicapped workers, was given a big packaging assignment by Gold Seal Vineyards, Hammondsport, N.Y., involving gift-wrapping of holiday merchandise.

Wrapping Center To Be Opened

This Christmas the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council will make available to the shopping public an entire store building for use in wrapping packages and parcels for gifts and mailing.

Located in the former Luana's store at the juncture of the two malls will be wrapping and packaging services staffed by Marin County church groups who will donate their time and route service charges to church charitable work.

In addition, shoppers will still be able to utilize the Corte Madera Center's unique self-service Post Office located on the highway side of the center. The self-service unit provides stamps, weighing facilities, minimum insurance and change maker.

Listing Miffs Mansion Owner

CAMBRIDGE, England (UPI)—The sixth Marquess of Bristol is a little unhappy. His home, one of the largest country houses in eastern England, is listed in the local phone book trades section as a public house.

"Any day we are expecting someone to ring and ask for bed and breakfast," the marquess said. The Post Office, which runs the British telephone system, plans to correct the error in the next edition of the directory.

Average Life

TAIPEI (UPI)—Average life expectancy for men and women on Taiwan reached 65 and 69, respectively, in 1967, according to Dr. Hsu Dzu-Chiu, director of the Taiwan Provincial Health Department.

Weatherman About To Go Underwater

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The weatherman is about to go underwater.

Scientific weather forecasting for the atmosphere dates back a century or more. But the flow of tides, temperatures and turbidity beneath the waves remains largely unpredictable.

Now an international group of oceanobraphers is designing a worldwide ocean information and forecasting service that will be useful to sea captains and fishermen, beachboys and bathing beauties.

It is to be called IGOSS—the Integrated Global Ocean Station System. Its job: Underwater weather watching.

Currents, waves and tides are the winds of the underwater world. Water density readings correspond to barometric pressures in the air. Temperature patterns influence weather both above and below the sea.

Commercial fishermen want to know about movements of large water masses, distribution of dissolved oxygen and the plankton upon which fish graze.

Water pollution concerns fishermen, health authorities and millions of bathers relaxing at the seashore.

IGOSS will draw its information from a wide variety of sources, including shore stations, lightships, manned sea platforms, ocean weatherships, automatic buoys, drifting ice islands, satellites, research ships, and cooperating military and commercial ships and planes.

The initial phase, using existing facilities, is being planned by a working committee of the Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission (IOC), a subsidiary of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Committee members come from Canada, West Germany, France, Japan, The Netherlands, Norway, Britain, the United states, the Soviet Union and the Ukraine.

Dr. John P. Tully, a Canadian oceanographer, heads the committee. It expects to present its plan to the 60-nation IOC at its Paris session in October 1969.

New Home For Santa This Year

The Corte Madera Shopping Center has a new home for special promotional events.

It is a colorful gingerbread house located at the north end of the center's north-south mall. It is large enough to hold an audience, a nursery or a children's show.

For openers, the house will be used this Christmas for Santa Claus, carolers, and various musical groups.

Later — if the Town of Corte Madera approves — the house will remain at its present location and be used for a variety of purposes connected with the holidays, with children, and with the center's frequent promotional events.

Gas Burners Really Do Job

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—One of the two giant burners at a local steel mill consumes as much natural gas in an hour as the average family needs to heat a home, heat water, burn refuse, dry clothes—as well as do the cooking—for more than two years.

The burners, designed by the Natural Cylinder Gas division of Chemetron Corp., are used to increase the scrap content in steel made in the mill's basic oxygen furnaces. The behemoths can heat more than 60 tons of scrap from room temperature to 1,200 degrees F. in less than 15 minutes.

Burns New President Of Council

Corte Madera attorney Richard G. Burns has been elected president of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council.

Charles Stewart, manager of Smith's, was elected vice president; Lewis Ripperger, manager of Woolworth's, secretary, and B. A. Sill, manager of Crocker-Citizens National Bank, re-elected treasurer.

Burns is a former president of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce and former secretary of the Corte Madera Lions Club.

He was recently co-chairman of the 1968 Larkspur-Corte Madera Fourth of July Celebration and has been active in civic and business affairs in both Mill Valley and Corte Madera.

He and his wife, Eloise, reside in Mill Valley with their two sons, Ken and Don Burns.

Also elected to serve as directors of the merchants council for next year were Anthony Munoz, Charles Stewart, Louis Malvino, Rowland Frazier, Don Gillis, Max Daoust, Burns and Ripperger.

Minnesota Boasts Fishing Interest

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Minnesota claims to be the state with the mostest when it comes to freshwater fishing. According to a report from the U.S. Department of Interior, Minnesota sold 1,378,230 fishing licenses in 1967.

Only one state sold more licenses, California. That state has a long salt-water coast, Minnesotans are quick to point out. California sold 1,872,258 licenses last year. Texas and Wisconsin completed the "top four" list by racking up fishing license sales of more than 1 million each.
